GOLDEN TORNADO TAKES SECOND GAME

Pitching Dual Lasting for Ten Innings Ends Favorably For Georgia Tech.

HISLE STARS FOR W. & L.

Bunched Hits Account for 4-3 Score; McCallum Allows Techmen Only Five Hits.

In an exciting ten inning battle between McCallum and Collins, Washington and Lee lost the second game played with the Georgia Tech nine Saturday afternoon by the score of 4 to 3. The Generals' star right-hander deserved a victory if ever a pitcher did for he let down the slugging Georgians with but five successful smashes, but three of these were bunched in one inning and the remaining due in another, accounting for three of the visitors' tallies. The White and Blue garnered ten safeties but they were so well scattered and the opposing infield had such a kanck of tightening behind Collins that most of them went for naught.

Tech Scores First.

Ingram opened the second by fanning. Collins threw out Griffin and Terry took care of Baum's foul. For W. & L. Frew singled cleanly to center, Terry flew out, and Harrelson hit into another double play.

Hisle Scores.

Fourth inning. Barrow flew out

AMENDMENT SET FOR FRIDAY VOTE

To Give Publication Board Control of All Student Publications.

The amendment to the Student Body Constitution regarding publications, as sponsored by the Publication Board and amended and passed by the Executive Committee, has been posted and will be voted on at the Athletic Council election, Friday.

In brief the amendment gives to the Publication Board general control of the student publications, placing in its hands the power to pass on the budgets; to audit the accounts of each; to pay salaries, not to exceed $200 to each editor-in-chief, of $150 to each business manager; to establish and control disbursement of a Reserve Fund for Publications into which will go the surplus and profits made by each publication each year; to supervise in general the staffs and policies of the publications, and to have the power to recommend to the Executive Committee the recall or resignation of an unsatisfactory editor or business manager. The amendment also provides for the composition of the Publication Board, which is to be made up of the editors and business manager of the publications, including representatives from the Press Club, an alumnus member, a faculty member, editors-in-chief and business managers of the preceding session still in the University.

The benefits to be derived are to come through the exchange and combination of ideas, through the greater fitness and ability of the Publication Board to handle the publications, and, above all, through the Reserve Fund, which will provide for all deficits in a publication's fund, hitherto made up by contributions from the Student Body.

WIRE THAT GIRL!

Final arrangements have been nade for the Troubadour informal dance to be held Saturday after next, May 13, according to latest news from the business management of that organization. The All-Southern Seven, justly famed dispensers of ultra-modern jazz will provide the music. The proceeds will go toward making up a deficit in the treasury and the management is anxious that the affair be made a complete success from every standpoint. WIRE THAT GIRL NOW!

FAMOUS PLAYERS TO BE STAGED

"Little Theatre" Company To Present Dramatic Series On Campus May 11-12.

Frank McEntee, with a company of players from the Shakespeare Playhouse of New York, has been secured by Miss Annie R. White and Miss Blanche McCrum to stage a series of plays here on the campus during the two days of May 11 and 12. These players come fresh from a successful season on Broadway with a repertoire of exceedingly enjoyable plays by famous authors.

At a matinee on May 11 they will reproduce Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" as the initial performance. The evening's performance will consist of four one-act Irish plays: "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets," by Shaw; "Riders of the Sea," by Synge; "The Shadow of the Glen," by Synge; and "The Rising of the Moon," by Lady Gregory. The matinee on May 12 will be the last performance, and will be the staging of Shaw's "Candida," which is considered one of his best. It is now running at the Greenwich Theatre in New York.

All performances will be given out-of-doors, on the campus, if the weather permits; otherwise they will be staged indoors at a place to be announced later. Tickets are on sale at McCrum's and W. & L. Library at the following prices: Three performances, $3; two performances, $2.50; one performance, $1.50. Two three-performance tickets will be given a family for $5.

The so-called set includes many members of the bore hundred.

THOMAS ENDORSED FOR NEW MANAGER

Majority of Business Staff of Ring-tum Phi Favors Him for Next Year.

The business staff of the semi-weekly endorsed J. N. Thomas for manager of the paper for next year, at a short meeting held last night in Newcomb Hall. He is at present assistant circulation manager, a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and will be a Junior next session.

The editorial staff had previously endorsed A. C. Kelly for editor-in-chief by a secret ballot held in the office of the paper.

It is rumored that other men eligible for the position are expected to be candidates, but no platforms or plans for next year's paper have been announced yet.

Slugging Nine Knocks Ball To All Corners; McDonald Gives Only Three Hits.

The Washington and Lee nine played true to form yesterday and ran rings around Randolph-Macon. After the slaughter had ended it was found that the Generals were leading 16-0. Southard, the visiting pitcher, was knocked to all corners of the lot and was relieved by Coffey in the fourth inning after the Generals had crossed the home plate for seven runs. The relief pitcher also proved ineffective and long drives again featured the remaining five innings of the game.

McDonald pitched his second game of the season for Washington and Lee and held the Yellow Jackets to three hits, breezed ten men, and allowed no bases on balls, while Southard and Coffey were both hit hard for a total of 17 hits, allowed two bases on balls, and fanned but two men.

Frew, Terry, Collins, and Hisle led in the assault with a home run each and many other long drives were pulled out of the clouds by the spectacular fielding of Scott in the middle garden which would ordinarily have granted a free trip around the four corners but Scott was playing a deep field and snared the apple fairly, thereby preventing the would-be homers. Harrelson was hit by pitched balls three out of four trips to the plate and registered a hit for his other chance with the willow. Goode, Bauserman, and Applewhite led the batting list with one hit each for the visiting team, and Scott's one hand catch of Frew's long drive into center during the fourth inning brought loud applause from the rooters in the grandstand and bleachers.

Boox of Seven Successive Athletic Contests Killed In 12-Inning Battle.

W. & L. OBTAINS 2; W. VA. 1

Opposing Batters At Mercy of Lindburg; Allows Seven Hits and Strikes Out Ten.

A perfectly executed squeeze play that scored Mattox from third base gave Washington and Lee a 2-1 victory over West Virginia Monday after twelve innings of thrilling baseball. "Gus" Lindburg matched brain and brawn with Collins, star Mountaineer slabman and succeeded in registering the first W. and L. win over the Mountaineers in seven athletic encounters between the two schools. The Morgantown team eked but seven scattered safeties, only one of which, the four-base blow by Martin, was for extra sacks, and no two of which came in an inning, while the Generals garnered ten hits off the delivery of Collins, every man on the team securing at least one, and Mattox annexing two. The impressiveness of the local victory is further emphasized when it is observed that, with the exception of Martin, but one hostile batsman reached second, ten of them struck out, and none reached first as a result of a misplay of any kind.

Brilliant Fielding.

The Mountaineers failed to support Collins with the same brilliancy and faultlessness that characterized the fielding of the Generals, contributing five errors. W. and L. backed Lindburg's invincible hurling in a manner which delighted every one of the unusually large crowd that witnessed the contest. Huffstettler at short accepted ten hard chances, making some all but impossible stops and displaying one of the best throwing arms ever seen on Wilson field. Pat Collins was close behind with nine opportunities and as many successes. Two stops by him were absolutely miraculous. Only two flies were hit to the outfielders, both of them to Harrelson.

The Winning Squeeze.

West Virginia scored first in the fourth when Homer Martin lived up to his first name, sending a long fly over the left field fence for four bags. The score was tied in the seventh when Harrick played with Harrelson's triple and threw badly in an attempt to head the runner at third. The game was thrilling but scoreless thereafter until the twelfth when the squeeze played was pulled off with highly satisfactory result.

The game was opened very auspiciously when Steve Harrick, of Gridiron fame, struck out, missing the last one a foot. Turkovich eased a pop fly to Collins but Weik singled to center. Homer Martin then delighted the stands by ignominiously fanning. The Generals got away slowly, Switzer and Huff striking out. Weik then failed to stop Hisle's hot grounder and Pete was safe, but died a moment later on an attempted steal.

Harrick Snatches Fly.

The second inning witnessed Mayfield's fly to Harrelson, Mowrey's strikeout, Wright's fly to Collins. For the locals, Frew fouled out to

THE BEST BALLOT

Attention is particularly called to the letter printed in the "Voice of the Student Body" this issue. It explains a section of the Constitution that will practically have to be amended to the old form, in view of the new political system. The present method was adopted in 1917, when the existence of three factions was foreseen. It is admirably adapted to the factional system, but under the plan whereby more than three candidates are expected for each office, it would allow election by far less than a majority of voters. No man should hold office on the campus unless he represents more than half of the students voting in the election.

—o—

IT WILL WORK

There is yet in some quarters indubitable suspicion of the new non-factional agreement recently drawn up. Some feeling of this kind is to be expected as a last reminder of the old attitude of distrust and faction hatred that will soon be seen no more at W. & L., especially when the details of the plan and the manner of its adoption require explanation which may be misinterpreted by the uninformed. We are entirely convinced that the fraternity and non-fraternity representatives on the committee are sincere and are acting in good faith.

A motion was passed through the last meeting of this general committee providing that every man on the campus, regardless of affiliations, should be asked to sign the agreement. This was thought unnecessary by some, but will certainly clinch the agreement and bind individuals to refrain from instigating in any manner a new faction. The men at the head of this movement are working for the good of the mass of the campus and should receive the unqualified support of every loyal student.

In any case of an untried, progressive agreement such as the present one, there are some reactionary individuals ostensibly strong for the reform but actually looking for every device by which they or their old associates can be benefited; there are also a few men who believe in the ideals of the movement but refuse with immovable disbelief in human nature to believe it will work. It is up to the leaders of all factions who are parties to the agreement, and a responsibility resting on the candidates, to dissolve the ground of suspicion and prove that enlightened college men can co-operate for the sake of their ideals for Alma Mater. It will work—but it will take confidence in the honor and good faith of all parties concerned.

FOR BETTER PUBLICATIONS

All members of the Student Body are urged to read carefully the amendment now posted providing for recognition of the Publication Board and supervision of the publications under a more definite, comprehensive and businesslike system of control.

This amendment is important to the welfare of the publications and of the students; do not allow a hasty conclusion or a careless glance to leave you with a mistaken purpose. Good amendments have been known to fail of approval simply because of the voters neglecting to pay serious attention to them.

The proposed board for control of publications will neither take power from the Executive Committee or give it increased prerogatives; neither will it detract from the authority of the Student Body as officially expressed at any time. Its purpose is to place in the hands of the editors and managers of the campus power to require uniform reports for transmittal to the students; to act together in advertising campaigns; to so regulate the budgets of the publications that it will not be necessary to call for extra money from students for such failing enterprises; and, in general, to co-operate and advise together for the betterment of all the campus publications.

A need has been long felt for an active regulation of publications. The amendment to be submitted Friday was worked out by a committee of editors and managers and is endorsed by every editor and manager on the campus. It is logical that direct supervision should be placed in the hands of the men who are in closest touch with the publications and most interested in their improvement. It is believed that the establishment of the board will put the publications on a firm and permanent basis, with definite aims and responsible continuity of policy.

Every student is urged to use his ballot to sanction this progressive step for the betterment of the publications representative of the University.

The Voice of the Student Body

Dear Sir:

Relative to the proposed change in the method of conducting Student Body election there are certain aspects to which the attention of the Student Body should be called. Although not material, it should be understood that the change, if any, will be back to the method set forth in Article IV, Section 4, which was amended about 1917 by substituting a preferential ballot. Under this older plan a majority of the votes cast is necessary to elect, and in case no candidate receives a majority, a second ballot is taken between the two highest candidates.

In national politics the preferential ballot has not been successful and the only argument in its favor has been that it cuts down the expense of elections. Here the additional cost would be a few more ballots which will be nominal, and so, as far as local conditions are concerned, this argument has no weight.

On the other hand under normal conditions the preferential ballot leads to weird results. This we have not noticed as there have been but two candidates out for a single office, due to the clique system, but now with the Student Body sentiment so universally against politics as played in the past, several candidates will be out for the same office and it is time to consider what these results might be. For example, say there are five candidates for an office and each man is nearly equal as to ability. The result of the first ballot is: A-144, B-140, C-120, D-132, E-128. Under the present system all but A and B are eliminated and the second choice votes of C, D, and E are tabulated. The second choice votes of C, D, and E may be divided between C, D, and E, with the result that A is elected by 144 votes, a small per cent of the votes cast. While it is probable that A and B will receive some of the second choice votes it is hardly possible that either will get anywhere near a majority. It boils down to this, that no officer can say that he was elected by the majority of the Student Body. Under the proposed method a second ballot would be taken between A and B, one of whom must of necessity get a majority.

The plan necesitates no more work than that of tabulating second choices. As was done in the past the Executive Committee can take the votes from the ballot box, say every hour, and count them, with the result that the names of the candidates for the second ballot can be announced by 3 o'clock and the polls opened again at that time.

Where a man is not sure that his second choice vote is going to count, and he cannot be under the present system, he is less likely to consider the relative ability of his second choice candidate. But if the contest narrows down to two men we can consider each and cast our vote knowing that it will be counted for the one we consider the best man. To be a successful self-governing body we must elect our best and most representative men to office. It is now up to the Student Body to determine which plan will lead to the promotion of the interests of the Student Body.

SIGMA UPSILON HOLDS ANNUAL SUPPER-SMOKER

Original Work In Drama of High Quality; Officers Elected for Next Year.

Sesame chapter of Sigma Upsilon held its annual supper and smoker last week at Mrs. W. M. Swink's, just off the campus. After light refreshments, G. T. Tolbrook, president of the local organization, called for original work due at the regular meeting.

F. Flournoy responded with an unusual and realistic one-act farce of college life, treating his subject in such a vivid and masterful manner that no doubt was left as to his knowledge of the subject. It was voted one of the best productions of the chapter this year and will probably be presented on the local stage. "Schoppenhauer, Campus Edition," was the title given by L. S. Joel to a similar play of fraternity house life and the rare "woman hater." Edward Harris read an original and well written one-act play based on the institution of mid-Winter dances.

A strong picture of the Mississippi river country and the precarious life led by its inhabitants during the flood season was given by Dr. W. E. Farnham, illustrating realism in current literature.

Officers for next year were elected as follows: President, Edward Harris; vice-president, L. S. Joel; secretary, T. J. Ellis, Jr.

ENGINEERING PROFESSOR WRITES ON TIMELY TOPIC

Professor W. T. Lyle of the Department of Engineering is now engaged in preparing a series of articles on "The National Housing Problem." These articles appear in current issues of the "Proceedings of the American Society of Civil Engineers," one of the foremost Engineering magazines of the country.

The paper points out how municipal zoning promotes house building by eliminating speculation to a large degree and by providing suitable home-sites and proper environments. This is a topic of much moment, particularly in the larger cities, and Dr. Lyle's contributions on the subject based as they are on actual experience, contain facts of much interest and importance.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

IF A BASE-RUNNER is hit by a batted ball, he is out, and the infielder who was in a position to take the ball gets a put-out.

—o—

IF A BATTER bunts a foul ball on his last strike, it is a strike out, and the catcher gets a put-out.

—o—

IF A PITCHER IS TAKEN OUT when his team is ahead and the opposing team does not get as many runs afterward as his team had when he was taken out, first pitcher gets credit for the game.

—o—

AN EARNED RUN is a run made without the assistance of an error, a walk ,man hit by pitcher, or a battery error.

—o—

IF A BALL GOES between an infielder's legs, he is given an error, even though he does not touch the ball.

—o—

IF A BASERUNNER fails to touch home plate and the catcher fails to tage him, he can go anywhere on the field until tagged by the catcher. This is an interesting point not covered by the rules.

Martin. Then Terry cracked out a drive that had "three-bagger" written all over it but which Harrick pulled down after a nice run. Harrelson was out, third to first.

In the third, Lindburg took care of Evens' easy roller and then whiffed Lytle. Harrick skied out to Harrelson in left. The last half opened with Collins' sharp single to center. Mattox neatly sacrificed him to second. "Lindy" was out, short to first. Monk taking third on the play. Switzer fouled out to third.

Collins Shows Stuff.

Terry took care of "Turk's" grounder to open the fourth. Mattox pulled in Weik's foul. Martin then slammed out his circuit clout, which Harrelson was barely able to touch. Collins made a great stop and throw of Mayfield's hard hit ball. For W. and L., Huff was out, Collins to Mowrey, but Hisle beat out an infield hit to short. Frew hit to short and both runners were safe on Wright's error. Terry was safe on a fielder's choice, Hisle sliding under the third baseman. The sacks were densely populated but Collins tightened, fanned Harrelson and threw out Hisle at the plate on Pat Collins' grounder to him. It was good pitching.

Tight Ball Played.

In the fifth, Mowrey singled down the third base line but was forced at second by Wright who, in turn, was forced at second by Evans. Evans took second on a wild pitch and Lytle received the only pass of the game. Collins easily threw out Harrick. Mattox struck out for the Generals. Collins threw out Lindburg and Switzer sent a long fly to Harrick.

Terry opened the next inning by taking care of Turkovich's grounder without aid. Lindburg tossed out Weik and Martin was out on another spectcular stop and throw by Huff. When Huff came up for Washington and Lee, he hit a line drive into Harrick's hands. Weik juggled Hisle's smash and the diminutive star was safe at first. Frew singled to left but Terry hit into a fast double play, Wright to Weik to Mowrey.

The Tying Run.

Lindburg did his greatest pitching in the lucky seventh, striking out Mayfield, Mowrey and Wright in effective succession. He received a deserved ovation from the stands for his work. To open the locals' half, Harrelson hit to center for three bases and tallied with the tying run on Harrick's bad relay. Lytle made a nice sprinting catch of Collins' drive. Mattox singled to center and stole second. Lindy flew out to center and Switzer perished, second to first.

The eighth opened with Evans' easy out, Hisle to Terry. Mattox threw out Lytle and Huff took care of Harrick's pop. "Turk" caught Huff's fly and then Weik threw out Hisle. Frew hit to second.

Lefty Fans Two More.

In the ninth, Turk beat out an infield hit but was forced at second by Weik. Martin forced Weik at second. Mayfield completed the circuit by forcing Martin at the keystone sack. Terry was out, short to first. Harrelson fanned. Collins flew out to left.

In the tenth, Mowrey went out, Lindburg to Terry. Wright singled through first, but Lindburg turned in some more effective hurling by whiffing both Evans and Lytle. In the final half, Mattox struck out. Lindy singled to center. Wright fumbled Switzer's grounder and both runners were safe. Huff singled, filling the bases and the stands were in uproar, but Hisle flew out to second and Frew lined out to the same infielder.

The Final Frame.

Huff threw out Harrick to begin the eleventh and then took care of Turk's fly. Weik singled to right but was forced at second by Martin. The last half of the inning saw strikeouts by both Terry and Harrelson and Collins' fly to second.

The final inning was initiated with Mayfield's scratch hit over third. Mowrey lined out to Collins and Wright fanned. Evans forced out Mayfield, Hisle to Collins. Mattox began the end by sending a terrific double to the left field fence that missed being a homer by inches. Lindburg laid down a perfect bunt and Monk went to third. Then Switzer sent the slow roller to third. Mattox streaked down the home path, slid under the catcher, and the great game was over.
