VIRGINIA SCORES VICTORY OVER GENERALS IN SESSION OF WRANGLES

Strict Interpretation of Rules Proves Disastrous—Score 28-13

In a contest replete with wrangles, outward display of dissatisfaction at the referee's rulings and faulty basketball, Washington and Lee was downed by the University of Virginia five for the first time in four years in Lynchburg Saturday, 28 to 13. With an immense throng viewing the struggle, the two quintettes met in a bizarre clash, that was decidedly unsatisfactory in nature to the spectators. Unused to a strict interpretation of the collegiate rules, Washington and Lee was adjudged guilty of fouls in 23 instances. This virtually endowed Virginia with the game.

Referee Sturdy was the object of strong display of feeling. The official ejected three star players of the two fives for infractions of the rules. Left forward Seeley was removed from the melee in the first half for committing four personal fouls. Center Strickling, the mainstay of the Virginia five, was ejected for gently nudging Seeley in the ribs, while Left guard Young was forced to withdraw for "striking the referee, and thus indulging in ungentlemanly conduct."

The rulings of the official brought down upon him the wrath of the crowd. His decision to eject Strickling was greeted with hisses from the Virginia contingent, while the Washington and Lee supporters voiced their disapproval of adverse rulings in the same manner. Groans, moans

But ten games have been scheduled for Lexington, although there are two open dates, which will probably be filled before the season is ushered in. Five engagements abroad have been assured, but there is one date open—the date before the closing battle of the season with Army.

The Generals will open the campaign with the strong LaFayette College team as opponents on March

THE FANCY DRESS BALL IS ELABORATE AND PRETTY

Junior Promenade Opens Series of Festive Events—Fancy Dress Ball Attended by Immense Throng in Festival Array—Miss Anderson Opens the Ball in Colonial Dress

A gladsome throng, arrayed in festival adornments, graced the Univesity gymnasium last night to enjoy the Eleventh Annual Fancy Dress Ball—the crowning event of a series of social functions. The Ball surpassed in splendor all those of the past and was a distinct success. The gymnasium was transformed into a veritable Japanese garden by Miss Annie Robertson White for the occasion, lanterns and bunting swinging overhead, while varid colored streamers added a festive air to the scene. Around the walls were numerous United States flags and paper mache carnival heads.

Shortly after ten o'clock, four heralds, by trumpets announced the opening of the ball. The Drum Major Eddie Davis, marched from the dressing rooms, followed by the masked couples, whoformed an archway along the sides of the gymnasium. After the formation of the to phalanx, President Thomas S. Kirkpatrick, as George Washington, with Miss Elizabeth Anderson, as Martha Washington, paraded down the hall, followed by the four vice presidents, Reuben A. Lewis with Miss Olivia White, Edwin B. Shultz with Miss Virginia Barclay, Ray S. Smith with Miss Virginia Williamson and Lorentz T. White with Miss Elsie Paxton. The leaders were attired in Colonial court dress, while their partners wore beautiful Colonial dinner gowns of various soid colors. The chairman of the committees, J. R. Neal with Miss Elizabeth Kelly, B. F. Woodruff with Miss Olive Burton, W. N. Seeley with Miss Claire Adams and W. R. Burton with Miss Jean Steele followed in the rear. The other couples joined in the opening figure, which while simple, made a beautiful scene, with the riot of color and contrast.

Over 170 participated in the Fancy Dress Ball, including forty-two cadets from Virginia Military Institute. Later on in the evening two intricate figures were introduced.

The Junior Promenade, on Monday night, was indeed a striking event. With the gymnasium bedecked with the class colors of black and goal, with the walls decorated with the same lolor arrangeent, the scene was quite effective. The President of the Juniors, M. A. Derr, led a petty figure with Miss Marguerite Grime, which culminated with the dancers forming the numeral "16."

The dancers continued to fing away cares with nimble toes until the week hours of the mornng. Refreshments were served at the midnight hour, while Wright's Saxaphone Orchestra furnished the harmony.

THE JUNIOR PROM

Opening the midwinter fesivities, the Junior Prom, on Monday night was a pronounced social success. The gymnasium, in which the dance was held as tastefully decorated in orange and black, the colors of 1916. At 10:30 a graceful figure was led by M. A. Derr, as president of the class of 1916, with Miss Margaret Grimes of Frederick, Maryland, assisted by L. T. White with Miss Nenetta Burton, of Fort Worth, Texas.

Music was furnished by the ever popular Wright Saxaphone Orchestra, and dancing was indulged in until a late hour, stopping only during the serving of a delicious supper at midnight.

Those dancing were:

Miss Marguerite Grimes, of Frederick, Md., with M. A. Derr.

Miss Virginia Moore, of Lexington, with R. W. Fowles.

Miss Emily Champe, of Charleston W. Va., with R. H. Gardner.

Miss Marietta Hershberger, of Frederick, Md., with W. W. Cash.

Miss Anne Riddle, of Petersburg, with M. R. Miles.

THE FANCY DRESS BALL

The Fancy Dress ball was a wonderful event in many respects. The Alumni figure led by Harry Moran with Miss Virginia Williamson was a simple but attractive figure, while theVirginia Military Institute cadets, with Leader Davis directing the figure, scored a hit with their military figure. Miss Olive Burton of Sweetbriar, assisted Mr. Davis.

There were a number of striking costumes for the fairer sex that displayed a strong tendency toward masculine ideas, many harem skirts, yama-yama suits and other trouser like combinations being in evidence. Shorlty after midnight, refreshments were served from a decorated booth at the western end of the gymnasium, smandwiches and coffee being offered. Dancing stopped shortly after three o'clock in the morning.

Those dancing were:

Thomas S. Kirkpatrick, as George Washington, with Miss Elizabeth Anderson of Lynchburg, Va., as Martha Washington.

Reuben A. Lewis, as Colonial Gentleman, with Miss Olivie White

STRONGEST TRACK TEAM IN YEARS TO REPRESENT W. & L. IN G. W. U. MEET

Squad Leaves Saturday for Washington — Generals to Enter Every Event

Washington and Lee will meet its first real test in track prowess next Saturday in Washington at the seventh annual track meet held under the auspices of George Washington University. This is the first time that a strong and formidable squad of track men, representing the White and Blue has been entered into active competition with leading South Atlantic Colleges squads. Coach Fletcher has developed a speedy team after weeks of training on Wilson Field, and a determined effort will be made to carry off honors at the meet.

Three championship events are closed to South Atlantic college teams, the two mile and quarter mile races and the pole vault. Among the colleges represented beside Washington and Lee will be Georgetown, Virginia, Catholic University, Johns Hopkins, Lehigh, Cornell and George Washington. Coach Fletcher has definitely decided on the men for each event, and there will be at least one representative of Washington and Lee in every event, both collegiate and open. Curtis will compete in the 50 yard dash Starnes, Schulz, and Curtis in the 440; Shultz and Hastings in the 880; Hastings, Johnson and Adams in the mile; Johnson in the two mile; Shultz and Crymble in the high jump; Hallman in the pole vault; Kerr, Shultz and Starnes in the shot put. Two features of the meet will be relay races between

BILL RAFTERY IS BASKETBALL COACH

Fletcher Will Devote Entire Time to Track—Loyola Next

William C. Raftery has assured the position of head coach of the Washington and Lee basketball team and will direct the quintette during the remainder of the season. Forest Fletcher, who has been leading the Generals, was forced to surrender the leadership of the basketers in order that he might give his undivided attention to the training of the Washington and Lee Track team, which faces three successive indoor meets, beginning Saturday, and a series of outdoor tourneys.

In Bill Raftery, the Generals will have a coach who is capable of meeting any situation in strategy or training. He was considered one of the greatest forwards that Washington and Lee ever had and has served as assistant coach for the past two years. He led the Virginia Military Institute basketball team in 1914.

The Generals have but three more local engagements before the long

WHIRLWIND RALLY DEFEATS TRINITY

Generals Win Game in Second Half With Strong Attack

Coming back after a slump in the first half, the Generals triumphed over the hefty Trinity College five 30 to 22 in one of the roughest battles of the year last Tuesday night. The speedy Carolinians, by their lack fouls and their consisten t team work, obtained a four point lead in the first period which they maintained until the middle of the second half. The Generals, at this juncture, exhibited such a dazling attack that in a few short minutes they turned the tide in their favor, amassed eight field goals in quick succession and gained a final victory with an eight point margin.

The contest was unusually rough and marked by several personal encounters. The visitors possessed two unusual forwards in Siler and Anderson, whose damaging spurts were only partially offset by the shooting of Miles and Zaiss. Young played a fouless game at guard besides ringing up three baskets on the offense. Random team work in the first period prevented the Generals from piling up a large score.

In the first half, the Generals seemed utterly unable to hit a stride that would bring results. Trinity played consistently and led 14 10 when the first period closed. At the opening of the second half, the Carolinians continued to spurt, but with the score standing 22 to 18 against them, the Generals developed whirlwind attack in which Miles, Young and Zaiss featured and quickly overhauled Trinity, winning by a margin of eight points.

Miles hit his old time form at goal shooting in the last half and registered goals on two tosses from the middle of the court. Zaiss led the Generals in goals, scoring 4, while Young and Miles landed three each. Pierotti played a strong game at guard, while Anderson and Siler starred for Trinity.

The lineup was as follows:

Trinity		W. and L.
Siler	L. F.	Seeley
Anderson	R. F.	Zaiss
Neal	C.	Miles, capt.
Thorne, capt.	L. G.	Young
Wooten	R. G.	Pierotti

Substitutions—Bailey for Seeley; Brown for Thorne.

Field goals—Zaiss, 4; Miles, 3; Young, 3; Pierotti, 1; Siler, 3; Anderson, 3; Neal, 2; Thorne, 1.

Foul goals—Miles, 3 in 4 trials; Siler, 4 in 10 trials.

Referee—Leech, V. M. I.

STUDENTS SPEAK TO CHEMICAL SOCIETY

The Chemical Society held its regular meeting on Jan. 29, with the president, Ki Williams, presiding. Several of themembers read a paper on selected subjects. G. R. Shaw had for his subject "The Aluminum Industry" and J. A. Lee discussed "The Sugar Industry of 1914."

At the close of the meeting Dr. Howe made a short talk in regard to the tariff policy of the present administration.

The Society has secured M. Harry R. Lee of the Electric Works of Holcombe Rock,, Va., to speak before the Society on Feb. 12, at 8 p. m. on the subject of "Fused Chlorid Electrolysis."

FIRST CHANGE MADE IN CONSTITUTION

Amendment Requiring Uniform Class Accounting Ratified 243 to 7

The first amendment to the student body Constitution, which was advocated by the Ring-tum Phi last September, and which was proposed at the student body Assembly held in the Chapel on Thursday, Jan. 28, was adopted at the election held in the Y. M. C. A. office on Friday. The vote stood 243 in favor of the amendment and 7 against it.

This is the first amendment to the Constitution since its ratification in 1913, and will relieve a long felt need. The amendment provides for a "Uniform System of Accounting," and will give to the Executive Committee the power to audit the accounts of the class treasurers, while the change in the by-laws will compel the treasurers to render reports of all receipts and expanditures and submit them for final approval.

VIRGINIA SCORES VICTORY OVER GENERALS

and other doleful notes accompanied his over-conscientious rulings. But despite the censure of the crowd Sturdy, who virtually leaned backward in an attempt to be straight, continued to call foul after foul on the Generals in a relentless manner.

From the outset the game evolved into a wrangle. As soon as the fives busied themselves with action, a series of fouls commenced. But one was marked against Virginia during the first half, while fifteen were called against Washington and Lee. During the conflict, Miles fouled ten times on 7 technical and 3 personal counts; Seeley had 4 personals; Pierotti, 3 personals and 1 technical; Dingwall 3 personals; Young and Zaiss 1 personal each. Strickling, Gannaway and Luck were detected fouling one time each on personal counts.

The whirlwind rallies and swift passing meneuvers that have characterized conflicts between the two institutions in other years were knifed by the mass of technicalities. At times the two fives would evidence a keen bit of passing or shooting. In passing, Virginia had an edge over the Generals, for the veteran combination passed with greater speed and accuracy and kept Washington and Lee on the defensive trying to break up the passing. In goal shooting there was but slght difference. While both sets of forwards missed several easy trials, Bailey and Pierotti landed sensational goals for the Generals, while Stickley effected two remarkable shots in the last period.

Eight field goals accrued to Virginia, while six fell to Washington and Lee. But three Generals figured in the scoring—Pierotti, Bailey and Miles. Pierotti scored three goals in the second half, while Bailey, who relieved Seeley in the first half, recorded one basket in each half.

Captain Miles registered one field goal and scored on one of three attempts on free tosses. Strickling scored six points, out of 13 trials following fouls, while Gannaway, who relieved him, registered 6 in the last 12 attempts.

The loss of the stars materially handicapped the two teams. The substitutions slackened the teamwork of the quintees, for he loss of Seeley and Young weakened he Generals, whileGannaway did not prove capable of replacing Bill Srickling. Al Pierroti, at right guard, starred for Washington and Lee, while Luck and Nickels were the mainstays of Virginia. Virginia's greatest speed and accuracy in passing forced the Generals to assume the defensive and Pierroti proved a most able guard. Miles outjumped both Srickling and Gannaway at center.

In view of the many handicaps, Washington and Lee played a strong game. With anordinary referee, the Charlottesville five would have been forced to the limit to achieve a victory. Despite the facts that the Generals were outweighed 15 pounds and were coping with a team of veerans, there was no striking difference in the game displayed.

Virginia assumed an irretrievable lead over Washington and Lee in the first half, by virtue of fifteen free tosses following fouls, and four field goals by Strickland, Dittrick and Nickels. When the pistol sounded at the close of the first half, Virginia had a 15 to 4 advantage. In the closing period, the Generals staged a rally during the first few minutes, but Referee Sturdy's decision, based on a ladylike standard, sent them away and the advantage swung again to Virginia. The final score stood, 28 to 13.

Young was the first player to be diqsualifi d. In the first half, he was declared guilty of a personal foul for holding. Surprised to learn this fact, the speedy guard ran up to Referee Sturdy and grasped him by the back to call his attention to his error. He was ordered from the game for "striking the referee."

Subtitutes appeared in star roles. Bailey, at left forward, made one of the most sensational goals of the setto with a one handed toss. Gannaway shot foul goals with greater accuracy than did his predecessor—Strickling. Dingwall played a steady game, at guard. During the last few minutes of the game, White relieved Nickels and Gooch supplanted Dittrick. Zaiss played a most consistent game at right forward, having but one foul called on him throughout he game.

Loud cheering echoed throughout the Auditorium at critical stages. Washington and Lee's contingent, led by the University Band, drowned the less spirited notes of the Virginia coterie.

The lineup:

W. and L.		Virginia
Seeley,	L. F.	Strickley
Zaiss	R. F.	Nickles
Miles	C.	Stricklling
Pierroti	L. G.	Luck
Young	R. G.	Dittrick

Substitutions—Dingwall for Young; Bailey for Seeley; Gannaway for Strickling; White for Nickel; Gooch for Dittrick.

Goals from field—Pierrotti 3, Bailey 2, Miles 1, Nickels 2, Stickley 2, Strickling 2, Dittrick 1, Luck 1.

Fouls Comimtted—W. and L.—23; Seeley 4 personals; Miles 3 personal, 7 technical; Pierotti 3 personal, 1 technical; Dingwall 3 personals; Zaiss 1 personal; Young 1 personal. Virginia 3—Strickling 1, Luck 1, Gannaway 1.

Foul goals—Miles 1, in 3 trials; Strickling 6, in 13 trials Gannaway 6 in 10 trials.

Movement Has Hearty Support

ASSURED of the hearty cooperation of President Henry Louis Smith and the various student organizations, the alumni will begin the campaign for a grand reunion this Finals under favorable conditions. J. R. Neal, President of the Final Ball, has offered to aid in any manner the alumni may desire, while the Ring tum Phi takes this opportunity to assure its support.

To a University that is cherished as dearly as is Washington and Lee by its graduates, the scant representation that has attended commencements in the past is a faulty indication. But this condition will not exist as the alumni do not fail utterly.

Time to Arouse

THE rally just before the Virginia game was scanly attended. True it was that it was raining and that the elements did not smile upon the occasion, and as the result the benches of the chapel were bare and empty. However, a larger number journeyed to Lynchburg to see the conflict.

There are some numbered among the students, who apparently take no interest in any movement that will produce good results but yet claim credit for their accomplishment. It would seem that it were time to arouse from this state of slumber and realize that each one owes a duty to Washington and Lee.

J. G. Herndon '11 of Washington, D. C., was a visitor in Lexington last week. He has a position as Travelling Expert Investigator of Labor Problem or the U. S. Government. He will be married in May, to Miss Grace Middleton of Washington.

During an interval in the dancing Dr. H. D. Campbell took occasion to present the individual members of the victorious football team of 1914 with tokens of appreciation. Each player received a watch charm, upon which was fastened a gold metal in the form of a small football.

The figure formed by the cadets from V. M. I. was very well planned and carried out in very good order. Miss Olive Burton of Sweetbriar, led the figure with Captain Davis.

DR. HOWERTON IS AUTHOR OF BOOK ON PHILOSOPHY

Latest Work Will Be Published Soon—On "Ethical Aspects

"Freedom and Causality in Their Ethical Aspects" is the title of a new book by Dr. Jas. R. Howerton, which will be off the press by the first of the coming month. The book contains the lectures delivered by Dr. Howerton last December at the Protestant Episcopal Seminary at Alexandria, by special invitation of the Seminary faculty. The edition will be a limited one consisting of a thousand copies in all. Of these, 500 will be in pamphlet form, to be sold for thirty cents per copy, and the remainder in cloth binding, at sixty cents. The Presbyterian committee of Publication at Richmond, Va., is the publisher.

The series of lectures on freedom and causality form a part of the course, which is given each year to the class in Philosophy 2. It was not at first intended that they should be published separately, but they were so well received, that Dr. Howerton has agreed to give them to the public by special request. The book has already met with very flattering comments from Dr. W. W. Moore of th Union Theological Seminary at Richmond, and Dr. Bell, President of the Seminary at Alexandria, who has also consented to write the introduction to it. No doubt the book will receive a warm reception when it appears.

ROYAL SEND-OFF FOR BASKETBALL TEAM

The chapel Friday night was the scene of an enthusiastic send off to the basket ball quint before its departure to Lynchburg for the annual contest with Virginia. Owing to the inclement weather a number of students failed to make their appearance, but the lack in numbers was well made up by the enthusiasm of those present. The band turned out in full force, and furnished the music for the occasion. Several addresses were made by "Jiggs" Donahue, Coach Fletcher, "Bill" Raftery, Coach Elcock, who was on a short visit to Lexington prior to the Lynchburg game, and President Gibson of the student body. All the speakers urged that every man in school make it his business to see that the largest delegation possible be present at the game Saturday night The old "college spirit" was the main theme of discussion, and it was evident that the team would receive its full share of supporters when the game came off.

John F. Greenlee, a well known citizen of Lexington, died Thursday at the Jackson Memorial hospital at the age of ninety eight years.

northern trip of six battles. Loyola will be played Thursday. Loyola boasts a formidable team. George Washington University has been humbled twice his season by the Baltimore five, while Mount St. Joseph's College quint has also been downed. In Ulrich, Loyola has one of the greatest centers in this division. It is probable that Loyola will be somewhat weakened by the loss of Joyce, at right guard, as he was injured in the last game with George Washington.

Loyola will line up as follows:
O'Conner, Right forward.
Ulrich, Center.
Quinn, Right guard.

DR. SMITH TO ADDRESS UNIVERSITY ASSEMBLY

Will Speak on "Campus Fallacy" at Chapel

For the first time during the 1914-15 session President Henry Louis Smith will address the student body.

Next Monday, at the regular February Assembly Dr. Smith will speak with "A Wide-spread Campus Fallacy" as the subject of the address. Speculation is rife as to just what the "fallacy" is that is cherished on he campus.

It is regaded as highly improbable that his address will be of the same nature as that of last session, when he spoke about the care of the human body.

Announcement is made that he will be the principal speaker at the Winchester Grand Celebration of Broadway Rouss on February 11. On this day, Broadway Rouss, the benefactor of this city, was born. He endeared himself to his birthplace by endowing several of the city institutions and every year his birthday is celebrated by Winchester. Broadway Rouss was the creator of the so-called racket store in New York city and made a tremendous fortune. He created quite a sensation in America some years ago by offering any oculist $1,000,000, who would cure his eyes. But neverthless, Rouss died a blind man. The subject of the address will be "The Old South in the New."

At the time of the University Assembly, a panorama picture of the student body will be taken by a reputable New York firm—the same company that photographed the student body in 1913.

STRONGEST TRACK TEAM IN YEARS TO REPRESENT W. & L.

Cornell and Virginia, and between Washington and Lee and George Washington. In the latter, Washington and Lee will be represented most probably by C A. Hastings, Bob Schultz, Bonner Gladney and C. A. McNitt.

This meet is highly important for Washington and Lee, as it will mark the real beginning of its career in trackdom with a salaried coach. The various other teams in the S. A. I. A. A. will be well represented by experienced athletes, but nevertheless pospects for the Lexington squad are bright. Johnson is expected to win the 2 mile run handily. After many weeks of constant training, Coach Fletcher is confident that he has developed a formidable team—the best in several years, and he is of the opinion that his squad, while inexperienced will be able to cope with the leading cinderpath artists.

The squad, consisting of twelve men, will leave Lexington Saturday morning at eight o'clock accompanied by Coach Fletcher and Manager N.C. Evans. The following Saturday a second meet will take place in Baltimore, in which Washington and Lee will have the same number of entrants as in the Washington meet. Then, on February 27, will come the Georgetown meet in Washington to which Coach Fletcher will send a like number of men.

Washington and Lee will enter every collegiate event in the three tourneys. The programme of events has been so arranged that the aggregate total will constitute a regular meet. The college scoring the greatest number of points will be awarded the South Atlantic championship.

ELCOCK RETURNS FOR A BRIEF VISIT

Football Coach Sees His First W. & L. Defeat---Visit a Surprise

Memories of past gridiron triumphs by Washigton and Lee were forcibly recalled last Thursday when Coach "Jogger" Elcock appeared on the campus. The general football coach returned for a short visit to Washington and Lee on his way from Boston to the far west and saw a White and Blue 'Varsity team suffer defeat for his first time, when Virginia won in Lynchburg. Since departing from Lexington, Coach Elcock has been in the employ of the Association of Portland Cement Manufacturers and has been transferred to the west. He left today for Denver where he will assume the position of division engineer.

Despite his business duties, Mr. Elcock has not been idle in his capacity as coach of the General's 1915 football team. He states that he has his eyes on many good athletes and with excellent prospects or bringing some of the best of them to offset the loss of some of the stars of last season. Several in fact already having signified their intent of matriculating in the University next fall. No names, however, can be given.

In regard to the schedule for next season, the coach seemed very much pleased with the entire program as arranged by Manager McDougle. He says that the recent triumphs of the Generals have given Washington and Lee great prominence throughout the North and that the scheduled engagements with such teams as Cornell and Indiana have even more brought the focus of athletic interest upon the University. About the clash with Cornell, Elcock evinced the greatest confidence in the strength of his warriors. He stated that Cornell would be badly fooled expecting an easy battle just between its Michigan and Pennsylvania games. "West Virginia Wesleyan and Indiana," continued the football mentor," are unknown quantities, and their strength in comparison to Washington and Lee can only be ascertained a short while previous to the clashes.

Although Indiana did not have a victorious Varsity team last year, its freshman aggregation contained many stars. Upon these the coaches are relying chiefly to produce a winning eleven for 1915."

While in Lexington Elcock addressed the students at the mass meeting previous to the Virginia game. It was his powerful appeal there that led many of the doubtful ones to journey to Lynchburg on the following day.

The coach intends to remain in the West until time to leave for Lexington in the fall. He will start football practice promptly on September 15.

ALUMNI WILL GET HEARTY SUPPORT

Dr. Smith Thinks Birmingham Plan Is Admirable

The plans of the Birmingham Alumni for a grand reunion this finals meet with the hearty approval of President Henry Louis Smith and will receive his willing support. He has volunteered his service to the alumni in any manner that they desire it and has offered to co operate to the utmost in the plan. However the proposed reunion of the alumni will not interfere with the regular series of reunions. Dr. Smith will write to the classes of 1910, 1895, and 1885 personally and urge them to return to Washington and Lee.

"I think the whole scheme of the Birmingham alumni is admirable," said Dr. Smith, "and have written Mr. Thach assuring him my heartiest support. I have offered him any list of names that he may desire in the various states and centers of Washington and Lee alumni. Any information that he may desire will be given quite willingly and I hope that the plan will meet with unbounded success. I cannot but feel that the plan will meet with success and sincerely trust that the alumni will respond to the appeals of the committee for a glorious reunion."

"Finals at Washington and Lee should be the most enjoyable event of the college year and should be attended by a greater number of the students. I hope that in a short time, finals may become so attractive that no student will think of depriving himself of the intestimable pleasure that they will afford. The present facilities prevent many features that should be included in the programme of Finals but I feel that in the near future we will have the proper facilities.

"If the alumni avail themselves of the plans of the reunion committees, we will assure them a good time. I will see that proper arrangements are made for their care and see no reason why they should not flock to Lexington to mingle again with old time chums and acquaintances.

"The plans of the Birmingham committee will not interfere with the three formal reunions of the classes of 1910, '95, and '85. And, of course, the urge the alumni, of any year, to return. It is gratifying to see so much interest among the alumni in the commencement plans."

Assurances have been received from Birmingham that the committee intends to continue its concerted campaign to land men for the reunion. The slight depression which exists in the south, has been overlooked, for the committee feels that improvement will come shortly and that business conditions will not interfere with its plans.

Letters to leading alumni in the various other centers will urge their cooperation. There will be no delay in the scheme, whatever, for the Birmingham alumni are determined to make the 1915 Fianls the most enjoyable in years.

CREWS WILL HAVE A STUDENT MANAGER

C. W. Gooch Chosen for 1915 Season to Manage Boat Crews

The Crew Department will hereafter have a student business manager, and Claiborne W. Gooch has been chosen for that position for the 1915 season. The advantages of this step are evident. Hitherto there has been but little system on the financial side of crew management. Consequently no little difficulty and confusion appeared in the matter of the financial needs of the two boat clubs. In the future, however, it is thought that all such difficulties will be obviated, and the Crew Department will receive its deserved part of the University athletic funds.

The Harry Lees are already hard at work on their rowing machine, two hour practices being held daily on the third floor of Newcomb Hill.
