P. O. Box 926,
Lexington, Virginia.

Dear Mr. Parsons:

I see no point in rushing through a story on the Mock Convention. I think that you and the Sun could do a better job with it by having more time. I'll tentatively schedule the story a week later--for the May 13th issue.

Please understand that I can't promise to use this story until I see how it works out and what the pictures look like.

Cordially yours,

Harold A. Williams,
Sunday Editor.
