THE NINETEEN HUN CALL

DRED FORTY - ONE

J A M E S H U B E R T P R I C E

WE DEDICATE THIS CALYX

IT IS WITH PRIDE IN THE HIGH ACHIEVEMENT OF A MOST DISTINGUISHED ALUMNUS THAT WE, THE EDITORS, DEDICATE THE 1941 "CALYX" TO HIS EXCELLENCY, JAMES HUBERT PRICE, GOVERNOR OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA. HIS ACTIVE INTEREST IN WASHINGTON AND LEE IS ATTESTED BY HIS WILLINGNESS TO PARTICIPATE IN ANY OF ITS FUNCTIONS, WHILE HIS DEVOTION TO HER IDEALS HAS PROMPTED HIM TO INCLUDE HIS SON, JAMES, JR., AMONG THE STUDENT BODY. THROUGH ABILITY AND STRAIGHT-FORWARDNESS HE HAS WON THE CONFIDENCE AND ADMIRATION OF ALL VIRGINIANS WHICH HE HAS REPAID WITH ONE OF THE MOST PROGRESSIVE AND EFFICIENT ADMINISTRATIONS IN THE HISTORY OF THE OLD DOMINION.

IN A SENSE WE HAVE DEPARTED FROM THE CONVENTIONAL "THEME" OF PAST VOLUMES, BUT ON THE OTHER HAND WE HAVE UTILIZED A MORE ENCOMPASSING APPROACH . . . THE STUDENTS THEMSELVES AND THEIR CAMPUS LIFE. A CALYX DEALING SOLELY WITH WASHINGTON AND LEE WHICH SHALL SERVE AS A PERMANENT RECORD OF THEIR HAPPIEST FOUR YEARS HAS BEEN THEIR EXPRESSED PREFERENCE. IT IS WITH A FEELING OF HOPEFULNESS IN HAVING ACHIEVED THIS GOAL THAT THE EDITORS PRESENT THE 1941 CALYX . . . AN ANNUAL PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS, ABOUT STUDENTS, FOR STUDENTS.

To the members of the Senior Class:

Across the hurrying years this book will have for you, I sincerely hope, larger and larger value. It will bring before you scenes of pleasant experiences; it will provide for you, at least in the transportation of the spirit, happy renewals of friendships that were once precious and are never to be forgotten; it may furnish for you emotional release, an escape of happiness from drab and unconventional environment. If my wish could be granted, I should hope most of all that this book would serve to sustain the influences that have been finest in your campus life, the graces of social relationship, the performance of obligation, the ideals of honor and of faith which are the soul of Washington and Lee.

Features

BEAUTY

We are deeply indebted to Mr. Alex Raymond, not only for selecting the photographs comprising our beauty section, but for the honor and distinct privilege of reproducing one of his originals, it being the first time that this one has appeared in any publication.

His meteoric art career may be likened to the ascent on one of the rocket ships which he draws for the nationally known comic page, "Flash Gordon." He introduced this feature six years ago and "Flash" now appears in 152 newspapers, has been filmed in a half dozen serials, and has had more than 1,000,000 pocket size books printed about him.

Raymond is self-taught except for two months study at the Grand Central School of Art. Today at 30, he is considered one of the leading newspaper artists in the syndicate field. He also is well known for his illustrations in Colliers, Esquire, Cosmopolitan, and other periodicals. Alex lives in Springdale, Connecticut, with Mrs. Raymond and three little Raymonds. He devotes his spare time to painting, reading, and playing golf.

The year 1941 marks a new era in Washington and Lee's athletic history. The new University Committee on Athletics is the consolidation of several old committees which had interchangable functions. It was recommended by the sixteen-man joint committee composed of trustees, faculty, alumni, and students which met in January to revamp the school's athletic policy. The group's activity to date has been most progressive and from all indications will be even more so.

HAMPDEN-SYDNEY

Washington and Lee's football ship, although battered by the waves of powerful Vanderbilt and Kentucky early in the gridiron season of 1940, sailed through Hampden-Sydney in the year's opener, with a promise of potency that never materialized later in the fall. Proving themselves a powerhouse on the afternoon of September 21, the Generals piled up 26 points to none for the Tigers of Hampden-Sydney, as the Blue offense riddled the Tigers' line for 16 first downs. But this display of power failed to reappear throughout the rest of the autumn, as the season's end showed a record of two victories, one tie, and seven defeats for the luckless Tilsonmen.

A combination of injuries, bad luck, and tough opponents got together to prevent the Blue from ever reaching again their full stride. In the opener, played on Wilson Field, the Washington and Lee blueclad warriors weren't to be stopped and 256 yards were reeled off through rushing. Junie Bishop and Joe Baugher got a touchdown each, while Bert Kadis clipped off 30 and 25 yards respectively for two more markers. Dynamite Dick Pinck approximated the gridiron form he had shown his freshman year when he danced 57 yards up field on a punt return.

Mighty Vanderbilt appeared next on the Washington and Lee football horizon, and a gallant small squad of W. & L. gridders traveled down to Nashville to meet the Southeastern Conference's Commodores. Vandy was held scoreless by the daring Lexingtonians for the first thirty minutes of play, but the injury-riddled Generals couldn't stand up to the second-half power of the Tennesseans and fell apart before their vicious assault. A sophomore, Rebrovich by name, from Vanderbilt, stole the whole show, while stellar play by Johnny "Lugger" Ligon at quarter and Big John Rulevich at tackle for the Generals completed the tri-cornered sophomore duel. When the battle smoke cleared, the Blue was on the short end of a 19 to 0 score.

The following Saturday found the Washington and Lee football team down deep in old W. & L. country, tangling with the mighty Wildcats of the University of Kentucky in Lexington, Kentucky. The Cats broke the halter which the Generals tried vainly to toss around their necks and tore through the W. & L. defense to ring up seven touchdowns and a 47 to 12 final score. Costliest event of the game was the reinjuring of Howard Dobbins' knee, forcing him to the sidelines for most of the football season and slowing up his performance as center and captain of the Blue Comets basketball aggregation. Sophomore Ligon and Senior Junie Bishop stole the show for the Generals with Ligon passing and Bishop plunging to lead the offensive work. Powerful Jack Mangan, captain and center of the Blue, stood his ground with his usual sterling defensive play and helped brighten an otherwise dull afternoon. Eleven thousand spectators cheered the outclassed Generals as they fought gamely against their mightier opponents.

Facing George Washington University's Colonials on Homecoming Day, October 12, 1940, the Generals were pepped up for a home victory. The Colonials, newly admitted to the Southern Conference, brought a big burly team down to Wilson Field and laid siege to the Blue's goal. But Tex Tilson's men pushed the startled Washingtonians off their feet with a 7-point lead early in the first half. The Colonials juggernaut began to move in the second half and chalked up thirteen points before the Blue had recovered from their between-halves rest. With scarcely five minutes to play, Frank Socha, sophomore plunging back, cracked the line for a touchdown from the five-yard line and then kicked the extra point, putting the Generals into the front end of a 14-13 score. It looked as if the excitement had subsided for the remainder of the contest, and the alumni-studded crowd settled back in anticipation of a W. & L. victory. But the gap closed with a rush as G. W.'s Wilamoski ran through the General's secondary and crossed the goal line after a 23-yard trip. The extra point was successfully kicked, and the Colonials figured they had the game on ice. Kicking off, the George Washington eleven garnered a fifteen-yard penalty when an official hooked them for unnecessary roughness. With about two minutes to play, Joe Baugher heaved a pass to Sims Trueheart down on the three-yard line; then, an offside penalty was called and the ball was moved down to the one-yard line. Dannie Justice attempted to score from the one in the play that led to almost as much dispute as resulted from the Cornell-Dartmouth game. Referee Dutch Ebert ruled that Justice's knee touched the ground before he went over, but the partisan crowd insisted, and moving pictures later proved, that Justice had scored. The game Generals, having fought a tough battle, were placed on the short end of a 20-14 score, ending a disastrous but thrilling Homecoming spectacle. Captain Jack Mangan's terrific play at center was the outstanding work of the game, while Dick Pinck, Junie Bishop, and Frank Socha paced the back field.

Turning to their first Big Six foe, the Washington and Lee team moved east to Richmond and clashed with the Spiders of Richmond University. Playing in a driving rainstorm with Richmond's Artful Arthur Jones parrying the thrusts of the Generals' offense, neither team was able to score until the last 40 seconds of the tilt when Frank "The Bull" Socha toed a field goal over from the 17-yard stripe to give the Washington and Lee gridmen a 3 to 0 triumph. The teams battled it out on even terms throughout most of the game, while 5,000 drenched spectators huddled in Richmond's city stadium. Bert Nelson, a junior and converted end, shone through the murky weather for the W. & L. team, as he throttled the end sweeps of vaunted Arthur Jones time after time. Dick Pinck turned in another stand-out performance as he passed and caught to lead the Generals' offense. Lugger Ligon and Sims Trueheart proved an effective passing team, with Ligon tossing and Trueheart receiving. This victory broke up the two-year winning streak the Spiders had started and gave the Blue a tie for the lead in the Big Six's early standing.

On the next week-end, the Washington and Lee student body invaded Lynchburg for the neutral-ground battle between the Gobblers of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and the injury-stricken Blue. Playing in the new Municipal Stadium as part of a gala program which included a special National Defense speech by Governor James H. Price of Virginia, the Tilsonmen failed to click throughout the afternoon and dropped a lethargic ball game to V. P. I. by an overwhelming 21 to 0 count. The listless Generals were outcharged and outclassed by a fighting, aggressive Tech team, on the rebound after four successive defeats.

Eight thousand fans witnessed the toe of Frank Socha pushing the Generals into a 7 to 6 lead against West Virginia early in the first quarter of the annual tussle in Charleston. But the power and substitutes of the Mountaineers proved too much for the weakening Blue; and a fresh West Virginia University team punched over another touchdown in the second quarter to give the Mountaineers a 12-7 margin of victory. Neither side scored in the second half. West Virginia scored without relinquishing the ball after the opening kickoff. A poor Mountaineer punt gave the ball to the Generals on the West Virginia 37-yard line; and after a short line buck, Joe Baugher passed to Courtney Wadlington on the 26, and Wadlington carried the ball over for the Washington and Lee score. Captain Jack Mangan suffered a serious leg injury early in the game, while Paul Skillman, second-team center, and Big John Rulevich, starting tackle, received minor hurts.

Moving next to Charlottesville for the traditional clash with the University of Virginia, the Blue football team found itself severely crippled. Junie Bishop, Jack Mangan, Howard Dobbins, and Johnny Ligon were benched for the game, while big Paul Skillman, reserve center playing in Mangan's slot, was injured early in the fray. Minus the services of these key men, the Generals fought desperately and gallantly, but were unable to cope with the Cavaliers' aces in the form of Bounding Bill Dudley and "Flash" Bryant. It was Virginia all the way, with the final count showing the Wahoos on the top side of a 20 to 6 score. Little Joe Baugher and Harrison Hogan led the Blues' belated attack, which resulted in an 80-yard drive and a touchdown in the final period of the ball game. The Virginia tilt marked the seventh game onto the credit side of the ledger for the Blue and White.

Heading south once again, the Generals met the hard-fighting Purple of Sewanee in their next assignment. An undermanned Blue squad left for the game, and only nineteen men from the battle-scarred roster saw action. Although W. & L. outgained and outplayed the Purple, the Generals were completely stifled with two touchdowns in the last 85 seconds of play and dropped the game 25 to 13. Overcoming a single touchdown deficiency in the second period, the Generals forged ahead in the third quarter until the fatal last minutes. The game was played in Chattanooga, Tennessee, before a small crowd.

Winding up the season with the University of Maryland in College Park on November 30, the Blue aggregation played colorless ball for three quarters, then, with Johnny Ligon's bullet-like passes providing the spearhead for the Generals' offensive, the Generals marched 69 yards in the final stanza for a touchdown and a 7 to 0 lead. But with bare seconds remaining, the Terrapins pulled out their bag of tricks and threw enough passes of their own to garner a tie score. Captain Jack Mangan played his most brilliant game of the year as he knocked down Maryland passes and played bang-up defensive ball for three quarters. The 7 to 7 tie rang down the curtain on the most disastrous season in recent W. & L. football history, with the slate showing a final record of 2 wins, 7 losses, and 1 tie.—AL FLEISHMAN.

RESUME

Handicapped primarily by Captain Howard Dobbins' trick knee which prevented him from reaching his 1940 All-State heights, the Washington and Lee basketball team achieved only moderate success, winning but 11 of 21 games during the 1940-41 campaign.

Coach Cunningham's boys finished fourth among the 15 Southern Conference schools, winning nine and losing four Conference tilts. The Generals whipped Maryland, V. P. I., and Richmond twice each, defeated Furman in their only meeting, split even in two games each with Duke and W. & M., and lost to Carolina twice.

An unlucky pre-Christmas trip during which the Blue Comets lost three games by a total margin of eight points, the illness of Dick Pinck and Ed Cuttino when Virginia played in Doremus Gym, the untimely ejection from the Carolina game of Pinck, Dobbins, and Signaigo, and the lack of capable substitutes all affected the season's record.

The starting five, Pinck, Dobbins, and Gary, seniors, junior Ed Cuttino, and Leo Signaigo, a sophomore, played most of the games with scarcely any substitution. Pinck made the Associated Press All-State team for the third successive year, and Gary and Dobbins were named to the second team.

V. M. I. brought an unanticipated end to the season when they eliminated W. & L. from the conference tournament in the first meeting in an intercollegiate game between the two schools since 1904.—AL DARBY.

By defeating Apprentice School and West Virginia in the first two matches, W. & L. ran its dual meet victory streak to 15, but Illinois stopped that string with a 23-11 victory over the Blue. The following Saturday the Blue wrestlers lost their first conference dual meet since 1929 when North Carolina gained a 15½-12½ win. W. & L. had won 43 consecutive conference matches until turned back by Carolina.

Coach Mathis' wrestlers retaliated by winning the last three meets and carrying off conference honors at College Park, Maryland. Graham, Robb, and Fuller were all unbeaten during the 1941 season and aided immensely the team's fine showing. Lanier, Schellenberg, Graham won the 121-pound crown, Robb, the team's individual high scorer with 33 points, won the 128-pound championship, Captain Fuller was the 136-pound winner, and Ailor carried off heavyweight honors.

Although the Blue wrestlers finished the season in a blaze of glory, two victory streaks which W. & L. wrestlers had amassed ended by losses to Illinois and North Carolina.—AL DARBY.

RESUME OF SEASON

The 1940 baseball season was a mediocre one for the Washington and Lee nine as the won and lost column showed a record of only five wins against fourteen loses. This poor showing, however, was somewhat offset by the brilliant work of several individual stars. Bob Gregerson, ace hurler, won four of the five victories for the Generals, turning in two one-hit performances and an 8-0 shutout against V. P. I. Dick Smith, junior hurler, and Pres Brown also pitched creditable ball.

Slugger Bob Keim led the W. & L. hitters and was counted on at all times. He was ably supported by the dangerous bats of Captain Ronnie Thompson, Lea Booth, and Jack Dangler.

Captain Dick's nine started the season off in an impressive fashion by shutting out Ohio State 5-0 behind the one-hit pitching of Gregerson. But when the team took its annual spring trip, the Big Blue was so far off that five defeats had been chalked up by the time the tour was over. A 5-1 setback by the Roanoke nine was followed by losses to William and Mary, Richmond, N. C. State, and Duke. The North Carolina diamondmen also turned back the W. & L. nine by the score of 18-1. The brightest spot of the disappointing trip was the fine pitching of Gregerson and Booth. The poor record was due largely to lack of experience and also the lack of reserves was a plague to the team already handicapped by the absence of catcher Jack Mangan suffering from a sore arm.

Hitting the comeback trail after six straight defeats, Captain Dick Smith's diamondmen played inspired ball against their Williamsburg rivals to win their second game of the campaign. Brown and Joe Baugher were the big guns in the Generals' attack each getting two hits out of four trips to the plate. Jack Mangan homered to enable the Big Blue to win the game 9-7.

The next game was with N. C. State and with the combined efforts of Smith and Brown on the mound backed by Keim's powerful bat the Generals were able to turn in a 7-5 win to revenge the previous 4-7 defeat by this same team.

Sloppy fielding on the part of Washington and Lee broke an eighth-inning 3-3 deadlock and scattered the joint seven-hit mound performance of Brown and Gregerson and enabled George Washington to win out by the score of 7-3. The same performance and wild pitching against V. P. I. was the cause of the second straight defeat for the Big Blue team 16-7. The hitting of Thompson, Keim and Dangler, and a homer by Brown were of no avail.

Against Navy, Brown hurled a neat three-hit game, but several errors at crucial points was enough for the Annapolis nine to take the game 4-2. In the Maryland game which ended 13-8 against the Generals the only bright spot was the heavy slugging of Keim who was batting close to .400 at this time.

Bringing an unsuccessful northern trip to a close, Captain Dick's diamondmen played heads-up ball against George Washington only to lose by the close score of 10-9. W. & L. outhit the Colonials 12-9, but were unable to overcome the 8-1 deficit from the early part of the game.

Ineffectiveness of the pitching staff enabled Virginia's dangerous Wahoos to take an easy 13-2 win, and to bring the Generals' losing streak to six straight for the second time in the season. Although the Blue was unable to do much against the Spiders of Richmond, being shut out by them 3-0, the Lexington team bounced back in their next encounter by winning their fourth game of the season with the impressive score of 8-0 against a fighting V. P. I. nine. Fine pitching by Gregerson who also accounted for two of the team's thirteen hits, and a home-run by Keim featured the breaking of a seven-game losing streak.

The Generals were unable to keep in the win column for very long, however, as Virginia's rampant baseball nine nicked W. & L.'s starting hurler, Pres Brown, for four tallies in the first frame of their second encounter of the season to pile up an early lead which was never overtaken. The final score was 11-4.

Playing the last game of the season on Wilson field, the Big Blue defeated Maryland's crack aggregation 3-2 behind the masterful pitching of Gregerson. The season's record of five wins against fourteen loses, while far from impressive, is still an improvement over the records of the past several years, excluding the 1939 season.

Loses to the team will be heavy this year with Captain Ronnie Thompson, Lea Booth, Jack Dangler and J. C. Snidow not returning. Talent from the freshman team will be counted on heavily to plug up the most noticeable weak spots on the 1941 squad.—TIM DAVIS.

Faced with the responsibility of building a team around four returning lettermen, Coach Cy Twombly worked hard with a small and inexperienced group of swimming candidates, and they responded by winning three of seven rapid-fire meets. The team also finished fifth in the Southern Conference meet at Blacksburg.

Before the season began, Coach Twombly predicted that his mermen would be lucky to win a single meet, but had it not been for several tough breaks the W. & L. swimmers might have ended the season with a winning percentage.

The two Southern Conference powers, North Carolina and Duke, which finished first and second respectively in the conference meet, were the only rivals of the Blue to defeat them by a decisive margin. In losing to North Carolina State in the second meet of the season the W. & L. medley relay team of Bill Webster, Lynn Murdock, and Don Garretson bettered the then standing conference mark of 3:17.4 by two full seconds. The Blue's other loss, to the University of Virginia team, was determined by the result of the free style relay which the Wahoos won.

The week between February 14 and February 20 was the most successful for Twombly's swimmers. During that span the W. & L. team won all three of its meets, defeating V. P. I., W. & M., and Clemson in quick succession.

In the Southern Conference meet, W. & L. won fifth place by virtue of a second by the medley relay team of Webster, Murdock, and Garretson who finished behind the record-smashing North Carolina trio; a third by Captain Bob Boyce in the dive; and another third by sophomore Billy Webster in the back stroke.

Evans Jasper was elected to the captaincy of the 1942 team at the close of the season.—BILL NOONAN.

. . . Appreciation . . .

You have now seen the complete 1941 "Calyx." It was the purpose of the editors to give a new and modern presentation of life at Washington and Lee. This has been a "Calyx" of innovations. For the first time in the history of the publication, large and "bleed" cuts and color was used throughout. It contains 100 more students in the class section than any previous time, more pages, and the largest number of subscriptions on record, not to mention the first cover of its kind in this section. The trend being away from heavy themes, we have built this "Calyx" around the students, their activities, and campus life.

I would like to especially thank Dan Eadie of Benson Printing Company for his untiring efforts and inspiration. I feel deeply indebted to him not only as an adviser and helper, but as a true friend. Our appreciation also goes to Mr. W. A. Benson for the modern ideas and layout which he worked out so beautifully with Mr. Eadie.

To Thointon Borthwick of the Andre Studio goes my particular thanks and admiration for the splendid job of photographing he did. "Thorne" could be called upon at any time and as a result he has probably contributed more than any single individual through his fine action and group shots. Also to the Andre Studio staff go our appreciation for their cooperation and especially to Andy himself.

For quality engraving one couldn't find better than the Lynchburg Engraving Company has supplied, but in particular I am indebted to Len Glover of that firm for his constant advice and consolement in some of those dire moments of stress. As a Washington and Lee graduate he has gone far beyond the line of obligation to help the "Calyx." To Mr. Henry K. Tice, of the Kingsport Press, a truly wonderful man to work with, goes the credit for the modern cover.

Having worked with Benton Wakefield, business manager, on the 1941 "Calyx," no word of thanks would be sufficient for the untiring work and organization he has effected which has resulted in a new high in the number of ads sold. Also his very fine staff composed of Brad Dunson, Evans Jasper, and Bob Wersel deserve their credit for the excellent showing "Wake" has made.

On the editorial staff, three sophomores can be credited for all the detailed work and without whom this annual could not possibly have gone to press. Because they are sophomores, Jim Davis, Cal Bond, and John Peeples had a handicap in assuming the responsibility that they did. It was a real pleasure working with them and I feel sure that their fine work will result in an excellent "Calyx" in 1942. Also to Al Fleishman, sports editor, goes my appreciation as well as to his staff for preparation of the sports copy.

THE EDITOR.
