Hampden-Sidney Goes Down Before W. & L.

MEETS HER FIRST DEFEAT OF THE SEASON.

The Hampden-Sidney game was the most exciting of the season, although the ball was in the opponent's territory nearly the whole time, H. S. scoring only on a long run after a punt. Our play was a great improvement over last week's work, and we clearly outplayed the visiting team on all points. Our failure to run up a larger score was due to the delay of giving signals and lining up for the plays.

There was a marked improvement in our catching of kicks, but on account of hesitation and care we failed to make much ground. A point on which we still seem to be weak is in forming an interference when receiving the kick-off. Our line was again impregnable and the Pennsylvania formation is no longer a play that makes ground against W. & L. The work of the ends was much better and McPheeters made his tackles behind the line a feature of the game. McNeill played a star game, keeping his eye on the ball every play; he recovered several fumbles and blocked kicks beautifully, earning our touchdown in this way. McConnell played a much better game and got in some splendid work. The whole team was in the game from start to finish, and if we keep up good hard work the rest of the season we will certainly be able to claim justly the championship of the state if not of the South.

THE GAME AS IT WAS PLAYED.

Hampden-Sidney won the toss and took the west goal. Moore kicked off forty yards and H. S. returned the ball five yards. Hampden-Sidney then began a series of line plays which gained ground slowly for fifteen yards. They were then held for three downs and the home team took the ball. A few bucks carried the ball to the H. S. five yard line where we lost the ball on a fumble and H. S. kicked to their forty-five yard line. Mc-Leod caught the ball and advanced five yards. Lee rushed the line for four more and W. & L. was then held for three downs. After a few hard earned gains H. S. fumbled and McConnell made a good play and secured the ball on the opponent's forty-yard line. Here W. & L. lost the ball on downs on account of missing a signal. H. S. after a few line rushes lost the ball and McLeod punted twenty-five yards for W. & L. Hampden-Sidney then did her best ground gaining of the day, pushing the ball from their fifteen-yard line up to the centre of the field by the "guards back" formation and a fake play which made twenty yards. At the centre of the field H. S. lost the ball on a fumble and W. & L. was given ten yards for off-side play. McLeod punted twenty-five yards again and H. S. regained fifteen. Hampden-Sidney was held three times by the line and McLeod punted out of bounds. The ball was brought in and H. S. lined up for a kick but McNeill made a beautiful block and H. S. lost the ball and fifteen yards. W. & L. then carried the ball up to the one foot line where time was called. The referee neglected to declare the half ended and on the next rush W. & L. scored a touchdown. But in view of the fact that time had actually been called they waived this touchdown, letting the score of the first half stand a tie, 0-0.

Second Half.—H. S. kicked off to W. & L. on their twenty-five yard line and kick was returned twenty yards. H. S. gained five yards and was then thrown for losses three times. W. & L. kicked twenty yards. H. S. made ten yards by short gains, and Capt. McPheeters then made the plays of the game by downing the runner twice in succession eight yards behind the line. H. S. kicked out of bounds. Ball was brought in and McLeod punted thirty-five yards. Both ends overran the man and by good interference Cole of H. S. circled to the left of the whole team for a seventy yard run and a touchdown. H. S. failed for goal. Score—H. S. 5, W. & L. 0.

Moore kicked off from centre of field behind Hampden-Sidney's goal line. H. S. kicked out from the twenty-five yard line for forty yards. W. & L. returned the ball ten yards and then punted thirty. H. S. fumbled and W. & L. got the ball. Lee began the work with a ten-yard gain which was quickly followed by shorter gains that landed the ball over Hampden-Sidney's line. Moore kicked a very difficult goal amid the deepest suspense of the side lines. Score—W. & L. 6, H. S. 5.

After this no more scoring was done, but W. & L. kept the ball close down in Hampden-Sidney's territory by kicking repeatedly. Just before time was called E. Bledsoe made a beautiful run through the whole H. S. team from the pick-up of a punt. Time was called with the ball in Hampden-Sidney's possession on their fifteen-yard line. Score—W. & L. 6, H. S. 5.

Line-up of the teams:

The Senior Law class announces that it is delighted that the Juniors have seen fit to select some distinguishing mark, for the mere thought that they might be mistaken for members of '00 has been such a thorn in their side that they were on the point of getting some insignia of their own. This action of the Juniors, however, relieves them.

The Cotillion Club met last Wednesday to consider ways and means. Mr. Johnson, the treasurer, reported that the club was running behind and it was thought advisable to raise the dues. It was decided to make the Thanksgiving german a memorable one.

Chapel.

In the absence of President Wilson Dr. Currell addressed the students last Wednesday. No address this year has given more genuine enjoyment. He led up to his subject with well chosen preliminary remarks, sparkling with wit and humor which elicited much hearty laughter from his hearers. Dr. Currell's fecundity of humor is well known. All through his talk he brought forth happy anecdotes aptly illustrating his remarks.

His general theme—"The More Beyond"—he analyzed, sketching the beyond in material things and contrasting it with the beyond in literature and in life. The glittering prospect before us in the material world, he said, the possibilities of the highly developed mechanical agencies of today absorb our attention to such an extent that we fall into the false conclusion that the world is moving on in progress materially, while it is standing still or retrograding as regards mind and spirit. This delusion can be dispelled by considering the poetry, drama and prose of today. He cited in this connection as examples of modern richness of thought and expression Kipling's "Recessional" and Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Dr. Currell passed from this aspect of the beyond in literature to the principle of suggestiveness in writers, why it is we read and re-read some authors. He said that the measure for a writer's suggestiveness is the sureness of his grasp of the several verities as to Man, Nature and God. In his interesting discussion of these three component topics of literature, he showed that a study of any one led to a profounder appreciation of the other two.

In closing his address Dr. Currell dwelt at length on experience and expression as the sum total of an author's excellence. This expression is acquired through experience and experience through cultivating a stalwart individuality.

In another column of this issue will be found a communication signed "Reformation," in which the author advocates the retention of Mr. Trenchard as physical director for next year.

The RING-TUM PHI cordially endorses this proposition which, if it be possible, we believe would go far towards advancing the material prosperity of the University.

Collegiate athletics are not what they used to be. Their scope and importance have increased each year with the growth and development of colleges themselves. It has grown to be a factor—and a large one—in the college life, and no institution of learning can claim to have fulfilled its mission in the largest sense until it provides physical as well as mental and moral training.

Looked at from this point of view, the selection of a man capable and thoroughly versed in physical culture becomes not only expedient but imperative. More than this, we must have an educated man, one who could work on scientific principles and who would interest himself in enlarging and developing the University along these lines. We need too, a man who is himself an "all-round" athlete. Our University is not so opulent as to be able to provide instructors in every branch of athletics but we must have a man who is competent to take charge of the outdoor sports as well as the work in the gymnasium and one who would be respected and looked up to by the students.

Mr. Trenchard would in every respect fill these conditions. As an athlete his reputation is as large as the country itself. He is an A. B. of Princeton and is a man who would be thoroughly respected and admired by the students. No better evidence of this is needed than the testimony of members of the football team who have been under his charge for the past three weeks and who are enthusiastic in his praise.

We sincerely hope that some arrangement may be made whereby we may have Mr. Trenchard with us next year as physical director.

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY GAME

Trenchard Criticises the Team.

In the game with Hampden-Sidney college last Saturday there was an improvement in all respects over the Roanoke college game on the previous Saturday. Our team very seldom failed to gain ground, but perceiving early in the game that their opponents would not kick the ball even when they had the wind with them, we wisely decided to kick the ball and allow the Hampden-Sidney boys to do the harder offensive work. In the first half our opponents could make no ground except through center. In the second half they failed wholly in their offensive work. They scored on a long run from one of our kicks because our team did not follow the ball closely enough and allowed the runner, with good interference, to come well up the field before they saw what was happening.

All of our kicks were gotten off quickly except two, which were blocked by our own backs, because the full-back ran too far forward and kicked the ball into our half-back. When our opponents kicked our backs fumbled very little, and although they were very slow in returning the ball, still they always got it. All the backs handled passes from quarter better and held onto to ball. Our ends did not get down the field fast enough on their kicks, and should have gotten the opposing runner from behind often, because their opponents started and ran very slowly. Our tackling was entirely too high.

Lee's work thus far shows him to be a good line buckler, and a man who keeps his feet well in mass plays. He tackles well but is a slow starter and runner, which is most apparent on long end runs.

Guion is a faster runner than Lee, but usually goes into a mass play too high, although he often jumps an opponent when he has fallen in front of him. His chief fault is that he becomes discouraged or angry when plays go wrong for a time.

Jenkins has been at a great disadvantage all the season on account of water on the knee, caused by very poorly padded pants, but in the last week he has improved very much, and will do good work now until the end of the season. He is one of the hardest workers on the team. Jenkins, McCleod, Bledsoe E., and Sloan handle kicks better than any of the other players.

Martin has been out one week only and a good criticism of his work is hardly possible now, but he is a quick starter and runner. When the quarter passes the ball he fights it too much and often fumbles when he would not if he took it more easily. He, too, is liable to become discouraged at the start.

Lee, Jr., very much resembles his brother in style of play, and will make a good steady player. At present his lack of weight is against him.

Brown is a hard worker, and like several other men trying for the team, if the coach had had the time this season to pay more attention to the men individually, instead of having to develop team work so soon, would have made a very good man.

Holmes is a very quick thinker, plays hard, and after a little experience in one or two games, will play a good game. He weighs 175 pounds, is active, has long arms and seems strong, but has much to learn.

It gives us much regret to learn that one or more men who have signed the pledge, are not keeping up to their promises. The sentiment of the students should be of such a character that they would very forcibly tell any man breaking training, who is trying for the team, what they think of him and report the matter to the captain or coach. It is almost inconceivable that a college man can pledge his word of honor to do a thing and then deliberately break it.

On last Thursday evening Dr. Quarles entertained the football squad at an oyster feed. The boys report a hot time.

BURKS THE MAN.

The Board of Trustees Elect
Martin P. Burks to Succeed Wm. L. Clark.

At a meeting of the board of trustees held last night Mr. Martin P. Burks of Bedford City, Va., was elected to the chair in the law department made vacant by the resignation of Wm. L. Clark. It is known that Mr. Burks will accept.

Mr. Burks is the son of Judge E.C. Burks, for many years a member of the court of appeals of Virginia, and one of Virginia's most distinguished jurists. He is forty-eight years of age, and has been for about five years reporter of the court of appeals. By the bar of the state, he is regarded as one of the best equipped and most learned lawyers in this state.

In his profession Mr. Burks is an enthusiast and thinks, acts and talks nothing but law. In disposition he is lovable and attractive, and personally is a most entertaining and charming man.

He was educated at W. and L. U. during General R. E. Lee's regime. He is married and has quite a large family.

Mr. Burks' mind is essentially a legal one, and besides being a constant contributor to the Virginia Law Register, he is the author of Burks' Married Women, which is used in this school and many other law schools of the country.

Mr. Burks comes to us highly commended by the judges of the supreme court, and it is certain that with his aid W. and L. U. will continue to make good her boast of being the best Law School of the South.

A gentleman of this college, well-known for his thoughtfulness as well as for his corpulence, has proposed the following questions:

Why is it that when you go out on a wheel the wind is always in your face, both going and coming?

Why does the furnace always work well in torrid weather and go out during a blizzard?

Why does the one example in the whole book that you are unable to work, come up on exam?

Why do you invariably meet up town, the professor you just cut?

Why do you stop getting letters as soon as you get a post-office box? [Because she is writing to the other fellow.]

Law Debate.

An action to recover damages for imprisonment for participating in the famous Jameson raid in the Transvaal by a trooper, who was induced to enlist by Cecil Rhodes and Dr. Jameson, on representations that the raid was carried on under the sanction of the queen, was the discussion last Wednesday. Mr. Sullivan opened for the trooper with a long history of the raid, explaining the situation of the parties and the circumstances under which the raid was gotten up, and showed that the doctrine of in pari delicto did not apply. Mr. Ellett for Jameson and Rhodes then argued that if the trooper did not know he was doing an illegal act, he should have known it, and that he was an equal tortfeasor with the defendants and could not recover. Mr. Gish followed for the trooper, claiming he was pure in heart and spirit, doing what he did only for the greater glory of his mistress, the queen of England, and arguing that in the jungles of Africa no one was supposed to know the laws of England. Mr. Wadley then closed for the defense with a handful of billet doux, and Mr. Sullivan rejoined on the same line as his first argument. On the volunteer debate Messrs. Riggs, Hartman, Robinson, Wurrell and several others claimed the case for their favorite and the question was put to the court. Mr. Martin, C. J., decided in favor of the trooper and Eales J. concurred. Justices Throckmorton, Moore and Frierson dissented and the case was decided in favor of Jameson and Rhodes.

Professor Vance concurred in the decision of the court, on the ground that the trooper ought to have known he was violating the English enlistment act, and as damages were claimed arising from his own crime, he would not be heard in a court of law.

Officers of Calyx.

At a mass-meeting of the students held on last Tuesday the following officers were elected for the current year: G. C. Powell of Washington, D. C.; editor-in-chief; Geo. Walter of Georgia, assistant editor; J. W. Johnson of Alabama, business manager.

The Junior Law class has elected Mr. L. A. Hickman of Kentucky, as their representative on the board.

Communicated.

It seems to me, a humble student with no athletic aspirations and much athletic enthusiasm, that it would be a good plan to employ Trenchard as physical director for next year. My friends, the faculty, if you would but use your persuasive eloquence to at least engender into the minds of the trustees of this University an embryo idea of this kind, you would do more towards furthering the interests of the University than a whole car load of drummers could do in many summer's work.

Did it ever strike you that perhaps many men come here for physical education as well as mental? The catalogue extends most seductive inducements to those inclined towards training physically. Alas, the catalogue in this particular is but a refined form of romance. I know it is not the wish of a conscientious faculty and board of trustees to continue this fiction. In every other department, the University is more than worthy of the description given in the catalogue. Let them reform in the physical department. "REFORMATION."

An exchange gives the following definition of love: A little sighing, a little dying, a little crying and a great deal of lying.
