THE U. VA. GAME

The game with U. Va. was played under protest by W. L. U. by reason of Nalle's playing. It was considerably delayed by reason of the protest, since this makes Nalle's fifth year with an association team, which under the association rules debars him from participating in the game; and further by the refusal of Va. to play the game until the crowd would be seated in the grand stand, which they refused to do, saying that they would go back to the city before they would do so. Va., finding that she could not run the bluff, and W. L. U. having taken their positions in the field, consented to play, after an hour had been lost. It is understood that W. L. U. will protest the game.

The features of the game were the batting of Breckenridge and Harding for W. L. U., the all round playing of Pollard, the batting of Cocks and Caster, and the outfield work of Va.

Though Breck made two costly errors in the game, he was the star player for W. L. U. He batted in hard luck; for with two men on bases in the fifth he drove a line ball to the left that but for the wind curving the ball and the pretty playing of Cocks would have been a home run. He was robbed of another fine hit in the 8th by Pollard, though not in his right position, was in the right place to pull the hit down.

THE GAME

1st. U. Va.—Pollard opened up with base on balls, went to 2nd, and scored on two-base hit of Cocks's; Nalle hit to Breck, who erred in throwing to 1st; Carter made three dashes and took his seat; Connett hit to Crawford and he died on 1st. Yarboro repeated Carter's tactics.

W. L. U.—Smith hit the first ball thrown, but it was too hard a problem for Nick Carter to solve and Smith was entitled to 1st; Andrews hit to short, who cut off Smith but threw wild to 1st; Boogher hit for a single, Andrews scoring; Crawford fanned; Breck lined it out for three bags, Boogher scoring. Breck came home on passed ball. Spencer hit to 3rd and died on 1st.

U. Va. 1; W. L. U. 3.

2nd. U. Va.—Mason, J. T., opened up by knocking it to Boogher who stumbled and lost; Mason, J. A., was entitled to a single; Moran hit to Smith and out on 1st; Pollard hit for a double, the Masons scoring; Pollard then stole 3rd; Cocks walked to 1st; Nalle hit to Breck, of which he tried to cut off Pollard but failed. Carter hit to Andrews and out at 1st, Cocks scoring on playout; Connett hit to Breck, who threw him out.

W. L. U.—Bagley struck out; Harding bunted and then beat it out, but was caught napping; Moore knocked a pop-up fly into Yarboro's hands.

U. Va. 5; W. L. U. 3

3rd. U. Va.—Yarboro out from Breck to Spencer; Mason, J. T., out from pitcher to 1st; Mason, J. A., struck out.

W. L. U.—Smith flew out to 2d; Andrews out from pitcher and 2nd to 1st; Boogher out from pitcher to 1st.

4th. U. Va.—Moran walked but died on 2nd by Pollard hitting to Crawford, who cut him off. Cocks flew out to Crawford; Nalle got hit, but was left by Carter flying out to Breck.

W. L. U.—Crawford out from 2nd to 1st; Breck hit a bunt and beat it out; Spencer hit to 3rd, who threw him out; Bagley hit to short, out at 1st.

5th. U. Va.—Connett bunted and tried to slide to 1st, but was not fast enough; Yarboro hit for a double but made a foolish attempt to steal 3rd; Mason, J. T., flew out to centre.

W. L. U.—Harding hit in left for a single; Moore fanned; Harding was then forced home by Smith, Andrews and Boogher being presented with their bases on balls; Crawford hit for a deep single in centre; Smith scoring and Andrews being thrown out at home plate on the attempt to lengthen his run into a score. With Boogher and Crawford on bases, Breck hit a line ball to left which every one was sure was a home run, but the wind was favorable to U. Va., and Breck was robbed of a beautiful hit.

U. Va. 5; W. L. U. 5.

6th. U. Va.—Mason, J. A., hit for a single in centre, which Moore waited to get to him, instead of running upon and preventing from getting past him, which he did; Moran out from short to 1st; Pollard hit for single, Mason scoring; Cocks hit for a single, Pollard scoring; Nalle out from Andrews to Spencer; Carter then hit for three bags, but was left by Connett flying out to Crawford.

W. L. U.—Spencer flew out to catcher on pop-up just in the diamond; Bagley hit for single and stole 2nd, after being chased several times from 1st to 2nd. Harding flew out to left and Moore out to right.

U. Va. 8; W. L. U. 5.

7th. U. Va.—Yarboro opened

Baseball—Some Passing Observations.

The week on the diamond was ushered in by a loosely played victory over Hampden-Sidney and closed on Thursday with a hard fought contest with U. Va. In this last game, the hitting was about the same by either team, but that by Virginia came more consecutively and therefore figured more in the run getting. Carter for Virginia, was bumped freely but had the fates with him, for the luckiest hit liners went straight into the fielders hands. As an instance of this, the prettiest and heaviest line drive of the game on either side was that made by Breckenridge in the fifth inning, with the score 5-5 and two men on bases. Had this ball varied ten feet from a line direction into the left fielder's position, two runs at least would have crossed the plate, with prospect for several more. This may be a "local feature of" the Lynchburg game, but it is well worth recording as showing how the contest hung in the balance throughout.

As is now well known, the game was played under protest. As an association game it cannot count in the records, because in it the Virginia team was clearly and knowingly breaking one of the laws of the constitution by playing Nalle at second base, who has been distinctly ruled out by the four-year provision. The other teams of the association are playing clean ball—notably Richmond college in the case of their star pitcher, White, and we cannot understand the spirit with which the Virginia team persisted in playing a man similarly ruled out. It is true, as they said, that they needed his services as their most experienced player, but it in reality places them in a false position, not worthy of the spirit of that institution. It is better not to win at all if in the association than to win in open defiance of its regulations.

It is worthy of note that, judging from the expressions of several

The University Monogram

At the last meeting of the executive committee of the Athletic association the subject of awarding the University monogram was brought up for discussion.

There is at present no rule governing the distribution of this honor, though it has been the custom to allow those who have played on the Varsity ball teams and the members of the boat crews, the privilege of wearing this symbol. In order to define more clearly who, in the estimation of the committee, should be entitled to the honor, this article has been written, and it is hoped that if there be any objections to the plan here offered, the matter may be fully considered before the association holds its meeting in May.

It is the purpose to deem the following men eligible to wear the monogram: The student who has played in at least three inter-collegiate games, baseball or football, the members of the two boat crews, winners of the "all-round" cup in the gymnasium tourney, the winner of the "all-round" medal on Field day, the winner of any event in an inter-collegiate contest, if one should be held; the winners of the first prizes in the tennis tournament.

The above mentioned shall be eligible and the executive committee of the association shall decide, however, whether they shall receive the honor. In addition to the regular committee, the captain of the ball team whose members are being considered shall be a member of the committee for the time being.

It is believed that this plan will have good results, the men worthy shall receive their reward, and that political "pull" in every sense will be guarded against.

Our nice little practice game with Virginia showed that our opinion of their methods, which we stated in our columns some two weeks ago, is a justifiable one, and was amply proven by their own actions. Those who witnessed the game pronounce it a distinctly tiresome one. Last year's game was also tiresome. And all this because the representatives from that grand old institution, which bears the name of Virginia, persist in acting like a set of public school kids in a game of "cricket," begging turns, kicking against rules, etc. It is said that they were so taught by their faithful and ambitious instructor, their coach. If he can lead them around by their nose, the more child-like are they in being led into mischief.

The Hampden-Sidney Game.

The game with Hampden-Sidney was one of the games that was a disappointment to the spectators. With Bagley out of the game and the necessity of Smith going behind the bat, W. and L. U. was very much crippled.

The features were nothing brilliant, with the exception of Baker's phenomenal pitching, striking out 11 men and giving but a scratch hit. Crawford went in in the eighth in order to limber himself up, and though striking out four men, was touched for two hits, one of which, with the single error, gave Hampden-Sidney their single run of the game. It was altogether a poorly and slowly played game.

W. L. U. made the first run in the first inning, upon a scratch two-base hit by Andrews to left fielder, who ran against the fence, preventing him from fielding the ball safely, and errors by Langhorne and Christian.

In the sixth W. L. U. added two more upon three singles, a passed ball and a wild pitch.

The score:

W. L. U.—	1	0	0	0	2	0	0	*—3	10	1
H. S.—	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1—1	3	4

Summary—Bases stolen, Smith, Boogher, Crawford, Christian, 2. Two base hits, Andrews, Graham. Innings pitched, Baker, 7; Crawford, 2; Jones, 8. No hits off each, Baker, 1; Crawford, 2; Jones, 10. Struck out, Baker, 11; Crawford, 4; Jones, 5. Bases on balls, Baker, 8; Jones, 1. Wild pitch, Crawford, 1. Hit by pitched ball, Smith, 2. Passed ball, nine. Time of game, 1 hour, 50 minutes. Conference of Southern Students

The Student conferences which are held in different part of the country during the summer vacation constitute one of the most influential means of promoting earnest Christian living and active organized Christian work among the students of the institutions of higher learning throughout the length and breadth of the land. The first of these meetings was held 16 years ago at Mount Hermon, Mass., upon the invitation of Mr. D. L. Moody, and since then the number has grown to four, with a total attendance last year of 1400 college men. These conferences are conducted under the auspices of the Student Department of the International Committee and are an important agency in promoting its work.

The Southern conference will be held in Asheville, N. C., June 14 to 22. The Asheville school for boys has placed its beautiful buildings and extensive grounds at the disposal of the Conference. Each morning addresses will be given to strengthen the convictions of the students and to deepen their spiritual life. Among the speakers will be Mr. Robert E. Speer, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions; Rev. William F. McDowell, D. D., secretary of the Methodist Board of Education; Rev. John Timothy Stone of the Brown Memorial church, Baltimore, and Rev. R. G. Pearson of Asheville, N. C.

Each day normal Bible classes will be conducted to train the students to become leaders of Bible classes of groups in their institutions. Professor Edward I. Bosworth of Oberlin college, will lead a course in "Studies in the Teaching of Jesus and His Apostles." Mr. Charles F. Park, Jr., will lead a course for preparatory school studies in "The Life and Works of Jesus According to Mark"; while special training in individual Christian work will be given by Mr. Don O. Shelton of New York, through studying "God's Methods of Training Workers."

A missionary institute will be conducted each morning by secretaries of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions for instructing in the promotion of mission study, missionary giving and other missionary activities among students. At sunset, out of doors, at a daily meeting the various Christian callings needing the service of college men are presented by men who are able to speak out of experience. As a result, many men have decided to spend their lives on the mission field, in the Christian ministry and in other Christian callings. The afternoons are given to athletics, mountain climbing and to other forms of recreation.

A rate of one fare for the round trip has been granted on all the Southern railway lines and it is expected that between 60 and 70 institutions will be represented by delegates.

The arrangements for the Conference are in the hands of H. P. Andersen, secretary of the Student Department of the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Association, 3 West Twenty-ninth St., New York City.

PROGRAM FOR APRIL 26TH.

Orators—R. R. Phelps, E. C. Miller.

Declaimers—E. W. Kelly, W. A. Cove, F. A. McGruder.

Debate—Resolved, That the policy of excluding Chinese laborers from the United States should be adopted and rigorously enforced.

Affirmative—E. D. Ott, C. R. Whipple.

Negative—E. Sydenstricker, B. B. Stanley.

We are glad to say that the spring term of this session has not been marked by a decrease of interest in the Wash. society. Our members not only attend the meetings and carefully obey parliamentary rules, but they fulfill their duties with no less zeal than they did before the elections for the intermediate celebration.

Owing to providential hindrance the orators were postponed till the next meeting. Mr. Lamar recited an excellent selection from Macaulay.

The debate was on the question, Resolved, That co-education would be advantageous to W. and L. U. Harry Hamilton lead the affirmative, and was opposed by Messrs. Cooper and Jones, who gave very well prepared arguments. The question being a live one, many voluntary speeches were made on both sides, and it was with much interest that the decision of the judges was awaited. They decided two for the affirmative and one for the negative. The critic gave all of the speakers some plain and valuable suggestions as to speaking and the position on the floor.

Personals

Mr. Bud Wvson of Pulaski, is visiting his brother, Mr. J.S. Wvson.

President George H. Denny and his family moved into the President's house this week.

Miss Crow of Norfolk, is visiting her brother, Dr. C. L. Crow, this week.

Miss Sue Seidon Wellford of Richmond, and Miss Elise Bauch of Baltimore, are visiting Mrs. Henry Alexander White.

Mrs. Charles A. Logan of Wilmore, Ky., is at home for the wedding of her sister, Miss Mildred Myers.

Miss May Ross, Nell Brockenbrough and Mrs. Booker accompanied the V. M. I. cadets to the Charleston exposition this week.

Hon. H. St. G. Tucker spoke Saturday, the 5th, at Farmville, and last Saturday at the Miller School in Albemarle in the interest of popular education.

The marriage of Miss Mildred Rodes Myers to Mr. H. Winbourne M. Drake of Port Gibson, Miss., is announced to take place at the home of the bride in Lexington, Thursday afternoon, April 24th, at 2 o'clock. Mr. Drake was educated at Washington and Lee university. Only a few friends will be present at the wedding.

Captain J. D. Morrison of this county, died suddenly at his home on Kerra Creek Thursday. He was an alumnus of W. L. U., having attended during the session '56-'57. He was the father of Mr. W. B. Morrison, who many remember as a student not long ago and who is now teaching in Texas. His loss will be deeply felt by the community.

Presidents Remson of Johns Hopkins, Mollwaine of Hampden-Sidney, and Venale of North Carolina, and Dean West of Princeton, are to make addresses at the inauguration of President-elect Denny on June 17th. Other distinguished educators will be present. Hon. Isadore Straus will make the address at the unveiling of a portrait of the late President William Lyne Wilson.

Baseball—Some Passing Observations.

Virginia men, that this fact was appreciated, but that it was through the insistence of the U. Va. coach that the game was played as it was. It was largely from the same source that the game was unnecessarily delayed and the spectators annoyed by the incessant kicking which marred the game, tired and exasperated our team, who took their places promptly ready to play, while the Virginia team was at ill ease and apparently unconcerned about the crowd's impatience. This was especially trying to Crawford, who, being both captain and pitcher, was compelled to listen to the complaints, to try to arrange matters and at the same time to stand in readiness to play ball whenever the Virginia coaches should be pleased to allow their team to begin. This undoubtedly had its effect and if it was so intended it showed considerable shrewdness, but it wasn't baseball.

The umpiring and delay last year and the kicking and delay this year was extremely annoying to the spectators, and by it Virginia lost many sympathisers in the crowd besides tending to cut down attendance at the game, and in this connection, since we have another game in Lynchburg soon (this time with Blacksburg), it should be advertised that there will be no kicking and both teams see that the conditions are fulfilled.

In conclusion, it should be recorded that the umpiring was all that one could wish for in that most difficult office. It was as fair for one side as the other, and the decisions were rendered promptly and impartially.

ug with a strike out; Mason, J. T., hit a difficult one to Smith, but he failed to reach 1st. Mason, J. A., flew out to centre.

W. L. U.—Smith hit to right, who after a hard run, caught it on the ground, together with a peck or more of dirt; Andrews was sent to his base on balls, but could go no further, by Boogher's fanning and Crawford hitting to 1st.

8th. U. Va.—Moran opened up with a pop-up fly to Breck, who was too sure he had it. Pollard, after two strikes had been called hit a foul tip which Bagley failed to catch; but by Pollard's running to 1st, the umpire was under the impression that it was a strike, and so called it, Pollard getting to 1st before Bagley could field the ball safely. Moran then scored on Bagley's second error in attempting to trap him at 3rd. Coker hit for a single, but after being sent to 2nd on the single of Nalle's, was caught on 3rd on attempted steal; Nalle likewise died on 2nd on an attempted steal. Carter hit to 2nd and died on 1st.

W. L. U.—Breck hit to deep centre, which, but for Pollard's playing out of his regular position, would have been another three-bagger; Spencer lined into in left, but that gentleman was there to receive it; Bagley fanned.

The ninth inning was begun when the shades of night were fast coming on, and after several rank throws by W. L. U., and after two Virginians had scored, the game was called on account of darkness.
