FOOTBALL

W. L. U. 11; Miller School 0

The first game of the season was played on Wednesday, and as is usually the case with first games, was characterized by fumbling, lack of interference, and some foul playing. We had hoped to run up a larger score, but in justice to the team, it must be remembered that they have had less than two weeks' training and have consequently very few plays perfected, and in addition, the day was entirely too hot and dusty for football. Miller's School has a good team, and played a hard, plucky game throughout. Their interference was fully equal to that of Washington and Lee.

FIRST HALF

Goodwin opened the game, for Miller's School, by kicking off to Meredith, who ran 20 yards before being downed. On the first line-up Dotson failed to gain, and the next play resulting in a fumble, Walker kicked and Miller's took the ball near the middle of the field.

Two attempts to buck the line, yielded only as many yards and Miller's was forced to kick. Stone blocked the kick and Meredith fell on the ball for W. and L. Trundle and Haw made it first down but Meredith and Dotson were not able to carry the ball any further, and, on the next play, Haw fumbled and Miller's secured the ball. They were unable to make their yards, however, in their tries and the ball went over on the 35 yard line. W. and L. braced up at this point, and did the best ground-gaining of the game. McNeill and Capt. Smith netted 20 yards in two end runs; Dotson, Meredith and McNeill gained 5 more by short bucks. Haw and Dotson made it first down again, and then Haw was shoved over for a touchdown, after 7 minutes of play. Smith kicked goal. On the kick-off, Haw caught the ball and ran 10 yards before being downed. Haw, Dotson and Meredith made short gains but the ball went over on a fumble.

Miller's failed to gain and punted to Walker, who made a pretty 15 yard run. W. and L. bucked the line for a few short gains, but lost 10 yards on a foul, and was compelled to punt and Miller's secured the ball and had advanced it 15 yards by short end runs before time was called.

SECOND HALF

At the beginning of the second half, Campbell, who had taken Dotson's place at left half, kicked off to Woodson, who was downed by Trundle. Miller's worked her tackle-back formation and managed to gain 15 yards before the ball went over on the 40 yard line. Campbell made 8 yards but the next few plays did not advance the ball much and Campbell was given a chance to try a field goal. The line held and the ball sailed squarely between the posts, making our score 11.

Goodwin kicked off for Miller's, but McNeill fumbled and the ball went to Miller's in our territory, where it remained for the greater part of the few remaining minutes of play. After the ball had changed hands twice in quick succession, on fumbles, Miller's, by line-bucking and 10 yards for off-side play, carried the ball to the 20 yard line. Here, they were forced to kick and Marshall fell on the ball back of the line, for a touch-back.

Time was called soon after the kick-out, with the ball in Miller's possession.

The teams lined up as follows:

Football

The Miller's School game was no doubt a disappointment to some, but to the thoughtful, and to those who are willing to give due consideration to every detail connected with it, the small score can easily be accounted for. In the first place we must grant that the Miller School boys played a good game of ball. They showed the good results of careful training since the first of September. They played with that pluck and determination that shows what a good man is made of, and not in a single instance did one of them display a streak of "yellow." This, along with the fact that the halves were but 12½ minutes and that our men have not been lined up long enough for them all to know the signals even, should be a satisfactory explanation of the small score. Most of our men played a good game and gave conclusive proof that we have the best material we have had for several seasons.

There was one thing about the game however, that was painfully conspicuous by its absence, and that was lack of enthusiasm on the part of the student body. When our captain who has served us so faithfully on both the diamond and gridiron, brought his team on the field, not the faintest sound of the college yell was heard. We have not heard the slightest complaint from any of the players about this but if any of us will reflect for a moment, we can but know this was a poor way to cheer up our men in the first game of the season. It did not seem like a body of Washington and Lee students, who naturally would have made the hills echo in their attempts to cheer the team to the best success possible. It seemed more like a body of deeply interested spectators, who, in spite of the rope to keep the crowd back, was determined to see and criticize every individual play. Now boys, we all know this sort of apathy is not characteristic of us. So lets see, if by the time the next game comes around, we can't have a well organized rooters' club, with a duly elected leader and four or five good assistants who will lead the enthusiasm of the student body in song and yell, and stand by the team both in victory and defeat.

The gate receipts and sale of season tickets on Wednesday were good. But we are informed that there are a good many men who subscribed who have not paid up; and still a larger number who have not subscribed anything at all. Now we would like to urge that these contributions be made and paid up at once. It certainly is due the manager of the team, who, it ought to be presumed, is as anxious to make his classes as any one else, that these contributions be paid up without his having to use valuable time dunning and collecting.

And now in conclusion, a word to the second team. Up to this time we have had a splendid body of men out and we hope this will continue. Every man that comes out can't make the team, but every man can assist in making a good team. And it is the hard work of the second team men that determines who will be the first team. There will no doubt be changes all through the season as to who plays on the first team, and there is no reason why any conscientious, determined man who is willing to keep his eyes open and his mouth shut and play ball can't make the team, or at least have the satisfaction of knowing that he made some men play much harder than they otherwise would have done. There is no doubt that we will have a first class man here shortly to assist in putting the team in the best condition. But in the meantime, let everybody see to it that their influence is used to bring about a harmonious concentration of the financial and physical forces we have at hand.

Gymnasium Hop

Another dance was held in the gymnasium Monday evening and proved most enjoyable, particularly for the men, as the usual large number of stags was missing. The dancers were:

Miss Werner, of Atlanta, Ga.; Miss Woodward and Miss Dunlap, of Roanoke, Va.; Miss Effinger, of Baltimore, Md.; Misses Dana and Eva Butler, of Little Rock, Ark.; Miss Ridgeley, Miss Brockenhough, Miss Turner, Miss Lee, Miss Catlett, and the Misses Graham, of Lexington; students Mason, H. Osbourn, Pancake, Price, Worthen, Foarde, Stephenson, N. Osbourn, Bagley, Arbuckle and others; and Capts. Stockdale, Carter, Bernhard and Peyton, of the V. M. I.

Alumni Committee Meet

A meeting of three of the committee of five, appointed by the General Alumni Association to formulate a plan for the consideration of the Board of Trustees, as to the election of alumni upon the Board, was held here during the week. It is understood that the alumni expect to carry their point at the next meeting of the Board, in June. The representatives who were here, were Hon. Ernest Kruttschnitt and Mortimer Wisdom, Esq., of New Orleans, and Mr. W. H. Patrick, of Staunton.

The present week has seen the real opening of the football season, and while our first game showed that the team is, by no means, without its faults, it also showed us that the material is there for a first-class eleven. Let those disposed to criticize remember that the season is, as yet, hardly begun, and that to have a strong team, it is absolutely necessary that the management receive sufficient financial backing to secure a good coach. Let the students but see that the team has the best of coaching, and we think its record will repay them for the expense.

The RING-TUM PHI wishes to offer, as a suggestion, that a mass-meeting of the student-body be held on Thursday, for the purpose of electing an editor-in-chief and business manager for the Calyx. We believe that this suggestion of an early election of the men who are to look after the interests of our annual, has appeared each fall in these columns, only to be disregarded; but we venture to make it again, in the hope that this year the experience of the past will make everyone realize that a good annual requires a good editor and plenty of time to work it up.

It is also time that we elect our final ball president; so perhaps the two elections might be held at the same time. The sooner these elections are over the better it is for all concerned.

The large increase in the number of matriculates cannot but be gratifying to all friends of the University. The first year of Mr. Wilson's administration saw only 140 students on the ground. Since then each year has shown a decided increase and there are now about 260 matriculates; almost double the number of five years ago.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

On last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, The Young Men's Christian Association was addressed by Professor W. S. Currell, on the subject, "The Importance of Bible Study to College Students." The Friday night preceding, we were favored with a very strong talk by Rev. J. Timothy Stone, of the Brown Memorial church, in Baltimore. The thoughts concerning Christian manhood in college life presented so clearly by him at that time, seem to have prepared the men for the Sabbath service.

Mr. Leroy Thompson, chairman of the bible study committee, took charge of the meeting, and after Professor Currell had presented, very strikingly, five reasons why every one should make the Word of God his daily study, he drew the attention of the men to the printed sheets, prepared to show the courses offered for this session and the plan of study to be pursued.

Twenty-seven men out of the forty present, signed up for one or another of the classes, and we trust that every man in college who wants to join in this work will see Mr. Thompson or some one of the committee. Leaders are ready to begin their work Sunday, September 28. To-morrow is the day when Mission study is presented, and we invite every student to be with us.

Accomplished Reader

Miss Annie White has secured the talented Miss Culbertson, of East Orange, N. J., to give an entertainment in the University chapel about the first or middle of October. Concerning Miss Culbertson, the Radford correspondent of the Lynchburg News has the following:

"Undoubtedly the most gifted artist who has ever appeared in Radford, is Miss Anne Virginia Culbertson, authoress and dialect reader, of East Orange, N. J., who gave one of her charming entertainments at the Opera House, Thursday evening. Miss Culbertson, who was introduced by ex-Governor Tyler in one of his characteristically gallant and graceful speeches, delighted her audience with dialect sketches and impersonations, her own negro songs with banjo accompaniment, and other selections, from her writings in verse and prose.

"Miss Culbertson is a wonderfully gifted woman and irresistibly winning, uniting as she does a charming personality, exceptional dramatic ability and literary talent of equally high order. Her compositions are fresh and beautiful and delightfully original. Though of unusually wide range, all are finished productions, revealing rare pathos and exquisite sentiment, scintillating wit and delicate humor. Her mastery of dialect, her versatility and skill of impersonation are remarkable. And wonderfully true to life are her interpretations of the plantation negro, the North Carolina mountaineer, the put-upon small boy and the Western farmer.

"Her negro songs, the music of which, as well as the words, are her own composition, are charmingly clever and original, and her singing delightful.

"Miss Culbertson's impersonation of the North Carolina mountain woman in native costume, elicited prolonged applause. And "Old Lynchburg Town," ending in an old-fashioned Virginia "breakdown," formed a fitting close to an evening crowded with genuine enjoyment from start to finish. Ella Wheeler Wilcox pronounces Miss Culbertson "the most versatile and entertaining entertainer I have ever met." The New Orleans Times-Democrat says, "She is destined to become as famous as James Whitcomb Riley, and is equally as gifted"—a sentiment echoed by the Washington Post.

"Miss Culbertson has been extensively entertained during her stay in Radford. Her crowning charm is her perfect naturalness, simplicity and modesty, both on the stage and off. And this, together with her many attractions of mind and manner have won her many friends and admirers."

Circus Coming

Sig. Sautelle's all new monster rail-road shows, which will visit Lexington, Oct. 6. They have maintained a preëminence over all other similar establishments in America, at a price to suit the purse of the humblest citizen. That so grand a circus, which in its outfit and integral construction has absorbed vast capital and necessitating enormous daily expenses, can profitably exist and constantly increase in size, is a marvelous problem, only solved by the influence appertaining to the name of Sig. Sautelle. Spread far and wide, the name is identical with the assurance of an exhibition which has never failed to fulfill all words of promise to the public. With Mr. Sautelle there is nothing too good for the people's money, and his are emphatically the people's shows. See them.

Washington Literary Society

The Wash. crowd had a hot debate last Saturday night. We regret that our reporter was absent, which precludes us from publishing a detailed account of the matter. Suffice it to say the society is in a most flourishing condition.

The eloquent voice of E. D. Ott, who has retired from public life, is no longer heard in our midst on Saturday nights. But there are others and eloquence is not dead. Selah!

Law Notes

Those who failed to attend the class-meeting of the Juniors on Monday morning, missed the best show of the year. The presence of a few Seniors in the meeting and the probability of their voting with the Juniors, precipitated a debate compared with which a populist convention was as quiet as a Quaker prayer-meeting. "Taxation without representation is unjust," exclaimed Mr. Howell dramatically, and the sentiment was cheered to the echo; and though the gentleman from Florida continued to speak for fully five minutes, his eloquent voice was completely drowned by the prolonged uproar of his admiring fellow class-men. Finally Mr. Gibbs arose and addressed the assembly, and demanded by what right a Senior with a Junior ticket, took part in this meeting. (Tremendous applause.) Mr. Harvey immediately demanded by what right Mr. Gibbs presumed to speak. (More tremendous applause.) And then a Junior arose and propounded the same question to Mr. Harvey. (Terrific applause.) And so the game went on merrily. Some half-dozen Juniors then made a motion simultaneously that no Senior should be allowed to vote in the meeting. But as it was still undetermined who was a Senior within the meaning of such a motion, and as all the Seniors threatened to vote on the motion itself, the wheels of class legislation were unable to budge an inch, and the Juniors contented themselves with tremendous applause on general principles. Above the tumult could be heard the voice of one exclaiming, "Justice and equity demand—" but the tumultuous approval again drowned out the eloquent words. As nobody could get the ear of the chair or of anybody else except his next neighbor, the meeting resolved itself into a number of committees, and the great discussion was carried on in small groups, the members of which could be seen gesticulating in the most animated fashion. The meeting thus transformed itself from a one ring to a ten ring circus.

At this juncture, the Seniors be-thought themselves of the class in Pleading, the time for which had arrived, and having seen enough fun for one day and being clearly unwelcome, they quietly retired from the meeting. Whereupon the troubled waters subsided, and Mr. C. S. McNulty, of West Virginia, was elected president amidst great enthusiasm. E. W. Poindexter, of Virginia, was elected vice-president and W. B. Crawford, of Florida, secretary and treasurer.

On Tuesday, a meeting of the Bradford Law Debating Society was held, over which Professor Burks presided as chairman. The new constitution was the chief matter of consideration. The question whether a student should be president of the society or not, brought on some discussion, but the meeting was practically unanimous in the view that a member of the Faculty should fill this office. With this amendment the new constitution was passed. An ineffectual effort was made to have the debates closed against general discussion by the members of the society. Officers for the year were then elected as follows: Professor W. R. Vance, president; G. C. Gibbs, of Florida, vice-president; Stanley Scott, of Virginia, secretary.
