FOOTBALL

W. & L. vs. Univ. of Va.

The University game is a continued proof of the ability of our team this year. It is true the first half does not show up as well as it might, but considering Smith's hurt in the first down, and the condition of Trundle, whom we had no idea would be in the game and who did not take his own suit along, but borrowed one of a sub., we think even the first half was creditable. It is hard for us to say who were the stars of the game, as all played good, hard ball from start to finish and in the second half gave a very good exhibition of team work.

McNeill, Haw, Walker, and Dotson made good gains but the line deserves equal credit for team work and the way they held the big Virginians. The following is the game in detail:

FIRST HALF

Harris kicked 35 yards to Captain Smith who failed to get the ball and Waters fell on it. Smith was hurt and five minutes had to be taken out, after which he went back into the game. Virginia fumbled but kept the ball. Pritchard gained 2 yards through right tackle, Council got 3 through left tackle and right tackle yielded another 3 to Johnson. Harris made it first down on a buck. Then Pritchard got through left guard for a touch-down. Time: 3 minutes, 40 seconds. Harris' kick for goal was blocked. Score: U. Va., 5; W. L. U., 0.

Campbell, for Washington and Lee, kicked off to Bronson who recovered 10 yards. Watkins went around right end for 4 and Johnson made it first down on a buck. Harris carried the ball through right guard for 6 yards and Council followed with 4 more. Harris made 4 through left tackle and Watkins got through left guard for 3. Johnson came through right tackle making it first down again. Watkins, Council and Harris make good gains through the line, and Johnson gets 2 yards. Here Meredith was hurt but staid in the game.

Pritchard gained 8 yards around right end and Council 3 through left tackle. Pritchard made it first down. Then Council took the ball over the line. Time: 10 minutes, 15 seconds. Harris kicked goal. Score: U. Va., 11; W. L. U., 0.

Campbell again kicks off to Bronson, but Trundle downs him in 10 yards. Pritchard punts 30 yards and Walker brings the ball back 5. McNeill and Meredith hit Virginia's line, but Washington and Lee is held for downs and the ball goes over on the 20 yard line. Pritchard and Harris take it down 10 yards, and Watkins and Johnson make it first down. Here Dotson was substituted for Meredith at left half. Council went around right end and was tackled within 2 feet of the goal line. Virginia tried to push him over but lost a yard instead. Pritchard made a touch-down. Harris missed the goal. Time up. Score: U. Va., 16; W. L. U., 0.

SECOND HALF

Campbell kicked off to Pollard who recovered 15 yards. Pritchard punted 35 to Walker who carried the ball back 10 yards. McNeill and Walker got 15 yards each on line bucks. McNeill and Dotson got 3 more and on the next play the ball goes over. Pritchard gained 2½ yards. Johnson tried the line but fumbled. Virginia kept the ball and Johnson hit the line again. Here Nalle replaced Watkins at right half. Council gained 1 yard and Johnson 4 through right tackle. Nalle fumbled and W. and L. got the ball. Weisiger took Council's job.

After attempting two end runs, W. and L. was forced to kick. Walker punted to Pritchard who was downed in his tracks. Virginia fumbled but kept the ball. Weisiger made a 5 yard gain around left end and Humphreys and Nalle got 4 yards through the line. Humphreys made it first down. Johnson gained 6 yards through right tackle and Weisiger 1 yard through left. Pritchard ran right end for 5. Humphreys got 1 yard through right guard and Nalle failed to gain. Spates retired in favor of White. Humphreys fumbled and Dotson captured the ball.

Dotson bucks 1 yard and gets 4 around the end. Walker punts. Humphreys gets 10 yards by right tackle. Nalle can't gain and the ball goes over. Dotson gets 10 yards, Haw 4, and McNeill 10. Dotson gains 3 more and time is called with the ball on Virginia's 30 yard line. Score: U. Va., 16; W. and L., 0.

An Honored Alumnus

Col. D. C. Heyward, the new governor of South Carolina, is one of the alumni of Washington and Lee who has done great credit to his alma mater and himself since he left her walls. Concerning him and the effect of his election, The Nation, of Sept. 15, in an editorial says in part:

"With the choice of D. Clinch Heyward for Governor of South Carolina comes, it is believed, the dawning of a better day for the politics of that State. The choice means, if we read the signs aright, a return to control by the educated men of affairs, who in the past placed many citizens of national reputation both in the Governor's chair and in the United States Senate. In its immediate aspects it is a triumph for decency in politics.

"Even more significant than his victory is the relegation of the political hacks to the rear. Only two of the men chosen for State or Federal office were old enough to have served in the Confederate army, and many on the list were born after Appomattox. They are of the new South, identified with its material advance, and seeing in Populism only a drag. Their leader, Capt. Heyward, is only thirty-eight years of age, a graduate of Washington and Lee University, and described by his home papers as a man with no private interests to serve. He enters office unpledged, unhampered by combinations, and with a purpose to be Governor in fact as in name. Thus early he has put his finger on an evil, an outgrowth of the primary system—the practical transfer of appointments to office from the Governor to the State and county party organizations. The new Governor is under obligations to neither organization, and, while declaring his belief in home rule as a principle, and his intention to give due weight to county organizations concerning affairs within their immediate view, he has served notice that he will examine into the character, reputation, and fitness of all men recommended to him for appointment. He further declares his intention to devote himself to the development of every material interest of the State, and he aptly summed up his attitude on the race question by quotation of the words of Wade Hampton: 'God bless all my people, black and white.'"

Graham-Lee Society

A number of new men have signed up and those interested in the welfare of the old society are hoping for a very prosperous year. All that is needed is for the old men to do their part by coming forward promptly and giving the society the benefit of their experience and wisdom. On Saturday night the new officers were inaugurated as follows: C. R. Blain, president; C. R. Pilkington, vice-president; D. V. Guthrie, secretary; L. M. Moffett, censor; M. T. McClure, critic. Mr. Blair then favored the assembly with a well rendered and interesting declamation. Messrs. McClure and Schaefer showed why they thought the railroads should be under the control of the national government, while Mr. Guthrie was firmly convinced they should not be. The society decided in favor of the affirmative. An interesting discussion as to the imposition of fines was then indulged in, and it was decided that the constitution should be upheld in this, as in all other respects.

Sophomore Election

The sophomores met yesterday afternoon, in Dr. Currell's lecture room, to elect class officers. The result was as follows: J. M. B. Gill, Virginia, president; M. D. Campbell, Virginia, vice-president; C. N. Campbell, West Virginia, secretary and treasurer. The matter of holding a class banquet was discussed, but no definite action was taken.

While the game at Charlottesville resulted in our defeat, still the existing circumstances make it not in the least discouraging. We would remind the pessimist that the Virginia team was in average weight considerably above our men and they have had the services of able northern coaches from their first appearance on the field for practice while our northern coach, owing to several complications, did not arrive in time to see the team before the game. Our team but demonstrated that they are of the right stuff and with a few weeks of hard training will be well fitted to hold their own on any gridiron.

The advent of Coach Balliet was a signal for a rise in football stock and now is the time for everybody to awake to a realization of the prospects before us. With the right spirit on the part of the student-body and the proper enthusiasm, we have little to fear. In order to turn out the best team possible, two things are absolutely essential. First, the management must have sufficient financial backing to retain the services of our coach to the end of the season; and second, though no less important, every man in the University who has the brawn and muscle must feel it his duty to his alma mater and his fellow students, to use his powers for the greatest advantage to both.

In the present times there are not a few who consider the athletic prestige of an institution of almost coördinate importance with the classical and scientific training which it affords. While this is doubtless an exaggerated view, still the fact remains that we must have athletics, and if we are to have them, we must have them right. Now that we have a coach who is believed to be one of the most efficient in the business, and considering the fact that we have more and better material, perhaps, than ever before, the remainder of the present season should bring nothing but laurels to our standard.

Once more, elect the Calyx editors and managers now, and elect a president for the final ball.

The Y. M. C. A.

Last Sunday afternoon the Y. M. C. A. held the first missionary meeting of the session, which was very well attended by the students. Rev. J. H. Light made a very instructive talk in behalf of foreign missions. He laid down the principle that we should do for others what has been done for us; that our ancestors were converted by foreign missionaries, and it is our duty to render the same service to those yet remaining in the bonds of heathenism.

Mr. McDowell then presented the cause of Mission study. This study, as he showed, is equally valuable to those who expect to go to the foreign field; to those who expect to remain behind and help; and to those who wish to know something of this great and world-embracing movement. In fact, no one's education is complete without some knowledge of foreign missions.

A first year's and a second year's class will be organized. The interest shown in this department of the Y. M. C. A. work last year was very gratifying and it is to be hoped that it will be still more so this year.

Dean Vance et Ux.

Professor Vance and bride arrived in Lexington last Monday evening after spending several days in Ashville, N. C. They received a warm reception at the depot and have since been showered with congratulations and best wishes by their many friends.

The Richmond Times has the following notice of the marriage, which took place at Chapel Hill, Wednesday, September 24:—"The marriage of Miss Anne Wilmer Hume, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Hume, of the University of North Carolina, and Mr. William Reynolds Vance, of Lexington, Va., was celebrated at Chapel Hill, at 9 o'clock last Wednesday evening.

"The maid of honor was Miss Mary Gregory Hume, sister of the bride, and the best man was Mr. Trueman Vance, of Harrodsburg, Ky.

"The bride wore a princess gown of white satin, trimmed with ruchings of chiffon and panelled with duchesse lace. She carried a shower bouquet of lillies of the valley. Her veil was caught up by orange blossoms and an exquisite pearl crescent, the gift of the groom.

"The ushers were Mr. Edward Randolph Preston, of Charlotte, N. C.; Mr. Eben Alexander, Jr., of Chapel Hill, N. C.; Mr. Charles Gregory Hume, of Portsmouth, Va., and Mr. Thomas Hume, Jr., of Winston-Salem, N. C. The bridesmaids were Miss Susie Pollard, of Bowling Green, Va.; Miss Marian Hume, of Portsmouth, Va.; Miss Sarah Dunnington, of the University of Virginia, and Miss Ruth Vance, of Shelbyville, Ky.

"Their gowns were of Paris muslin, trimmed with lace and insertion, and they carried bouquets of white carnations, with maiden-hair ferns."

Mr. and Mrs. Vance will reside at the house formerly occupied by the late Henry H. Myers.

Baseball Prospects

Although early in the year for such a topic, we think it well to give the new men in college some idea of "what's going to be doing" on the diamond next spring. The prospects are bright. Six of the old men are back, most of them having had some summer ball, and by this means strengthened greatly, especially in batting.

However, we want to say that having played on the 'varsity baseball team for one, two, or even three years, does not by any means insure a man his old position. We have noticed several of the new men handle the sphere and have gathered very favorable impressions from their movements. We are going to have need of two more good pitchers to insure the team's success. Baker is here and will doubtless keep up his last year's "rep," but he will need relief.

When the football team goes away on its next trip, the captain of the baseball team hopes to have a little game, so that he can find what the new men are made of. We want this to be the banner year in baseball as well as in football, and there is no reason why it shouldn't be done.

Entertainment

The entertainment given in the chapel last evening by Miss Culbertson, the dialect poet and elocutionist, was attended by a fairly good audience, most of whom seemed to be appreciative.

All the selections rendered by Miss Culbertson were original productions, which added greatly to the interest of the evening. She is entirely original.

Sautelle's Circus

From a bundle of city exchanges it is seen that Sig. Sautelle's new monster railroad shows, museum menagerie and ancient Roman hippodrome, which will be seen in Lexington, Oct. 6, are astounding the largest audiences everywhere, and the newspapers wherever the show exhibits, are at a loss for adjectives with which to eulogize the incomparable and world-famous shows. The fact that Mr. Sautelle has added a menagerie of 30 cages of rare wild beasts, also a herd of elephants and camels, is enough to influence any of our readers to believe that this show is not like others. Within the last few years Sig. Sautelle's new big railroad shows, museum, menagerie, and ancient Roman hippodrome, which will be seen here Monday, have grown till they are now among the largest on the road.

Southern Coaches

The following is a partial list of coaches who will have charge of Southern football elevens this fall: Watkins (Princeton), Vanderbilt; Fisher (Princeton), Tennessee; Boynton (Cornell), Sewanee; Snow (Michigan), Nashville; Reynolds (Princeton), Georgia; Andree (Gallaudet), Ga. Tech.; Heisman (Pennsylvania), Clemson; Dabney (Virginia), Tulane.

NOTICE

The next meeting of the University Assembly will be held in the University chapel next Wednesday morning, October 8, at 8:45 o'clock. The seatings will be assigned according to classes and posted on the official bulletin board in Newcomb Hall and in the vestibule of the University chapel.

For the benefit of the new matriculates, special attention is called to the fact that punctual attendance at these exercises is compulsory on all students of the University. The address next Wednesday will be delivered by the Rev. S. S. Laws, D. D., LL. D., formerly president of the University of Missouri.

GEORGE H. DENNY,
President.

Personals

Prof. Burks was too indisposed to meet his class this morning.

Miss Elizabeth Turnbull will go to Staunton for a visit next Monday.

Hon. H. St. G. Tucker and Miss Tucker left this morning for Staunton.

D. E. Tucker, who has been unwell for several days, is unable to be out today.

Rouss, "Hoot" Young and W. T. Ellis are taking the med. course at Pennsylvania.

Mr. G. B. Shields has been quite sick for several days. He is still confined to his bed.

Miss Eva Butler and Miss Helen Turner left this morning for Philadelphia, where they will attend school this winter.

Mr. L. W. Smith left last Wednesday for Staunton, for a few days visit. He will go from there to Baltimore to enter Johns Hopkins University.

Albert Steves arrived in Lexington Thursday, to reënter the University. He has been summering in Europe, which accounts for his late appearance.

Judge Jere B. Leslie, of Great Falls, Mont., (W. and L. '73-'75) has received the Democratic nomination for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Montana.

Miss Joynes, sister of Professor Joynes, author of several language text-books and formerly professor of modern languages at the University, has been visiting in Lexington during the week.

Tune Up

Now is the time to wake up your muse and turn out some lively football songs. We need them to help along the team, for nothing is more inspiring than a lusty chorus from the side lines, punctuated now and then with the old familiar "chica-go-runk." Fill up on coca-cola if you can't do better, set your brains to work and send the result to the RING-TUM PHI. The management will send the paper free the balance of the session to those whose efforts are published in its columns.

Law Notes

The voices of eloquent counsel and learned judges were once more heard in the halls of the Bradford Law Debating Society last Thursday night. The question of discussion was the case of Wolverton against Davis in 85 Virginia, involving the application of the statute of frauds. A, for a valuable consideration gave an oral promise to B to save him harmless if B would go surety on C's bond. Did this promise come within the statute requiring an agreement to answer for the debt of another to be in writing? The negative of this question was supported by Brown, M. M., and Baker, while Brown, R. E., and Brumback put up a stiff fight on the other side, though there seemed few, if any authorities to support the latter position. The court, composed of Saulsbury, chief justice, and Thomas, Smith, Tucker, and Yarborough, decided in favor of the appellees, holding the promise to be within the statute, Tucker, J., dissenting. Professor Vance, however, dissented from the opinion of the court, and made it very clear that the promise was not within the statute. (1) It was plainly an original undertaking on the part of Davis to save the surety harmless. (2) Even if the promise were collateral, it was made to subserve the purpose of the promisor and the statute would not apply. (3) The promise was made to the debtor himself. The promise should be made to the creditor to bring it within the statute.

At the close of the regular debate, Mr. Howell very kindly furnished the meeting with a few minutes of free entertainment which relieved the monotony of the debate no little. He crawled on one of the speakers for missing the point at issue, illustrating his argument with a delightful personal reminiscence substantially as follows: He said that it was his custom to sleep on his stomach, which peculiarity once got him into trouble. When at school, some fellow-students desirous of playing a joke on his room-mate, had persuaded him to leave the door open for them one night. At the holy hour of midnight they entered, well equipped with switches, et cetera and beheld the speaker innocently dreaming with his stomach buried deep in the feathers of his downy couch. On his tender back the blows descended and modesty forbade him to plead mistaken identity. This proceeding he considered strikingly analogous to the effort of the aforesaid speaker who had gone off on the wrong track. The moral which Mr.

Howell desired to teach, as gathered by the reporter was: Do not sleep on your stomach.

Capt. Smith Resigns

The resignation of Smith from his duties as captain of the football team, meets with universal regret on the part of the student-body. It seems, however, that it was impossible for Capt. Smith to remain at the University longer, hence his action. The team met Thursday afternoon to elect a successor to the position. Mr. McNeill, who was a football star here in '99 and who is well qualified to fill the position, was unanimously elected.
