Cadets Refuse to Take the Consequences of Smith's Pretty End Run and Withdraw From the Field

Dr. Morrison Decides Spectators Did Not Interfere and Gives the Game to Washington and Lee

On account of the heavy down-pour Saturday, the Lynchburg game was not a financial success, but we can say in all modesty that our team achieved a splendid victory. Going into the game against what they well knew to be possibly the best aggregation of football players in the South, coached since Sept. 15, by a first-class Dartmouth coach, they never for a moment doubted their own ability, and never at any time in the game, did any player exhibit the slightest evidence that he doubted what the final result would be. This confidence was no doubt inspired by the knowledge that our line is strong and our backs sure; but we must attribute the feeling that existed among our men that we were going to win, to the strong personality of Coach Balliet, who, in the few days he has been with us, has drilled our team into a body of men who know how to play together, to play hard, to put up a good interference, and to play to win.

V. P. I. put up a strong game, and had the best of us when it came to line-bucking, but their interference at no time equaled ours, and as will be seen below, after the first few hard onslaughts on our line, they so perceptibly weakened as to either lose the ball on downs, or fumble.

All of our men played so well that it hardly seems fair for us to say that one played better than another, still it will readily be seen from the summary that Smith was the star of the game, throughout. On not a single occasion did he miss a tackle, and in the last minute of play, made the splendid 65 yard run which gave us the game. Walker deserves especial credit for his punting and all-round good playing. Campbell and Haw did fine work as halves, and Capt. McNeill and Trundle were in every play. Ross guarded well his end, while Stone was a giant of strength at center. Howell deserves, especial mention for the way he "did his man up," while his wind lasted. Marshall did his part well at quarter, and Sterrett and Judy played a strong game at guard.

THE GAME IN DETAIL

The game began by Carpenter kicking the ball over the line, and the 'Varsity taking the 25 yard line for a punt. Walker punted 45 yards, and Ross downed Carpenter before he had brought the pigskin forward 5 yards. Miller was sent through right guard for 3 yards, and Tinsley gained 7 more through McNeill, when W. and L. got the ball on a fumble.

Walker tried the center but failed to gain, and Haw met with no better success. Walker kicked 45 yards to Campbell, who retrieved 15 yards, and Walsh came through the 'Varsity center for 11 more. Carpenter circled left end for 7 yards, and Walsh was again given the ball but failed to come through Sterrett. Carpenter tried an end run but was thrown back 5 yards by Smith, and on the next play Stone broke through the line and blocked Carpenter's kick. Miller failed to gain through Howell, and Ross threw Ware back 2 yards. Stone again came through the line to block Carpenter's kick, and Campbell fell on the ball. Ross tried to go around the end, but failed to gain. The 'Varsity fumbled and Campbell tried a drop, but failed to get the ball between the goal posts.

V. P. I.'s quarter, Campbell, made a pretty return run of 20 yards and Tinsley gained 3 around left end. Miller bucked the line for 4 yards and again for 6 yards. V. P. I. fumbled and Smith got the ball.

Walker went through the line 5 yards. Campbell cut off 9 more around the end and the ball went to V. P. I. on a fumble.

Walsh tried the line but only gained 1 yard, Trundle threw back Miller, who made the next attempt, 2 yards, and McNeill broke through and blocked a punt by Carpenter. Ross was there also, and fell on the ball.

Trundle pushed through the line for 3 yards, Walker gained 2 more through center and Haw ran the end for 3 more. W. and L. fumbled and the "Techs." had the ball when time for the first half was called.

SECOND HALF

Walker kicked the ball to Carpenter and Smith downed him on the V. P. I. 30 yard line. Carpenter came through McNeill for 1 yard and in the next play gained 2 more around right end. Smith then broke through the line, blocked a punt by Carpenter, and the 'Varsity got the ball.

McNeill bucked the line for 3 yards, Walker came through Counselman for another yard and Campbell gained 2 more in an end run. Trundle went through Walsh 2 yards, Campbell failed to circle the end, and Walker kicked 31 yards to V. P. I.'s quarter, who was downed in his tracks by Smith.

Carpenter came through Trundle for 9 yards, McNeill threw Tinsley back and Carpenter finally succeeded in getting off one punt which went down the field 50 yards.

Campbell brought the pigskin back 4 yards, McNeill gained one yard through right guard, and Walker kicked 30 yards.

Miller tried to come around the end but Ross stopped him. Carpenter came through Sterrett for 8 yards, Miller gained 3 more through Trundle, and gained 1 yard through McNeill. McNeill got the ball on a fumble and then came the sensational feature of the game. Smith, with Ross and Marshall making good interference, went down the field 65 yards. Within 2 yards of the V. P. I. goal he was downed by Wilson.

V. P. I. gave up the game, which was given by forfeit to W. and L. with the score of 6 to 0.

EASTERN COLLEGE SLAUGHTERED

W. L. U. 51; Eastern College 0

The game yesterday afternoon, from a spectator's standpoint, was too one-sided to be interesting. It was evident in the beginning that the visitors were far out-classed. The game, however, furnished good practice for the team, and afforded an opportunity for discerning the marked development of the team since the Miller School game.

The first touchdown was made by the 'Varsity within one minute after the game began. The Eastern College boys had the ball in their possession only twice during the entire game and both times were unable to gain.

The entire 'Varsity team were stars, and long end runs, and line bucks were too numerous to be mentioned. Of the 9 touchdowns secured, two were made by Dawson, one by Smith, one by Campbell, two by Ross, one by Harle, and one by Haw. Campbell also kicked goal from the field, from the 20 yard line.

The attendance was good, but should have been better, considering the fine weather.

Graham-Lee

For the second time, an interesting meeting was held Saturday night in spite of the bad weather, and two old men were welcomed back. An oration by Jones, and declamations by Watts and Moffett, were followed by a lively debate. McClure, Addison and Wills speaking for the affirmative and Bouchelle and Hobson on the negative. The vote was in favor of the affirmative.

The greatest football success in recent years has come to us during the past week. The result of the game in Lynchburg is a practical demonstration of the good results of Coach Balliet's work, and of the fact that we have a team of great possibilities.

The student-body has shown its appreciation of the victory in the "calathump" following the arrival of the news, and the reception tendered the team on its return. It now remains to continue this appreciation of the team in a more substantial way. Those students who can play should play; all should contribute whatever funds they are able, and everyone should turn out to the games. If your college spirit only constrains you to open your mouth and not your pocket-book, you have not a case of the genuine article.

It is gratifying to know that funds are at hand to carry out the cherished ideas of our late President relative to the full equipment of an Economic Department of the University, and especially gratifying to know that efforts are being made to put these ideas into concrete form as soon as possible.

During the past summer the two front rooms on the third floor of the Main building have been altered and renovated for the purpose of providing a separate home for the department of Economics and Political Science. The department will consist of a suite of three rooms, comprising a working library, a lecture room, and an office for the Professor in charge. Work is now at a standstill waiting the drying of the plastering, but it will be pushed to completion as early as possible and the books belonging to the department moved from Newcomb to the new library. The idea of a department library, by the experience of other Universities has been found to be very desirable, and will no doubt greatly facilitate the work of the students, while at the same time decreasing the manifold duties of our general librarian. It is to be hoped that at some future time we shall have separate libraries for all the departments of the University.

Although holidays are very acceptable, there is a question as to the one given last Tuesday being a good precedent to establish. If any criticism, however, is to be attached to the granting of this one, the President and Faculty are not the persons to suffer the reproach for the reason that they were forced to bow to the "voice of the people," the people in this instance being the student-body, who in the first flush of exultation made the demand.

Such holidays are apt to leave the impression on the outside that football victories are phenomena of very rare occurrence in this section of the University world and, moreover, if like demands are to be made in the future, we shall probably have a series of holidays corresponding to our schedule of games, for present indications point to the fact that every game will be a victory.

THE TEAM RETURNS

Reception at Station. Fireworks and Bonfire on the Campus

The team reached Lexington on the 6:30 train, Tuesday evening. A large part of the student-body and faculty were there to welcome them. The tally-ho for the team had been decorated with blue and white and in large letters was the sign W. L. U. 6, V. P. I. 0. As the train pulled in the college yell was given and Capt. McNeill, Coach Balliet and "Smoot" Smith were carried from the train on the shoulders of the crowd and three ringing cheers given for each.

The team then got in the tally-ho and headed by the V. M. I. band, started on the march uptown followed by the students. At the Rockbridge Hotel the tally-ho broke down and the rest of the parade was made on foot.

Shortly after eight the crowd gathered on the campus to see the fireworks and other pyrotechnic displays in honor of the team. After this came a large bonfire back of the chapel with the usual processions and dances. Coach Balliet was called on for a speech and responded by saying that if the team received such enthusiasm as this it would certainly improve and do still greater things. This sentiment was heartily endorsed.

The Student-Body Celebrates

About five o'clock Monday afternoon rumors from Lynchburg concerning the game, began to fly around. The report was that W. and L. was victorious by a score of 6 to 0. The hopes of all had been raised very high by the improvement under Coach Balliet. We realized, however, that V. P. I. had an unusually strong aggregation. Most of their last year's team that had defeated Georgetown, were back. So that when the first report of our victory spread, everyone rushed to the telegraph office for verification. We heard that the early report had come by telephone and no word had come from our team. We waited, hoping against hope that the floating rumors were not "fakes," till about half-past six, when Manager McNulty's telegram was received. Then the pent-up enthusiasm was let loose. The long and short yells resounded in quick succession and the crowd took up the old football songs and sang them with unusual strenuousness. After supper the crowd assembled for the usual congratulatory speeches which the faculty are always ready to make. Tin horns, cow-bells and other noise-making instruments were called into use. As usual, the crowd went first to President Denny's, and he congratulated the team and the student-body, and asked every member of the faculty and every student to meet the team at the train and give them a rousing welcome. The rest of the faculty made short speeches though what they said was often drowned out by the noise of the horns and bells. Dr. Campbell said that early that morning the poster had read W. L. U. vs. V. P. I., but now it was W. L. U. VI. After speech-making was over, the crowd gathered in the pool-rooms and a committee, consisting of Messrs. Blain, Collins, Lauck, and Owen Wilson, was appointed to secure contributions and arrange for the reception of the team.

The students gave an impromptu dance Monday night which was quite an enjoyable affair.

One of the best features was that the dancing began at 9 o'clock and stopped at 12; and another was that the orchestra gave the best music that we have heard from them for a long time.

Although there was not a large crowd there, the dancing girls were all good and it is needless to say that the boys rushed them.

The following were among those present: Misses Jamison, Werner, Nellie and Daner Butler, Effinger, Tucker, Dunlap, Lee, Jordan, Ridgely. Messrs. Conrad, Bagley, Price, Pancake, Baker, Bell, Duncan, Arbuckle, H. Osburn, N. Osburn, Lee, Foard, Witherspoon, Jenkins, Gilbert; Capts. Stockdale and Cabell, and several of the first class men of the V. M. I. The chaperones were Miss Annie Robertson White, Mrs. Morgan Pendleton, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Withers, and Miss Sue Davidson.

Y. M. C. A. Hall

It was our privilege and pleasure to listen on Sunday afternoon to an intensely interesting address made by the Rev. Dr. Turnbull. The theme of the address centered in prayer and the study of God's word. The four Gospels record many instances of Jesus entering into quiet communion with God. If Christ, the perfect son of God, needed to pray constantly and persistently, so much more do we who are imperfect sons of God, need to pray. Constant, personal, daily, devotional prayer is the secret of an increased spiritual activity. But Jesus not only prayed, he studied and knew the scriptures.

The man over on the football field obeys every detail in the instructions of his coach. He enters into constant daily practice in order to gain the riches of honor in the ensuing contests. So should every Christian man follow this perfect example of prayer and Bible study in order to gain and to share the riches of God's love in Christ Jesus.

We should like now, in the columns of our college paper, to extend a public invitation to every man in college to join in the devotional work of the University. Every man will receive a hearty welcome in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. We hope to see a good crowd out tomorrow evening. Service in the lower chapel at four P. M.

An unusually large number was present at the weekly meeting of Wash., notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. The program was faithfully carried out. Every man showed that he had made special effort to do his part. The orators for the evening were Messrs. A. Hamilton and F. W. Cramer. Messrs. Crockett and Miller entertained the society with well-rendered declamations. The question for debate was "Resolved that environment has more to do with a man's success than individual effort." The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. Revely and Thompson, while Messrs. Adams and Glasgow championed the negative. There were quite a number of voluntary speeches.

Everything is moving along nicely. We extend a cordial invitation to all students to be present at our meetings.

Law Notes

One of the legal phases of the "negro question" was the subject of discussion in the Law Debating Society this week. In most of the states of the Union, certainly in all of the Southern states, statutes have been passed making miscegenation a crime, and declaring that such marriages between the races shall be null and void. Just how far these statutory provisions can be evaded is a question in which everyone concerned for the purity of Southern social life will be deeply interested.

Some years ago, one Andrew Kinney, colored, and one Mahala Miller, white, being domiciled in the State of Virginia, in order, apparently, to evade the statute of Virginia, went to the District of Columbia where there was no statutory restriction imposed upon marriage between the races, and were married. After remaining in Washington ten days, they returned to this State. Subsequent to their return, Virginia passed another statute declaring that where parties go to another state for the mere purpose of evading the law of this State and afterwards return to Virginia, such a marriage shall be deemed null and void. These two parties were then indicted for illicit cohabitation and when the case came before the Court of Appeals, it was held that, though it is universally true throughout the civilized world that a marriage valid where made is valid everywhere, yet there is a recognized exception to this rule where the State, in the exercise of its police powers and on the grounds of public policy, passes such a statute as the one under consideration. The marriage was therefore held to be void.

Farrar and Carney represented the negro and Dillard and Crawford the commonwealth. The counsel confined themselves generally to strictly legal arguments, but when the debate was thrown open, the voluntary speakers took advantage of the elastic meaning of the term "public policy" and "sloshed all about" the subject. Of course the sentiment was practically unanimous in upholding the Virginia decision, Mr. Ott alone entering a vigorous dissent. It might be remarked in passing that since Mr. Smith's great speech Thursday night, it is apparent that Mr. Howell has a dangerous rival in his particular style of forensic oratory.

Mr. Long was constrained to dissent from the unanimous opinion of the court for the following reasons: To the rule that a marriage valid where made is valid everywhere, there are at least two well-recognized exceptions, polygamous and incestuous marriages, which are void everywhere because opposed to the moral sense of all civilized communities. Some courts add a third exception, viz: marriages repugnant to local policy, and the present case was held to be one included under this exception. But it is well settled that laws passed to determine the status of citizens can have no extraterritorial effect. There is no evidence that the Virginia legislature intended the first statute which declared such marriages to be merely void, should operate outside of Virginia, and the passing of the second statute confirms this view. As far as the fraudulent intention of the parties is concerned, if the statute has no extraterritorial effect, the mere fact that the parties entertained such an intention would affect the question. Marriages of this description are valid in England and throughout many of the states of this country. This marriage is not abhorrent to the morals of Christendom, which is the test to be applied.
