Thanksgiving Dance

On Friday evening of last week a dance was given by the Cotillion Club in the gymnasium and proved the best of the present session, for the men, at any rate, as the usual large number of stags was missing. There were one or two drawbacks, however, which prevented the dance from being quite the success it should have been. One was the cold weather, which made dancing a necessity as well as a pleasure, and another and more serious one, the putting out of the lights by order of the faculty, at half-past one.

A german, led by Messrs. Mason and Barclay, was danced until supper which was served at twelve o'clock. After supper, the german was followed by a hop, which was kept up until the lights went out. Music was furnished by the V. M. I. band.

The dancers were, Misses Haskins, Tucker, Brockenbrough, and the Misses Lee, of Lexington; Miss Claytor, of Bedford City, Misses Dunlap and Miller, of Roanoke, Miss McGuire, of Winchester, and Miss Butler, of Shepherdstown, W. Va.; students Haw, Bledsoe, Price, Burks, Mason, Marshall, Shields, Pendleton, Arbuckle, Osburn, Thomas, and others; and Capts. Stockdale and Peyton, of the V. M. I.

Mrs. S. B. Walker, Mrs. E. M. Pendleton, Miss Annie White, Mrs. W. L. Stevens, and Mrs. F. H. Brockenbrough acted as chaperones.

The M. A. Degree

The reply in last week's issue of the RING-TUM PHI to the article on the M. A. degree proves that in the main, the original article was correct in its assumption that at present the M. A. requirements are "manifestly unfair" to W. & L. graduates. The comparison between the twenty-four points our A. B.'s have to make and the minimum fifty-one points that are required of A. B. graduates from other institutions, is on an entirely different basis.

The A. B. from outside institutions does not make fifty-one points in the same sense that our graduates make their twenty-four. When the A. B. from other colleges enters W. & L., he is given credit for his previous work. For instance with mathematics, he enters the Senior class and earns five points, but is credited with nine more from the lower classes, thus earning five out of fourteen points. There are some courses, as history, for example, in which very little credit can be given as ability to take one class does not require completion of a lower one, but this is the exception rather than the rule. An examination will in many cases place the latter on the same basis with those, requiring the completion of the highest class for a proficiency. Five Senior classes at their maximum value of six, would make only thirty points which the student from other institutions has earned and which alone could be justly compared with the twenty-four our A. B. students have to make.

The fact that it takes two years for an A. B. from another institution to get the M. A. degree, while our own students can get it in one is no argument against the discrimination against our own men. For example, take two average students attending a good city high school or prep. school and in the same classes. When they finish, one is admitted to the freshman class at W. & L., and the other goes to a college of the type from which we generally draw our M. A. students, and can with ease enter the junior class. After two years the W. & L. student is in his junior year, while the other is an A. B. and can enter W. & L. as applicant for M. A. After two more years the original W. & L. man gets his A. B., while the other receives his M. A. Why this advantage to the student from the smaller institution? There is only one explanation. The broad and thorough training requisite for a W. & L. A. B. necessitates much more extended study than that needed for an A. B. at the inferior colleges.

Now if our M. A. degree was given for graduate work, the academic training already obtained would not call for such close examination of undergraduate work. But as it stands for a very high and thorough academic scholarship, the previous undergraduate work done elsewhere should be inspected before it is regarded as the equal with ours. And also, it is but natural that a student from another institution will require longer than one from the same institution to get an M. A. degree, because of the time required to adjust himself to new methods and new divisions of the various subjects as taught.

Whatever changes may be made in the requirements for graduates of other institutions to obtain an M. A. degree, the two following should be made: The requirements should be made the same for all graduates, whether from W. & L. or elsewhere. This places all on an equality and then at least no claims can be made as present, whether justly or not, that our degree men are discriminated against. In addition, the catalogue should not read the M. A. degree will be given "to academic graduates of other institutions who fulfil the following requirements:" but some clause should be inserted to the effect that the value of each degree will be determined by the faculty, as is customary with the majority of leading universities.

Football Captain

On Tuesday afternoon Trundle was unanimously elected captain of the football team for the season of 1903. Trundle has been a hard and conscientious worker on the team for several years, and consequently the honor is deserved, and he is well-fitted to perform the duties which the position involves.

Dr. Currell in Accomac

W. L. U. Shows Up Well (Special to the RING-TUM PHI)

Dr. Currell completely captivated his audience in Accomac county, last week, with his lectures. On Nov. 27, he delivered a lecture on "The Educational Value of the Study of English Literature" before the Teachers' Association of Accomac county, at Accomac C. H., and on the following evening he gave one on "The Principle of Suggestion in Literature and Life" to an appreciative audience in Onancock. His wit and the beauty of his expression and thought drew forth repeated applause.

R. R. Phelps, (A. B. '02) of the Drummondtown Academy, delivered the address of welcome to the teachers. A. L. Burger, (A. B. '02) principal of the Pungoteague High School, read a paper on "The Relation of High Schools to Grammar Schools and Higher Institutions," and Edgar Sydenstricker

(M. A. '02) made an address on "The Function of the High School in the Education of the Masses." Mr. Sydenstricker was elected president of the Teachers' Association for the following year.

Washington and Lee is making a rapid advance in the attention of the people of the county, and is well represented at the University. Supt. G. G. Joynes is well pleased with the work W. L. U. is doing and is hearty in his praise of the energetic work of President Denny.

University Assembly

The next regular meeting of the University Assembly will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 10, at 8:45 a. m. The address will be delivered by the Rev. Edgar Gardner Murphy, of New York, Executive Secretary of the Southern Educational Board, in connection with the so-called "Ogden Movement."

All students who have examinations on Thursday, the 11, will be excused from attendance on recitations on Dec. 10, but will not be excused from attendance on the University Assembly exercises.

Through a misunderstanding there was some irregularity in reporting the absentees from the last meeting, but a rigid account will be rendered at each meeting in the future.

GEORGE H. DENNY,
President.

Graham-Lee

Mr. Handley, of West Virginia, was the orator at the last meeting, his subject being the "Life of the Poet." Mr. Blair declaimed a selection from one of Senator Daniel's addresses. The question for debate, "Resolved, That articles produced by trusts should be placed on the free list," was ably discussed on both sides, the verdict being given to the negative. After the conclusion of the regular program an unusually large volume of new business was transacted.

Business Notice

A considerable number of subscribers have not paid their subscriptions which are long past due. The management requests that they pay up at once. To those who have not subscribed, the RING-TUM PHI will be furnished during the remainder of the session for one dollar. Hand in your name for the latter half of the year.

Press Club

Every year the organization of a student press club has been agitated without any definite result, unless a representation in the Calyx of an organization which does not exist may be counted as something.

The practical advantage of this kind of an organization has become widely recognized, and in many institutions has been followed with fruitful results. The usual mode of working is to have each student, who is a member of the club, keep his local paper posted as to the news of the institution. This does not signify that lengthy news letters are written, but that brief accounts of happenings of interest are furnished the home paper. In this way the institution is kept before the public eye in many widely-scattered sections of the country, or in other words, a wide system of free advertising for the institution is secured.

Ecclesiastes Up-to-date

Now comes the time when the doors shall be shut in the streets, and when the voice of the "grinder" shall be heard and he shall go to bed at the crowing of the cock and "rise up at the voice of the bird;" the "jack" shall flourish, the billiard-cue shall be a burden, and desire for goats shall fail; the "high-rollers" will roll no more, the gridiron players and the athletes will do stunts with their little books, and the "calico" shall be left desolate. Fear shall be in the way, the "pluggers" will tremble, "boot-lickers" will redouble their gentle arts, and many will fear the powers that be, and anxiety and vexation of spirit shall prevail; because the faculty are about to put up examinations, and the students go mourning about the streets.

Several unsigned communications have been received during the last two weeks. We shall be glad to publish them on being given the writer's name. No anonymous communications will be published. This does not mean that the writer's name shall appear in print, but that the writer's name must be known.

The Christmas Collegian

On account of examinations and the Xmas holidays, the RING-TUM PHI will not be able to review the December Collegian for several weeks. So the editors of the Collegian have been kind enough to give a statement as to the contents of the forthcoming number.

It will be a Christmas edition, containing in the literary department matter relating only to Xmas. These productions consist of stories, essays, and poems. The first piece is a poem by G. Conington Moseley, entitled "Phases of Yuletide." The next is an essay, "Toleration," dealing with the intolerance of Christianity in certain respects. It is called forth by the anniversary of Christ's Birth. "The Real and the Unreal," and "Just to Hold" are two stories, the first with a rather sad termination, the second with a rather amusing one. The piece following this is a poem of quite a good deal of merit, by W. W. Bays. This is followed by the longest story in this magazine, "A Famous Christmas at Glenn Oaks."

Probably the best article that has appeared in the Collegian this year, is a poem in negro dialect, entitled "Christmas on the Old Plantation," which will be in this issue. It is written by Lucius Withers. This is followed by a story of Christmas in Alaska, "A Christmas Turkey," and this by an article entitled "Christmas; Its Observance." This is all the literary matter. Besides this there are the editorials, book reviews, exchange notes, and athletic notes, with a poem on the football team and a picture of this year's team.

The '05 Banquet

The class of 1905 held its annual banquet last night at Granger's restaurant. There were thirty-five members of the class present, each one of whom was prepared to show his appreciation of the "good things in life" in a most substantial manner. There was the usual display of enthusiasm and appetite which is so characteristic of class banquets. At eleven o'clock the class assembled around the festive board and proceeded to give their full attention to the following menu:

|--------------------------------|-------------|
| Oysters, | |
| Turkey, Cranberry Sauce, | |
| Chicken Salad, | Cold Ham, |
| Olives, Pickles, Celery, Slaw, | |
| Oranges, Apples, Bananas, | |
| Cakes, | Jelly, |
| Coffee, | |
| Cigars, | Cigarettes. |

The menu having been disposed of to the satisfaction of each individual present, the class gave their attention to the toasts. Mr. Gill was toast-master and the responses were as follows:

"The new man in 1905" was responded to by Mr. C. N. Campbell, who demonstrated the fact that the class of 1905 had material to supply the world with a second Chauncey Depew. His remarks were received with great enthusiasm, especially on the part of the new members of the class.

"Our Class" was responded to by Mr. O. T. Jones. It is sufficient to say that he did full justice to his subject.

"Class of '05 in Athletics" was responded to by Mr. J. P. Walker, who gave as glowing account of our record in athletics as his modesty would permit.

"The Calic" was responded to by Mr. G. E. Ross. His remarks were short and to the point.

"Lexington" was responded to by Squire Granger, who waxed eloquent in describing the many advantages of the Athens of the South.

The crowning feature of the speech-making was Mr. Quisen-berry's impromptu speech, which was received with great applause. There being no further business, the class adjourned with the firm intention of making the class banquet a regular feature in its existence.

The names of the men who are entitled to wear the University monogram will be announced in Chapel next Wednesday morning.

The Band Concert

The concert given at the Chapel last night by the Stonewall Brigade Band of Staunton, under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy, was a rare treat to the music lovers and the public generally. The programme was well selected and admirably rendered, especially the solo numbers and the closing number, which was a melody of familiar plantation melodies.

Miss Hamilton, the soloist, completely captivated the audience, being forced to respond again and again to encores.

The violin solo by Mr. Beardsworth was also well received.

The Chapel was well filled, a large part of the audience being from the student-body.

The object of the entertainment was to raise a fund to purchase the "Stonewall" Jackson mansion which is to be converted into a memorial hospital, and quite a sum was realized from the performance.

Books Received

"The Three Best Things"—by Henry Van Dyke. This title covers the publication in attractive form, of three sonnets by Mr. Van Dyke, which may be said to form a comprehensive and noble philosophy of life. The titles of the sonnets are "Life," "Work," and "Love." These sonnets excited much appreciation when originally published in the Outlook, and many persons will be glad of the opportunity to get them in a form for permanent preservation. They are printed in large italic type on separate cards, and tied together with silk cords for hanging. (The Outlook Company—Post-paid, 40 cents.)

It is reported that the faculty has taken action leading toward making the requirements for the M. A. degree uniform for our own graduates and those of other institutions.

Miss Lelia McGuire, of Winchester, is the guest of Mrs. E. Morgan Pendleton.

Miss Marion Claytor, of Bedford City, is the guest of Mrs. Professor Burks.

Wash. Society

The Wash. society held its last meeting before the holidays, last Saturday night. It being the regular time for election of new officers, the following men were elected: Le Roy Thompson, president; L. W. Williams, vice-president; R. T. Wallace, censor; P. L. Irons, secretary; F. A. Magruder, treasurer; S. McP. Glasgow, critic; L. B. Stanley, reporter.

Next came the regular program. Mr. W. O. Crockett delivered a very flowery oration, and Mr. Trundle declaimed a selection entitled "The Game of Life." Messrs. Irons, Witt, Stanley, and Henderson took part in the debate, the affirmative side represented by the last two gentlemen being given the decision.

On the Outside

Vanderbilt has organized a memorial association, to collect souvenirs of victory in athletics, debate, and oratory.

The United States has 629 universities and colleges, and 43 schools of technology.

There are 616 Y. M. C. A. student associations in the United States and Canada, with a membership of 38,000.

Missouri University Council has forbidden the assembling of students.

The University of Georgia has a University Press.

President Hadley is the best tennis player at Yale, having recently defeated its college champion.

Freshmen at Brown are allowed to use only the north sidewalk on College street. Princeton freshmen are not allowed on the streets after nine o'clock at night, and are forbidden to carry canes, smoke pipes, or wear college colors. Union freshmen are forced to give a coat of green paint to an idol on the campus. Syracuse freshmen and sophomores are not allowed to carry canes. Columbia freshmen may not enter the grill room at the college tavern. Williams freshmen are not allowed to dance at the Greylock, and neither they nor the sophomores may wear corduroy trousers. Penn. freshmen must wear small black caps while on the campus. Freshmen at New York University are ducked in a fountain by the upper-classmen.

Bad weather reduced the attendance at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday evening, but an appreciative audience heard a talk by Prof. Hoxie. The subject was "Spirituality" and the address was based on Gal. 5. The speaker answered four questions in regard to spirituality: What is it? What is its effect on us? What is its effect on our relations to our fellows? How is it to be obtained? The address was characterized by clear and accurate thought expressed in simple language. The meeting tomorrow will be addressed by Dr. Thornton Whaling.

Intercollegiate Debates

At a joint session of the literary societies on last Saturday night, the question of organizing a university debating team and arranging a series of debates with other schools was favorably discussed. A committee was appointed to further consider the matter, and to correspond with other institutions.

Work was begun in the gymnasium on last Tuesday afternoon. The popularity of the class-work is attested by the fact that more men are enrolled than ever before at this season of the year.
