GREAT GAME

V. M. I. I; W. & L. U. 0

On Tuesday last, in one of the cleanest played and most exciting games ever played in Lexington, our friends of the V. M. I. defeated us in a one run game of baseball.

From time immemorial, we have each spring beaten them upon the diamond, but this year we are laboring under the disadvantages of a green team, while the Institute with Carneal in the box, has probably the strongest team they ever turned out. Under the circumstances, we did well and on next Tuesday when the same teams meet on our grounds, a different result may be expected. The features of the game were the pitching of Baker and Carneal, between whom the honors were about even, and Boogher's catch of a fly from Couper's bat in the 6th inning.

The solitary run of the game was made in the 5th inning, after two men were out and was the result of the only two successive hits made by either team, followed by a lucky scratch. Washington & Lee had two pretty chances to score, once with the bases full in the 1st inning, and again with men on second and third in the 6th, but the necessary hit was not forthcoming and the V. M. I.'s captain took a large amount of sweet revenge for past maltreatment by some of our old batters.

The game in detail was as follows:

FIRST INNING

W. & L.—Foard went out on a pop fly to third. Dawson made a pretty bunt in the same direction and beat it out. Shields fanned the air three times. With two men out Carneal lost his control and hit Bagley and passed Boogher to first on four balls. The bases were full and it looked like a run but Campbell struck out.

V. M. I.—Baker hit Goodloe, the first man up, Porter struck out, Johnson flew out to Shields, and Couper to Wysor.

SECOND INNING

W. & L. was quickly disposed of in this inning. Hereford struck out, Wysor went out from pitch to first and Baker fanned.

V. M. I.—Hill was out Baker to Campbell, Love drew a base on balls, Allport struck out, Crowdus was thrown out at first by Shields.

THIRD INNING

W. & L.—Foard fanned the air three times and sat down, Dawson followed with his second hit, just over short, Shields flew out to second, Bagley went out, Hill to Couper.

V. M. I.—Carneal went out from Dawson to Campbell, Goodloe followed with a hit, but Porter and Johnson were easy victims for Baker and struck out.

FOURTH INNING

W. & L.—Boogher struck out, Campbell went out, second to first, and Hereford short to first.

V. M. I.—Dawson threw Couper out at first, Hill fanned and Boogher caught Love's fly.

FIFTH INNING

W. & L.—Wysor went out from second to first, Baker got hit, Foard fouled out to Goodloe, Dawson let the ball hit him and Shields fouled out.

V. M. I.—Allport went out from Dawson to Campbell, and Crowdus struck out. So far, all was well, but at this stage of the game trouble began.

Carneal picked out a ball that suited him and made a pretty hit to center field; Goodloe followed with a two-bagger to right. Under a ground rule, only two bases were allowed on a hit in that territory, but Carneal insisted on his right to score and the game was delayed for some time by a protracted dispute. Finally, Carneal took third, Goodloe second and Porter went to the bat. With two strikes on him, the latter hit a dinky grounder just in front of the plate, which Baker fumbled and Carneal came in with the winning run. Johnson ended the inning by striking out again.

SIXTH INNING

W. & L.—"Oom" struck out and Goodloe after dropping the ball threw him out at first, Boogher made a long drive to center, which looked safe, but Love made a pretty catch, Campbell got his base on balls and went to third when Hereford followed with a hit over third. Hereford stole second, but Wysor struck out.

V. M. I.—Couper knocked what looked like a three-bagger between center and right, but Boogher knocked the ball down with his gloved hand and then caught it before it touched the ground. Hill made first on Dawson's error, but Love fouled out to Bagley and Allport fanned.

SEVENTH INNING

W. & L.—Baker got hit, Foard flew out to short, Dawson fanned and Shields fouled out to catcher.

V. M. I.—Crowdus was thrown out by Shields, Carneal and Goodloe fanned.

EIGHTH INNING

W. & L.—"Oom" went out to Couper from Carneal, Boogher fanned and was thrown out at first, Campbell went out pitch to first.

V. M. I.—Porter made a hit to left field, Johnson fanned, Couper hit safe, Hill flew out to Hereford and Porter was caught between bases.

NINTH INNING

W. & L.—Hereford got his base on a fumble by Carneal and took second on a balk, Pipes struck out, Baker drew a base on balls and the rooters began to hope again, but Hereford tried to take third on another balk and was called out. Foard ended the game by knocking a pop fly to short.

Mr. LeRoy Thompson, recently elected president of the Y. M. C. A., upon assuming his duties Sunday afternoon, gave to the Association an inaugural address. As a reference point, he took John 17; 15, "I pray not that thou wouldst take them out of the world, but that thou wouldst keep them from the evil one."

Gay has irreverently introduced the motor-cycle into this ancient burg. Who will have the moral courage to bring on the automobile?

UNIVERSITY ASSEMBLY

Dr. Stevens Speaks on American Titles

Baseball Trophy Received

The devotional exercises at Chapel on Wednesday morning were conducted by Dr. Manley, of the Baptist church. Before the address the trophy, consisting of a silver cup, representing the championship in baseball won by last year's team, was handed over to the Athletic Association by President Denny. It was received on behalf of the Athletic Association by President Bagley. The cup was awarded at the recent meeting of the State Intercollegiate Athletic Association and represents the championship in the Western section.

Prof. Stevens delivered the regular monthly address, having for his subject "American Titles." After tracing in outline the origin of titles and showing how the possession of titles abroad was a mark of distinction or birth and the possession of titles protected by law, he spoke at length upon the origin, prevalence and general insignificance of titles of distinction in the United States. American titles, said Dr. Stevens, owe their origin to the diffusion of Democracy, to the desire for popularity or to the covert desire to flatter.

There is no legal protection for the possessor of the title and very few conditions imposed upon the donor. Consequently the use of titles has been abused. In the South the lawyer is generally a Colonel, and vice versa. Over the entire country the title "professor" represents a wide variety of callings ranging from the barber and boot-black to those who occupy University chairs. The academic and professional degrees have also been debased by the establishment of institutions for the purpose of conferring these degrees for pecuniary considerations. The tendency of the times is to place the American title of distinction where it would signify nothing.

Easter German

The Easter german will be held in the gym. on Monday night. It will be a poudré cotillion. The correct thing to wear will be the conventional evening clothes with powdered hair and paint. The tickets are essential to admission.

Ceremoniousness

Commencement Exercises

As the time approaches for the college session to close, a few words concerning the commencement exercises may not be amiss from one who has witnessed several such occasions. To the freshman who has never attended such an important event, we advise close observance on the next Memorial day services in the chapel. They are very similar except that the latter is probably a little more formal and prearranged. Then only the veterans with the faculties of the institute and the university are on the platform, while on commencement occasions most everybody that is concerned with the university is there.

We can remember the time when our highest ambition was to sit on the chapel rostrum and receive our degrees from the president as the climax to the commencement exercises. Our ideals have been rudely shattered, for, as a matter of fact, the dignified senior loafs on the chapel steps smoking his cigarette till the degree men are read out. Then with the dozen or so others, scattered from one corner of the building to the other, he proceeds to the rostrum, gets his sheet of paper and returns to resume his smoke, much less concerned than if he were coming in late to Wednesday morning chapel. Is this the result of Jeffersonian simplicity that our Charlottesville neighbors brag so much about?

A year ago the senior classes obtained gowns with the expectation that the faculty would meet them half way in an attempt to make a better impression on our visiting friends. This was voted down, why, we know not. Perhaps on the ground of expense, but if we cannot go down into our own pockets for a few shekels, how can we expect our friends to give us many thousand? More probably, it was for appearance's sake, but what is more grotesque than some of the golf costumes that we see every day? Most probably it was due to that conservative procrastination which is fast disappearing with the new blood infused through the whole university. Can't a single step be taken this spring so that only those entitled should have a seat in the rostrum, i. e. trustees, faculty and seniors arranged in some systematic manner? We earnestly recommend such to the proper authorities.

The University and Its Growth

A Remarkable Showing

A recent circular letter by President Denny, addressed to the alumni of the University, contains an interesting summary of the present condition and progress of the University since the beginning of President Wilson's administration.

The first significant step was the abandonment of the preparatory department in 1896, and the adoption of a high standard of entrance requirements. Although this action was marked by a temporary falling off in matriculation, "the total enrollment of the University this session is one hundred per cent larger than it was five years ago, and considerably in advance of any session since the withdrawal of the immediate influence of General Robert E. Lee."

During the past few years three new chairs have been established and the work distributed in a more satisfactory manner—the chairs of English, Economics and Modern Languages.

Numerous additions have been made to the library both by the University and private donors.

"As a special instance, we mention the liberal action of twenty of the leading publishing houses of the country in donating during the past year a memorial library in recognition of President Wilson's services in securing the passage of the International Copyright Law. This contribution will add to the library over one thousand choice volumes during the present year.

"The material growth of the University has been quite commensurate with its educational progress. The construction of the Tucker Memorial Hall, a handsome cut-stone structure, giving to the Law School a home second to none in the South, was the first notable movement in this direction.

"The main buildings, the Newcomb Hall, and the columns of the professors' residences have been freshly painted, several of the classrooms have been refitted, and a handsome suite of rooms has been provided for the department of Economics. The two literary society halls have been renovated and made attractive and comfortable. Special appropriations have been made to the scientific schools, greatly enlarging the scope of their efficiency.

"Fine athletic grounds have been constructed at an expense of nearly four thousand dollars, and the athletic spirit of the University has never been more marked. An interested alumnus offers to contribute five hundred dollars towards a fund of twenty-five thousand dollars for this department of college life.

"The endowment of the institution has been increased by almost a quarter of a million dollars.

"The Bradford bequest, consisting of $100,000, a handsome collection of paintings for the art gallery, and a law library of 1200 volumes, was the first of three important additions to the resources of the University. Then followed the bequest of $30,000 by Mrs. S. P. Lees, of New York, and the Wilson Memorial endowment of $100,000 for the department of Economics. This fund last mentioned not only guarantees generous provision for the conduct of the work of this important department, but also insures the erection in the near future of a handsome building as its permanent home. It is announced that the Treasurer is to receive, during the present month, an amount approximating $5,000 from the Bayly estate."

Washington Literary Society

March 7, last, Washington Literary Society elected for the third and final term of this scholastic year, the following officers: R. T. Wallace, Va., president; E. W. Kelley, Va., vice-president; F. C. Meredith, Va., censor; W. N. Grubb, Va., secretary. E. C. Miller, Va., and LeRoy Thompson, Ark., were unanimously elected orators of the final celebration.

A joint session of the two societies then took place and the following officers were elected to serve during the final exercises:

Wash. — H. S. Osburn, Md., chief marshal, S. M. Glasgow, Va., vice-president;
Graham-Lee.—W. B. Crawford,

Fla., president, O. T. Jones, Fla., secretary.

At the last meeting, Apr. 4, President Wallace was inaugurated and his speech was enthusiastically received. Retiring President Thompson also entertained the society with a few remarks.

The debate, "Resolved, That the segregation of the sexes is wise" was ably supported on the affirmative by Messrs. Meredith and Hamilton.

Messrs. McPheeters, McClung and Gilbert advanced good arguments for the negative.

W. L. U. 3; St. Johns 5

The game yesterday afternoon proved so disastrous in the third inning that W. & L. was not able to redeem herself. She came very near it in the ninth inning when good hitting by Boogher, Spencer and Bagley brought in three runs and when the last man was out three men were left on bases.

Brown started in the box for W. & L. and though a little wild is not to be blamed for the score as he received ragged support and a number of errors allowed five men to cross the plate for St. Johns. Baker then took his place and from that time the scoring by the visitors ceased. He pitched in good form and received steady support from the team. Dawson at short played a star game and Trimble caught well, showing that in future we need have no fear so far as a catch is concerned. Bagley did not go into the game at first due to a sore hand but later took Wisor's place in the field. It was good for sore eyes to see Charlie Spencer at the initial bag and he played, just as all expected, his usual good game.

Stick and (the) Mudd were the battery for St. Johns and Stick made good use of the ball until the ninth inning when he was found for several hard hits. W. & L. made six hits, St. Johns three.

The following gives the position of the players:

W. & L.	POSITION	ST. JOHNS

Sedulously avoid all polysyllabic profundity, pompous prolixity, psittaceous vacuity, ventriloquial verbosity and vaniloquent vapidty. Shun double entities, prurient jocosity and pestiferous profanity, obscure or apparent. In other words, talk plainly, naturally, sensibly, purely and truthfully.

LAW NOTES

The first session of the moot court after examinations was held last Wednesday afternoon, and there were quite a number of cases on docket to be argued, including several demurrers.

A special session of the court was held on Thursday afternoon, with Professor Vance presiding. The particular question argued was the validity of a devise of certain land to be sold and the proceeds invested in books for the Sunday-school of a designated church.

GRAHAM-LEE

The Graham-Lee Society had an election on Saturday night for the ensuing term and Mr. W. B. Crawford of Florida, was elected president and Mr. L. M. Moffett of Virginia, vice-president.
