Trans-Mississippi Banquet

Last Monday night the Trans-Mississippi Club gave its annual celebration at LaRowe's Cafe. This is the second banquet that the club has enjoyed during the past week, the first one being given to the club by Dr. Quarles, and both were greatly enjoyed. This is a new club but already much interest is shown in it, and all the men are very enthusiastic about bringing it to the front rank of the state clubs of college.

A very enjoyable time was spent around the festive board, the toasts were listened to with much attention and the applause after each showed that they were much enjoyed.

The club had the honor of the presence of Dr. Quarles, the only Trans-Mississippian in the faculty; his address on the "Trans-Mississippi Pioneer" was very interesting and highly appreciated. He showed how the early pioneers had to labor day and night for a living, and told why they should be considered the heroes of the West.

Mr. S. E. Boyett followed Dr. Quarles, giving a very interesting discourse on "The West"; his remarks were very forcible and well rendered.

"Texas" was responded to by Mr. Albert Steves, Jr., who added merriment to the occasion by his witty remarks and humorous tales. "Arkansas," the land where the prettiest girls of the West are raised, was delivered by Mr. Leroy Thompson. Mr. Pipes favored the club with a short but impressive toast to "Louisiana." Mr. C. S. Nichols spoke on the "Brains, Women and Mules of Missouri" "Indian Territory" was raised to the level of the "Garden of Eden by Mr. W. F. Semple. Mr. F. H. Wolff then spoke on "The Trans-Mississippi Club." He was followed by a voluntary toast to "The Faculty" by Mr. L. Thompson. "Kid" Steves then excelled himself on the toast to "The Ladies." This closed the evening and everybody voted it to be one of the most enjoyable they had spent in Lexington.

Season Tickets

Season tickets will be put on sale Monday next, and may be procured from R. W. Withers, E. S. Dawson, W. W. Cave, A. Steves and Riley Wilson. These tickets will be sold for $3.50, and are good for all games scheduled on home grounds. As there are ten games scheduled it will be more economical to buy a season ticket than to pay at the gate at each game, besides encouraging the team and management, for money must be had to run a ball team, and it is very necessary to meet the heavy expenses which always arise at the beginning of the season.

A coach for the team has not been definitely procured yet, but we hope to close with one in the very near future and to have him here by the middle of March at the latest. When the coach has been definitely engaged a mass-meeting will be held to raise money to defray the expenses of paying him. Every student is able to give something and every one should be willing to give all that he is able to aid this very important branch of athletics. The moral as well as the financial support of the student body is wanted for the season which is now at hand, for there is nothing which encourages a team as much as a crowd of loyal supporters behind them. Go out the grounds when you are able and watch the boys practice and encourage them by your presence. These are the things which make harder practice and a better team.

Notice!

UNIVERSITY ASSEMBLY

The next meeting of the University Assembly will be held Wednesday morning, March 16, at 8.45 a. m., instead of March 9th.

Professor Latane' will address the meeting on a subject of great popular interest at the present time.

GEORGE H. DENNY
President

"The Private Secretary" tonight!

Baseball Prospects.

Captain Dawson has called out his men for the first practice of the season. Prospects for a good team are more encouraging than ever before in the history of the institution. Owing to the inclemency of the weather the squad has heretofore been unable to appear on the field, but from the following list he feels confident of picking a fast team. They are:

Catch: Trundle, Osburn, Douglas, Curtis, Snead.

Pitch: Chilton, Johnson, Baker, Dickerman, Morse, Ball, Quisenberry.

First Base: Gray, Wilson, Nichols, McCrum, Wills, Alexander, D., McDonnal, Wolff.

Second Base: McCorkle, LeGore, Bagley, Meyer.

Third Base: Hereford, Opie, Bagley, C.

Short Stop: Dawson (Capt.), Campbell, Wilson, O., Lombard.

Outfield: Pipes, Wysor, Hudson, Masterson, Bledsoe, Alexander, H., Hollingsworth, Willard, Kidd, Palmer, James, Hargrave, Miller, E. C., Arnold, Hutton, Tiffany, Pobst.

The Mountaineers' Banquet.

On Friday night, Feb. 26, the annual banquet of the West Virginia Club was spread at LaRowe's. Mr. R. M. August, formerly of Charleston, was the guest of the Club. Covers were laid for several West Virginians from the University of Virginia, but they were unable to be present. The affair was one of the most enjoyable in the history of the Club and yet the town officers had nothing to do with it! Like their friends, the Marylanders, the Mountaineers "went quietly home in the cold, gray dawn." Some of the toasts were:

"The Little Mountain State," T. G. Dailey.

"West Virginians as College Men," B. F. Hutton.

"West Virginia and What She's Got in Her," D. W. Alexander.

"Her Girls," R. M. August.

"Our Guests," W. G. McCorkle.

Saturday, April 30—Virginia Military Institute, Lexington.

Monday, May 2—Randolph-Macon College, Lexington.

Saturday, May 14—Roanoke College, Lexington.

Saturday, May 21—Virginia Military Institute, Lexington.

Southwest Virginia Club.

A meeting of the students from Southwest Virginia was called by President Willoughby on Saturday, Feb. 27, to discuss the matter of Calyx representation, but the kind was not definitely decided upon. Some of the serious-minded members felt sure that within a week they could secure from their fair friends some drawings, typical of the country; and in order that such drawings may be had and the club secure the best possible representation this matter was deferred.

Freshman to Lexington calic at the hop: "You are the only girl that I have been able to dance around the gym wit tonight without having someone break" ——, and he wondered why she sighed.

The public spirited members of the faculty and of the student body are again obligated to Miss Annie White for the successful play given last evening and which will be again given this evening. It was a success from every standpoint and those who let other engagements interfere with their attendance are to be pitied rather than condemned.

A great many candidates for the baseball team have been practicing during the past week when the weather would permit and the prospects are for a winning season. It is to be hoped that those who can not play ball will support the team financially with as much enthusiasm as those who can play support it physically.

Prize Yell Contest.

The Athletic Committee has been authorized to draw upon Mr. W. C. Stuart for $2 toward a prize for the best yell that is handed in to them before April 1. During the baseball season we will need many little yells and songs to add life to the team, and since this much has been given already it is time for the fellows to scratch their heads and write some regular roof-raising yells. It might be well for the song writers to get their words and music together, for it is expected that another prize of at least $5 will at once be offered. Hand in your yells to the Athletic committee.

Oral Debates—March 7, 1904

Resolved, That the time has come to organize a new national political party.

| Affirmative | Negative |
|---|---|
| Mr. Thompson | Mr. Kidd |
| Mr. Semple | Mr. Larrick |
| Mr. Wisman | Mr. Flannagan |

BRIEF FOR AFFIRMATIVE

I. Old parties not in a vigorous condition. A. Both parties in hands of wealth. 1. Campaign money furnished by millionaires. 2. Policy of country dictated by trusts. 3. Business men in senate, not statesmen. B. Corruption in both parties. 1 Leaders do not hesitate to buy votes. 2. "Spoils politics" is superseding civil service requirements. C. No vital difference between parties, as shown by, 1. Tariff legislation, 2. Attitude towards trusts, 3. Attitude towards imperialism, 4. Attitude towards Panama question.

II. Present conditions are favorable to the organization of a new party. A. Large body of disaffected men in both parties. 1. Factional fights. 2. Splits in parties. B. Independent vote is increasing. C. A number of small parties have come into existence within recent years. 1. Populist, 2. Socialist, 3. Labor.

III. A new party is necessary. A. Critical period has been reached. 1. In foreign policy, 2. In trusts, 3. In corruption. B. Conservative element of both parties willing to unite, as shown by, 1. Money question, 2. Imperialism, 3. Monroe Doctrine, 4. Trust question.

BRIEF FOR NEGATIVE

I. The best method of party reform from the inside. A. New party would be only a faction. 1. It would make politics more corrupt. 2. It would not benefit the state. B. New parties are seldom stronger on many issues. C. Reforms by new parties are very slow.

II. Present political parties are in a respectable condition. A. Republican party is reforming politics. 1. Corruption is being checked by President. 2. Foreign policy is unselfish. 3. They do not buckle to capital. B. Democratic party led by honest men.

III. Real reform must be initiated by voters. A. They must take an active and direct part in caucuses. B. They must select honorable men. C. They are already repressing municipal corruption. D. They must keep a closer watch over the actions of Congress.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The following eight men left Thursday morning for the Richmond convention: Armstrong, Flournoy, Engle, Turnbull, Pilkington, Crawford, Browning, A. J., and Larrick, J. H. They will return on Monday night.

Dr. Manly has been engaged for the 4 o'clock meeting on Sunday.

The following officers were elected at the business meeting Friday, Feb. 26: T. D. Sloan, president; O. V. Armstrong, vice-president; R. A. Lapley, secretary; P. L. Irons, treasurer.

The missionary meeting on last Sunday afternoon was ably conducted by Mr. M. T. McClure, Jr.

A Ministerial Band has been organized with about 25 members. A policy, outlining the objects of the organization and specific plans for '03-'04, has been printed. The faculty has given over to the band the conducting of the morning chapel.

Stokes is fine; see him tonight.

Don't forget Mr. Stuart's offer-Write out a yell tonight.

"The Private Secretary" is still running at the Gymnasium.

Have you submitted your monogram design?

Birch cut his hand quite severely last Monday night by running it through a glass door.

"The Private Secretary"

Dramatic Club Made a Great Hit

The play last night was a marked success. Everything had been done that was possible to make a fascinating entertainment. A large stage had been built in the south part of the gymnasium at a cost of about $60, a special costume for each part had been ordered from Philadelphia, and to complete this stagy effect with an orchestra, the V. M. I. Mandolin Club had been engaged; in fact the gymnasium had been turned into a real theatre. Then the acting was so good that it might have been mistaken for professional. The rehearsals necessary to attain this, as well as the arrangement of numerous details, have all been conducted by Miss White, to whom a great deal of appreciation is due.

As a farce the "Private Secretary" is in many points superior to the last production by the Dramatic Club. Both its character and its plot are more comical.

Douglas Cattermole, a young London sport, becoming very much in debt, despairs of ever getting out, and it is only by the landlady's timely assistance that he is protected from a crowd of raving creditors. Harry Marshland, a young friend, on his way to his uncle's country residence, accompanied by the Rev. Robert Spaulding, the new private secretary, happens in, and rash methods of eluding the shopkeepers, headed by Gibson, the tailor, are resorted to. Rev. Spaulding is accordingly substituted for the young blood and Douglas goes off to the country with Harry where he must talk to the spiritual, Miss Ashfort, a spinster, and teach the young ladies of Mr. Marshland's household music and literature. In the meanwhile Mr. Cattermole returns to London and mistakes the curate for his nephew. All his hopes are shattered and he is greatly hurt, for he had wished for a wayward nephew upon whom to bestow his fortune. Finally they all,—Cattermole, Gibson, the real secretary and the others, find their way to Mr. Marshland's where many complications arise.

Mr. Stokes is indeed a star. He played the part of Mr. Cattermole ("with the accent on the 'mole' ") as only a professional could have played it.

Mr. Steves had a difficult role and did exceedingly well as did Mr. Keller.

Gibson, the tailor, could not have been made more real than it was by Mr. Wilson. Indeed his imitation of a drunk seemed too natural to be "a make belief."

Mr. Lee is naturally well fitted for his role, the Rev. Robt. Spaulding. With his ubiquitous "goods and chattels" and his droll appearance and speech, he fully rivalled Mr. Stokes.

Mr. Burks was fine in his part, that of the dignified Mr. Marshland His make-up, like Mr. Lee's, would have been hard to improve upon.

Miss Allan is a versatile amateur, being able to adapt herself to any sort of characterization. In former plays she has taken the parts of young, vivacious girls, but she is even better as Miss Ashfort, the spiritual spinster.

Miss Barclay made a typical London landlady. As two pretty English girls Misses Brockenbrough and Rust could not have been excelled.

As a curtain-raiser Miss Mary Moore's monologue made a hit. It was admirably recited.

Between acts Riley Wilson worked off his "Mirthful, Musical Monologue" under the title, "Mind Wanderings." His jokes were a little stale, but Riley is a whole show himself.

The V. M. I. Mandolin Club furnished an excellent musical program. The Cadets play very well together, and it is hoped that they will take part again tonight when the play, with all its features, will be reproduced.

MISS WHITE ELECTED AN HONORARY MEMBER

Last Saturday night no regular orator and no debaters were present, but Mr. Light rendered an excellent declamation. The debate on the question, "Resolved, That the boycott is a legitimate means of exacting concessions from employers," was closed after the speech of the first affirmative, the other debaters being sick.

Mr. Grubb was appointed secretary during the absence of Mr. Opie.

The feature of the evening was the election of Miss Annie Jo White an honorary member of the society.
