V.M.I. Loses to W. & L. First Game of Series an Exciting One

W. L. U., 8; V. M. I., 7

From the County News, April 21.

Washington and Lee University baseball team scored its first victory of the season over the Cadet nine of the Virginia Military Institute Saturday afternoon in a finely played game on the former's athletic grounds before a large crowd. The weather was too wintry for comfort, but as the game progressed the cold, cutting wind was forgotten in the intense interest felt by all. The Cadets marched on the grounds headed by the post band, amid yells, and ringing of cow-bells, with which they were armed, and used freely during the game in their rooting. The Students were not behind them in their rooting and yells, but used tin horns instead of bells. At times nothing could be heard from the unearthly din that was kept up by both teams' adherents, who were lined up behind ropes stretched on both sides of the field from catcher's position to first and third bases respectively.

The game was a great contest even to the end. In appearance after the first two innings it gave promise of a one-sided game in favor of the Students, who made six runs, but the never say-die spirit of the Cadets asserted itself all along, but more prominently in the last two innings, when only one run was needed to tie the score after making six runs in those innings.

It was a great uphill fight by the Cadets, and many pretty plays were made by both teams, and credit is due each one without discriminating. The Students played an errorless game, while the Cadets outbatted them. Cadet Parker's wildness as he gave two bases on balls, and hit two batters in the first two innings, coupled with two errors by the Cadets, two hits and a steal were responsible for the six men scored by the Students.

Cadet Johnson replaced Parker in the box in the third inning, and he finished the game, doing fine work. Two runs were all that could be secured while he pitched; one each in the fifth and sixth innings—on three hits, a sacrifice, an error and two stolen bases.

Up to the sixth inning it looked as if a shut-out was coming to the Cadets, then Cadet Goodloe, the mighty batter, landed on a high pitched ball, sent it over leftfield fence and scored a home run amid great cheers. It was a great hit. Up to that time the Cadets had made only two hits, one for two bases, and the fine fielding by the whole Student team prevented scoring, for three runners were left on third and one on second base.

In the sixth, Trimble, student catcher, was compelled to quit the game owing to the ball which glanced from his bat and struck him in his eye while at the bat. This accident caused centre fielder Alexander, to take his place behind the bat and other changes, and appeared to somewhat unsteady pitcher Chilton, who, after his catcher had two passed balls in the eighth, preceded by hit, gave two bases on balls, which coupled with two stolen bases and a two-bagger netted three runs for the Cadets. But Chilton struck out the next two batters leaving a runner on the third. In the ninth the Cadets went to work again and rapped out two singles and a home run, which with a stolen base, netted three runs. With no one out for the Cadets and the head of the battery list up, it began to look as if the game would go to their credit after their brilliant uphill fight and the great fielding and team playing by their opponents. But fate decided otherwise, and the next three batters were retired in order, one on strikes and two at first base, thus ending the game with the score of 8 to 7 in favor of Washington & Lee. Mr. McKeel of Maryland Athletic Club, umpired the game, and gave great satisfaction.

U. Va. Loses Championship W. & L., 7; Va., 1

Last Tuesday at Charlottesville the Washington and Lee baseball team won from the University of Virginia for the first time in ten or twelve years, the score being 7 to 1. Virginia's team seemed lifeless and dead on their feet and had Pollard not pitched the game he did, by their errors they would have allowed the boys in blue to run up even a higher score. Washington and Lee played clean, snappy ball and would have shut Virginia out but for their one error at first. Had both teams played an errorless game, however, Virginia's inability to hit Chilton would have lost to the Lexington boys by a score, 3 to 0, at least.

Neither side scored in the first inning, and in the second on W. & L's sole error Munger crossed the plate. In the same inning LeGore scored on two wild throws by the Virginia infield. It was then that the team and the dozen students who were along began to rest easier, for W. & L. had scored on Virginia.

In the third on two hits, and a base on balls, W. & L. scored twice. Then in the fourth when the Virginians played the worst, they scored four runs. One of these four was earned however by Trimble's base on balls, Chilton's scratch hit and Dawson's beautiful single.

From the fourth to the end of the game neither side scored. This was the prettiest part of the game, the Virginia field settling down to hard playing leaving the pitchers to fight out the battle themselves. In this Chilton was far superior to Pollard, the one allowing but two hits, and the other, six hits. Both struck out eight men and gave three bases on balls.

Washington and Lee clearly outplayed Virginia, both in the field and at the bat. Wilson and Dawson did the best batting while LeGore followed a close second.

Washington Literary Society.

APRIL 16TH.

President Sloan delivered an inaugural address in which he pointed out the necessity for feelings of individual responsibility on the part of society members if literary work is to be successful. His suggestions were well received and warmly applauded by those members present. Reports of the work of the Society for the winter term were then read by the retiring officers, and received. The literary program was creditably rendered.

One new member, Mr. Ray, was received by the Society.

(No report from Graham Lee.)

Bledsoe and Masterson ran the battery so successfully for the Bledsoe Ranche in their recent game with the Chemistry team that McGraw has been trying to sign them on the New York Nationals.

Baseball Victories.

The University's cup of joy is filled to overflowing and the rejoicing of the students can be heard on every side because of the victories of our baseball team. During the past week its progress has been marked by a series of victories calculated to fill the hearts of all with pride. Beginning with their victory of last Saturday over V. M. I. they followed it up Tuesday by making the boys of U. Va. bite the dust in the most decisive manner. But this was not sufficient and proceeding to the Capitol they took into Camp the pride of Columbian. St. John followed as a victim, and today the united prayer of the student body is that the sons of Uncle Sam may be made to abdicate to "Cousin Sam" and his cohorts, and the indications are that they will have to do so.

Hurrah for the white and blue!

It is regretted that lack of space compelled us to postpone from the last issue the account appearing in another column of the Glee Club's Concert at Virginia College, Roanoke, on the 12th. The success of the Roanoke engagement is due not only to the earnest work of the club, but to the talented contributions of the young ladies of the college. Those students so fortunate as to take the trip, join in acknowledging the many courtesies extended them by the college girls, as well as the loyal support they gave to our Colors during the ball game.

The students would be deeply grateful, if, hereafter on baseball trips, some one would take it upon himself to inform them as to the result of the games played in order that they might not be kept in suspense until the arrival of daily papers the next afternoon.

We all feel a deep sense of regret that Senator Tillman will not be here to address us as has been anticipated and hope that nevertheless it may be our pleasure in the near future to have him as our guest.

VICTORIOUS IN WASHINGTON

In First Game Played There.

W. & L., 12; COLUMBIAN, 8.

On Thursday afternoon the W. & L. team scored its second decisive victory on their Northern trip. This time it was Columbian whose colors were trailed in the dust. Score, 12 to 8. The game was played on the Columbian University grounds in Washington.

The hitting of our team seems to have been the prominent feature, Burkett who pitched the first four innings for Columbian allowed twelve hits which coupled with errors and a few bases on balls, gave W. & L. the lead by eight runs. Harris succeeded Burkett and did better work for his team allowing but five hits. Le Gore, Shields, Alexander and Wilson used the stick exceeding well.

Captain Dawson manipulated our pitchers to the greatest advantage, reserving the greatest twirling efforts for the Annapolis games yesterday and today. Dickerman came first for six innings.

The opponents were able to get but one earned run from "Dick," and that was in the sixth on three succeeding hits. Two scores in the first were made on two fumbles and a single and two in the fourth, on a base by dead ball, a fumble and a hit. Johnson was found in the seventh for three singles and a double scoring three and Chilton took his daily "warming up" in the eighth and ninth shutting Columbian out in those innings.

The Washington Post said yesterday morning: "The Old Dominion boys who smothered the University of Virginia played a better game than the big University team did against Harvard and their victory over Columbian was well deserved, for seven of the runs were earned."

W. & L., 6; ST. JOHN'S, 5.

We are again even with St. John's College, having defeated her yesterday in Annapolis by a score of 6 to 5. The Washington and Lee team by their usual good fielding and by one exceptionally good swatting made their victory sure from the first inning. All the team batted well, Alexander and Johnson leading with a home run each. Johnson, who pitched a good game for W. & L. when we played St. John's four weeks ago on the V. M. I. grounds, and who would have won easily then had not our field been badly broken up by sickness and necessary absences from college, was in the box during the whole of the game yesterday and did good work.

The Woodberry team, which beat Virginia sometime ago, won by a score of 4 to 3, being able to get a lead in the first of three runs, which, by Adams' good pitching, they were able to make "the majority" by the addition of a score in the sixth.

Universities

The case of a student at Yale, who spent eleven thousands in a year, is in a sense sporadic, but it is not without its general significance. The truth of the matter seems to be, American students, striking an average of pecuniary worth, can now afford to to drink almost, if not quite, enough to raise our best universities to the level of Heidelberg, Berlin or Bonn. As for the use of tobacco, we have the German universities clearly beaten up the alley. In a word, our boys have no longer any need to go abroad for the genuine academic atmosphere.—Life.

Glee Club and College Girls in Joint Program

The Glee Club made their fourth public appearance Tuesday night, April 12, under the auspices of the Phi Alpha Literary Society of Virginia Woman's College, Roanoke. The program was a joint one, rendered by the club and by the young ladies of the college.

It is the general impression that the club acquitted itself well.

The following is the program as rendered:

1. Handicap March Rosey Virginia Glee Club
2. The Winter Song Frederic Bullard Washington and Lee Glee Club
3. The Story of a Tack Park-Varsity Octette
4. Xylophon Solo Miss Courtney Marshall
Accompanied by Va. College Orchestra
5. 'Tis Morn, Geldel Washington and Lee Glee Club
6. Reading—Photonic W. B. Terrett Miss Marjorie Scott
7. The Stein Song Frederic Bullard Washington and Lee Glee Club
8. Vocal—A Song of Sunshine, Thomas Miss Stevenson
9. Sweet and Low Parks Quartette—Messrs. Nichols, Webb, Johnston, Keller
10. Mind Wanderings Wilson Riley Wilson
11. Roman Chariot Race E. Schuttler Virginia College Orchestra
12. Until the Dawn Parks Washington and Lee Glee Club
13. Part Song—Dickory, Dickory, Dock Schattan
First Soprano—Misson Lusher, Fitch, Hardman; Second Soprano; Misses Dobbins, Goo-trum; Shuffelbarger; Alto, Misses Llewellyn, Neal, Mrs. Crippen.
14. Yachting Glee, J. C. Macy Washington and Lee Glee Club
15. Good Night Parks Washington and Lee Glee Club

After the public had left a reception was tendered the Washington and Lee students by the ladies of the Phi Alpha Society, which was enjoyed not only by all of the Club but by all of the boys present at the concert.

Every one had a good time, and went away charmed with the hospitality of the young ladies.

The short space allowed us will not permit a criticism of the program. The Glee Club has improved during the past several months. The Roanoke recital is a complimentary evidence of the earnest work that Dr. White has done in bringing the organization up to its present high standard.

The recitation of Miss Scott was much enjoyed. Miss Stevenson who sang for us on the occasion of the Washington Celebration last February, was in good voice, and sang herself once more into the hearts of her hearers.

Miss Marshall's Xylophon Solo, we are hardly capable of criticising; but we retain the memory of the most pleasing effect it had upon us.

"Dickory, Dickory, Dock" was much enjoyed as was attested by the unanimous demand for an encore.

Special mention should be made of the Virginia College Orchestra. Their selections, both in accompanying Miss Marshall, and in the Chariot Race evidenced a proficiency rarely attained by a college organization.

"Riley," as usual, "delivered the goods" in his own unimitable style; the unanimous demand for his re-appearance being the very best evidence of the audience's appreciation.

Personals

Meyer is able to be out again. Arhuele '03, was in town a day or two this week.

Miss Davis returned to her home in Lynchburg this morning.

Hon. C. W. Daily of Elkins, W. Va., is visiting his son, T.G. Daily, of the Law School.

Dr. Denny left this morning to join the Ogden party in Birmingham, Ala.

Miss Rust entertained a few of her friends last night at "Mulberry Hill."

Captain Dawson expects to go to the hospital immediately after the second Columbian game to be treated for appendicitis. That "Babe" has sacrificed much to keep the team together and to make the present trip is fully appreciated by the student body.

Coming—"David Garrick"

Rehearsals for the next play by the Dramatic Club, "David Garrick," have commenced under the direction of Miss White. The cast has not been finally selected, but several of the "Private Secretary" stars are on the parts. The play will be put on at the "Gym" about May 15, and it is expected to eclipse all of the past efforts of the Club.
