DR LATANE WEDS

Bride is Mrs. Cox of Lexington

An event of interest to a wide circle of friends and to the student body of Washington & Lee took place on last Tuesday, when Mrs. Elinor Jackson Junkin Cox of Lexington, was wedded to Dr. John H. Latane, of the chair of history at this institution. The marriage took place in the R. E. Lee Memorial Episcopal church and the ceremonies were performed by the Rev. Robert J. McBryde, rector of the church. The simple and impressive ceremony was the beautiful marriage service of the Episcopal church, a ring being used. A very large audience witnessed the event nearly all of the ladies of Lexington being present and also a good many student.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. Francis T. R. Junkin, of Chicago, by whom she was given away.

Professor Latane was attended by his brother, Dr. S. P. Latane, of Winchester, Va., as best man. The groomsmen were Mr. James Allen Latane, of Baltimore, and Dr. Walter R. Riener, of Hartford, Conn. Miss Anna Aylette Anderson presided at the organ and rendered the wedding march from Mendelssohn most excellently as the bridal party entered the church. The Bridal Chorus, from Fannehauser was played on their departure.

The bride's wedding gown was of light blue liberty crepe with duchess lace and was extremely pretty. She carried a prayer book in her hand.

Immediately following the marriage a reception was held at "Mulberry Hill," the hospitable home of the bride's mother, Mrs. William F. Junkin, which was attended by only a few of the intimate friends of the contracting parties. After the reception Dr. and Mrs. Latane left on their wedding trip which will include a visit to New York and other points of interest. They will reside in Lexington.

Mrs. Latane is the youngest daughter of the late Rev. Dr. Wm. F. Junkin of Montclair, N. J., and on her mother's side comes of the well known Anderson family of Virginia, being a niece of Attorney-General William A. Anderson. She is possessed of many attractions, is highly cultured and is a social favorite in Lexington.

Dr. Latane is a son of the late

Bishop James A. Latane, of Baltimore. For the past three years he has been head of the department of history at Washington & Lee University and is quite popular with both the students and faculty. Dr. Latane came here from the Randolph-Macon Woman's College in Lynchburg. He received his education at Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore, and is well known as a writer in the field of history and international law.

Among the out of town guests at the marriage were Miss Susie Latane, of Baltimore, a sister of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. N. Randolph, Jr., of Lynchburg.

The students of Washington & Lee join in wishing Dr. Latane all happiness.

The Wash. Society

The last meeting of the society though well attended suffered seriously from the non-appearance of both the orators and one of the debaters for the affirmative and both for the negative. It seems the fad of various members to attend most of the meetings till they are put on for an orator and then they consider a leave of absence. If there is any training in a literary society it is to be derived mostly from the writing and delivery of orations. The society trusts that never again shall a meeting be so uninteresting from such a lack of response as was the last. Messrs. Nix and Gabriel gave excellent declamations. Mr. Murray, the only representative on the debate made arguments that were hard to down. The society unanimously elected Mr. Murray victorious. After a committee was appointed to endeavor to arouse more interest in the society the meeting adjourned.

Tennessee Club

The men from the Volunteer State met Wednesday in the reception hall of the Dormitory and reorganized the Tennessee Club. If there is a repetition of the good times they had last year the members look forward to many a pleasant evening during the long winter months of this year.

There were seven Tennessee men present, out of which number the following officers were elected:

Lee Smith, president.

F. McCutchan, Jr., vice-president

Knox Walker, Sec'y and Treas'r.

The first meeting was fixed for the night before Thanksgiving. After some plans were discussed the meeting was adjourned.

Hon. H. St. G. Tucker Resigns

The executive committee of George Washington University in Washington has accepted the resignation of Hon. Henry St. George Tucker, dean of the law department. Prof. William Reynolds Vance, who has been acting dean since the opening of College, was elected to succeed Mr. Tucker. Mr. Tucker was at one time dean of the law school at this university and Prof. Vance was also formerly a professor here.

As is well known Mr. Tucker was elected president of the Jamestown Exposition in place of the late Gen. Fitzhugh Lee. The Gazette has the following to say about Mr. Tucker in that connection:

Hon. H. St. George Tucker reached Lexington last week from the Hot Springs and is now at his home here recuperating from his recent illness. He expects to leave for Europe within the next few weeks in the interest of the Jamestown Exposition of which he is president. The purpose of his visit will be to enlist the support of England, especially, and the continental countries, so that the Jamestown Exposition may prove the success that its historic importance demands.

Youthful College President

The Washington correspondent of Tuesday's Richmond Dispatch says: Dr. George H. Denny, president of Washington and Lee university, was here on his way to New York. It looks like the total matriculation at Washington and Lee this session would reach the four hundred mark. There are 365 students enrolled now, and a new one comes in every day or two. Dr. Denny was chosen to the presidency of the university only a few years ago, and at the time of his election was said to be the youngest university president in the United States. His youth made some of the friends of the institution doubt the wisdom of his election. But he has fully demonstrated his capacity for the position, and the university has flourished ever since he took the reins. Dr. Denny possesses the somewhat rare combination of scholarly attainments, and studious instincts with great business acumen and executive ability.

Maryland Club

The next regular monthly meeting of the Maryland Club will be held in Whip's room at the Doron next Saturday night, Oct. 21. The last meeting of the club was well attended, but it is hoped that all men in college from "Old Maryland" will be present at this next meeting.

EDITORIAL

We understand that work on the Calyx is already well under way, and we take this opportunity of laying before the students a few pertinent facts with regard to their obligations toward this important student enterprise. In the first place, the action taken by the Student body last spring, has done away with the traditional tug-of-war between the board of editors and the business management, which usually resulted in a compromise that was satisfactory to no one, least of all to the student who bought the book.

The interests of the management have become identical with those of the students and, as a result, the energies of both editor and managers, together with the entire sum of money available for use, have been divided toward the common end of turning out the best book possible.

Knowing something of the editors and of their plans, we feel safe in predicting that this year's book will bear comparison as a Calyx should with any annual published in the South; provided, that you, the students, will support it as you should. In other words, it will represent the school and will all also represent you and your interest in the school.

It depends upon your buying the book that you will care to buy. This is a simple law of economy which we are trying to impress upon you, and it applies not only to this but to all other college enterprises. You must support your annual your weekly, your team in order to have an annual, a weekly, or learn that will want to support. If each student will buy one copy of the Calyx you will have a book that you will want to keep. If each of you will buy two copies of the calyx you will not only have a book you will want to keep, but one that you will be proud to give your friends. If the student body would only apply this principle there would be no more knocking of the teams, no more unseemly begging by the various managers. College Spirit, after, all is only an expression of individual interest.

Graham—Lee

Our society continues to prosper. We came to order at 8 o'clock last Saturday night with good attendance. Four men: Steven, Bitell, Irvine and Champ, were signed up and we proceeded with the regular programme. This consisted of an oration by Carabella, declarations by Mischler and Leach and a debate taken part in by MacCluer, Pilkington, Ratcliffe and Houser. Sapp then read his criticism of the meeting and two more names, those of Desha and Brandy were added to the roll. A. H. Payne was elected to represent Graham-Lee on the Collegian board to take the place of B. S. Preston who did not return to college this year. Sapp, Pilkington and Herzog were elected to represent our society in the preliminary contest preceding the first inter-collegiate debate. About 10:30 o'clock the point was raised that last Spring the constitution was amended so as to provide for the adjournment of the Society at 10 o'clock. The Society, however "got down on" this point and continued to sit and transact business. In fact business is becoming so urgent that we intend to begin holding all night sessions after November 1. Our attendance is much better than it was this time last year and interest in Society affairs continues to grow. Keep it up fellows and by the end of the year Graham-Lee will be considered a power in college sure enough.

Gators Meet

On Tuesday night Oct. 17, 1905, The Florida Club met in the room of its Vice President, Mr. J. M. Sapp, the occasion being the first monthly meeting of the club. A dainty spread was served by the host and was much enjoyed; hilarity being its keynote.

The Florida Club, otherwise known as the "Gators" was re-organized Sept. 28, in the room of Messrs. Herzog and Walzer at which time the following officers were elected: President, Mr. A. L. Herzog Vice President; Mr. J. M. Sapp, Mr. M. Caraballo Jr. Secretary and Treasurer; the following "gators" being enrolled: Messrs. Borchardt, Collins, Devane, Dawkins, Diamond, Givens, Long, May, Shields and Walzer.

The next monthly meeting will be held in the room of the secretary M. Caraballo, Jr.

Mr. Mercer Hartman of Roanoke, B. L., 03 spent several days in Lexington last week visiting his brother, Dr. John H. Hartman.

Second Team Takes Trip

The "Scrub" football team left this morning for Fort Defiance to play the Augusta Military Academy. The Academy from all accounts has put up some good games this season and our boys were expecting a stiff game but Captain Railing had great hopes of victory. This is the first trip the second team has taken this year, but Mr. George Miles, who is managing the team, is making arrangements for others, and will also probably have a game or two in Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Huger, Mr. Frank Brockenbrough and Miss Nell Brockenbrough and Mr. A. Nelson Myers went down to Richmond last week to see the horse-show. The ladies named remained over to witness the reception to President Roosevelt yesterday.

The sermon of Dr. McBryde on Sunday morning last to the student class was an earnest appeal for the choice of the Christian ministry as a life work, and was based on the text from St. Matthew. "The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few."

Engineers Meet

The engineering school held a meeting on last Wednesday at 3 p. m. The meeting was largely attended, and the question of election of officers for the whole engineering school was immediately taken up. It was decided, however, that there was no necessity for the school as a whole to have officers, but that each individual class, Freshmen Engineers, Sophomore Engineers, Junior Engineers and Senior Engineers, elect its own officers.

After this meeting adjourned the Senior Engineers held a meeting, electing Mr. Roeser as their representative on the Calyx board. The officers of the senior class are as follows: President, Dotson; vice president, Withers, H. W.; secretary, Handy; treasurer, Railing.

The singing of the quartette was said to have been excellent and especially was the base singer complimented for his deep rich voice.
