Wash. Society Celebration

The ninety-fourth annual celebration of the Washington Literary Society was held on last Thursday evening, Feb. 22nd, at the chapel. Mr. D. S. MacDonald, president of the celebration, made the address of welcome in a few well chosen words, after which he introduced the first orator of the evening, Mr. G. J. Dominick, Jr., of Alabama. Subject, "Japan and the Yellow Race."

Mr. Dominick reviewed the rapid growth of Japan into national prominence, showing that a few centuries ago they were a very inferior race, but they have developed with amazing rapidity and at present boast a civilization of a high order. The speaker's voice was clear and distinct and his oration was delivered in a forcible manner.

The second orator was Mr. E. C. Nix, of Alabama. Mr. Nix chose as his subject "Bossism in American Politics." He showed in a clear manner the growth of machine politics, and pointed out that public opinion does not carry as much influence as it should. Mr. Nix is an orator of no mean ability and presented his subject in a clear and convincing manner.

At the conclusion of the orations Mr. Frank McCutchan, secretary, announced the question for debate: "Resolved, That the Abolition of the Canteen from the Army was Unwise."

Mr. W. F. Semple, of Indian Territory, was the first speaker on the affirmative. He pointed out that the abolition of the canteen was done mainly by the scheming of the liquor dealers, using the W. C. T. U. as their catspaw; and as an act of such a class of men should be condemned. While admitting that the canteen has its evils the speaker sought to show that its abolition caused the springing up of worse conditions, causing more drunkenness and more desertion from the army.

The first speaker for the negative was Mr. J. W. Murrey, of Tennessee. Mr. Murrey treated the question from a moral standpoint, claiming that the United States government should not undertake the sale of intoxicants. After having briefly reviewed the history of the canteen legislation he quoted statements from the wholesale liquor dealers, which showed them not to be in sympathy with the anti-canteen movement. He ridiculed the idea that no profit was derived from the sale of liquor under the old canteen system and claimed that the movement against it was purely on temperance grounds.

The argument for the affirmative was closed by R. B. Stephenson, of Virginia. Mr. Stephenson claimed that the question was not one of temperance against intemperance, but one of determining the lesser of two evils. He proceeded along the same lines as his colleague and showed that while under the canteen system drink was restricted, under the present one it is not. The abolition of the canteen, he claimed, has resulted in lowering the moral standard of the army.

Mr. Grey Moore, of Indian Territory, closed the debate for the negative. He attempted to refute the claims of the affirmative that the abolition of the canteen has resulted in harm and quoted the opinions of several prominent army officers to that effect.

At the close of the debate the judges rendered their decision, awarding the orator's medal to Mr. Dominick and the debater's medal to Mr. Semple.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the V. M. I. orchestra. The officers of the celebration were as follows:

D. S. MacDonald, President.
V. G. Iden, Vice-President.
Frank McCutchan, Secretary.
C. P. Light, Chief Marshal.

Concerning Athletics

It seems that there have been some ill-defined ideas existing among the student body as to the exact limits of the honor system. In view of this fact the subject was brought up before a meeting of the Executive Committee on Tuesday night. A discussion was held as to whether or not all the students are fully aware that the strict observance of the pledges taken by the men in our various branches of athletics, is demanded by the honor system. And, in order that no misunderstanding might arise in the future, a motion was adopted that the honor system shall apply to athletic pledges as fully as it applies to examinations and class work in the University. Hence, to smoke a cigarette, when you are on a pledge not to smoke, would be looked on in the same way as to receive aid on work which you present to a professor as your own. The committee requests that this action be ratified by a meeting of the student body.

A. F. White, President.
J. W. Addison, Secretary.

'06 Banquet

The Senior class banquet was held at the Rockbridge Hotel on the evening of February 22nd. Owing to the Wash. celebration which preceded, it was necessary to refer the banquet till rather a late hour. At half past eleven, 37 members of the class took their seats at the signal of toastmaster Pipes. The dining hall was tastefully decorated with Washington & Lee colors and the red and black of '06.

An elegant repast was served in the most approved style and then, when cigars and cigarettes had been passed, Mr. Pipes called for toasts.

Mr. R. B. Spindle responded to "When we were Freshman" and in an eloquent and witty manner related the story of the inception of the class of '06 at W. & L. told of their early ideals and showed how well they had been realized.

To the call for "The Faculty" Mr. Lee Smith replied with a brilliant series of criticisms and praises upon the band of wise and sincere perpetrators of stale jokes which are so dear to us all. Then came Mr. W. H. Dunlap with "The class of 1906; receiving loud applause as he related the difficulties of the past and prophesied the opportunities of our future.

To the call for "Now and twenty years after," Mr. B. M. Manly arose, and in eloquent words gave a summary of present conditions at W. & L., berated the shortsightedness of those who seek to hinder the progress of the university by adhering to a straight edge rule, and invoked the memory of the sainted Wm. L. Wilson to preserve in the class of '06 that loyalty which shall respond to the call of future generations in all the years to come.

Mr. Albert Steves followed with "Finals." Recounting the "Breakers Ahead," he urged every man to his duty; to secure that degree for which we have all been striving for these weary years, for the sake of friends and duty to our selves.

If the note of seriousness was wanting in the proceedings of the evening it was supplied by W. R. Bledsoe in his toast to "The Alma Mata." In a style both interesting and serious, Mr. Bledsoe drew the picture of that Institution, of which it may be truly said "Few be her faults, many her graces," hallowed by memories of the past and consecrated to the uplifting of the great future. When he had finished the class arose and with reverence empted their glasses to the Alma Mata to whom we owe so much.

Upon a call from the toastmaster, Mr. K. W. Trimble responded and gave us an able and interesting talk on pure athletics, prophesying that by maintaining our standard we would be able to put forth a team to cope with any purely amateur team on our schedule.

The last regular toast of the evening was delivered by Mr. J. R. Caskie. "The Washington & Lee Girl," was praised in a series of adjectives which exhausted the unabridged dictionary and of which she alone is worthy.

About three o'clock the banquet came to an end and every man went joyfully home.

Rockbridge County News Print

We desire to call attention to the fact that it is extremely annoying to have copy for the RING-TUM PHI come in as late as Saturday morning. Some one will send in an article about 12 o'clock Saturday and then complain if it is not published, or is not given that particular position which he desires. We would like to be able to please every one in this regard and will do so if they give us their copy by Friday noon; otherwise we do not promise to publish it.

Plans for New Athletic Field Progressing

The show last night was a grand success in every particular and every student should be proud of it. Especially is this true because the greater part of the proceeds are to go towards raising five hundred dollars for the Athletic Field which Miss Annie White has so kindly promised to raise. With such success in the beginning we feel much encouraged but the students have not shown a disposition to respond as fully as was expected. This, however, we feel is due to the fact that they have not been informed of the movement which was set on foot some time ago. During the next week each student will be seen personally and asked to contribute 50 cents or more, and every loyal student will be expected to contribute this small amount or the plans will have to be given up.

After this money has been raised the plan is to write to each Alumnus a personal letter and we hope to be able to say in this letter that every student at W. & L. has contributed something. It is hoped that the students will respond promptly that the work may be pushed before finals.

COMMITTEE

ESMERALDA

ESMERALDA A BIG SUCCESS

Play to Be Repeated Tonight

The universal opinion is that the play given last night was one of the best, perhaps the best, that has ever been produced before a Lexington audience. An exceptionally large crowd was in attendance and the interest they felt was evidenced by the vigorous style of their applause and the deathlike silence which prevailed from the opening until the closing word of each scene. It would be a little out of our province to speak of the exquisite fitness of the scenery, of the artistic stage, of the individual "make up," of the actors, and of the perfect harmony of the tone and character of each act and the surroundings; yet we feel that professionals could not have arranged their stage to better advantage.

Miss Annie White appeared in the role of Mrs. Rogers and played her part with consummate ability. She portrayed with indescribable vividness the ambitious, designing, obstinate mother who has her own opinions as to the future of her daughter and who is bent on carrying out her will in spite of opposition. This was an extremely difficult part to play and it could easily have been overdone, but Miss White acquitted herself splendidly, giving the part a zest and spirit which made it absorbingly interesting.

Miss Allan was superb. The perfect naturalness of her manner, the easy grace with which she entertained a suitor and at the same time managed the studio; and the absolute simplicity of her "make up" combined to make her extremely attractive.

Miss Rust played the part of Esmeralda and she was watched with the keenest interest from her first appearance until the curtain went down. She exhibited exceptional ability throughout, and especially did she distinguish herself in closing act, which was superb.

The part of Miss Desmond was played by Miss Haskins, who deserves the warmest commendation for the manner in which she acquitted herself. She seemed to be at perfect ease, and her natural and graceful bearing made her very attractive.

Miss Howe appeared in the role of Sophie, the maid. She played her part very creditably. We only wish that we might have seen the charming little maid oftener.

Mr. Peck has rare talent as an actor. His was a very difficult part to fill, but he was absolutely faultless. His demeanor was that of an experienced actor. It is not necessary to comment on any particular phases of his playing, for he was splendid throughout.

Mr. Rasin, as a Frenchman, was inimitable. The fantastic twists he gave to his mustache and the lively manner in which he stepped about was calculated to awaken merriment and admiration.

Mr. Daingerfield deserves high commendation. It seemed to be the universal opinion that his part was excellently played.

The Man of Leisure was Mr. Ramsay. His bearing upon the stage was very interesting and he made an excellent impression upon the audience.

Mr. Steves appeared in the role of an American Artist and it is no extravagance to say that he acquitted himself with great credit. Mr. Bryant also made an excellent impression upon his audience.

It would not be possible to select any one from this brilliant group of players and call him or her a "star," for they were all "stars," and, all alike, deserve the highest praise.

The play will be reproduced tonight and those who did not go last night will let a rare treat pass if they fail to attend.

Bradford Debate Court

The Bradford Debate court was opened at 8:15 o'clock on Monday night with Professor Long presiding. The case of the N. & W. R. R. company vs. Tanner, was called for argument. The defendant had been injured in an accident due to the negligence of the Railroad company's employes while riding on a pass upon which she had voluntarily signed an agreement exempting the company from all liability for injury whatsoever. The circuit court, however, under the Virginia statute declaring that all contracts by common carriers releasing them from responsibility for injuries shall be deemed void, gave judgment for damages. By a decision of four to one this judgment was reversed, the court holding that the railroads are common carriers only as respects passengers for hire and that therefore the statute was not meant to apply to those riding on passes and from whom the company received no remuneration either directly or indirectly. Messrs Law and Bandy were counsel for appellant and Messrs. Wickhaw and Snapp for appellee.

Maryland Club

The February meeting of the Maryland Club will be held in Benson's room at the McCrum ranch on Saturday night, the 24th. All members please be present.

Last Sunday's meeting was devoted to the cause of missions and the address was delivered by Mr. S. R. Neel, one of our students. He spoke on the Universality of the Christian Religion and pointed out in a striking way that it is universal not only in its application and adaptability to the needs of our struggling race, but also in its demands on each of its adherents to proclaim its fulness and power to all those who have not yet come under its beneficent influence.

Invitation from Virginia

TO ENTER INTERCOLLEGIATE TRACK MEET

Some days ago the captain of the track team received an invitation to enter the Second Annual Intercollegiate Track Meet of the University of Virginia at Charlottesville April 21, 1906. It has been decided that we are to be represented, and I wish to impress upon the students the necessity of turning out a good team. This is our year in first intercollegiate track athletics and our facilities are poor, but much can be accomplished if the men in college will come out and work. The future of this branch of athletics at W. L. U depends largely upon the success of this year's team.

It is the duty of every student in college to see that we are as well represented as possible. There is more good material for track athletics this year than ever before but many men will not come out and try for the team. The sentiment of the students at large ought to be such as to compel these men to come out.

At this meet many handsome prizes are offered and a chance to compete with such schools as Georgetown, Johns Hopkins, University of North Carolina, University of Virginia and many other colleges. Let every one come out who has ever done anything in this line or has any prospect and help to make this year's team a success.
