Albert Sidney Boat Club.

The Albert Sidney Boat Club met Friday, January 25, in Engineering Hall. The meeting was called to order by President Riser at 3.30 p. m. with practically all of the members present.

The first business was the election of the crew committee to select this year's crew. Messrs. Riser, Hoge and George Miles were elected as this committee. Then Mr. Stephenson moved that the chair appoint a Calyx Committee of two members; the motion being carried the chair appointed Messrs. Hoge and Lippett.

The following Finance committee was appointed by the chair: Messrs. Hoge, Miles, G. H. White, Hobson, McMurray, W. R., and Houser. Also the following membership committee: Messrs. Riser, E. C. Hoge, Houser, Allen and G. H. Miles were appointed. Mr. Hoge reported the boats ordered and said they could be expected to be here by the first of March. Mr. Hoge then moved that the president be authorized to buy for the club a good stop watch, as the present one is beyond repair. This motion was unanimously carried.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

We are glad to note that George Miles, our former coxswain, has returned to aid us this year in the training.

All men in college who are interested in rowing, whether they come out and try for the crew or not, are cordially invited to hand their names to one of the above membership committee.

Meeting of 1910's

At a meeting of the Freshman class Monday afternoon it was decided best to resolve the class into "Academics" and "Engineers," each department having their respective officers. This resulted in the "Academics" electing B. M. Chenoweth, president; W. J. Turnbull, vice-president; and J. M. Nelson, secretary and treasurer.

The "Engineers" elected J. N. Pease, president; C. P. Robinson, vice-president, and H. A. Derr, secretary and treasurer.

The officers of the class in unison are: W. F. Pipes, president; J. W. Larrick, Jr., vice-president; Leroy Hodges, secretary and treasurer, and J. Izard, historian.

Graham-Lee Society

A fair-sized congregation of Graham-Leeites was called to order at 8.15 last Saturday night by President Dosha. Upon invitation the Washington Society adjourned to our hall where the joint meeting was addressed by Mr. Hanna of Texas, a Lee alumnus and an old Graham P. man. Mr. Hanna delivered an interesting speech of practical advice. After our sister society had retired our visitor then gave us some interesting points on how they used to "put the boys through," urging the immediate restoration of the ancient order known as "Sons of Confucius."

This being the regular time for the election of officers the following were elected:

J. P. Hobson, president.

W. F. Riser, vice-president.

M. Caraballo, Sec'y and Treas.

R. S. Keebler, Ring-tum Phi reporter.

We then turned to the literary program. Messrs. Bensen and McMullen gave instructive orations. Mr. Caraballo volunteered a humorous declamation. The subject for debate was, Resolved, That State Commissioner Koimer's plan to settle immigration in Virginia would be injurious to the laboring classes. Affirmative, Leech, Keebler; negative, Larrick, Bensen. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative.

After the transaction of business the society adjourned.

A program of unusual interest is expected tonight. Lee and all Graham-Lee men be present.

Wash Society

Wash. Society convened in regular session Saturday, January 26. Immediately after the society had convened we were invited by a committee from the Graham-Lee to go to their hall and hear the address delivered by Mr. Hanna, of Texas, of the class of 1867.

After hearing Mr. Hanna's address the joint meeting adjourned and the Wash Society returned to their hall and reconvened and the regular program was carried out.

Mr. Johnson delivered an excellent declamation, the subject being "Zachery's Misfortune."

The question for debate was:

"Resolved, That California is justified in her action against the Japanese."

The affirmative was upheld by

Mr. H. W. Gassman, and H. Crim Peck, who volunteered to champion the cause of the affirmative, while Mr. Grey Moore, of Muskogee, I. T., and Mr. Turnbull were the exponents of the negative. The decision was awarded in favor of the negative.

Resolutions were adopted that the Graham-Lee Society be thanked for their very kind invitation to hear with them the address of Mr. Hanna, which was so immensely enjoyed by all. Immediately after this the society adjourned.

John Hopkins Schedule

Hardest Games Yet Played by The University

The schedule thus far arranged by Manager Hynson is as follows: March 29, Syracuse University, at Baltimore; April 1, University of Pennsylvania, at Baltimore; April 10, West Point, at West Point (pending); April 20, Navy, at Annapolis; April 27, St. John's College, at Annapolis; May 4, Washington and Lee University, at Baltimore.

Maryland Club

The Maryland Club held its regular monthly meeting last Saturday night in the rooms of "Dutch" Alderson, Engineering Hall. Several students from the District of Columbia were present, it being decided at the last meeting in 1906 to allow them rights of membership. After a brief business session a substantial collation was served and the club adjourned to meet February 26 for the annual banquet.

Death of Colonel Minitree

Colonel Joseph H. Minitree, purchasing agent of the Southern road, died Friday in Washington. He was a lieutenant colonel in the Confederate army and was commended for gallantry at Gettysburg. He was educated at the Virginia Military Institute and was at one time president of its board of visitors.

A son of Colonel Minitree, Mr. G. McP. Minitree, is a student at Washington and Lee. He was summoned to his father's bedside by telegram, but failed to reach him before his death.

Dr. E. H. Lewis, professor of physics at Princeton, spent Saturday and Sunday in Lexington the guest of Professor W. LaMonte Stevens at Washington and Lee.

Moot Court

At the second term of the Moot Circuit Court of Rockbridge county Rice Miller, by his attorney, James Mills, again brought suit against Charles Charlton and J. C. Hyton, on motion, on a forthcoming bond. In the course of the proceedings Sheriff Wysor was called to the stand and, under the direct fire of a rigid cross-examination by the skillful attorneys, testified as to the return on the writ.

Attorney Flannagan, for the defendant, called attention of court to a variance between writ and bond sued on, and the plaintiff suffered a non-suit.

The case of Martin Friend, administrator vs. the Norfolk and Western Railway. MacDonald for plaintiff and Moore for defendant. Defendant demurred and plaintiff asked a continuance, which was granted to next term.

The next case on docket was Stegall's administrator vs. Norfolk and Western Railway Co. After calling of which defendant's demurrer was taken up and ably argued by the respective attorneys. Pilkington for plaintiff and Epps for defendant.

The suggestion made by President Roosevelt in his letter to the committee of arrangements of the Lee celebration in the Capital city, that some permanent memorial to the memory of General Lee be established at some representative Southern institution of learning, has been taken up by the press, both North and South.

Of all comments on this suggestion from the President there have been few, practically none, that pointed to any other institution than W. & L. as the only consistent place for the establishment of a permanent memorial to our "Fallen Chieftain."

The Staunton Dispatch in considering this question said:

Already there has been a fine start made at Washington and Lee, which has a considerable endowment. If the President's influence could be turned in favor of this historic school, and we believe it might be, we cannot doubt that it would give an impetus to the movement to make the endowment adequate to the needs of one of the foremost schools in the country, and thus establish that memorial in behalf of which the President appeals.

Why should it be otherwise? It was here that General Lee spent the last years of his life. Here it was that Gen. Lee set an example of silent submission to the authority he had fought against and taught his students, who but lately had been his followers on the field of battle, that but one Union existed and duty pointed to the preservation by one and all of that Union. And last, but greater still, it was at Washington and Lee that General Lee so indelibly left the impress of his life and character. Would it not, therefore, be the only consistent thing to do to name Washington and Lee as the place for this great national tribute to the memory of General Lee.

We hope that the suggestion of the President will meet the approval of all who are interested in the advancement of education. The influence necessary to carry out this plan can easily be brought to bear. It only remains for patriotic sons of Washington and Lee to see that the movement is kept alive. By so doing we can best preserve the cherished memory of General Lee and advance the interests of our Alma Mater.

Communication

Editor RING-TUM PLO:

It was with some surprise that the writer of the recent criticism of "An East-Side Horror" read a reply to that criticism from the author of the story. An answer from the editor of the Collegian was not entirely unexpected, but it is difficult to understand the motives of the "short story author" in assuming the task. The criticism was not directed against the story as such, but against its publication in the Southern Collegian. But since the author has seen fit to answer the criticism, or rather to criticize the critic, the latter feels called upon to reply.

The author of "An East-Side Horror" seeks to befog the issue by injecting himself into the controversy. The affair is none of his. Let those responsible for the publication of the story answer if they wish for the fault is theirs. The story should not have been published in a college magazine, which is supposed to contain clean literature, which any one can read without a sense of shame. A story of the type of "An East-Side Horror" could be excused if it contained a moral and possessed some literary value. Even then it should not be published in a college paper. But when the story possesses neither of these requirements the case is so much the worse. The author, it is true, claims that a moral should be drawn from the story, but the ordinary mortal find himself unable to do so. Why did not the "short story author" point out the moral in his communication to the RING-TUM PLO? He would have rendered his answer a great deal more effective thereby. Evidently mud-slinging and personal vituperation and threats, such as contained in the closing lines of his communication were considered preferable to sound argument and patient explanation. And he chose wisely for of the latter there were in this case none.

In conclusion the writer wishes to make his position in regard to the Collegian editor thoroughly understood. The criticisms were made with no spirit of ill-will towards him for whom the writer has high regard. The editor made a mistake the result of which reflects on the honor of the University, and the writer's sole purpose was to point it out. As for the author of the story he was in nowise considered.

Personals

Miss Hawkins of Halifax county, is the charming and attractive guest of Miss Emma Staples.

Mr. T. C. Conlon of Charlottesville, one of the leading tailors of the South, will be in Lexington about Feb. 21.

It is a pleasure to again see on our campus Miss Julia Morton of Charlotte C. H., who will spend a short time in town as a guest of Miss Lillie Catlett.

The Kappa Sigma fraternity was delightfully entertained on last Tuesday evening by Miss Margaret Witt at her home on Jackson avenue. The rooms were tastefully decorated in the colors and banners of the fraternity. Refreshments were served during the evening. The ladies present were Misses Williams, Almond, Morton, Watkins, Dunnington, Lily Catlett, Louise Shields, Bessie Poague, Emma Staples, Henrietta Dunlap, Lula Dunlap, Elizabeth Barclay, Martha Moore and Mary Moore.

More Light!

We trust that from what we say here we shall not be considered as intending to offer criticism, for our purpose is merely to call the attention of those in authority to a fact which we believe has, by accident, escaped the attention of the law faculty. The fact is simply this, that the moot circuit courtroom is so poorly lighted that in many portions of the room it would be a difficult matter to read. This is because the ceiling is high and the lights are close to the ceiling and of low candle power. We suggest that that a third chandelier be hung, or that thirty-two candle-power lamps instead sixteen candle-power lamps be used, either of which would, we believe largely remedy the difficulty.

Notice!

All the students who are subscribers to THE RING-TUM PHI are requested to call for their papers at the hotel not later than Monday. THE RING-TUM PHI is greatly indebted to Mr. Webb, who has undertaken the distribution of the papers in this manner, and constant calls for the paper throughout the week cause him a great loss of time. Kindly call for your paper Saturday or Sunday. F. G. JONES, Manager.

The many lawyers are glad to note that the library clock is again in working order.

BASKET-BALL

Stamton 33; W. & L. 22

Friday afternoon in Stamton the Washington and Lee five went down before the Y. M. C. A. of that town to the tune of 33 to 22. The boys report a good game and that the Y. M. C. A. boys won by their hard and fast playing. Our boys though were somewhat inconvenienced by the smallness of the field.

This is our second game this season with Stamton, the other resulting in a victory for W. & L.

Mrs. John L. Campbell left a few days ago for Camden, S. C., to spend some weeks in that mild climate.
