Graham-Lee Society

The attendance last Saturday night was above the average and more than the usual interest was manifested throughout the program. The officers elected at the preceding meeting were installed. President Hobson then delivered a much appreciated inaugural address on "Selection in Literary Societies." The speaker urged that we should get men into our society who are willing to work, and that only such men should be placed on the program. By doing this greater profit would be gained both a loquentibus and a audientibus.

Mr. Boyer gave an interesting voluntary oration on the "Huguenots." Following him Mr. Beddow declaimed "Logan's Lament" with characteristic excellence. The debate was:

"Resolved, That the annexation of Cuba would be beneficial to the United States."

Affirmative: Larrick and Houser. Negative: Somers and Herold. The affirmative won.

President Hobson made the following appointments: Questions committee, Caraballo, Milling and Desha; critic, Pilkington.

Y. M. C. A.

One of the most interesting and instructive addresses which has been delivered before the Y. M. C. A. this year was given last Sunday by Dr. Quarles. His object was to call attention to some mistakes which exist in Christian circles as to what Christianity is. Christianity is not the church alone, nor the Bible, nor the creed. All have their useful and important place, but neither the church, nor the Bible, nor the creed ever saved any man in and of itself alone. None are essential to salvation. The most deceiving and worst error of all is the acceptance of Christ as a leader and example, because it is so near the truth. Christianity, said Dr. Quarles, is two-fold: first, the acceptance of Jesus Christ as a Savior; and second, the acceptance of the Holy Spirit as a sanctifier. Jesus Christ is a leader and example; but no man will be saved except by the acceptance of Him as his savior, and the power of the Holy Spirit to keep him from sin after Jesus has cleansed him.

TENNIS

The interest and enthusiasm displayed at the meeting of the tennis club last Saturday afternoon assures the game a prominent place in W. & L. athletics for the approaching season. The meeting was called for the purpose of deciding upon representation in the Calyx, and after the manager of the annual agreed to give the organization a "cut-rate" for its representation, which of course was the regular rate to all clubs, it was ordered that the club have picture taken in appropriate costume.

It was further decided that a tournament be held in the spring to be open to every tennis player in college, the arrangement for which was put into the hands of a committee. This, it is hoped, will stir up much interest and turn out a winning team for the annual Virginia meet to be held probably in May. There have been letters received from V. P. I. and North Carolina, and there is no reason why we should not make W. & L. more widely known in the tennis world.

The most important matter before the club, perhaps, was the best method of enforcing the regulation as to playing on the courts, which probably has never been called to the attention of many of the new men in college, namely, "that no student is allowed to play more than three consecutive sets on a court if there is any one waiting to use the court." This will be sufficient notice to all new men as to the rule, and also to any others inclined to disregard it. Very great appreciation was expressed on announcement that new nets were on hand.

The picture for the Calyx will be taken next Monday afternoon, the 11th inst., at 3 o'clock, at Miley's studio. Watch bulletin for instructions as to costume to be worn, and every man on the list be there on time.

Notice to Subscribers

More than half the subscriptions to the Southern Collegian are yet unpaid. Some are several months past due; all are more than one month past due. Subscribers are earnestly requested to pay up immediately. Please hand or mail check or cash to A. K. Hopkins, Grey Moore or L. A. McMurrin.

Bal Masque

On Tuesday, the 12th of February, Miss Annie White will give a Bal Masque in the University gymnasium. There will be about thirty couples and quite a number of stags, all in fancy dress costumes. The dance will be opened by Mr. and Mrs. Walker George and Martha Washington. There will then be three sets of the "Lances." After that a few German figures may be led with the remainder of the dance.

This affair will be an exceptionally pretty and brilliant evening and quite an innovation to Lexington society. From the standpoint of beauty it will be second only to the Final Ball. Those who have been lucky enough to see a Final Ball realize what it means.

The Treasurer's Committee

At the beginning of the year the generous response of the students to the request for an athletic fee took the worry of raising funds largely out of the hands of the team managers. The collection of these fees naturally fell to the Athletic Association; but this work proved too much for our man and Mr. D. W. Pipes, the secretary, has appointed a large committee to aid him in the collection of these subscriptions.

All of the unpaid subscription are now due and the students are asked to co-operate with Mr. Pipes' committee to secure these funds as soon as possible; so that they may be at the disposal of the baseball management whenever needed.

Work on Library Begun

A large force of men have been put to work breaking ground for the University's $100,000 library which is to be located between Lees dormitory and Newcomb Hall, and facing the athletic field. We hope this building will be the forerunner of many others to be erected in the near future.

The January, February and March numbers of the Southern Collegian will be combined in one big magazine, which will be on the order of a Lee Memorial volume. It will contain numerous illustrations.

The Buffalo Baseball club, of the Eastern League, will engage in spring practice on Lambeth field at University of Virginia.

Rockbridge County News Print

With this issue is produced the schedule for baseball during the coming season of 1907. We could not possibly add anything to the merits of this schedule no matter what we might say. We feel, though, that we but voice the sentiment that will come from the entire student body when we say that without any exception the schedule prepared by Manager Toms is the best one that has been prepared for our team during the entire history of baseball at Washington and Lee.

By a review of the schedule it will be seen that there are games arranged with eight colleges and universities that W. & L. has never played before. These new opponents are: Columbia University, Yale, Pennsylvania State College, Dartmouth College, University of Georgia, Johns Hopkins University, University of Tennessee, and Central University, of Kentucky. These alone would make a very creditable schedule for any college, but when to these are added the games with such others as V. P. I., and A. & M. of N. C. we have one that gives us opponents well worth of our finest steel.

Too much praise cannot be given Manager Toms for his untiring efforts in seeking a schedule that would be worthy of our most earnest consideration, and for the marked success his schedule shows he has accomplished.

With this distinguished list of opponents before up this season it only remains for the students individually and collectively to give the aid that is all essential to a successful year upon the diamond. Captain Johnson has already commenced indoor training, so that he may be enabled sooner to test the merits of new applicants for baseball honors. So far fifty-five men have reported for practice and it is hoped that even more will report in the course of a few days.

Of last year's regular "fans" five are again with us, namely, Johnson (Capt.), Porter, "Shack" Bagley, Anthony and Luhn, while Chatham and Maxwell, who made good records as subs last year, are also back. With these men at the helm and the extra fine prospects we may indeed look for a winning "nine."

Studentocracy and Uniformity

Thanks to the loyal efforts of H. C. Tillman, J. J. Chafee, E. C. Landis, A. F. White and others who had love of W. & L. as a leading motive in their college lives, we have formed ourselves into an organization which enables us to look out for our own interests in a far greater measure than we were able to do five years ago. But we are still only in the initial and feeble stages of organized life. Do we not need to undergo further evolution? The various departments of student enterprise are not uniformly arranged, certain incongruities exist, and student affairs are not entirely in the hands of the students.

MORE UNIFORMITY

Lack of uniformity is to be observed when we compare the management of the Calyx with that of THE RING-TUM PHI. The same methods are not followed in the election of the editors of the two publications; and the remunerations of the officers are not similarly determined. In the election of THE RING-TUM PHI board, the class basis of representation—recognized in the formation of the Student Committee—is adhered to in a modified form. The Editor and Manager are elected by the retiring board and new associate editors are chosen by the upper classes. The Calyx Editor and Manager are elected by the Student Body and the associate editors are chosen by the upper classes. THE RING-TUM PHI pay both Editor and Manager specified percentages of the net earnings, while the Calyx pays the Manager only, and his commission is placed on the gross receipts.

It would seem that we have tried these two methods long enough to know which is preferable; and that both publications should now be established on some basis which will embody the best features of both systems now in use.

FURTHER INTEGRATION

Our members do not, in all respects, seemed to be "fitly joined together." We present the somewhat anomalous spectacle of an organism with two similarly constructed bodies, each trying to perform separate functions. We have the Student Body to look after the general interests of the students; and we also have the Athletic Association—similarly comprising all the students—to attend to athletic affairs. At times it is hard to decide which body shall direct given matters; and during the present year the Student Committee has been criticised for not conducting affairs belonging properly to athletics.

An Athletic Committee, formed after the manner of the Student Committee, suggests itself as a means of securing both uniformity and congruity. The representatives on the committee would be selected by the classes, and the chairman and the secretary could be chosen by the committee or elected by the Student Body, as deemed best. We should then have the Student Committee, the Athletic Committee, the Calyx Board, and THE RING-TUM PHI Board as uniformly organized and similarly managed departments of student life.

MORE STUDENT CONTROL AND BETTER WORK

The Athletic Committee thus constituted could take athletic affairs more fully into its hands and do better work. It could select the managers of our teams, subject to faculty approval; it would be the proper authority to decide, in doubtful cases, who should and who should not represent us on these teams; and it would constitute a permanent force for collecting athletic fees, for securing contingent fees and for the financing of athletics.

Our grounds, our buildings, our granolithic walks, our Faculty, and perhaps the venerable Board of Trustees and the sacred memories of the Scotch-Irish settlers, are valuable assets; but, "We are the University"; and on us rests the responsibility for the proper administration of student affairs.]

These suggestions are submitted for the consideration of the students. JOHN W. ADDISON.

Mr. J. E. B. Holladay of the Suffolk bar was in town with his wife Monday and Tuesday. Mr. Holladay is a recent graduate of the Washington and Lee law school and while here renewed many pleasant acquaintance.

Moot Court

The first February term of the Moot Circuit Court was held Thursday night. The first case on the docket was Friend's Adm. v. Receivers of N. & W. Ry. Co.; MacDonald for plaintiff, and Moore for defendant receivers. After some preliminary matters had been disposed of the defendant's demurrer to the declaration was argued and the demurrer overruled by the court. The case then went to trial before a jury selected from the junior class. This being an action for death by wrongful act, and defendant relying upon contributory negligence as a defense, it appeared to those present that the evidence introduced by the parties was rather meagre and inadequate. Counsel confined their argument almost entirely to a discussion of the instructions, which, however, they handled in an able manner, and the jury—well, there was a hung jury. Considerable time having been consumed in the trial of the above case, little other business was disposed of. Two motions were made under Code §§ 3210-11, but in each case a continuance was granted for good cause.

Following an altercation, H. C. Miller of South Carolina, shot and seriously wounded T. V. Williamson of Mt. Jackson, Va., in a deadly pistol encounter on Friday night, says the University of Virginia College Topics. Both young men are students at the University, and the shooting affair was the climax of a long-standing enmity between the two. The shooting occurred in a dormitory on West Range about 10 o'clock. Both are doing well!

Wanted—Information

It is a fact to be regretted that during the first few weeks several members of the law department have been afflicted with that terrible disease "hair-lip-sism." The first to be visited by this disease was "The Count" (indirectly the whole law school), but of late many others are silent sufferers, among them being Harris, Long, Peck, Miller and Grosball. Won't some one please prescribe a remedy for this plague.

Concert.

A very enjoyable programme was rendered before a large audience in the Chapel Friday night by the John Thomas Concert Company. This is one of the series given in aid of athletics and was a marked success.

The Kappa Alpha chapter house at the University of Virginia was totally destroyed by fire on Tuesday night. About fifteen members of the fraternity who had apartments in the building lost all their effects. The building was valued at $14,000, and was rented by the chapter.

Chancellor Andrews of Nebraska State University, has issued an order forbidding the students chewing tobacco.—Ex.

The Washington Literary Society met in regular session last Saturday evening at the usual hour.

President Smithson being absent, Mr. Ragon, our Vice-president, assumed the dignities of the office for the evening.

Mr. Grey Moore of Muskogee, I. T., rendered to the executive invaluable services by way of furnishing him information on points involving rules of order which arose during the session.

Mr. Pfifer delivered an excellent oration and Messrs. Berry and McDonald made impromptu addresses upon the invitation of the executive and both were unusually good. The question for debate was:

"Resolved That the powers of the executive of the U. S. is being unduly increased."

The debaters for the affirmative were Messrs. Burton and Somerville, while the negative side was championed by Messrs. Cather and Spahr. The decision was awarded to the affirmative. Upon motion the society adjourned.
