ANNUAL SENIOR BANQUET GIVEN AT MRS. GRAHAM'S

Many Toasts and Many Good Things to Eat

Many experiences of a man's life are passed through only to be forgotten, but no man who attended the Senior banquet last Monday evening can ever allow the pleasant remembrance of that occasion to become a thing of the past. The genuine pleasure of the evening in all its phases, and particularly the atmosphere of mutual regard and hearty good fellowship is an asset which will always be held dear by the men present as a fitting capstone to the four years of college life.

The banquet was served at Mrs. Graham's residence, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. To any one who has been fortunate enough to set down to a table prepared by Mrs. Graham it might be sufficient to merely mention her name to suggest the quality of the menu served. Upon this occasion, however, that lady excelled even her record, a fact which we are inclined to attribute largely to the interest in the event which was felt and shown by Miss Annie Joe.

At 10 o'clock the guests assembled round the table by direction by Toastmaster W. E. Jones, and before sitting drank an appropriate toast to our alma mater—in cold water. Between the courses which followed various persons were called upon for jokes, to which calls they responded like Pharaoh, who "done the best he ever done." It is needless to mention that Professors Smith and Lauck, the bachelor members of the faculty, who were present as guests of honor, was not spared at this stage of the game. With the coffee the regular "premeditated" toasts commenced and were responded to in a fashion which certainly did credit to the spirit of college life at Washington and Lee. Although these windmills were not run by water, as upon a recent occasion, it may not be amiss to state that temperance can be shown as great a virtue as total abstinence. The speakers were too numerous to allow individual comment, so that we are only able to give a list of toasts:

Nineteen Hundred and Seven,
A. E. Griffith.
Good Fellowship, D. W. Pipes.

The Faculty, H. W. Miller.
Ambitions and Ideals, P. P. Glass.

The Days to Come, C. C. Crockett.

A Greater Washington and Lee, C. E. Dexter.

Our Sweethearts, W. R. J. Dunn.

Class Poem, H. H. Payne.

Reunion, Nineteen Hundred and Twelve, C. F. Bagley.

Thus, with good cheer and fellowship, the evening wore rapidly on, and at 1 o'clock the toastmaster declared the banquet adjourned until the class reunion in 1912, and every man went home with a steadfast determination to answer roll-call upon that future occasion.

The class, as a whole, desires to thank Mrs. Graham and Miss White for their successful efforts, as well as Messrs. W. R. J. Dunn and F. G. Jones, who constituted the banquet committee. It was a source of regret to all that the "Deacon" was prevented by sickness from attending and enjoying the result of his labors. If W. E. Jones should ever decide to deprive the engineering profession of his services, he is sure of thirty-four recommendations as an ideal toastmaster.

Those present were Professors Lauck and Smith, Postgraduates Pipes, Holland, Wysor and Desh, and "Naught Sevens" Jones, W. E., Griffith, A. E., Glass, P. P., Dexter, Dunn, Moormaw, Newton, Moore, J. S., Stoneburner, Payne, Bagley, C. F., Phillips, S. R., Miller, H. W., Hoge, Stephenson, Hutton, Bledsoe, W. R., Lippitt, Faulkner, Page, H. M., Crockett, Anderson, H., Bagley, T. O., McCutchan, Lord, Ramsey, Hill, H. H., Glass, R. C.

Games Cancelled

Owing to the usual spring rains that prey upon Lexington the team was prevented from meeting the nine from Dartmouth College on Friday, Saturday and Monday. It is to be regretted that these games could not be played, for even if victory might not have been ours, it was a pleasure to even be associated with such manly fellows. They remained in Lexington for four days but during that short time they won many friends by their genteel manners and true college spirit.

Come to Y. M. C. A. meetings next week.

DARTMOUTH WINS STAUNTON GAME

Washington and Lee Failed to Find Their Pitcher

It is to be regretted that rain made it impossible to play all the games scheduled with Dartmouth. After waiting on the weather in Lexington for three days the two teams went to Staunton last Tuesday and played on a muddy diamond, swept by a gale from snow-clad mountains. The men from the North won by a score of 9 to 3.

Dartmouth has a good team, being especially strong in the box. Not a single W. & L. hitter rapped out a clean one, and games are not won that way. For W. & L. both Gwathney and Porter pitched well, but luck was against us, for every error was disastrous.

The team worked hard in the face of a fifth consecutive defeat, and showed ginger and life until the last man was out. W. & L. is bound to hit her stride soon, and then there will be "something doing" worth while.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.	H.	E.
Dartmouth	3	2	1	0	0	1	0	1	1	9	6	3
W. & L.	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	3	0	11

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. will hold special services every night next week, April 15-19, in the Association Hall at 8 o'clock. The services will be conducted by Rev. D. J. Woods of Blacksburg, an able and forcible speaker.

Every student is cordially invited to attend.

The meeting Sunday afternoon, April 14, will be addressed by Mr. W. R. Bowie, and Mr. W. G. Pendleton, an alumnus of Washington and Lee. Both are from the Theological Seminary at Alexandria.

W. & L. Exhibit at Exposition

At the Jamestown exposition, which will be formally opened on April 26, Washington and Lee University will have an exhibit. The large painting of a bird's-eye view of all the University buildings and the campus and surrounding grounds, painted by the well known German artist, Richard Runmel, which was on exhibition in Newcomb Hall several weeks ago, will be placed in the Virginia building at the exposition.

W. & L., 13; M. A. C., 1

Batting Averages Fattened

The losing streak was at last broken by easily defeating the Maryland Agricultural College by the score of 13 to 1 on Friday.

To satisfy the eagerness of the visitors to play, when it had ceased snowing the game began and was played in mud ankle deep. After laying a board walk from players' bench to home plate game was called and W. & L. took first hit.

There was nothing doing for either side in the first two innings, but the fun began in our half of the third when Ferrell lodged the ball in Porter's anatomy; Bagley singled, the two worked a double steal. Luhn put one in the mud which splashed down to Evens, who threw home too late to catch Porter. Anthony walked and filled the bases. Then Johnson did the thing which added four more tallies. Somebody later found the ball in the tennis courts. Only ten W. & L. men faced the pitcher in this inning.

In the fourth Porter walked; Luhn and Anthony both doubled; Johnson made his third hit for three times up and stole second while the pitcher was dreaming.

Two more runs came in the fifth on singles by Miles, Bagley and Luhn.

The fielding feature came in the sixth inning when Limawus had hit, Miles, Bagley and Luhn worked a double play.

Our last tallies came in the seventh on the all round bad playing of the Marylanders.

The visitors' lone score was made in this same inning on two errors and a sacrifice.

Paredes pitched a good game and did well in putting the muddy sphere over. His error, which prevented a shutout, was excusable. Johnson and Bagley got three hits each.

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.	H.	E.
W & L.	0	0	5	2	2	0	4	0	0	13	13	2
M. A. C.	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	4	5

The Williamsport Baseball Club, after having spent two weeks practicing on W. & L. grounds, left for Roanoke, where they opened the season. The visitors, regardless of the slowness of dear old Lexington, were greatly pleased with the results of their visit.

Be sure to hear Mr. Woods at the Y. M. C. A.

DEBATERS SELECTED

For the Contest to be Held With Washington and Lee

For some time past the contestants for places in the inter-collegiate debate soon to be held between the University and Washington and Lee have been anxiously awaiting the selection of the men who will represent Georgia in this contest.

The selection has been announced, and Messrs. R. S. Parker and R. H. Jones, both of Atlanta, have been fortunate enough to secure the places.

These two young men are among the brightest and best equipped debaters in the University and they will undoubtedly represent Georgia most worthily in the coming debate.

The exact date when the contest will take place has not yet been decided upon, but it is an assured fact that the debate will be held some time during the northern trip of the 'Varsity ball team. The two debaters will accompany the baseball team on the trip and it has been arranged for the debate to occur some time during this week, probably the night after Georgia meets Washington and Lee on the diamond.

The subject for the debate has been fixed and is as follows:

Resolved, That foreign immigration is for the best interests of the South and should be encouraged. On this question the University debaters will uphold the affirmative side and Washington and Lee will champion the negative side.

The two young men selected for this debate will immediately set to work to complete their preparations for this debate, and it seems from their previous records as debaters and the good showing of the baseball nine that the University bids fair to win a double victory on the trip to Virginia the latter part of this month.—Georgia Exchange.

Boat Crew Practice

The warm days of early spring have turned the thoughts of a certain set of men interested in rowing toward the river. Since the arrival of the two training boats a week ago the weather and high water have prevented active training; nevertheless, both clubs have had crews upon the river and a number of freshmen have received their first lessons in the art of rowing. For several years past the clubs have felt the want of such training boats as we now have. Last year they were almost crippled, having only one training boat between the two crews, and the number of men who received any training at all was necessarily limited.

With this year's class a lot of good material for both crews has already applied and the interest taken in rowing seems to be more acute than it has been for several years past.

Several years ago a series of races were run with the Virginia Boat Club of Richmond, in which W. & L. won the majority, showing, at least, we had good crews. For some reason these annual races have been discontinued. There are some boating enthusiasts that wish them perpetuated, but the great body of students thought the one race between the two clubs enough, and they have some good reasons for taking this stand. The writer, himself, would like to see these outside races perpetuated in the hope that every student in college would take a livelier interest in boating. Every student should ally himself with one of his clubs, even if he doesn't care to row. This year the membership of both the Harry Lee and Albert Sidney clubs has reached the high-water mark for the last four years.

We regret exceedingly to see Mr. Webb leave the stand at the hotel. He is desirous of closing all his accounts at once. Bills were mailed to all debtors on April 1st, and as Mr. Webb has been of great assistance to our paper this year we would ask that this request from him be complied with at the earliest possible date. Mr. Webb leaves on May 1. We take this opportunity to express our thanks to him.

Be sure to hear Mr. Woods at the Y. M. C. A.

MOOT COURT

Poorly Attended by Seniors

On last Thursday night the second term of the Moot Circuit Court was convened, with Hon. M. P. Burks, judge of said court, presiding. The attendance was very bad but the session proved to be a very interesting one.

The first case on docket was that of Quarles v. Carr, Maxwell, attorney for plaintiff, and Painter, attorney for defendant. This was an action of detinue for the recovery of certain notes given by the plaintiff in consideration of the transfer of a patent. The defendant having demurred to the declaration of the plaintiff the attorneys proceeded with their arguments. The opinion of the court, based on the case of Heffner v. Fidler, 58 West Va., sustained the demurrer, holding that detinue would not lie for notes that were of no value.

The case of Lexington Improvement Co. v. Jackson, McDonough for the plaintiff, Hylton for defendant, was continued until next term by agreement of counsel.

Third case on docket, Nelson v. Lowning, Groball for plaintiff, Givens for defendant, was continued because of the failure of attorneys to mature their case at rules.

Two games will be played on the home grounds next week, the first with George Washington University, and the second with Davidson College. Go out, fellows, and root as you never rooted before. Let's get rid of the hoodoo!

Personals

Harvey Allen took the trip to Staunton with the basket ball team Tuesday and reports an enjoyable stay among friends.

Miss Willie Moose of South Glasgow, arrived in Lexington during the week on a visit to her sister.

Martin Withers, who has been on the sick list at his home in Bedford City, returned to college the first of the week.

Miss Flora Williams, the charming visitor at the home of Mrs. R. R. Witt, returned to her home in Pearch Monday of this week.

Miss Lewis of Baltimore, Miss Jeffries, Miss C.P. Lewis and Miss Margaret Lewis, who attended the Easter dances at W. & L., left for their homes during the week.

Wash. Society

The Wash. Society met in regular session Saturday evening, April 6th, with President Smithson in the chair.

Mr. J. Joshua Speight, the president-elect, delivered his inaugural address, in which he outlined the policy he expects to pursue while he is the incumbent of the presidential chair, and his administration promises to be one of great benefit to the organization. The move of reform which he has instigated will do much toward engrafting new life and activity into the society. His address was delivered in an able and masterly manner, and as a literary effort it was keen to a marked degree.

Following Mr. Speight's address the report of the retiring president, Mr. Smithson, was made, and his administration and report received the sanction of the entire body.

Following Mr. Smithson's report was the report of Mr. Koontz, the retiring treasurer, which also received the same sanction.

Mr. Charles Glasgow gave quite an interesting oration, his subject being, "Does the Constitution Follow the Flag?"

Mr. Barton delivered an excellent declamation.

Next came the debate. The question was:

Resolved, That charitable and philanthropic aid to dependent classes should be furnished solely by private individuals. Messrs. Syron and Kenney upheld the affirmative, while the negative was ably championed by Messrs. Spahr and Richardson. The decision was awarded the negative.

THE GORDAN HIGHLANDERS

Will Visit Lexington April 17

It is reported that Lexington is to have a musical treat, the like of which has never been known here before. That famous band of Scotch musicians, known as "The Kilties," who are scheduled for the Jamestown Exposition, will be in town on the night of April 17.

The Gordon Highlanders are conceded by all to be the finest band of musicians on the continent. They have a record that is eclipsed by none and equalled by but very few. The Highland fling and hornpipe dance executed by the little Scotch laddies, dressed in their native costume, is one of the finest parts of the entire program.

The Scotch ballads, as rendered by these native Scots, appeal not only to the one who claims the proud distinction of being a Scotchman, but to any one who can really appreciate the best of musical talent.

The Highlanders have played before their own sovereigns on several occasions, having toured the world, and are now on their way to Jamestown from the capital city of Mexico. And yet in all their travels it is doubtful if they have ever performed before a more appreciative audience than that which will greet them when they land in the heart of Scotch-Irish Presbyterianism.

Randolph and Firey claim to have drawn up an inflexible constitution. Some doubt its inflexibility.
