BY THE STUDENTS AND FOR THE STUDENTS.

WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1907

NO. 2

The First Year Man

When I see a youth with his pants turned up and his beautiful socks on view, And over one eye perched a little round hat with a ribbon of mauve or blue, And the fourteen rings and the seven pins that he got at his dear prep. school, Why it strikes a chord, and I say: "Oh, Lord, was I ever that big a fool?"

When I see a youth with his gloves turned down and a cigarette stuck in his face,

And a loud check coat and a horse-cloth vest and a half-an-inch wide shoelace, And a bunch of hair that hides his ears and a line of senseless drool,

Then I paw the sward as I say: "Oh, Lord, was I ever that big a fool?"—
Daily Princetonian

A Breach of Courtesy

It has come to our ears that no small criticism of the student body has arisen among the V. M. I. cadets on account of the thoughtless conduct of a few men attending dress parade on the campus across the way. The complaint is that some—a very few, we trust, of the students have continually made audible remarks about the men in ranks, particularly the new comers, and some have gone so far as to make adverse comments on the colors. It seems to us that both these breaches of courtesy must arise from thoughtlessness, for when one considers that on the V. M. I. grounds at dress parade he is a semi-guest of that institution and reflects further that the colors should be as dear to a W & L man as to a cadet, or any other, he must see that such action is highly improper. It is to be hoped that whatever tendency may appear to heal the wounds of former days will not be thwarted by heedless discourtesy on the part of a body of men whose traditions are so strongly arrayed against any such conduct.

A STUDENT

Tennesseans

The men from the Volunteer State met in the History room Thursday afternoon for organization, electing as officers for this year:

R. S. Keebler, president.

Alley, vice-president.

N. D. Smithson, secretary and treasurer.

There are eight new men and seven old men from Tennessee in college, but only a few of them were present. Another meeting will be held next Monday at which a full attendance is desired.

Sophomore-Freshman Push Ball Contest

SOPHOMORE'S WIN BY ONE TOUCH-DOWN

Great Valor Manifested on Both Sides

In plenary fulfillment of the intense excitement and enthusiastic expectation, which has permeated the whole community and every branch of the University during the past two weeks, the Sophomore-Freshman fight was consummated last Tuesday afternoon with probably the fiercest conflict that was ever waged on Wilson field. It is true that in the opinion of certain wise Juniors, who were in last year's battle, and who are now resting quietly on the laurels of a broken thigh or twisted vertebrae, the affair of last Tuesday was but a shadow in comparison to the mighty clash of men and arms, which had its being on the romantic stamping grounds of the long, long ago. However, in the opinion of all peaceful citizens, the Sophomores and Freshmen of today have shown themselves possessed of indisputable bravery and unquenchable fierceness in risking their lives in defense of the one true cause.

Promptly at 4:45 p. m. the Freshmen trotted on the field, crowded with enthusiastic supporters of both sides, and took possession of the South end of the field. Their countenances were decorated with the significant letter "F," embossed in green paint, and they showed their impatience for the charge by filling the air with hair-raising yells.

The Sophomores followed in some-what the same manner, and in order to finish the contest before night, the ball was put into play immediately.

J. H. Larrick was Chief-marshal and fired the shot, at which both lines rushed at the huge sphere with lowered head and outstretched arms, eager for the opportunity to annihilate their opponents, and transmit their names to posterity. The Sophomores were lead by John Izzard and the Freshmen by R. Bryant, both of whom showed themselves worthy successors of those valiant warriors of old Virginia, whose claim to eternal fame so impresses one entering school at Washington and Lee.

The Sophs. first employed the tactics of getting under the ball (which measured seventeen-feet in diameter) and raising it in order to utilize their greater height in advancing it over the heads of the Freshmen. This plan succeeded admirably, and they made a beautiful gain of 30 yards in about two minutes. They were finally stopped by an "off-side play" (I am doubtful of the term) and the ball was carried to the middle of the field, 30 yards nearer the Freshman goal than at the beginning.

In the second rush the Freshmen adopted the sapient policy of getting on top of the ball, by means of which a goodly host of them gained distinction by being pulled off by the legs or neck, and precipitated on their heads fifty yards or so behind the Soph. line. Particularly conspicuous in this kind of maneuvers was the agile leader Bryant and the equally formidable Solomonsky (the far-famed snipe-hunting artist).

In spite of all resistance the Sophs. advanced slowly, and at the end of the fourth "mix-up," shoved the ball over the Freshman goal, just as the first half was over, and gained the only touch-down of the game.

After a brief intermission, during which the V. M. I. ambulance brigade assisted in carrying off the dead and putting the wounded back in the game, the fight was renewed, and was waged in the centre of the field with unequalled intensity, until the pistol of the referee ended the anguish of both the gladiators and spectators.

Thus the laurels rested with the Sophomores, and the mighty Freshmen went down in defeat. But not in dishonor. They fought a brilliant fight, they clung to the faith, and now is laid up for them a crown of happiness, when the old rivalry shall be forgotten, and they shall unite in the common welfare and interest of Washington and Lee.

"Verily," saith the prophet, "Pride goeth before destruction." Forty men were chosen from the Freshmen and thirty from the Sophomores, this being the will of the Student Body.

The following composed the ranks:

SOPHOMORES

Center: Pipes, Douglas, Gass-

man, Gwathney, Izzard, Larrick, Moore, C. H., Witt, Derr, C. H., Hightman, Burks, Moreland, Delaplaine, Vance, Beddow, Bell, Blackburn, Derr, H. A., Moelick, Leap.

Right End: Barker, Paxton, Hodges, Williams, Montgomery.

FRESHMEN

Y. M. C. A.

The meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association on last Sunday afternoon was addressed by C. C. McNeil, an alumnus of Washington and Lee and of Princeton. Mr. McNeil spoke of the value and necessity of Bible study in every student's life. That in order for the higher or spiritual life to dominate the mere physical life it was necessary to spend some time each day in communion with God through His written Word. That the spiritual as well as physical power grew through exercise and only through exercise.

Mr. McNeil's address was followed up by a canvass for Bible study Sunday night, which showed that a very large number of students are glad enough to take of the courses that the Association is offering.

It might be well to remark that some of those dignified Senior lawyers, who raised such a howl over the dim lights in the law library, ought to take judicial notice of the fact that they are still there.

The value of Literary Societies, as an aid in acquiring the art of thinking on one's feet and of expressing one's thoughts in public assemblies without hesitation or embarrassment, is too well recognized to need further discussion or elaboration here and now. And yet it is a well known fact that only a very small percentage of college students take part in the Literary Societies. Many efforts have been made to devise schemes which would arouse the interest of the men in the Societies at Washington and Lee, and cause them to join in their work. One plan, especially, has been suggested again and again, that is that the Faculty of this University give each man, who will do Literary work for a year, one point toward his degree. This plan has recently been dragged again to the light of day, and a committee appointed to request the Faculty to take such action.

There are many objections to such a plan. In the first place membership in any organization, which has for its object the development of leadership, should be purely voluntary, and must be so if the object is to be attained or even approximated. For when the notion of compulsion or reward enters in, the purpose changes, and becomes one, not of self-development, but of attaining the promised reward.

If this plan were adopted it would be necessary that the Faculty, in order to have a basis for granting points, prescribe the amount and character of the work done by the members of the Literary Societies, and this would lead to a Faculty representative in the Society halls. This would simply mean the destruction of the independence of the Societies.

The faculty does not want to give credit for Literary Society work, and has in the past made the reply, to committees making the request, that one mistake has already been made in granting points for gymnasium work, and there is no call for making the same mistake in the case of Literary Societies.

In general all Student organizations, outside of the lecture room, should be independent of Faculty control, and it is especially true of Literary Societies, that upon their independence depends their success.

It seems, from comments heard around college, that the Sophomore-Freshman fight of last Tuesday was rather a disappointment to a great many of the old students. Some prefer the bowl fight of several years ago, some cling to the advantage of the "Medicine" Ball, while still others, who engaged in the Push-ball contest of 1906, objected to this year's engagement on the ground that it lacked the fierceness and vigor of the previous struggle. At any rate it seems to be the general opinion that no matter what form of barbarity is indulged in, every member of the two classes, who is not physically incapacitated, should take part.

All those desiring fun and amusement have been daily visiting the gym. for the past week. To say they were not disappointed is but a mild way of expressing it. The green class, under the care of Director McCutcheon, has about passed the awkward stage of its existence and is rapidly acquiring grace and form. There are many new men in the class this year, in fact the class is much larger than in the past few years, and for this reason Director McCutcheon encounters some difficulties in getting the class into good working order.

While the Student Body, as a whole, regrets that outside work compelled Dr. Bitzer to sever his connection with W. & L., yet the authorities should be congratulated upon their excellent choice of Mr. McCutcheon to fill the vacancy made by Dr. Bitzer. "Mac," as he is familiarly known by the students, is a pleasant fellow, besides being one of the best gymnastics the school ever turned out. Dr. Bitzer will be greatly missed, because of the great amount of spirit he manifested in all branches of athletics. The student body trusts that success may be attendant upon him wherever he may locate.

Florida Club

The first meeting of the Florida Club was held in the Law building on Tuesday, Sept. 24, and a large aggregation of "Gators" was present.

This was the first meeting of the club of this scholastic year and the number of enthusiastic and loyal "Gators" assembled bespeaks for the organization a pleasant existence for the ensuing year.

After the regular routine of business had been dispensed with the president addressed the club and extended to the newcomers a hearty welcome; his address was a gem of oratory, and his eloquence made it apparent that he was imbued with the spirit of a true "Gator."

The officers of the club are: President, F. M. Durrance, Arcadia; Vice-President, Harry C. Burton, Arcadia; Secretary and Treasurer, A. B. McMullen, Tampa; the vice-president to act as Ring-tum Phi reporter.

Another meeting was provided for, the time of which will be announced later. The next meeting will be a "Gator feast" and "Florida water" will be served.

The presence of Florida men in the substantial elements of our college life is very noticeable. They are all good fellows; and the esteem in which they are held by their fellows in the "U" fittingly portrays the character of the men who represent the "Land of Flowers" at Washington and Lee.

From a letter, received a few days since from Donald D. Hawkins, who is practicing law in Muskogee, it appears that prospects are exceedingly bright for Washington and Lee lawyers, and incidentally for Democracy, in Oklahoma. For he says that he and Grey Moore are members of the same Democratic club in Muskogee, and that Moore, Semple, MacDonald and himself are soon to organize a W. & L. Association. It might also be mentioned that Robert L. Owen an alumnus of Washington and Lee, has been nominated in the Democratic primary for United States Senator and that, since the state legislature will be Democratic, his election is practically assured.

Although the law department is not quite so large as last year, the Junior Law Class shows a good increase over last year's Junior. Many men, who took academic work last year, are now in the Law Department. Among them being Addison, Barrett, S. Davis, Deaver, W. T. Hall, Holland, Lazarus, Milling, O. W. Richardson, Stedman, J. B. Thompson, W. J. Turnbull and R. A. Brown.

THE RING-TUM PHI

LEXINGTON, VA., SEPT. 28, 1907

Personals

Miss Lillie Rust has returned to town, after an absence of about ten days.

Mr. L. A. McMurren of last year's law class, spent several days in town this week, visiting his family. He is located in Newport News, Va., where he is a member of the firm of Nelms & McMurren. He is largely responsible for securing the W. & L.-North Carolina foot-ball game in Newport News on October 5th.

Junior Class Elects Officers

The Junior class met in Engineering Hall Thursday at 3 o'clock. Hobson, president, and Batten, member of executive committee, having resigned, the election of new officers was the first business. Kuck was elected president, and C. B. Bagley, member of executive committee.

After adjournment the junior engineers met separately and elected the following officers: E. R. Taylor of Century, W. Va., president; J. F. R. Kuck, Savannah, Ga., vice-president; E. Sullivan, Camden, Ark., secretary and treasurer; W. C. Davis, West Point, Va., representative on Ring-tum Phi.

The Junior Academics elected Denman of Texas, to the Ring-tum Phi staff.

Ovation for W. & L.

The football team leaves next Friday for Newport News where it plays the U. of N. C. This promises to be, in many respects, one of the most important and persistently contested games of the season. The people of Newport News, realizing this, are going to show their regard for Virginians and love for a good football game by suspending all business that day. Under the auspices of the chamber of commerce the town will be decorated with bunting, and a band will be provided, and carriages will meet our boys at the station.

This is indeed a great ovation for our boys, and we should show our gratitude by accompanying the team to a man. Mike is going and everywhere Mike is there's where we ought to be. So let every student show his college spirit by accompanying the team and aiding the boys in "pushing their opponents down the bank."

An excursion will be run provided 200 go, or if less, special cars. A round trip ticket costs only $5.00. Everybody be at the train Friday night with a ticket in his hand.

ORAL DEBATES

MONDAY, SEPT. 30, 1907

SPAKERS

AFFIRMATIVE Mr. Jackson
NEGATIVE Mr. Johnston, W. M.
Mr. Calten Mr. Batten

Resolved, That restricted is preferable to universal suffrage.

BRIEF FOR NEGATIVE

A. Prevents internal violences.
a. One class not representative of another. 1. No class strife. b. Would be more loyal to government. 1. Each has a voice in its formation. 2. Each has interest in government. c. Each class best judge of its own interest. 1. Each contented with its own rule. B. Opportunity for less corruption. a. Larger electorate. 1. More difficulty in handling. b. A greater interest in politics. More classes concerned. C. Limits of restriction hard to determine. a. Cannot fix just educational standard. 1. Exclude many of moderate means. 2. Different standard in different places. b. Do not know who are morally qualified. c. Property qualifications opposed to democracy. D. Female suffrage should be granted. a. Women intellectual equal of men. 1. George Eliot, Madame Curie. b. Women are taxed. c. Women industrial competitors of men.

BRIEF FOR AFFIRMATIVE

I. An educational qualification is absolutely essential to good government. A. Primary education, at least, rendered necessary by complexity of government. 1. Otherwise the significance of the constitution cannot be interpreted. 2. An understanding of current and political economies also impossible. 3. Education elevates standard of citizenship. a. Suffrage regarded as a privilege to be sought for. B. Neither direct nor indirect control of civil affairs should be intrusted to the illiterate. 1. They lack competency. 2. They are largely non-producers. 3. Police and reformatory expenses can in great measure be attributed to them.

II. Suffrage should be restricted solely to males. A. Women incompetent to deal with public affairs. 1. They are rendered incapable by their domestic duties. 2. Male regard for women would decrease, consequently family life would receive a check. 3. Woman would be a fanatic in public life—would be influenced by her feelings.

III. A definite moral standard must be maintained. A good class must not be ruled by reprobates. 1. Convicts already excluded. 2. In some states perjurers disqualified. 3. Disfranchisement for bribery, etc. B. Bad classes must be shown their position in Civil scheme. 1. This induces reform by engendering dissatisfaction of present states. 2. Deprivation of suffrage an element of control.

GRAHAM-LEE SOCIETY.

The second meeting of Graham-Lee was held last Saturday night, Sept. 21. The meeting showed a good increase in members over the previous one and more interest was manifested on the part of the members.

The orators of the evening were Messrs. Denman of Texas, and Scott of Virginia. Mr. Herold of West Virginia, who was the only declaimer present, spoke on "The Moderate Drinker."

The debate was conducted with unusual enthusiasm. The question was. Resolved, That the power of chartering corporations having a capital stock of $2,000,000 or more should be vested in the Federal Government. The negative supported by Messrs. McMullen and Beale, won over Messrs. Leach and Milling for the affirmative.

After the admission of a number of new members the regular election of officers was held. The counting of the votes showed the election of the following officers for next term:

H. H. Leach, W. Va., President.

D. P. Boyer, Virginia, Vice-President.

A. L. Herold, W. Va., Secretary and Treasurer.

A committee was appointed by retiring President Keebler to confer with the Faculty concerning allowing credit for Literary Society to work candidates for Academic degrees.

Arkansas Club

The Arkansas Club held its first meeting of the New Year on the evening of the 24th. This was only a business meeting, at which many new members were enlisted. The Club has enjoyed quite an increase of membership over last year. There were only nine men last year, while there are fourteen enlisted for the new year, and as two members failed to return, the Club has seven new faces. The first social meeting will be held sometime in October. The officers for this year are: H. H. Ragan, president; W. K. Ramsey, vice-president; E. Sullivan, secretary and treasurer; R. Dale, reporter.

While Coach "Buster" Brown doesn't see fit to give out any definite information as to "who's who" on the foot-ball squad, yet from general appearances, Rooters, you had as well get that bunch of "rah, rah's" in your throat, for we are going to have a good team and you will need them.

ATHLETIC FEE

There are a great many new men in College who do not yet understand the purpose and general nature of the fee, and this article is to try to explain.

The Athletic Fee of five dollars was started by the students last year, and was a purely voluntary arrangement on their part. The reasons for starting it:

First, there would be more interest in the games and more College spirit displayed by letting all of the students see all the games.

Second: A greater contribution for Athletics can be secured if every one subscribes, and a greater amount is secured than by charging individually for separate games. By this plan the burden is borne by all instead of by a few.

Last year the plan received practically the unanimous support of the Student Body and Faculty, but great trouble was experienced in the collecting of the subscriptions, due to the fact that the plan was started late in the session, and also to the natural slowness of the Washington and Lee students in settling up.

Every one should pay this fee at once, if they have not already done so. Only about $700 has been paid in up to date. There are a few men in the University who are unable to pay this fee, and these are readily excused, but the number who cannot manage to save up this amount in the course of the year is very small.

By payment of this fee students are admitted to all football, basketball and baseball games, gym. contests, tennis and track meets. The proceeds of the fee, with part of the contingent fee, goes to the general support of Athletics. certain percentage to each department at the discretion of the Executive Committee of the Athletic Association. We have good schedules this year, and the whole of this amount is needed. Pay to either Osborne, Pruitt, Jackson, J. H. Larrick, S. Davis, D. W. Pipes, C. B. Bagley, J. L. Campbell, or H. Dow.

Bryan's bull-dog tenacity in the ball rush, was due perhaps to the fact that he didn't want to deprive any one of the Sophmores of the privilege of having pulled him off the ball by his golden locks—and he didn't.
