W. & L. PLAY ROANOKE COLLEGE RESERVES

On last Tuesday Monk Moomaw, Captain of W. & L. '07 football team, backed in the dear old burg with a bunch of small and ambitious "Gridironists" to give the Varsity a practice game. The erstwhile Captain has permitted the fascinations of the gridiron to supplant the practice of law long enough to show the Roanoke College boys the inside points of the game. By the time the game started the population was well represented by a gay and happy throng of rooters, consisting mostly of ladies and students that swelled the attendance to the size usually seen in mid-season. The "rah-rah's" were few and far between, due perhaps to the tameness of the game.

The game was slow throughout and little lively interest was manifested by any one. Outside of the opportunity afforded the rooters of getting their eyes on all the squad, and especially the new men, there was very little to be relished about the game. That W. & L. won by so small a score is the problem for all to solve. It may be accounted for on the ground that our folks had never played together before, or that by changing the entire line up of the team in the second half, our chances were weakened. Coach Brown desiring to see all his men in action, almost changed the entire line-up in the second half.

In the eyes of a non-professional critic, Coach Brown has a synd of men on Wilson field that will furnish material for the best team ever seen in this burg in several years.

Great credit is due Rhodes who played full back, because he had not been in even a practice game before the season. That he will prove a star is beyond question. Every time he carried the ball he smashed the line for comfortable gains. While in his punting you could discern a lack of practice, yet the sample of his ability along this line that he gave us, justifies venturing a guess that W. & L. has not had any better punters than Rhodes in several seasons. Armentrout is a brilliant young player. He showed up as the particular star of the game, skirting the ends several times for the good gains. You may watch the work of this new man, for in every movement he shows he has the stuff in him for a star. Waddill didn't do any great work, but showed fine form, his touch down being pulled off in a neat and skillful manner. With luck breaking his way, Waddill will show up strong as a back. As for the line, well, the Roanoke boys, boys had as well bucked those mountains as for the good it would have done them. You couldn't have run the biggest engine on the C. & O. system through that line. It was there to stay. For Roanoke, Moomaw who was permitted to play right-half for Roanoke, did the best for them. Monk did some nice punting.

W. & L. kicked off to Roanoke's 20 yd. line. Roanoke could only advance the ball four yards in two downs, and Moomaw punted to center field, W. & L.'s ball. On first down Armentrout carried the ball 12 yards, Rhodes smashed the line immediately for eight more, Armentrout was sent around end for 3 yards, Rhodes again tore off eight more through center, Osborne gained one, Waddill spirited around left end for two, while Knote on next down tore off seven yards on a fluke, Waddill in a pretty sprint carried the ball over goal. W. & L. lost opportunity to kick for goal on Knote's fumble. Roanoke kicked off to Dow on 25 yard line, Waddill carried ball 5 yards in two downs and Rhodes punted 30 yards up the field. Moomaw punted after Roanoke failed to gain twice, Rhodes and Waddill got seven yards on line bucks, when Armentrout brushed around end for nine, Waddell and Armentrout gained 21 yards on end runs, Osborne advanced ball 4 1-2 yards on second down, and Rhodes tried for field goal but failed, Moomaw, after Roanoke secured ball, punted to center field, W. & L. penalized for off-side play, Rhodes bucked the line for eight yards on second down and punted 3rd down to Roanoke's 5 yard line, Roanoke's ball and after two efforts without gain, Moomaw punted twenty yards; one of Roanoke's halves falling on the ball, Roanoke carried ball 4 yards on two downs and punted to Waddill in center, after W. & L. failed to gain Knote punted 20 yards and White

STUDENT BODY GREETSS MISS LEE

A University Assembly Thursday morning was the occasion of greeting by the students of Miss Mary Custis Lee, only living daughter of General Robert E. Lee.

The greeting took the form of applause after an introduction by President Denny. Miss Lee acknowledged with a bow and Professor Alexander L. Nelson, professor emeritus, who was a member of General Lee's faculty, thanked the assembly on behalf of Miss Lee.

Miss Lee entered the chapel at the head of the college procession with President Denny and Professor Nelson and occupied a seat upon the platform. The address was delivered by President Denny, who spoke to the students of what was incumbent upon them and what was expected of them, and in concluding introduced Miss Lee as the daughter of the greatest Virginians and one of the greatest representatives of the Anglo-Saxon race. The ideals of Washington and Lee, he said, were to be found in the devotion, the courage, and sacrifice afforded in the life of General Lee. Dr. Denny requested that the audience greet Miss Lee standing and met with a response spontaneous and prolonged which swept again and again over the auditorium. This closed the exercises when members of the faculty and others came forward and gave Miss Lee a personal greeting.

The address of President Denny was an appeal to the students for the development of character through the opportunity they enjoyed at Washington and Lee. They were not to qualify themselves for making their way in the world, but for service. Labor first applied was the means by which the things men desired, namely leisure, wealth and fame, were to be secured. For the earnest, ambitious youth the university could do great things, but nothing for the shirk; and he had reason to believe there was right now a small minority of that class in the University. The duty of the professor he recognized to be to learn the student and then teach him. They could feel assured of the cordial sympathy of the faculty. Speaking of the value of a sound body he assured the stu-

As to the Calyx

The editors of the Calyx for 1908 sincerely desire to get out a book in thorough keeping with the spirit of progress and improvement, which has of late seized upon the old 'Varsity. They cannot do this and make it the college enterprise it ought to be without the hearty cooperation of those who know how to help. Lord knows it's hard enough to get the things into proper shape much less think of new and proper things.

Therefore if you have an idea about how the book ought to be gotten up, a surplus flash of wit, a good story or an artistic conception that you want to get rid of let the Calyx help you by it. The editors will thank you for any word or original suggestion that will help make the book the best yet.

Furthermore if you can do these things and don't, then kindly refrain from casting aspersions at the editors. It won't be the fault of the business manager either.

Submit what you've got as soon as possible. It is hoped that January will find the material ready for the printers. If your work is good it will be used as it best seems to suit. If it doesn't harmonize with the tone of the book, there's certainly no harm done in submitting it.

Hand your efforts to W. K. Ramsey, Jr., or L. P. Bryant, Jr., or mail them care of P. O. Box No. 25.

At a meeting of the General Committee, held Saturday, Sept. 2nd, to consider the applications made for the various athletic managerships the following men were elected: Assistant Football Manager, J. W. Lykes; Basketball Manager, R. M. Strassel; Assistant Basketball Manager, W. F. Pipes.

dents of the deep interest of their president in athletic sports and that he felt he would be disqualified for that office when he ceased to feel that interest.

The exercises were opened with the singing of General Lee's favorite hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," by a student choir and brief devotional service, led by Dr. J. R. Howerton.

Harry Lee

A meeting of the Harry Lee Boat club was held in the Latin room Saturday afternoon, Sept. 28. President Minetree stated that the object of the meeting was to elect officers and to bring the club to the attention of the new men in college. Officers for 1907-'08 were elected as follows: Osborne, president; Leap, vice-president; Powell, secretary and treasurer; Cather, historian. Upon motion the President appointed a committee of five to solicit new members, and a committee of three to assist the secretary and treasurer in his duties.

Albert Sidney Boat Club Meets

A number of loyal Albert Sidneys assembled Wednesday afternoon in the engineering hall for organization for the coming sessions. The meeting was called to order by last year's president, and the following officers were elected, each by acclamation: President, Riser; Vice-President, Devane, Secretary, Hobson; Treasurer, Hoge.

After the election Mr. Hoge, chairman of last year's finance committee, reported about six dollars in the treasury at present, collected from last years dues. Then he gave a short talk on condition of the club and the racing boat. He stated that the boat was in bad condition and unfit for another race, and that the club should have a new boat. Mr. Gravely then told us that in his opinion the boat was even worse than Mr. Hoge described it to be. On motion by one of the members a committee was appointed to investigate ways and means of getting a new racing boat.

A proposal was made to try raising the money by popular subscription, but this seemed to meet with general disapproval. After a little more discussion of the matter the meeting adjourned.

The Albert Sidney Boat Club extends a cordial invitation to all new students who have not already taken sides, to come and join us. We would like to see every man in college take an active interest in rowing which here is strictly amateur sport and is the best of physical training as men who rowed last year will testify.

Cotillion Club Meeting

At a meeting of the University Cotillion Club John L. Campbell, Jr., was elected president and Beach Chenoweth secretary and treasurer.

There were none of the fairer sex present at this meeting, so the business of the club was quickly dispensed with and the meeting adjourned.

Several new men were elected, increasing the present membership to 25. A great many changes were proposed and adopted for the regulation of the dances this year.

Hereafter no first year men will be eligible, so freshman, do not feel slighted, even if you do think that you are the best dancer in college.

The scrub team took its first trip Friday and beat the Staunton Military Academy by a score of 2 to 0. The star players were Henley, Bledsoe, Hopkins and Barber.

The Mandolin and Guitar Club

We wonder if we are to have one. Surely out of 450 men, we ought to have one, and a good one too. And if we are to have one, upon whom do you think its success depends? Why, upon you.

We sincerely believe Dr. Denny meant what he said at the Chapel last Thursday when he stated he was interested in every phase of college life, for he has given us two days—Friday and Saturday after Thanksgiving—as holidays, thus enabling us to take a trip, provided we can have a good, first class club. Now you can readily see how much of its success is dependent upon you.

Now don't say, "Oh, I can't play well enough," or I am afraid I can't keep up." None of us are supposed to be able to master any of the "Wagner Classics." You can play and you can keep up, and moreover, you can help make this a success if you will.

These meetings have been very, very poorly attended. The new men are especially urged to be present at our next meeting. "So watch the bulletin board for the time and place. T.

Y. M. C. A.

From now on the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held on Wednesday night at 7:45 instead of Sunday afternoon, as has been the custom for many years. The association believes that if the men attend the services at the different churches that any further meeting would mean religious dissipation, which they are trying to guard against.

The change, though a radical one, will meet with the approval of the majority of the men in College and the association asks for their cooperation in making the new move a success.

College Belle: (At McCrum's; corner table) "Missed you so at the game, Dear. Sick? You don't look well!"

College Widow: (Aside) "I hate her." "No, had date at bridge. Junior and Dickey begged me to break it but I just couldn't."

Mr. Glasgow Addresses the Y. M. C. A.

A large crowd of students heard the strong address of Mr. Glasgow in the English room on Wednesday night. The burden of his message was that our Religion was a Religion to live by rather than to die by. To strengthen his position he brought up the lives of the Bible heroes and showed that although pages and pages were devoted to their lives, only a verse or two was given to their deaths. That if we saw that our lives were spent in service and in accordance with the principles laid down for us in His word, there need be no anxious thought about our deaths. The large attendance at this the first meeting under the new plan, was not only a compliment to Mr. Glasgow, but also prophesied success to the new move.

Graham-Lee Society

On Saturday, Sept. 28th, at 8 p. m., this society was called to order by President R. S. Keebler, and at the request of the Washington Society, a joint meeting was held in the hall of the latter for the purpose of arranging for a Thanksgiving debate and of electing a president of the State oratorical association. This honor was conferred upon N. D. Smithson.

The society then resumed its regular work. Three new members were received; and the recently elected officers: H. H. Larrick, president; D. P. Boyer, vice-president, and C. E. Burks secretary and treasurer, were sworn in and seated, the president's inaugural address being postponed one week. H. St. George Tucker then delivered a commendable oration on "Ambition," and Wood a declaration on "Hawthorne's Great Stone Face." On motion the debate was postponed and delegates elected as follows: For Thanksgiving contest McMullen, Keebler and Milling; for collegiate preliminary contest Price, Alley and Stephenson.

The Maryland Boys Meet

The first meeting of the Maryland Club this year was held at the apartments of the president, E. H. Detts, on Jefferson street, Friday night, Sept. 27. The evening was enjoyably spent in a social manner. It was pleasing to the old men to welcome into their midst a number of promising Freshmen, who are to take the places last year's men vacated. Judging from the spirit of the meeting it may be assured that the organization will prove this session as in the past one of the flourishing state clubs of the University.

PROSPECTS OF FOOTBALL TEAM

The game Tuesday showed that in Waddell, Rhodes and Armentrout W. & L. will have a strong back field. Rhodes entered the university Tuesday morning and had run through signals but once, but put up a grand game. His presence has strengthened the team where it seemed it would be very weak—in kicking department. His punting was not as good as he is capable of, but his kicks were so high that the ends had plenty of time to nail the catch.

Dow's work at end shows that he is the same aggressive player as last year, and no gains were made around the left end. Near the end of the game he turned his ankle slightly, but will be able to play today against North Carolina. Streit, who arrived Tuesday night, will be at right end of the line, adding weight and strength where needed. In Smart, Bledsoe, Bagley and Blake, the team is strong in substitute end material.

White, Osborne, Hobson and Blackburn are fighting it out for tackle positions. The two former will play the N. C. game. Morales, Alderson, Pipes, Mason and Metzradt are so evenly matched for guard positions that the coaches are undecided as yet which will play in Saturday's game. The two first named are more experienced and will be first choice.

Hoge is faster than last year and is as steady as ever. Larrick has improved to such an extent that he can capably fill Hoge's place at any time. Hopkins is a good defensive center, but is light.

With coaching Knot, Henley and Wilson will make good quarters. Knot ran the scrubs last year and is familiar with the style of play used here. Wilson has had several year's experience and is fast. Henley is new to the place, but is learning rapidly.

Lykes, Brown, Duncan and Izard make up a set of backs almost as good as first set, but are lighter. All will be carried on trips whenever possible, as there is little to choose between them.

The game between N. C. and W. L. today should be a great one. W. & L. is lighter and most of men are new, but the coaches expect to have them in shape to give a good account of themselves. The game is so early in the season that the team-work is not smooth, the backs do not follow their interference well, and the line is not opening holes. N. C. is in the same condition, undoubtedly, and the ten yard rule will keep the score down to small figures.

fell on ball, W. & L. failed to gain again and Knot punted to Roanoke's 5 yard line. Bagley fell on ball.

Second half.—Roanoke kicked to W. & L.'s 20 yard line and nailed Waddill in his tracks, Armentrout made a brilliant dash around end for 15 yards, W. & L. failed to gain and Rhodes punted to 35 yards, Roanoke gained 3 yards on second down and Moomaw punted 30 yards to Waddill who brought it back eight, Rhodes punted 25 yards after W. & L. had failed to gain, Moomaw gains 3 yards in two downs and punts 15 yards, W. & L. failed to gain and Knot punted to Moomaw, W. & L. again penalized for off side Rhodes punted to Roanoke's 40 yard line, Hiram Dow was here compelled to retire from game because of injury. Roanoke failed to gain in two downs and punts to Waddell, who brought the ball 5 yards. Rhodes gained 7 yards on two line bucks; Knot punts, Pipes for W. & L. fell on ball. Armentrout carries ball 11 yards in two downs. Ball goes over to Roanoke when W. & L. failed to gain. Roanoke gained two in same number of downs and punts 20 yards to Henley, who recovers the lost territory in a nice sprint. Lykes and Rhodes carry ball 9 yards in two line bucks and game ends with ball on Roanoke's 25 yard line. The line up:

Roanoke		W. & L.
Aylor	left guard	Pipes
Sayers	center	Hoge
Morton	right guard	Alderson

Killey	full	Rhodes
Moomaw	right half	Waddill

Wash. Society

The Washington Literary Society was called to order by the president last Saturday night. A delightful and instructive program was rendered. Messrs. Sparr and Orr delivered orations. Johnson was there with a good declamation, while the society was disappointed in not having Mr. MacDonald, who was absent. The joint meeting consumed so much time that the debate was postponed. Smithson, Cather and Batten were elected debaters for Thanksgiving. Six new men gave their consent and money to become members.
