RANKING OF THE SOUTH ATLANTIC TEAMS.

Brown Picks all South Atlantic.

1. N. C. A. & M. College.
  2. Davidson College.
  3. V. P. I.
  4. Washington & Lee University.
  5. University of Virginia.
  6. V. M. I.
  7. University of North Carolina.
  8. Georgetown.
  9. George Washington.
  11. Randolph-Macon.
  12. Richmond College.
  13. William & Mary.
  14. Hampton Sidney.
- Dow, W. & L. end.
Diffendahl, V. P. I. tackle.
Beebe, A. & M. guard.
Gloth, Va. center.
Hancock, V. M. I. guard.
Edgerton, Davidson tackle.
Thomas, N. C. end.
Feurstin, W. & M. quarter.
Crawford, Va. half.
Massie, V. M. I. half.
Alderson, W. & L. full.

In ranking the South-Atlantic teams the sporting editor of the Washington Post made several bad guesses. He either forgot or did not see accounts of all the games in this section.

W. & L. should be placed above Virginia and North Carolina. V. M. I. should also rank above the latter. Randolph-Macon defeated Richmond College and deserves a higher standing.

Selecting an all-South Atlantic team is entirely a matter of personal opinion, and each critic chooses men whom he has seen play. It often happens that a player does not do himself justice in every game, and the person who picks a representative team has judged a player's ability from his work in one game. I have seen the men, with one or two exceptions, whom I think stand above their opponents, in several games.

There was a host of good ends this year. Dow, of W. L.; Sadler, of A. & M.; Poague, of V. M. I.; Mattox, of Virginia; Thomas, of N. C., and Varner, of V. P. I., stand above the others. Dow was the strongest defensive end of the season. He not only broke interference but often got the man with the ball. W. & L.'s style of defense is such that an end's work is not as showy as that of an end who plays out from tackle, but Dow was so good that he was conspicuous in every game.

Poague of V. M. I., was the best tackler and surest end in the south to pick out his man, but an unfortunate injury put him out of the game.

Thomas of N. C., should have the other end position. He is fast, a good tackler and a fine drop kicker, and a fair punter.

Edgerton of Davidson and Diffendahl of V. P. I. lead the tackles, though closely pressed by Wellford of Virginia, Fray and Biedler of V. M. I., and White and Osborne of W. & L., and Thomas of R. C.

Young of Hampden-Sidney was a tackle who with coaching, will be heard from.

Diffendahl was best tackle in this section in advancing the ball and was a strong defensive player. Edgerton was also a strong man, fast and shifty on his feet.

Beebe of A. & M., though played at tackle, would do better at guard. He could be shifted to tackle to carry the ball, as he is a fine ground gainer. There is no better defensive line man in the South. Wise of Virginia, was an aggressive guard and played his position well. Williams of same team lacks aggressiveness and was only a fair man. Pipes of W. & L., was one of the best guards of the year, and with experience, will make an exceptionally good man. Hodgson of V. P. I., was the best punter of the year, but outside of this ability, was not in same class with Hancock and Beebe. N. C.'s guards were only fair. Hancock of V. M. I., though played at center, is too good a lineman to keep off the team. He is good at opening holes for his backs, and few linemen follow the ball as well as he. In three games I have seen he recovered half the fumbles his opponents and his own

THANKSGIVING DANCE

Large Number of Visiting Girls

NEW COTILLION CLUB REGULATIONS IN FORCE

Both the Thanksgiving hop and german were among the most successful given at Washington and Lee for years. An unusually large number of visiting girls were present for the occasion and quite a few remained over from the V. M. I. dances of last week. The town girls also turned out in full force. The new Cotillion Club regulations are proving to be a great improvement over the old way of breaking.

As usual the larger crowd was present at the hop Monday night but the floor was full both nights. Those who did not attend will live to regret that they have omitted the social part of their education. The dance Tuesday night was made more attractive by a short talk from Dr. Latane while the monograms were being delivered to the football men, and the refreshments which were served at the end.

The opening figure, in which there were at least thirty couples, was led by John Campbell, president of the Cotillion Club, with Miss Myers.

Among the fair sex present were Misses Howe, Staples, Rust, Catlett, Lucy Patton, Brockenbrough, Haskins, Preston, E. Gadsden, A. Gadsden and Gunther of Lexington. The visitors were Misses Moomaw, Jones, Gilkerson, Taylor, Myers, Turner, Grant, Milner, McGuire, Brown, Aperson, Bagley, Archer, Nichols, Cross, Moomaw, Utterback, Dewey and Smart.

The chaperones were Miss Annie White, Mesdames Kern, Humphreys, Walker, Pendleton, Owen, Nichols, Howe, Staples and Bagley.

The V. M. I. Dances

Those who were so fortunate as to attend the dances at V. M. I. Friday and Saturday nights report "big times" over at the Institute. We regret very much that only the first class are able to attend our dances.

CROSS COUNTRY RUN.

Bryant Comes in First McCown Second.

The first cross country run to be held here took place last Saturday afternoon. The runners took the morning train to Buena Vista and started back to Lexington, a distance of eight miles, at 2:30. R. Bryant led the race all of the way, and finished in 50 minutes and 15 seconds. McCown was second, 53. 2, and Holmes third, 53. 31: The time made was exceedingly good, as the road is hilly. A large crowd was the courthouse corner to see the finish.

It is expected that other cross country runs will be held in the spring, and the Buena Vista run will be made an annual event.

Literary Societies.

At a joint session of the literary societies the preliminary debate for places on the debating teams was held. Price, Alley and Stevenson of the Graham-Lee had the affirmative and Skaggs and Johnson of the Washington, the negative of the question. Resolved, That the United States should make every effort to secure reciprocity with Canada. The debate was highly interesting throughout and was heard by most of the members of the two societies. At the close of the debate the judges announced the choice of Messrs. McMullen, Keebler, Batten and Smithson as inter-collegiate debaters with Milling and Johnson alternates.

The University of Tennessee has submitted as the question for debate: resolved, That local option is preferable to state prohibition in dealing with intemperance. The debate will take place in Knoxville on the first Friday in March.

Monograms Awarded.

The Athletic Committee awarded football monograms at a meeting Tuesday afternoon, and they were presented by Dr. J. H. Latane at the Thanksgiving dance in the gymnasium. Those receiving monograms were: Streit, Alderson, Waddill, Brown Izard, Osborne, Hoge, Wilson, Morales, Dow, White, Pipe, Larrick and Stevenson.

There has been of late a good deal of complaint that books are taken from the Economics library without registration, and such complaint is certainly very much in order. To take books from the library without entering them in the loan register works a great hardship upon the men who use them and who have a right to insist upon their being in the library, but this is not the only consideration; men who thus take books from the library are too prone to be careless or tardy about returning them, and without intention on the part of the borrower is far too likely to result in the loss of the books. The Economics library is not run unrestrictedly, and ironclad rules; and the honor system has a most pertinent bearing upon the conduct of those who enjoy its advantages. There is no reason why in this case liberty should degenerate into license. Moreover, unless this proceeding is stopped, the logical outcome will be hard and fast regulations for the Economics library which may the gods avert!

This is the last issue of the Ring-tum Phi before the holidays. Examinations are upon us, and the fact that the editors themselves must needs put in the next few days at hard labor to avoid a flunk, consequently have not time to work up the paper next week, and that everybody will be studying too hard for anything else to happen, prevent another issue this year. By the time we come together again the results of these examinations will in all probability have been forgotten in the happiness of the Christmas season, and the race will be begun again. The Ring-tum Phi wishes for every student all the joys of the season.

EXCHANGES

Basket ball will receive more attention at University of Texas this year than ever before, and the team is expected to be the best ever put out.

Georgia and Georgia Tech. who were charged with violations of the amateur rule in the S. I. A. A., have been reinstated and "Sinney" Shipp of Sewanee, was completely cleared of suspicion of professionalism.

President Wilson, of Princeton, speaking to the Association of Preparatory School and Colleges, condemned the present system of education and urged a revision in the interest of more technical training, so that the youth of the country may be better fitted to grasp opportunities.

So many applications have been made for seats at the Yale-Princeton debate on the Employer's Liability Act at Princeton next Friday that the managers have decided to issue tickets of general admission to the hall, seats to be reserved for those holding regular tickets.

Basketball Dope.

A call was issued a few days ago by Capt. Osborne for basket ball candidates. About twenty-five men responded, but as yet very few old men have come out for practice owing to the nearness of exams. As the first game is to be played January 14th, and the second on the 17th with Virginia in Charlottesville, it is necessary that men come to all practices.

Manager Strassell has not completed the schedule as yet, but it will be announced as soon possible. Owing to the small allowance of funds for basketball most of the games will be played away from Lexington. At the end of the season four or five games will be played in Washington and Baltimore, and this will be the longest trip of the season. In the meantime Lynchburg, Staunton, and Charlottesville, will have their share of the games, and Virginia, Lynchburg Y. M. C. A., A. M. A., and possibly one or two Washington teams will be played here.

Osborne, Streit, Smartt, Moore, Izard, Barker, Derr, Robinson, of last year's squad are now in college, and the prospects are good for a strong team. "Pat" Krebs is coaching the men.

Brown Picks all South Atlantic.

[Concluded from first page]

players made. His tackling in the open was strong, and he was down under punts as quickly as his ends in many instances.

Gloth of Virginia, is best of the centers, though no better than Larrick in many ways. Gloth knows the game better and gets the place. Larrick is as good as Gloth in getting down under kicks and a fierce tackler. In Va.-W. & L. game Larrick tackled Crawford and Honaker so fiercely that they were both put out. His playing is as clean as it is fierce.

Honaker of Va., is so often mentioned in reports that one who has never seen him play would expect him to lead the quarters. He has no equal as broken field runner, but his defensive play is weak, and he aids his backs very little. It is true that his runs around N. C.'s ends won the game for his team, but outside of his ability to carry the ball he is not in Feursteine's class. Feursteine of W. & M., is a consistent ground gainer, a sure man to handle punts and one of the best tacklers in the South. There is no better place and drop kicker in the South, and I would consider him a more valuable man than Honaker.

Doyle of V. M. I., was one of the best quarters of the year. He punted well when McLane was out of the game, and none of the quarters executed the on-side kick as well as he. His passing to his ends on forward passes was sure, even when he had to handle a wet ball.

Stuart of Georgetown was only fair. His inexperience and lack of judgment was the cause of Va.'s first score in the Virginia-Georgetown game.

Shepherd of V. P. I. was a good man for his first year.

Izard of W. & L., played a better all-round game against Bucknell than any quarter this year. He handled every punt clearly, broke up every one of Bucknell's attempts at forward passes, often running them back for more distance than they were thrown, and backed up his line perfectly. As he was in but one game he cannot be considered, but next year will push his opponents for the place. Mann of N. C., was a clever quarter, and ran his team well.

(To be concluded)

Freshmen and Sophomores at Vanderbilt have had numerous class fights and almost the entire class of 1911 has been put in the "baldhead" class by the upper classmen.

Miss Janie Gilkeson is visiting Miss Bessie Catlett.

Mr. G. H. Caperton, '05, was visiting his brother in college this week and attended the Thanksgiving dances.

Dr. John H. Latane has returned from New York where he attended a meeting of the American Political Science Association and of the board of editors of the American Political Science Journal, of which organizations he is a member.

J. W. Addison has received an appointment from the government to serve in the child labor investigation and left for Washington last week. Addison has made a brilliant record during his six years in the University, and will be greatly missed by his many friends in college.

Review of November Collegian

The last issue of the Collegian contains two strong articles, "The present Public School System of the Philippines" and an exposition of the Honor System. The first of these is well worthy of thoughtful reading, as it has an authority of description rarely found in college periodicals. The interpretation of the Honor System is comprehensive and represents the thought of the student body upon one of the most vital phases of our college life.

Poetry in this issue is quite up to standard. "Thanksgiving Day" is the most pretentious poem. It has a seriousness of thought that well befits the subject, but one is struck by the rather rapid transition from figure to figure, making the expression a trifle obscure in detail. Of the other poems, two are light and catchy and make no effort at thought; the other, "To the River," is well-balanced in thought but has a disastrous slip in the last line, where the pronoun is pluralized.

The only story of the issue, "The Unknown Woman," has a good plot, but the movement is unduly retarded. Its style is excellent.

As exposition we find a sketch of "Our English Sub-Literature." If the author aims merely to entertain, the work is passable; but as a serious discussion of the topic the treatment is cursory and inadequate.

If you want a suit by Christmas leave your order now.

J. ED. DEEVER

By Dr. and Mrs. Jas. Lewis Howe

On Thursday evening Nov. 5th, the W. & L. football squad was assembled at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Howe and thoroughly enjoyed the splendid hospitality of host and hostess.

The early part of the evening was devoted to the singing of college songs, which served to put aside formality and warm the crowd up to the spirit of the occasion. And then later on cards were distributed to each one present, which explained what was required of the recipients, by having written thereon the following rhyme.

A band of noble warriors
Across the mountains went,
And a very happy evening
On Lambeth field was spent.

Now please describe this meeting
The very best you can;
And by his brilliant poetry
We'll find the smartest man.

Twenty minutes was then allotted for the verse writing, after which delicious refreshments were served. Then the reading of the verses caused the rooms to ring with merriment, especially so when Capt. Streit received the prize for having written the most atrocious verses. Hobson proved to be the best poet and was awarded a watch fob as first prize.

After three rousing cheers for Dr. Howe the squad departed, having spent a most enjoyable evening.

Physics Prizes

On Tuesday last Dr. Stevens announced the winners in the contest on maps of the campus, open to students in Physics:

- First award, Mr. Deets.
- Second award, Hr. Holmes.
- Third award, Mr. Taylor.

The judging of the maps was done by three of the V. M. I. faculty.

The map of Mr. Deets will be photographed and from the photograph a plate will be made of sufficient size to allow its insertion in the 1908 catalog.

Dr. Guy Carleton Lee

Dr. Guy Carleton Lee will lecture on next Monday evening at the Henry Street opera house. Dr. Lee is a celebrated journalist and orator and well known in literary circles as literary editor of the Baltimore Sun and contributor to other periodicals. His address on the True Jefferson Davis is his most notable lecture and this one he will give Monday.

The lecture is in the Star course given by the football management.

Dr. Souther's Lecture

Dr. Edwin Southers of the New Dixie Lycum Bureau, addressed a very small but appreciative audience at the opera house Wednesday night. He handled his subject "If I were the devil" in an extremely graphic and interesting manner. The pity is, especially as the lecture was given under the auspices of the Calyx management, that there was not a larger crowd to enjoy this entertaining presentation of an unusual theme.

The less said about the crowd the better. The manager of the Calyx necessarily lost money. But he and the rest of the board wish it stated that they do not especially blame the student body for their non-support of this enterprise. They realize that it was a very unfortunate and inopportune time to give such an entertainment.

They do not believe that it was any lack of interest in the success of the year book, which caused so slim an attendance. Nor will the loss sustained in any way effect the general plan of the editors. The sincere effort to make the book one of which every student will be proud and which will reflect honor on the Greater University, will continue unabated. But the general plan of the book as now proposed calls for a greater outlay of funds than has hitherto been spent.

To cover this increased cost each student is urged to subscribe as liberally as possible. You will have an opportunity for doing so very shortly. This will afford the real test of the interest in the Calyx. It can be predicted with safety that no one will regret the purchase of a copy. If you can, take two.

Notice.

The new catalogue will be issued in January. It is requested that names of prospective students, with full information as to addresses, etc., shall be left at my office or mailed to me. Blank forms can be had at the treasurer's office. I shall be grateful to all students who will seek information along this line during the approaching holidays. The size and quality of the next Freshman class will depend largely upon the present student body.
