Review of Basket Ball Season

W. & L. Team Champions of South Atlantic States

Although it is rather late to talk about basketball at this season of the year, yet an undue amount of work, coupled with middle term examinations, has prevented our calling attention at an earlier date to the brilliant record of the local basketball quintet. Washington & Lee has had good baseball teams and good football teams, but in neither department have we yet established the remarkable record of going through an entire season, meeting all comers, and not sustaining a single defeat. This is the proud record of Captain Osborne and his ball tossers on the court. This record does not stand for a string of victories over weak teams, but it includes two victories over Virginia, two over S. M. A., two over Roller School, and one over the strong Y. M. C. A. team of Newport News.

The defeat of such teams gives us the undisputed championship of Virginia. Georgetown is the only other team in the South Atlantic States which has defeated teams of such standing as to indicate that they were in our class. Every effort was made by Manager Strassel to arrange a game with them either here or in Washington, offering them a good guarantee to play here, but no favorable response could ever be gotten. Under the circumstances, who is best entitled to the championship of the South Atlantic States? Georgetown claims the championship because her team defeated Virginia twice. While it is a well known fact that Georgetown and Virginia could not indulge in a game of ping-pong unless it decided the championship of the South, yet we must dispute the claims of our Northern adversary by stating that we too beat Virginia twice. It was certainly no fault of ours that we didn't meet Georgetown, and consequently, since we have defeated the same teams that Georgetown has, and it is Georgetown's fault that we didn't add her to our list, it looks like W. & L. should have the championship.

Coach Krebs developed a strong team from the material furnished him. The men he ultimately selected to earn their "W. & L.'s." were all, with but one exception, men who had helped add laurels to the department over which Buster Brown has charge. Captain Osborne at center, while not so fast as some of the men he had to play against, was a tower of strength to his team. His gigantic build enabled him to toss goals when it seemed that every man on the opposing team had hold of him. "Pat" was one of the most certain shots on the team in open play, and at all times carried his team so systematically that they worked as smoothly as machinery. Barker and Boyd did not meet their equals as forwards in any games they played. Barker was perhaps the most sensational player on the team and was in the game with lots of ginger all the time. Several of his tosses were nothing less than phenomenal. His was not, however, as even and steady as was the work of Boyd. The latter was the surest field goal that appeared in the local gymnasium this season. In the last game with Newport News, Boyd's playing was by far the feature. In this game he successfully manipulated nine field goals. Knox Smartt and Bill Streit simply outclassed every thing they ran up against as guards. Smartt kept closer to his man and was a better defensive guard than was Streit. His work against Glenn of Virginia in which he prevented the "Virginia terror" from getting in striking distance of the goal was his most noteworthy feat. Smartt was elected Captain of the team for '09. Bill Streit's work at guard contributed much to his team's success. Not only is he a great defensive player, but his offensive work was often spectacular. A general average of the points made would show him crowding the forwards for first honors. In almost every game he had from two to four goals to his credit. John Izard, the utility man for the team, played great ball in every game in which he participated. He was perhaps

W. & L. Wins Easily From Hampden-Sidney

Hampden-Sidney proved easy pickings for Captain Luhn and his yearlings on last Saturday. There never was a time in the game that W. & L. didn't have everything her way.

Desiring to show W. & L.'s team was not up to the standard in the Amherst series the management trotted out "Lefty" George to do the rubber work. It is needless to say it was well done. The big fellow has a wonderful assortment of curves, speed and slow ones. He slaps over a high fast one or floats 'em over the size of pumpkins with almost perfect control. Time and again "Lefty" got himself in a "3 and 1" hole, but each time he compelled the batter to tap easy to the infield. He gave the best exhibition of pitching seen on the local grounds this season.

Outside the pitching of George there were no features to the game. Captain Luhn regained his old hitting form and had three safeties to his credit when the game ended. Mark Anthony touched up his batting average by pounding out a rattling three sacker the latter part of the game. Warthen played a fancy game throughout, displaying lots of nerve and ginger in base running and lacing a timely triple in the first inning. This youngster will bear watching for he has many of the symptoms of a ball player.

faster than any of his team mates and always mixed it up with the opposing players to suit their taste. While Izard was fast and furious in his play, yet his work was done with that characteristic cleanness which makes him a popular sportsman with the students.

Coach Krebs deserves a great deal of credit for his work with the team and has a right to be proud of the record they made.

Roanoke, 3; W. & L. U., 2

It was not the fault of the rooters, it was not the fault of the coaches, it was not the fault of "Lefty" George, but it was due entirely to woeful lack of spirit upon the part of the entire team and inability to hit at any stage of the game, coupled with a temporary balloon ascension upon the part of young Warthen in the first inning.

Warthen was chosen to hurl the sphere for W. & L., but the blonde haired youngster was unable to get his eye on the exact locality of the pan and when he did slip them over the Roanoke lads (?) took kindly to them and straightened his dinkies out for two singles and as many scores in the very first set-to.

Warthen got the Yankees and was supplemented by George who thereafter allowed only two hits. No one ever thought those two runs in the first inning would ever be sufficient to win the game, but they were. W. & L. put up a listless and indifferent grade of baseball such as usually causes the loss of games regardless of how great the team which practices the same. Daugherty for Roanoke had W. & L. completely up his sleeve, Brown receiving the only two hits gotten off the youngster who was pitching his first game of college base ball. His work in the box was very creditable and of such a nature that a veteran of many years might certainly be proud.

Would it not be of interest and advantage for this University to keep some record of athletic victories and achievements? Such a course is followed in nearly all colleges, especially among the larger Universities, by means of a trophy room, in which trophies of athletic contests are kept, together with their history, and these trophies are certainly not the least interesting shown to visitors at these institutions. Why cannot Washington and Lee preserve some reminder of former games and of important games in the future, to which we can point with pride if we return to visit Lexington in the future years? It is true that a few relics are kept in the museum now, but hardly anyone knows that they are in existence, and they are so few in number as to be insignificant. Moreover no one seems to be interested in adding to the collection. Will not some one suggest a plan?

Is it not about time for another assembly? We have had only four or five this year, with three of them in January. Aside from the educational value of these meetings, for which purpose they are held, they serve a secondary purpose of bringing the men together and getting them more acquainted with each other. This latter is a feature entirely too little emphasized at Washington and Lee—a thing which accounts probably more than anything else for the lack of spirit at this university.

A special edition of the Ring-tum-Phi will be gotten out by the Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday, with special reference to the Asheville conference to be held in June. Mr. M. R. Turnbull is in charge of the issue, and copies of the paper may be had of him or C. S. Osborne, president of the Y. M. C. A.

Resolutions of Senior Law Class on Senator Bryan

Washington Lee University,
Lexington, Va.,
April 7th, 1908.

At a meeting of the Senior Law Class of Washington and Lee University held on the 4th day of April, 1908, immediately after the convening of the Law School for the Spring term the following resolutions, reported by the Committee of the Senior Law Class and the Law Faculty were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Washington and Lee University has learned with profound sorrow and regret of the death of the Hon. William James Bryan, late United States Senator from the State of Florida and a distinguished alumnus of the Law School of the University, therefore, be it resolved:

1st. Washington and Lee University recognizes that in the death of Mr. Bryan it has lost a son who was earnest, faithful and successful in his college career and loyal to the advancement of her interest; and as an alumnus of this institution has manifested the most sincere devotion to her welfare and reflected great credit on her name;

2nd. The State of Florida has lost a devoted and patriotic citizen, an able lawyer and a brilliant statesman, whose public and private life was pure and unsullied, whose record as a lawyer not only commanded the respect and admiration of the people of his state but established a standard of legal attainment and ethics well worthy of the emulation of his Alma Mater, and whose brief career as a statesman gave promise of a future which would place him a peer of the great leaders of this nation.

3rd. The sincere sympathy of the Senior Law Class and the Faculty of Washington and Lee University is extended to the bereaved family of Mr. Bryan in their deep affliction.

4th. That the law faculty of the University is requested to spread a copy of these resolutions on its minutes.

5th. The committee is instructed to send a copy of these resolutions to Mrs. Bryan, the Washington Post, the Florida Times-Union, and the Ring-tum Phi.

Graham-Lee Society

The Graham-Lee Society again convened after a suspension of about two weeks. After the regular business was finished the society elected the following officers:

President, Mr. Price.
Vice-President, Mr. Alley.
Secretary, Mr. Caldwell.
Reporter for the Ring-tum-Phi, Mr. Keebler.

Mr. Turnbull was elected Grand Marshal of the final exercises.

W. & L. 3; Villa Nova, 4

In a game replete with brilliant fielding and superb pitching, Villa Nova defeated the yearlings by the close score of 4 to 3. The game in fact was a pitcher's battle between Barr and George. The former had perfect support and was aided by some of the best backstop work seen on the home diamond. On the other, Lefty received ragged support and Anthony seemed unable to keep his hands on the ball. George was up against a stronger bunch of hitters by far than was Barr, and in every department outclassed his big opponent, although a larger number of hits were secured off George.

The game opened in a whirlwind fashion and before the fans had gotten time to breathe Villa Nova was out and W. & L. to the bat. Ed. Brown walked and Waddill and Chatham got him to second and then Captain Luhn scored him with a screaming double to left. In the second, after two men had been retired, Walsh hit to Brown, who caught him a city block at first, but Captain Luhn dropped the throw and he was safe. A moment later Barr smashed one into the middle of the tennis courts for one of the longest drives ever seen on Wilson field. This streak of luck was enough to dishearten Frank Chance's world beaters, but the yearlings kept boring in until Brown crashed out a corking single, stole second and scored on Luhn's triple. Villa Nova soon raised us two and then Anthony walked and was advanced to second and then Lefty came near winning his own game by lacing out a double, scoring Anthony in front of him. W. & L. again looked dangerous later in the game when George smacked out another hit and got to 3rd, but for some reason the squeeze play was called for and W. & L.' chances went 'glimmerin' as Barr saw this was a very opportune time for such play and hurled the sphere so wide that Bagley could not touch it, and they caught the runner at the plate.

The fielding stunts were excellent. Waddill pulled down a long drive that looked good for three bases and Nichols, for Villa Nova, caught a hard smack back of second that robbed Worthen of a hit five out of six chances. Luhn, George and Brown were the only W. & L. men able to connect safely so far, the first two getting two nice drives each.

Celebration and Reception at Southern Seminary

On last Monday evening the Literary Societies of the Southern Seminary gave a joint celebration, at which quite a number of students were present.

The celebration consisted of vocal and instrumental selections, a debate and addresses from the president of the two societies. After this program there was a reception and we had the pleasure of meeting the young ladies of that institution. This was the most enjoyable part of the evening, except to those who drove down.

The regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was postponed until Friday night in order to hear Dr. F. S. Southworth, President of the Meadville (Pa.) Seminary.

The speaker gave a very scholarly and learned presentation of the call to the Gospel Ministry. He contrasted the ideals of three leading professions—law, medicine, and the ministry—that college men are likely to enter, and showed that the ministry presents a wider field for service than any profession. He dealt openly and fairly with what constitutes a call, and with the objections to the ministry. He closed with a strong appeal to those who want to serve to enter the ministry.

Lack of space prevents giving an account of the Richmond College game in this week's paper. It will be published next week.

Fire at Washington and Lee

Power House Burned at an Early Hour This Morning

This morning, about 12:30 it was discovered by some one around the campus that the power house was on fire and an alarm was immediately turned in. Before anything could be done to check the flames; the entire roof was ablaze, but when the fire department arrived they were able to keep the fire away from the coal bins below, and the gasoline tanks. The flames destroyed the upper story of the power house, but did very little damage on the lower floor, as it seems that most of the machinery is comparatively uninjured. The carpenters tools and lumber in the workshop were entirely consumed.

It is not known how the fire originated, but various theories have been put forward. Some think that the building caught from the flue; while it is known that the men who were working in the shop during the day were smoking, and it is possible that the shavings caught and smoldered until midnight. However, the most probable conjecture is that the blaze was started by spontaneous combustion in the greasy rags and shavings on the floor.

Lexington, Va., April 11, 1908.

The Democratic national committee, having met in the city of Lexington, on the 10th day of April, 1908, has appointed Monday, May 4, 1908, at 8 p. m., as the time, and the gymnasium of Washington and Lee University, as the place for holding the Democratic National convention.

The representation of the States and Territories shall be according to the lists published by the Democratic National Committee. W. NEAL GRUBB, Chairman. W. M. JOHNSON, Secretary.

Washington Society

The first meeting of the Spring term was held in the Society Hall on Saturday evening, April 4th, President in the chair. The first business was the inaugural address of President-elect Batten, in which the incoming executive reviewed the recent constitutional reforms adopted by the society and urged that the rules be rigidly enforced. Immediately after his address Mr. Batten took the chair. By request the retiring president was given until the next meeting to submit his written report. The report of Treasurer Cooper was then read and approved. The report shows a balance cash on hand of $56.71; receipts, $158.21; disbursements, $101.62. Reports of other retiring officers were read and approved.

The regular program was then taken up. All of the orators were absent but Mr. Dameron gave as a declamation a poem entitled "Boots." The first extemporaneous speaker was Mr. Potter, whose subject was "The American Voter;" the second, Mr. Lloyd, who spoke on "The Life Savers." The debate was, Resolved, That standards of college entrance and graduation should be determined in the United States by definite, uniform, Federal legislation. Mr. Johnson opened the debate for the affirmative and was followed by Mr. Caldwell, who delivered a well worded speech in support of the negative. The second speaker for the affirmative was Mr. Eldred. Mr. Kenny closed the debate for the negative. The committee of Judges, consisting of Messrs. Bumgarner, Ragon and Turnbull rendered a decision in favor of the affirmative, Mr. Turnbull dissenting.

Mr. Kenny resigned as member of the Committee to Solicit Contingent Fees, and Mr. Montgomery was appointed in his stead. After some committee reports and miscellaneous business had been disposed of, society on motion adjourned.

Engineering Society

The Custis Lee Engineering Society held its April meeting in the Engineering lecture room Friday night. The meeting was called to order at 8:30 p. m. by President Deets.

Mr. Lybrand gave a very interesting talk on the Pitometer and its uses, and related some of his experiences while in the employ of the water department of Washington city. Mr. Lybrand's talk was very instructive and was much enjoyed by all present.

The next meeting of the society will be held on the second Friday in May and as this will be the last meeting of this year it is urged that all members be present.
