CENTRAL UNIVERSITY PLAYS RAGGED GAME.

Kennoy's Men Have No Trouble Swamping the Visitors, Who Put Up a Wretched Game..

In a wierd, slow and listless game Washington and Lee had no trouble defeating the Central University of Kentucky last Friday by the overwhelming score of 14 to 1. The locals fattened their batting averages at the expense of the visiting pitchers, who seemed unable to check the clouting of the White and Blue lads. Brown, Webster, and Stras hitting the ball all over the lot. "Jap" Efrid started to do slab work for the varsity, but after being hit twice by pitched balls he retired in favor of Moran who shut the Kentuckians out for the remainder of the game.

The game was marred by many freak plays and much wrangling. The visitors were charged with numerous errors and these in the main accounted for many tallies.

The Kentuckians scored their only run in the second inning when Waddill made a wild heave of Wilkinson's hit to center, allowing Prichard to score. The varsity scored in every inning but the fifth. Four hits in succession in the first inning scored the first run while an error by the second baseman, a sacrifice, a base on balls, Waddill's tripple and Webster's double tallied three more in the second. From then on to the close of the game it was a regular walk around the bases, due to heavy hitting and the errors of the visitors.

Following is the line-up.

HONOR SOCIETY INSTITUTED AT WASHINGTON AND LEE

First College Organization With Membership Based Upon Services Rendered in College Affairs—Members to Be Chosen From Men of Conspicuous Prominence in the Various Branches of Activities—Public Initiation to Be Held Sometime Near Finals.

During the past week a new organization has made its debut in the college world. The charter members are:

John Izard.
P. B. Lambertson.
J. L. Campbell, Jr.
J. L. Daniels.
W. A. McDonald.
R. G. Thach.
H. K. Smartt.
Chas. E. Burks.
R. P. Ashley.
W. N. Bootay.
T. McP. Glasgow.
R. A. Waddill.
G. T. Knot.
W. M. Hood.
N. D. Smithson.
L. C. Witten.
O. C. Jackson.

The society is designed to fill a long felt want of some organization which will include all men who are prominent in the various branches of college activities. It will be an honor society based on prominence in student affairs as distinguished from class room distinctions and is designed to serve as a stimulus to greater interest among students along lines that vitaly concern both the student body and the university, and at the same time serve as a mark of distinction for faithful and efficient services rendered in behalf of student interests.

A public initiation will be held during the latter part of the spring term after the general elections have taken place. The organization has not yet been entirely completed and a name has yet to be decided upon. When it is once landed, however, it is expected that Washington and Lee's first honor society will immediately take the lead among unofficial college organizations.

TRACK TEAM WINS FROM WAKE FOREST.

Satterfield Does Stellar Work for Varsity. Close Contest Won by 60 to 47.

On April 28th the varsity track team did credit to itself by defeating Wake Forest by the score of 60 to 47 at Wake Forest. There were many pretty races and close finishes; the result of the meet being in doubt until the last event. The stars of the meet were Satterfield, who won first in the high hurdles and pole vault, Clark, who won first in both the running jumps, and Anderton, who finished first in the mile, second in the half mile and broad jump. The particular star of the meet was Captain Coughenour of Wake Forest, who won two firsts and two seconds out of four entries. In the mile run, Stone, who had been leading throughout, unfortunately mistaking the next to last lap for the last, started on his final sprint and quickly pulled away from the field. When he came around for the last lap, he realized his mistake and endeavored to continue the sprint, which he found was impossible. Capt. Robins, after he saw Washington and Lee had won all three places in the pole vault generously withdrew from the event, allowing Satterfield, Larrick, and Ingram to vault it out. The three men, somewhat tired by entrance in other events, tied for first place, the bar being at 9 feet 9 inches. Robbins' stopwatch was broken after the first event and there was no time taken.

The events and the order in which the contestants finished was as follows:

100-yard dash—First, Coughenour, of Wake Forest; second, Glass; third, Stone, of Washington and Lee. Time, 10 1-5 seconds.

Running High Jump—First, Clarke, of Washington and Lee, second, Hutchins, of Wake Forest; third, Williams, of Washington and Lee, 5 feet 6 inches.

Running Broad Jump—First, Coughenour, of Wake Forest; second, Clarke, third, Anderton, of Washington and Lee, 20 feet 9 inches.

Half mile—First, Stone; second, Anderton, of Washington and Lee; Murchison, Wake Forest.

Pole Vault—Larrick, Satterfield, Ingram, Washington and Lee, each vaulting 9 feet 3 inches.

220-yard dash—Coughenour, of Wake Forest; Glass, of Washington and Lee, tied for first place; third, Highsmith, of Wake Forest.

16-lb Shotput—First, Horton; second, Holliday of Wake Forest; third, Larrick, Washington and Lee, 34 feet 17 inches.

120-yard High Hurdles—First, Satterfield; second, Burke, of Washington and Lee; third, Hutchins, of Wake Forest.

16-lb Hammer Throw—First, Kinneer, of Washington and Lee; second O'Brien, of Wake Forest; third, Walters, of Washington and Lee. 97 feet 3 inches.

One Mile Run—First, Anderton, of Washington and Lee, second, Jones, third Davis, of Wake Forest.

220-yard Low Hurdles—First, Hutchins, of Wake Forest; second, Burke, of Washington and Lee; third, Olive, of Wake Forest.

440-yard Dash—First Murchison, second, Coughenour, of Wake Forest; third, Glass, of Washington and Lee.

COMBINED MUSICAL CLUBS ENTERTAIN.

Under the Able Direction of Mr. Allen Musical Clubs Make Greatest Hit of Season.

One of the most successful entertainments of the year took place on last Friday evening when the combined musical clubs of the university presented a varied program in the Lexington High School auditorium. T. W. Allen was in charge of the performance and its excellence was a compliment to his ability both as a musician and director. The purpose of the clubs in giving the entertainment was to provide funds for presenting the baseball team with sweaters for the southern trip, and the popularity of the object was attested by the large audience present.

The university band established itself more firmly than ever as an indispensable adjunct of college life; its selections were well rendered and enthusiastically received. The mandolin and glee clubs executed their numbers admirably, while the orchestra, playing in their usual faultless style, captivated the listeners. A quartet composed of Bowman, Foreman, Allen, and Carson added materially to the evening's enjoyment. Mr. H. V. Carson rendered a bass solo, selection from Rob Roy. Mr. Carson has an excellent voice, his range and interpretation being unusually good. Mr. V. B. Hodgson, full-back, and Captain-elect of the V. P. I. football team, sang Cubanola Glide, making one of the hits of the evening.

At the close of the program Dr. Granville Campbell presented the sweaters to the members of the team, who were to go on the trip. In a very happy speech he set out the high appreciation of the students and faculty for the excellent games they have been playing; saying that they had been giving us "major league ball for minor league prices."

Tommy Glasgow took charge of the meeting at this point and it was turned into a rooters' gathering. Yells were given for the coach, each member of the baseball team, V. P. I. and Central of Kentucky. Speeches of appreciation of the generosity of the musical clubs were made by Coach Kennoy, Captain Stras, and Manager McDonald.

The concert ended with the singing of the Washington and Lee swing, as it is being published by Mr. Allen, by the audience, led by the musical clubs.

The program was as follows:

1. Medley Overture—Yankee Hash—University Band
2. Quartet—Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep—Bowman, Foreman, Allen, Carson.
3. Waltz—Garden of Dreams Mandolin Club.
4. Selection—
(a) Miss Simplicity
(b) Cuddle Up a Little Closer.
University Orchestra.
5. Medley—Selected—Glee Club.
Intermission.
6. March—87th Regiment—University Band.
7. Mandolin Quintet—Golden Arrow—Chidester, Bowman, Allen, Lantz, Falligant.
8. Bass solo—Selection from Rob Roy—H. V. Carson
9. Overture—Bridal Rose—University Orchestra.
10. Presentation of Coat Sweaters to Baseball Team. Dr. Granville Campbell. Washington and Lee Swing. Speeches.

W. & L. SWING BEING PUBLISHED.

Popular Washington and Lee Song Coming Out in Sheet Music Form About May 20.

For several years the W. & L. swing, as composed by Mark W. Sheafe, '06, has been sung at Washington and Lee on many occasions and has become quite well known among southern college songs. With the old air as a chorus and an additional new part written by Thornton W. Allen, '13, which the student body has already heard rendered by the various musical organizations of the university, the entire song is now being published in sheet music form by a New York house. Words to the whole have been written by Clarence A. Robbins, '11.

There has been an insistent demand in the past for the publication of a song which Washington and Lee could really call her own, and the undertaking will undoubtedly meet with the hearty support of both the student body and alumni. The cover design is an attractive one, having the title and a W. & L. monogram in blue on a pure white background.

Owing to the heavy expense of publication only a limited number of copies have been ordered this year, but the Ring-tum Phi is requested to announce that copies may be reserved by those desiring them either at the Co-op. or at Stewart's where subscription lists have been placed.

Captain Robbins and Satterfield Star in the Pole Vault and Hurdles, Respectively. Glass Wins the 440.

Captain Robbins and his track squad of twenty men, tired out after the Wake Forest meet and the trip to Chapel Hill, were defeated on April 30 by the University of North Carolina track team, by the score of 64 to 44. Although the Tarheels finished with a lead of twenty points, the score at one time stood 36 to 36 and considerable anxiety was felt as to the final outcome.

Washington and Lee again started in the pole vault and hurdles, with Captain Robbins and Satterfield winning first place in the events respectively. A pitiful weakness was shown in the weights. Carolina winning first and second places in both the hammer throw and shotput. Carter Glass winning first in the 440-yard dash, and second places in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, was the individual star of the day. Clark, who has only been out for the track team since Field Day, showed he was not in condition and fell off considerably from what he jumped in both the high and broad at Wake Forest. The star performers for Carolina were: Winston, who won both the dashes, Hoffman, who won the half mile run and lowered the North Carolina State record from 2.05 1-5 to 2.02 4-5, and Thompson, the big football guard, who won the shotput and second place in the hammer throw.

The Blue and White made a very creditable showing against the Tarheels, considering the severity of the trip and the fact that Carolina has the service of Nat. J. Cartwell, the University of Pennsylvania sprinter, as coach of track athletics. Cartwell is not only recognized as the fastest sprinter who has ever represented the Red and Blue on the cinder path, but also as the most consistent 100 man in the country. Recently he defeated Walker, the South African sprinter, who last summer won the 100 metre dash at the Olympic Games in London. Later he joined the professional ranks and defeated Posth, the famous English sprinter, and at the same time lowered the world's professional record for the event. By these two recent victories, he is recognized as the premier sprinter of the world.

The following is the order in which the contestants finished in the various events:

100 Yard Dash—First, Winston, N. C.; second, Glass, W. & L.; third, Stone, W. & L. Time, 10 1-5 seconds.

220 Yard Dash—First, Winston, N. C.; second, Glass, W. & L.; third, Alexander, N. C. Time 24 1-5 seconds.

440 Yard Dash—First, Glass, W. & L.; second, Wakely, N. C.; third, Teague, N. C. Time 54 3-5 seconds.

120 Yard High Hurdles—First, Satterfield, W. & L.; second, Ruffin, N. C.; third, Burke, W. & L. Time, 16 4-5 seconds.

220 Yard Low Hurdle—First, Barker, N. C.; second, Satterfield, W. & L.; third, Wood, N. C. Time, 27 seconds.

Running High Jump—First, Williams, N. C.; second, Clark, W. & L.; third, Ingram, W. & L. Height 5 feet 3 inches.

Running Broad Jump—First, Belk, N. C.; second, Clark, W. & L.; third, Williams, N. C. Distance, 20 feet 1 inch.

Half Mile Run—First, Hoffman, N. C.; second, Anderton, W. & L.; third, Stone, W. & L. Time, 2 minutes, 2 4-5 seconds.

One Mile Run—First, Anderton, W. & L.; second, Hoffman, N. C.; third, Florens, N. C. Time, 4 minutes, 56 1-5 seconds.

Pole Vault—Robbins, W. & L., and Parsley, N. C. tie for first; Larrick and Satterfield, W. & L. tie for third. Height, 10 feet.

16-lb Shotput—First, Thompson, N. C.; second, Axley, N. C.; third, Larrick, W. & L. Distance 34 feet 9 inches.

16-lb Hammer Throw—First, Atkinson, N. C.; second, Thompson, N. C.; third, Kinnear, W. & L. Distance 113 feet 3 1/2 inches.

WASHINGTON LITERARY SOCIETY.

The "Wash" Society held its regular meeting at 8 p. m. Saturday, May 7, in the society hall.

The regular program was carried out. Mr. Converse delivered an oration on "the greatness of the Anglo-Saxon," and Mr. Massey delivered a declamation on "Gray's Elegy."

In the absence of the scheduled debaters the scheduled debate was dispensed with and in its stead was substituted the question, resolved that "College Politics is desirable;" in which every member participated, there being an equal number to uphold each side.

We are always glad to publish any communication that may be handed to us, but we desire to state that we will not be responsible for sentiment expressed.

RAH, CAROLINA!

It is easy to have to take a lesson in courtesy from even the friendliest rival. After the splendid treatment received by the track team at Chapel Hill, however, we see no other course open than very humbly to acknowledge the superiority of the Tarheel brand of hospitality and set about mending our own manners as best we may.

On their arrival at Chapel Hill the team was met by a delegation representing the fraternities of the universities and from that minute until their departure, if we may trust their own reports they owned Chapel Hill. They were royally entertained at the chapter houses for which North Carolina is famous. The night before the meet, at the moving picture shows, slides were shown giving the records of each member of our team and their individual performances at the Wake Forest meet. The following day, at the meet, the cheering section of the grand stand gave yells for every Washington and Lee entry by name as the event was called, and, if the White and Blue showed in front, the winner was as enthusiastically cheered as were the sturdy athletes whom Cartwell has so magnificently trained. Thereafter the story becomes hazy. But we gather that the entire student body of Carolina spent the night on the campus giving the Washington and Lee yells and singing the Swing, which we obligingly taught them, and which they pronounced to be equally as good a song as "Rah Carolina!" It is a matter of history that when the team lined up for a yell at their arrival in Lynchburg they inadvertently started off on the Carolina slogan from habit acquired during that same eventful night on the Chapel Hill campus.

Our hearts are in the right place up here, as Coach Kennoy would say, but our trouble is that we are lazy. We lack organization and we lack initiative. Above all we have never quite grasped the fundamental idea of true sportsmanship, that every visiting team is our guest in exactly the same sense as if any one of us had invited them to our home. We thank Carolina for an object lesson in this respect, and trust it will not be very long before we have an opportunity of returning the favor. We are going to do better after this.

THANKS! SOUTH CAROLINA.

In commenting upon the treatment received by the University of South Carolina baseball team on its trip through North Carolina and Virginia. The Gamecock, the college weekly, of that place, has the following to say about Washington and Lee and V. P. I.:

The team is particularly high in its praises of the treatment received at the hands of V. P. I. in Blacksburg and Washington and Lee in Lexington. Here, not only were the managers most attentive, but every member himself in the light of a host to the visiting team. The South Carolinians were their guests, and they were treated accordingly. When one of the visitors tried to make a purchase, he found it paid for, when one of them walked into a drug store or soda fountain, he was immediately besieged with offers of drinks, and so on in every conceivable way the visitors were made to feel the thoroughness of Virginia hospitality. In fact, one man remarked that he hardly had need for his pocket-book on the entire trip, and came back but a few cents poorer than when he left.

A MARVELOUS GAME.

The student body is wild tonight (Monday) over the great showing made by the team in the first game of the southern trip against the all-star A. & M. bunch at Raleigh. The two teams, from meager reports obtainable, appear to have battled for fifteen innings without a score on either side, but the White and Blue made nine hits as against their opponents four and played an errorless game in the field. Better than all, Moran, the freshman south-paw, struck out 27 men, the college record as against the mighty Sexton's 13. When it is remembered that A. & M. have mowed down all opponents this year and have been touted as having the greatest hitting and fielding aggregation of college ball-tossers ever gotten together in the south, and, furthermore, that the game was played in Raleigh, the most partisan of all towns, where A. & M. is generally supposed to be invincible, it will be seen that we have good cause for exultation, even though we were already convinced that we have the best team in the history of the university and in the south this year.

It is confidently expected that the team will walk away with the series from Trinty, Georgia and Alabama respectively and close the season with practically an uninterrupted string of victories. Preparations are already on foot to greet them on their return with a celebration which will cast a deep shadow over anything ever pulled off in this line in the old Lexington Burg. The sentiment is heard on all sides tonight that "a team that can stand the gaff through fifteen heartbreaking innings like that on a foreign field can have my money and anything else they want."

Below we are publishing a telegram received just after the game with A. & M.:

Raleigh, N. C., May 9.
W. A. McDONALD,
Lexington, Va.

Raleigh says best game ever played here. We out played them; could not bunch hits. Smith, Moran, Efrd, Erwin starred field. Lexington, runs 0, hits 9; Smith, Stras, Rectenwald, Moran; errors, 0. Raleigh, runs 0, hits 4; errors 2 Batteries: Moran, Efrd, fanned twenty-seven. Sexton, Seifert, fanned thirteen.

C. H. Moore, '09, who has been studying medicine at Johns-Hopkins is a guest at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house. We are sorry to learn that he has been compelled to discontinue his course on account of ill health.

Dr. J. H. Latine was suddenly called to Winchester, Va., last night on account of the death of his brother, Dr. Latane of that place, who met his death in an automobile accident. Dr. Latane was a very prominent young physician of Winchester, and we extend to the bereaved family our profound sympathy.

Misses Louise Shields and Lucy Patton are visiting in Blacksburg this week.

Mr. Powell Glass, ex-editor-in-chief of The Ring-tum Phi, and now a member of the staff of the Lynchburg News, was a visitor to the university last Saturday.

GRAHAM-LEE HOLDS MEETING.

Williams Elected Final Orator in Eggleston's Stead.

The Graham-Lee Society held its regular weekly meeting last Saturday evening at which time the regular program was rendered. Mr. Williams entertained the members with a very amusing and interesting oration, and then the debate was taken up. The question was: "Resolved that every immigrant coming into this country should be charged an entrance fee of $40.00. Affirmative, Nichols and Watkins; negative, L. F. Klutz and Coates. After a very interesting debate the judges decided in favor of the affirmative. Mr. Eggleston sent in his written resignation as final orator and the society then elected Mr. Williams by acclamation. Mr. Williams had previously been chosen vice-president for the occasion, and Mr. Heavenor was thereupon selected to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Williams election as final orator.

MR. BOB TO BE PRESENTED.

Two Act Comedy To Be Given Under Auspices of Miss Annie White for Benefit of Athletics.

For the last several years no pretentious college play has been presented here, but it is gratifying to learn that at last college theatricals are to be revived in the presentation next Tuesday night, May 17, of a college play.

The play to be acted is the charming two act comedy of Mr. Bob, with a cast of characters both male and female. The male parts will be played by students of the university, while several Lexington girls will comprise the female portion of the dramatis personae.

Special scenery has been prepared for the performance and the actors have already been rehearsing diligently for the last three weeks.

As so many other entertainments produced here for the benefit of the students, the presentation of this comedy is under the efficient direction of our librarian, Miss Annie R. White, and it goes without saying the play will be a huge success. The Ring-tum Phi is glad to note that the failure of the recent production of grand opera here has not discouraged Miss White from further efforts along the line of entertainment, and it is earnestly hoped this coming production will receive the patronage of both students and town people that it deserves.

Efforts are being made to secure the opera house for the performance, and unless unforeseen obstacles are presented, the play will be given at that place.

The price of admission will be fifty cents, all seats reserved. The proceeds are for the benefit of the different branches of spring athletics. Everyone is urged to turn out and witness this charming comedy, in which will appear the best of local talent.

WASHINGTON AND LEE RALLY.

U. S. Senator Owen Wade Ellis, and Others Take Charge of Arrangements.

The alumni of Washington and Lee University, of Lexington, Va., are planning a general reunion at the coming commencement, June 12 to 15, and indications point to a large attendance.

The movement is under the management of the executive committee of the alumni association, among whom are United States Senator Robert L. Owen, of Oklahoma; Wade H. Ellis, of Ohio, recently assistant to the Attorney General of the United States; Mortimer N. Wisdom, of New Orleans; Judge E. S. McCord, of Seattle, Washington, and John W. Davis, of West Virginia; Frank A. Nelson, of Chattanooga, Tenn., being chairman of the board, and it is proposed to form an active organization that will be permanent in its nature and that will be capable of materially assisting the university.

They probably will also discuss the matter of bringing about the establishment of a suitable memorial to General Robert E. Lee, as suggested some time since by Mr. Roosevelt.

The formal address to the alumni will be made by Dr. William R. Vance, at present the dean of the law department of George Washington University, Washington, D. C., and who next year becomes a professor of law at Yale—Washington Post.

MME LANGENDORFF APPEARS IN LEXINGTON

The World's Great Contralto Singer Gives Recital in Carnegie Library.

The song recital given by Mme. Langendorff in the Carnegie Library Tuesday night, May 3, was one of the highest class entertainments of the season, and it is much to be regretted that the attendance fell far short of meeting the expense of bringing this wonderful contralto to Lexington. Her voice and interpretation are marvelous, and while the program was not as varied, in other ways it surpassed last year's recital.

The program consisted of the following numbers:

1. Aria: Dich teure Halle gruss ich wieder, from Tannhauser . . . Wagner
Schubert
2. (a) Tod und das Madchen
Schubert
(b) Fruhlingsglaube—
Schubert
(c) Zueignung . . . Strauss
(d) Habanera (Carmen)
Bizet.
3. (a) Charity . . . McDowell
(b) Thy Beaming Eyes—
McDowell
(c) Love's Springtide—
Hammond
(d) Still as the Night . Bohm
4. (a) The Spring . . . Hildach
(b) Ouvrez tes yeux bleus—
Massenet

(c) Widmung . . . Franz
(d) Schmeinehirt—Swedish-Folksong.

As encores Mme. Langendorff sang Home, Sweet Home, and the following charming bit from Browning's Pippa Passes:

The year's at the spring;
The day's at the morning;
Morning's at seven;
The hillside's dew-pearled;
The lark's on the wing;
The snail on his thorn;
God's in his heaven—
All's right with the world.

Although the engagement was hardly a financial success, all who had the good fortune to hear her were deeply impressed, and it is to be hoped that Miss Annie White, to whose efforts her appearance here is due, will receive encouragement and assistance from student and Lexington music lovers in securing a return of the great singer next year.

A HARD CRITIC.

The editor of a metropolitan journal was lunching the other day with friends in Boston when some one began talking shop.

"Do you suppose," asked this individual solemnly, "that the time will come when poetry will cease to be written?"

"It's here now," promptly replied the editor.

ANTIGONE PRESENTED IN LEXINGTON.

Play Given in the Original
Greek by Young Ladies
From Randolph--

Lexington footlights presented a cosmopolitan stage last week, every class of entertainment being provided from grand opera in Mme. Langendorff's appearance Tuesday night to screaming vaudeville and Shakesperian drama in the Twelfth Night Motion Pictures at the Lyric, and the college spirit and musical concert night on Friday, the whole reaching a grand climax, in the presentation Saturday night of Antigone, the Greek play of Sophocles, by the young ladies of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, in the V. M. I. Jackson Memorial hall.

The cast of characters was as follows: Antigone, and Ismene, daughters of Oedipus, Misses Letty Mae McRoberts, and Mary Jane Happel; Creon, King of Thebes, Miss Gemma Hopkins; Guard, Miss Bess Kibler; Haemon, son of Creon, and Teiresias, a Seer, Miss Annie C. Whiteside; Boy, Miss Pendleton, of Lexington; First Messenger, Miss Kibler; Eurydice, wife of Creon, Miss Mary Jane Happel; second messenger, Miss May Hughes; chorus leader, Elizabeth Floyd; Chorus of Thebans, Misses Nell Peterson, Sophie Cochran, Essie Lynn, Mamie Denham, Alpha Goodson, Amy Russell, Virginia Bell, Ellen Sheltmann, Ruth Brittain, Alberta Gill, Julia Kibler, Kate Fuller, Frances Abney, Lyde Spragins, Louise Lannam; accompanist, Gladys Grammer; stage manager, Margaret Rhea.

The arrangement and presentation of the play was under the direction of Miss Mabel Kate Whiteside, Adjunct-Professor of Greek of the Randolph-Macon Woman's College.

The scenery used was painted by the students of the art department of the college, a modification of the ancient Grecian stage, and the choral odes were set to Mendelssohn's music, with some adaptations by Miss Grammer.

The story of the Antigone is based upon the series of tragedies that befell the ruling house of ancient Thebes. After the unhappy death of Oedipus his daughters, Antigone and Ismene, lived at the palace with their brothers, Eteocles and Polyneices, joint rulers of the kingdom. The young kings quarreled, however, and Polyneices was driven into exile; but soon returned, leading an Argive invasion. In the conflict that followed, the two brothers died at each others hands, and their uncle, Creon, became king. He decreed that Eteocles should be duly honored as a defender of the city, but that Polyneices should lie unburied as an enemy to the city. Anyone disobeying this decree should be put to death.

At this point the play proper begins. The scene is of early morning, in front of the royal palace of Thebes. Antigone asks her sister, Ismene, to assist her in burying her brother, Polyneices' dead body, altho forbidden by royal decree. Ismene refuses to disobey the king's commands, and Antigone resolves to perform the ceremony herself. Her act is discovered, and she is arrested and brought before the king. Ismene now claims a share in the deed, and hence in the punishment of her sister, but Antigone remonstrates. Haemon, the son of the king, pleads for her acquittal, but without avail, and she is condemned. Teiresias, the blind Seer, hereupon prophecies terrible punishments as the result of Creon's actions, and these prophecies are realized in the suicide of Haemon, the king's son, who stabs himself on seeing the dead body of Antigone, his bride, who had hanged herself, and his mother Eurydice, the wife of Creon, likewise commits suicide on discovering the death of her son.

Altho. the girls had been working all year on the play, it was nevertheless a remarkable intellectual feat to commit to memory an ancient Greek play, and not only to commit it, but to understand it and enter into the spirit of the ancient drama, all of which they accomplished and presented in an impressive and striking manner. Lexington and her two educational institutions congratulated themselves on the opportunity of witnessing the splendid production of Saturday night.

The attendance was good, the hall being well-nigh filled with cadets, students, and town people. Librettoes of the English translation were furnished, so as to enable the un-Hellenic portion of the audience to easily follow the plot. The play was given under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy, and the proceeds were devoted to the Jackson Memorial Hospital Fund.

THE COLLEGE WORLD.

The reluctance of the freshman at Wisconsin to submit to the time-worn custom of resuming their green caps in April until the end of the year has caused the sophomores no little difficulty. But from all indications the old traditions will probably survive.

The members of the editorial staff of the Daily Princetonian recently held a banquet, at which were present representatives of the Yale, Harvard, Cornell and other college publications. President Woodrow Wilson and Dr. Henry Van Dyke responded to toasts.

At Syracuse University a cup is annually awarded the man who has won the varsity letter and is highest in scholastic standing.

An edict has gone out from the University of Michigan that engineers caught smoking on the campus will be suspended.

Of the 179 recipients of Rhodes honors last year, 90 were from the United States, 78 from the British colonies, and 11 from Germany. All the American students but one have returned to the United States for employment.—The Tulane Weekly.

One of the debaters recently elected at Harvard for the annual debate with Yale, is a youth of fourteen years. This recalls Harvard's eleven year-old mathematical genius, who is said to be the best prepared student who ever entered the university.

On April 30, the University of Georgia met Vanderbilt and Virginia in joint debate.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology turned down the so-called "honor system" with regard to examinations at a mass-meeting of students called to discuss the latest idea of the student governing body, the institute committee. The general trend of opinion among the students seemed to be that there is no need of any change in the present method of conducting examinations, as the cheating that the new system is supposed to do away with is practically a negligible quantity.

Former students of Amherst and Princeton, where it is claimed the idea has worked, spoke in favor of the resolution of the institute committee and declared that it would contribute to the benefit of the students morally and would build up an honor system.

Other students, however, argued against it, declaring that it was merely substituting for the watching eyes of one or two proctors, perhaps 40 men who would be taking the examination at the same time as the culprit.

John M. Bierer, a former student of Washington and Lee, however, added the clinching arguments when he stated that for the complete success of the idea it was necessary for a student to be willing to inform against friends and enemies alike, and that few men would do this, with the result that a man with no friends would be "jumped on." He also declared that the matter would soon enter into class politics, and would act for its failure to a remarkable degree. The motion to drop the whole question was passed by a popular vote of the student body by 430 votes to 24.

After a spirited election at the University of Virginia the following officers for the general athletic association were named:

President—John Stuart Hume, of Portsmouth, Va.

Vice-President—Edwin W. Holladay, of Charlottesville.

Advisory Board—Thomas Towles, of the University of Virginia, and William Waiter Douglas, of Baltimore.
