DAN MAHONEY TO COACH BASEBALL

Captained Holy Cross 1911—
Three Years on Minor and Major League Teams

Three years ago this spring during the baseball season of 1911 Washington and Lee crossed bats with Holy Cross on the local diamond, the game resulting in a hard earned victory for the Generals 6 to 5. The captain of the visitors was Dan Mahoney, whose work at short stop was a leading feature of the game. This spring Dan Mahoney comes to Lexington in a much different capacity, as the baseball coach for the coming season.

Since his last appearance here Mahoney has had several years league experience and is amply capable of tutoring the White and Blue diamond proteges. His baseball experience has been wide and varied, much of his time having been spent in managerial capacity. He was born at Lewiston, Me., Sept. 6, 1888, and attended the public schools of that town, graduating from the Lewiston high school in 1907. While in high school he played on the ball team for four years, being captain the last two years. He also played football and ran on the track team. Entering Holy Cross in the fall of 1908 Mahoney played ball the three years following and captained the team in 1911. That year he played only four games with Holy Cross, going to the Cincinnati club of the National league with whom he played for three months and gained valuable knowledge on inside baseball. He was farmed to the Terre Haute team of the Central league, one of the fastest leagues in class 'B.'

Here he finished the season of 1911 and also 1912. During the past season of 1913 he was kept from the game by injuries which prevented his playing. Mahoney also had considerable experience in summer ball during his collegiate career before entering the ranks of the professionals. He played on various resort teams in New England and New York, managing the Richfield Springs N. Y. team in 1910. Under Mahoney on the team were DeMott of Lafayette, who went to Cleveland, as did Mills of Williams. Vernon of Amherst went to the Chicago White Sox and Mahoney himself to Cincinnati, which speaks well for the personnel of the team.

Like Elcock the new football coach, Mahoney is an all around athlete. During his three years at Holy Cross he played quarter back on the Varsity, and was one of the fastest men on the track team. He still holds the forty yard indoor record of 4 3-5 seconds.

He is a natural leader and popular among his fellows, essential qualities in a successful coach, and certainly possesses a thorough knowledge of baseball. Mahoney will arrive in Lexington within a few weeks and baseball practice will commence immediately. Prospects are bright for an exceptionally good team.

SIOUSSAT MAKES NOTABLE ADDRESS

Speaks Before University Assembly—Subject "History and the Living Man"

Dr. St. G. L. Sioussat, professor of history at Vanderbilt University, addressed the regular monthly assembly this morning at 12 o'clock. His subject was "History and the Living Man." By way of introduction the speaker gave a brief account of some of the personal impressions which he derived as an onlooker, first, in the chamber of the house of representatives when President Wilson read his first message in regard to Mexico, at the inauguration on March 4th; and, third, at the Democratic National convention in Baltimore.

After commenting at some length on the historical questions suggested by witnessing these events, he proceeded in the body of his address to discuss the general subject of history. The speaker pointed out the small amount, after all, that the individual can see with his own eyes, and the consequent need of historical materials, and the fact that historical writing is the use of these materials. Dr. Sioussat then compared history and literature, history and law, and history and science.

The speaker then discussed some of the modern conceptions of history, and showed how vitally human is it in contrast with the old "dry as dust" point of view, on the one hand, and the merely romantic or spectacular point of view on the other. Dr. Sioussat concluded by calling attention to the need of the study of intellectual history, what men have thought about in the world; and of economic history,—the way that men have tried to get a living; and also making an appeal for the need of the trained man or the man with the trained mind and the historically minded man to deal with the great problems that confront us, saying that such a man can never be a narrow man, but must always or should always take the broadest kind of a view of life.

Dr. Sioussat is a very attractive speaker, and his address proved intensely interesting to the student body.

MINSTREL SHOW IS PLANNED HERE

New Departure in Way of Entertainment Proposed by Musical Clubs

At a meeting of the officers of the Combined Musical clubs, it was decided to hold their first entertainment this year in the form of a minstrel show. This feature will be entirely new to Washington and Lee, as no other such entertainment has ever been attempted on so large a scale, or with so much assurance of success as this one promises. It should prove a welcome variation from the program of former years, when rows of stiff bosomed shirts and claw hammers, appeared on the stage and went through with a dozen or so agonizing musical numbers. The plan is to produce a variety show, numbering among its attractions the glee club, quartette, "Scrap Iron" quartette, orchestra, mandolin club, a minstrel show, a vaudeville skit, besides jugglers, dancers, tight wire walkers, jokesters, etc. Mr. E. P. Davis has been appointed stage director by the officers of the clubs, and he will have entire management of the program. All the officers and the clubs are hard at work and, with the talent in school which we believe exists, there can be no doubt of the success of the show. But there is one condition attached to this last remark. The show cannot be a success if all those who have ability to help, do not come out and lend their aid. The field this year has been broadened to include almost anyone who can do something toward entertaining an audience. Musical ability is not the only requisite. Several trips are being arranged for and if the show "makes a hit" at home, it will be taken on these trips. If no interest is taken in the show, then it stays at home. So don't be bashful or modest about your talents, say the musical club leaders. They know who you are and you can't hide from them. Anyone who competes for a place in the show will derive a lot of pleasure for himself.

W. & L. EASILY DOWNS OLD RIVAL

V. P. I. Is Defeated 48 to 17—
Little General Also Make Great Showing

Displaying a more effective offense, Washington and Lee was returned a victor in a spirited battle with V. P. I. Friday night, the final count standing 48 to 17. The Generals gained the lead from the outset and maintained a generous margin over the cadets until the close.

While the General's attack was listless at intervals, V. P. I. never endangered throughout the battle. Washington and Lee opened with a spurt, amassing twenty-four points in the opening period while the cadets corralled but three field goals. Although the second five was ushered into the fray during the last half of the second period V. P. I. was outplayed and outpointed.

While the teamwork of the victors wavered at times, the forwards shot with amazing success, registering goals from lengthy distances and difficult angles. The individual star of the victory was big "Buck" Miles. Inconceivable goals were scored by the towering center, three field goals being landed from territory amid field.

Captain Bear and Lile aided in effective passing, which enabled McCain and Young to swell the aggregate total with successful tosses into the netting. As the result of the vigilant guarding of the cadet forwards, V. P. I. was forced to battle throughout on the defensive.

The entrance of the Little Generals had little effect upon the score of the battle, for V. P. I. was outscored in the melee with the second quintette, Seeley, Zaiss, Kerns, Shultz and Frost forming a very effective combination.

The game was battled without the usual display of football tactics, and the fouls called were for minor offenses, few personal fouls being received. In shooting faults, Miles excelled Engleby, scoring four in six attempts while the latter corralled but three in fourteen trials.

Miles opened activities by fouling, but Engleby failed to profit from the fault. After the V. P. I. guards had clung closely to the General forwards, McCain received an accurate pass from Lile and scored the first basket. Miles scored under the basket, while Captain Bear followed with a sensational deliberate toss for goal from midfield.

The speed of the Generals awed the cadets, for Bear and Young gained goals from the field within close proximity of the basket. Miles fouled and Engleby again failed to score. A moment later on a clever thrust, he scored the first point of the game for V. P. I.

The Generals started a relentless fusillade of shots at the netting. McCain, Bear, Young and Miles registered in sequence, while McCain countered with two successive goals. Engleby interrupted the spurt by shooting his second goal. A third

SPECIAL TRAIN SECURED FOR LYNCHBURG GAME

Leaves Lexington at 3:15 P.M.—
Entire Expense of Trip
Is $2.50

The annual basketball game between Washington and Lee and Virginia in Lynchburg, which takes place next Saturday, will as usual decide the state championship. It is sure to be a battle royal, and will be well worth the expenditure of time and money necessary to see it. A special train will be run to the game, leaving Lexington at 3:15 Saturday afternoon and starting back from Lynchburg about 11:15 that night. The round trip fare, including admission to the game and a seat in the W. and L. cheering section, will be $2.50.

The management of the Virginia team has secured a block of 125 seats for the use of the students from Charlottesville, who are coming to the game, and at least that number of Washington and Lee supporters should be on hand to urge the White and Blue team to victory. No definite number of seats has yet been set aside for the Lexington contingent, but ample seating space will be provided for all those who go down to the game. As mentioned already this number should be large, for Virginia has one of the best teams in the history of the school, and is coming to Lynchburg expecting to carry off the championship of the State.

CAROLINIANS WANT GAME

Raleigh and Charlotte After Turkey
Day Between A. & M. and
W. & L.

The growing interest in the annual game between A. and M. of North Carolina and Washington and Lee on Thanksgiving is evidenced by the efforts now being made by the chamber of commerce of the cities of Raleigh and Charlotte to have the big battle staged within their respective limits.

Both have adopted resolutions to that effect and have written to the authorities of both institutions presenting their advantages. Former Manager "Mark" Hanna, however states that there is no chance of the proposed change, as contracts have already been closed for the park in Norfolk next fall.

GRAHAM-LEE SOCIETY

At the regular weekly meeting of the Graham Lee society, Mr. J. C. Calkins rendered a very pleasing selection from the "Rubaiyat." He was followed by Mr. J. E. Bear, who spoke on the recent cutting in express rates, due to the competition of the parcel post. Mr. Charles Kupfer read a humorous selection.

The debate was on the question: "Resolved, That delegates to national conventions should be chosen by direct presidential preferential primaries." The affirmative side was upheld by Messrs. W. C. Preston and H. C. Holden, while the negative was maintained by Messrs. W. J. Cox and J. M. Bright. The decision of the judges was rendered in favor of the affirmative. A feature of the evening was the quite spirited voluntary debate which followed.

Ambassador Page, accompanied by his son, Arthur Page, arrived in New York last week and spent the week end at Leeds.

DR. LATANE ADDRESSES THE FORTNIGHTLY CLUB

Former Professor of History at W. & L.
Pays Brief Visit to Old Haunts

Dr. John H. Latane, until this year professor of history at Washington and Lee, and now head of the history department of Johns Hopkins, was in Lexington Friday and Saturday of last week. Dr. Latane came to Lexington chiefly for the purpose of reading a paper before the Fortnightly club on the "American Association of College Professors," a new organization composed of professors from many of the leading American colleges, having as its purpose the increase of professor's influence in the formation of educational policies, which are now largely directed by college presidents.

Dr. Latane said he had enjoyed very much seeing all his old friends in Lexington, and only regretted that he did not have time to see more of them. Part of his visit was taken up with odds and ends of private business, which made it very difficult for him to look up his old associates here. His interest in Washington and Lee, Dr. Latane said, was just as strong as ever, and he was delighted to see the University in such a flourishing condition.

SOPHOMORES PLAN BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

The Sophomores met Wednesday and formulated plans for a class basketball team. R. A. Lewis was elected manager, and will proceed immediately to get dates with outside teams. The Sophs. have every promise of an extra good aggregation of net tossers. Nelson, Anderson, Cole, Gooch and Wardlow of last year's squad will report, along with about fifteen others who have agreed to respond, and make a stab for the honors; and to say the least they bid fair to gather in the guardian spirits of the other classes.

RELAY TRYOUTS THURSDAY

The crack of the starter's gun on Thursday will set about fifteen candidates clipping the cinders to decide who will represent the White and Blue on the relay team. According to Captain "Monty" Hayne the material is very promising. The team will feel the loss of Captain Hayne, who will not be able to begin training until about March 1st. "Cy" Young, who is also an expert at the dashes, will be out after the basketball season.

BEVERLY OF GRAUSTARK

The Lyric has billed an unusually good attraction for Monday of next week in "Beverly of Gaustark," which will afford the students the opportunity of seeing the dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's noted novel of the same name.

FRESHMAN MEETING

At a meeting of the Freshman class Wednesday, a Calyx assessment of thirty cents was levied, and some discussion made of giving a dance to the upper classmen. For the present, however, the matter has been dropped.

CROSS-BARBER

Invitations have just been issued to the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Cross and Mr. George Holbrook Barber. It will take place on Saturday, Feb. 14th, at 7:30 o'clock in the R. E. Lee Memorial church.

Just a moment please while we hammer in the fact that the young men who sell our clothing at nearly all the large Eastern universities are going to stop off at Washington and Lee on Wednesday and Thursday, February 4th and 5th.

We're hope you fellows will be interested enough to look us over for we've lots of interesting things to show you.

DELAY CAUSES UNEASINESS

Men Are Unusually Slow Ordering Costumes for Fancy Dress Ball

The distress signal may be hoisted at any moment for the fancy dress ball, because of the fact that the men are not reporting to see about their costumes. Miss White states that the success of the ball depends on the response of the students to this final request, and that it is absolutely necessary that they answer this "S. O. S." call, or the ball will not be the success that should be. An order will be sent off this week, and it is imperative that every man who has not done so already will confer with Miss White at once.

The officers of the ball and chairmen of committees were announced last week. The full list of committeemen is as follows: Invitation: Shultz, chairman; Bie, Kellner, Moore, E. S., Hayne, F. B.

DR. HOWERTON AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The Generals will meet the Maryland Agricultural college tonight for next to the last basketball game on the home floor. It will also be the final opportunity to see the team in action before the championship battle in Lynchburg.

The scrubs will meet Randolph Macon academy.

Yale's freshman class is predominantly Episcopalian. The Congregationalists, Presbyterians, Catholics, Methodists and Hebrews follow in order.

By a new regulation, Princeton requires every undergraduate to attend at least one half of the Sunday morning chapel services.

The supreme court of Mississippi has handed down the decision that the legislature has the right to pass any law that it sees fit in regard to regulating the State University. This decision upholds the legislature in prohibiting fraternities at the University.

Although the majority of students at Columbia voted in favor of the honor system in examinations, the faculty decided not to adopt it, owing to the large number who were opposed.

The Mississippi A. and M. college has awarded a contract for a new $60,000 Y. M. C. A. building. The students and faculty raised $20,000 and John D. Rockefeller contributed the remainder.

The students of the University of Washington are taking steps toward getting former President Roosevelt to accept the presidency of their institution.

The Final Ball

Now that plans for the 1914 final ball are well under way, we wish to urge upon the student body that they give to the officers and committees of the ball their united support. The final ball is the one big dance of the year which is given by the student body as a whole and its success is entirely dependent upon the interest shown by every man in the University. The students are looked upon as the host to all alumni and visitors who are in attendance upon finals and the body of students gets all the credit for the success of the events which mark the close of the college year. Washington and Lee is justly proud of her finals of years past and this year must not be an exception. The point is just this: It takes a large amount of money to finance the social features of the dance, more than one, who does not actually know, can guess. Music, decorations, lights, and numerous other items swell the expense accounts to great proportions. Thus it becomes the duty of every student to subscribe liberally to the ball and make it the distinctive and successful event that it has always been. The student body has been reduced in numbers and consequently it is more imperative that every man subscribe all that he can in order to maintain the standard of former years. Lastly, do it now, so that those in charge can soon know what their resources will be.

Love the City

O Mores! O Tempores! Verily we have fallen upon evil days. The very strongholds of righteousness are assailed by the workers of destruction. A fortress we had supposed impregnable, where, should circumstances ever make it necessary, we thought a final stand might successfully be made, and whose inmates we had imagined would shed their last drop of blood in loyalty to the chivalric traditions of the past, seems fast crumbling before the Amazonian onslaughts of the attacking hosts. Here is the terrible truth. In the state of Virginia, within the county of Rockbridge and, alas that we must confess it, right in the town of Lexington, yes dreamy Arcadian Lexington, there is an organization afoot whose very existence must arouse a sinister foreboding in the heart of every lover of the nation.

It is none other than the "Suffrage League."

The history and the purposes of this league we have not time to detail. Nor have we the heart to tell of how we find in its ranks those we had deemed the very pillars of the order of things which now are and ought not to be changed. Suffice it to say that the problem is before us, and that it is serious.

Friend, Romans and Countrymen, this calamity must be averted! Measures must be taken instantly. We therefore issue a clarion call for the formation of a Student Anti-Suffrage League. Come, ye patriots, come.

Proceedings of the anti suffrage league with list of officers will be published in the next issue of the Ring tum Phi.

Had you thought of it—Another unique, invaluable and dispensable possession of Washington and Lee's—Siamese.

Alumni Notes

R. N. LATTURE

The editor of this department will be pleased to receive any information concerning the alumni which is of interest to the present student body or to the alumni.

S. A. Honaker, '12, sailed recently for Rio de Janeiro, to accept a lucrative position as civil engineer.

G. O. McCrohan, Jr., '12, of Wheeler county, Tex., has yielded to strong solicitation to become a candidate for county attorney. The county paper says that "if qualification counts he should have no trouble in getting the office."

T. L. Keister, '13, recently became a member of the law firm of Kime, McNulty & Fox of Salem, Va. He succeeds Mr. Kime, whose headquarters hereafter will be in Roanoke.

W. O. Trenor, '13, who is a student in the Yale law school, went to his home in Roanoke last week to be operated on for appendicitis.

Edgar Sydenstricker, M. A., '02, who has been for five years managing editor of the Lynchburg Advance, has resigned to accept a position with the immigration bureau at Washington.

Luther G. Scott, '11, is practicing law in Bluefield, W. Va. He is secretary of the local alumni association and is secretary of the permanent organization of the law class of 1911. In this capacity he gets out and distributes each year among the members of his class a booklet called the "Annual Law Class, '11."

Louisiana Alumni Have Banquet

The following is a clipping from the New Orleans Times Democrat of Jan. 20th:

"The Louisiana Alumni association of Washington and Lee university, at Lexington, Va., gave their annual dinner at Galatoire's Monday night. Jan. 19th has always been chosen for this celebration, as it is the birthday of General Robert E. Lee, the great Confederate commander, whose name the University bears, who was its president for years immediately after the Civil war, and who established it on a solid foundation as one of the South's great colleges.

Previous to the dinner the alumni held a business meeting at which officers of the association were elected: William F. Pinckard, president, to succeed the late Judge Horace L. Dufour; William A. Bell as vice president, and Louis P. Bryant, Jr., as secretary.

Among those who had promised to be present were Governor Hall and ex Senator Murphy J. Foster, both ardent Washington and Lee alumni. The attendance included about an equal number of the older alumni who were at the University during the day when General Lee was in charge, and the younger graduates of the last few years. Each speaker was asked to tell the story of the college during the period of his attendance, so as to show its steady progress upward. The latest graduates told of the great advance made in the last two years, under the management of the new president, Dr. Smith, and the success that had greeted his policy, which aims to secure as undergraduates young men of character and standing rather than numbers; and it was stated that Washington and Lee was one of the few colleges, if not the only one in the country that had shut out students because it did not have room for all who applied for admission.

The striking toast of the evening was given by Mortimer N. Wisdom, for many years president of the association. Other speakers were: Dr. C. P. Wilkinson, Dr. William Alexander, Norman Walker, T. J. Bartlette, J. H. Mullings, W. R. Milling, S. L. Herald, W. A. Bell, William F. Pinckard, Louis P. Bryant, Jr., Boyd Watkins, Walter H. Hoffman, E. J. Hart, Basil Thompson, R. E. Millings, and others were among the alumni in attendance.

A telegram was sent to President Smith at Lexington, Va., extending the University the good wishes of the association, and inviting him to be present, as the guest of the Louisiana association at its next annual dinner, Jan. 19, 1915.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

W. M. BROWN

Clifford Roe on White Slave Traffic

Sometime during the latter part of February the local association is expecting to have Mr. Clifford Roe of Chicago, deliver an address on the white slave traffic. Mr. Roe, who has been engaged for a number of years in making investigations along this line, is a recognized authority on the subject, though he is a comparatively young man. His work has carried him to all parts of the country, and at present he is devoting his time to lecturing in an effort to inform the public of the conditions really existing in our large cities. He also renders valuable assistance to the vice commission which was active in Chicago recently. Last year he was appointed by congress as delegate to represent the United States at the Seventh International Purity congress at Minneapolis. His work is endorsed by Secretary Bryan, and his visit will no doubt prove most interesting to the student body at large.

Number of Alumni to Return

As previously noted in these columns several alumni have signified their intention of returning to the University at the time of the Mott campaign in May. Among these are W. J. Wilcox, who was general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., 1911-1912, R. B. Stephenson, W. M. Miller, J. M. Montgomery, and "Pat" Osbourn. T. McP. Glasgow, for the past two years an instructor in the Danville school for boys, Danville, Va., and J. R. Caskie of Lynchburg, Va., will also probably be here. In addition to the above alumni, S. Waters McGill, general secretary of the Nashville City Y. M. C. A., is expected. Mr. McGill is the most popular leader at the summer conferences which are held at Black Mountain, N. C., in June of each year, and he will lead in the musical program of the campaign.

Professor Hogue's Address

Professor Addison Hogue made the address at the Y. M. C. A. last Tuesday night, and his remarks were mainly explanatory of certain difficult passages of scripture. Several passages which are apparently contradictory he easily reconciled, and others, which are often misunderstood, he placed in their true light. No man who heard him failed to catch new ideas as to the true meaning and import of the Bible.

JUNIOR PROM

The Junior Academic class is fast completing its arrangements for the Junior "Prom" which is to be one of the two big midwinter dances. Although the Junior Law class, which was invited to participate as a body refused an invitation was issued to all members of that class who entered with the Junior Academic class to enter the figure, and quite a number have signified their intention of accepting. The "Prom" will be led by F. B. Hayne of New Orleans, La.

opportunity was given Engleby to boost the score on a foul by Miles, but his attempt was unfruitful. Left unguarded, Engleby registered his third field goal.

The Generals rallied and swelled the score to 24 to 6 before the half closed. Young tallied. Although he failed to score a foul when two cadets pounced upon Young, Miles closed the period by thrilling the attendance with a dazzling toss from the middle of the field—a wonderful feat.

Three successive fouls were called on the Generals before the scoring activities of the second period opened. Engleby missed on Lile's foul, but scored the first of two infringements by Miles. The elongated center retaliated by scoring his third sensational goal—tossed from the center of the court. McCain annexed a pretty basket, but the progress was interrupted by Engleby's failure following Lile's foul. Miles' dribble netted a goal, and just missed adding another point on Saunders' foul. A quick tap registered a goal when the sphere bounded from the net.

Powell, a substitute, celebrated his entry by scoring a goal. Bear, following a tossup, ricocheted the ball into the netting, while Miles scored easily on Wyatt's foul. Captain Bear added another basket. Both quintettes scored when a double foul on Miles-Powell was called. Engleby could not fathom the rim on McCain's foul. McCain and Young score. Miles missed Cocke's foul, but Engleby scored on Lile's foul. Powell scored a goal and the thirteenth point for V. P. I., but Engleby again failed to tally on Lile's foul. A double netted the Generals a point but V. P. I. met with ill success.

At this juncture, the coaches called the Varsity from the court and injected the entire second team. The little Generals showed fine spirit and fought hard. Seeley missed Wyatt's foul, but Engleby scored. When Kerns' fouled, the V. P. I. tosser again failed. Shultz scored and was followed by Powell. Seeley and Engleby missed on tosses resulting from fouls, but Kerns scored a field goal and Seeley concluded the triumph with a goal from Powell's foul.

Summary:

W. and L.	Position	V. P. I.
Bear	left forward	Engleby
McCain	right forward	Fitzgerald
Miles	center	Painter
Young	right guard	Saunders

Substitutions: W. and L.—Zaiss for Bear; Seeley for McCain; Shultz for Miles; Frost for Lile; Kerns for Young. V. P. MARKS SENT TO PREP SCHOOLS

Among the other plans that Dr. Smith has put into service to attract attention to Washington and Lee is the sending out to the different prep schools where this year's freshmen prepared a list of the marks by the students from that school. This is calculated to show the quality of work done by the average student at the University, and will undoubtedly serve to attract other pupils from the same prep schools.

COLGATE OFFERS GAME

Attractive Proposition From Conquerors of Old Eli—Added Interest in Swarthmore Game

A proposition was received during the past week from the Athletic authorities of Colgate University offering Washington and Lee a football game for next fall. Colgate made the most remarkable showing of any of the minor Eastern colleges last season, decisively defeating Yale, and having two of its players, Huntington, quarterback, and Brooks, guard, placed on several All American picks. But as the White and Blue schedule had already been completed, no action could be taken, except to refuse the offer. The schedule already includes one Eastern eleven, Swarthmore, and it is the policy of the authorities here not to go outside of this section for more than one game.

The game with Swarthmore, it may be noted, has taken an added interest in view of the fact that the University of Virginia's schedule just announced, shows the Orange and Blue playing the Pennsylvanians at Swarthmore on Nov. 14th, just one week after Washington and Lee plays the same school in Lynchburg.

A direct basis of comparison between the two Virginia schools will therefore be afforded.

The loyal alumni of the Randolph Macon schools met last Wednesday and organized for the year. They laid plans for a banquet with refreshments which will be held sometime during the spring, and elected the following officials: W. H. Athletic Comment

J. N. DANIEL

The biggest battle of the year for the White and Blue basketball tossers will occur next Saturday night when they meet the University of Virginia in Lynchburg. It is an undisputed fact that the Orange and Blue has one of the strongest combinations in the history of the institution.

In comparing the personnel of the teams which clash for the championship in the Hill City, it is interesting to note that none of the members of the Virginia quint played on the football team, while of the Generals, three of the five were stars on the gridiron.

The work of Bear of W. and L. and Powell of V. P. I. were the bright features of an otherwise listless game. The Tech guard made two sensational tosses after dribbles the length of the floor. The lack of "pep" was very evident due, no doubt, to the exceedingly warm weather.

On to Lynchburg. There'll be a championship decided there.

Statistics show that the Generals are not scoring as frequently in 1914 as they did in 1913, the change of courts being assigned as the probable cause.

Governor Craig of North Carolina, announces that he will recommend to the trustees of the University of North Carolina and A. and M. College, the matter of resuming athletic relations. This action on the part of the executive is alleged to be the direct result of the present controversy between Nat Cartmell and "Jack" Hegarty.

Another Governor has taken a hand in football but in a somewhat different manner from the Tar Heel governor. Mr. Blease of South Carolina, has suggested in his message to the legislature that the sport be abolished in the Palmetto state.

The North Carolina Aggies and the Virginia Techs have renewed athletic relations after having been at "outs" for two years. The two schools will meet in football in Roanoke on Nov. 14, 1914.

The Brooklyn Eagle lately picked an "All Brooklyn" football team made up of Brooklyn men who played at prominent institutions during the 1913 season. The Eagle goes on to say that the aggregation would be stronger than any team that could be chosen from among the players sent to college by any other city of the union. Ketcham of Yale, is named as the captain, and Miles is given right tackle, the paper saying that the "former Erasmus player is considered the best tackle in the South." Among the substitutes is named Dingwall.

A. and M. will take Virginia's place on the Georgetown University football schedule, arrangements practically having been completed.

The captains of the baseball teams representing Yale, Princeton, Navy and Johns Hopkins, have all expressed themselves as being in favor of allowing members of college nines to participate in organized summer baseball. The Tiger captain says: "I cannot see why a man whose talent runs to baseball should not help himself through college by using that talent just as well as a man whose abilities are more scholastic and who earns money by tutoring."

Here is some advance dope on the Washington and Lee-Virginia basketball fracas staged for next Saturday night:

Place—the auditorium in Lynchburg, Va.

Time—8 o'clock.

Officials—still in doubt.

Lineup:

W. and L.	Position	Virginia
Bear, capt.	left forward	Nichols
McCain	right forward	Stickley
Miles	center	Strickland or Rixey
Lile	right guard	Campbell, capt.

Not counting an insignificant game with Jefferson high school, Virginia has played Gallaudet, Kentucky, George Washington, Randolph-Macon College and Catholic University. Against these schools she has scored 260 points to 70 by opponents.

W. and L. has played South Carolina, George Washington, Catholic University, and V. P. I., running up 160 points to 48 by opponents.

The Generals and Virginia have both met Catholic University and George Washington University. The scores were:

Virginia, 62; Catholic, 22.

W. and L., 26; Catholic, 9.

Virginia, 43; George Washington, 7.

W. and L., 30; George Washington, 17.

On comparative scores the Orange and Blue has the edge but, at best comparative scores cannot be relied upon, and especially is this true in basketball, where the courts are so different. The Orange and Blue seems to play an open game, feeding the ball to Nichols, their star forward, who frequently scores half the points in a game. It will take fighting and lots of it, to win, but in this quality the Generals are never found lacking. Let every loyal rooter be on hand when the whistle blows.

"Slick" Stewart, catcher and utility man on the W. and L. baseball team in 1912 and part of 1913 season, refuses to sign with Norfolk unless he receives a salary increase. He threatens to join the Federals.

Campbell and Stickley, guard and forward respectively of the Virginia basketball team practiced Saturday afternoon on the large City Auditorium court in preparation for the strenuous struggle on the 7th.

Joe Turbyfill, for three years a star outfielder on the White and Blue, is a student in the University of North Carolina law school and it is reported that "Turby" will cover the territory around second base for the Tar Heel nine, Captain Bailey being slated for a new infield position.

The University of Virginia will play Swarthmore at Swarthmore in football in the 1914 season. This game was just recently scheduled.

WASHINGTON LITERARY SOCIETY

An interesting program was rendered at the meeting of the Washington Literary society held Saturday night. An oration the "Pride of America" was delivered by P. D. Barns, in which he discussed the great work done by the United States in building the Panama canal. The debate, Resolved, That labor unions are injurious to the best interests of the United States, was argued by S. F. Chadwick and D. A. Falk for the affirmative, and M. L. Masinter and T. R. Hamilton for the negative. On the resignation of P. W. Derrickson from the program of the society's annual celebration, S. F. Chadwick was elected to fill his place.

"Larry" Wilson, an old football star, was in town Friday night, and witnessed the V. P. I. basketball game.
