RENEW WORK FOR MISSIONARY FUND

Arthur Rugh Will Assist Y. M. C. A. to Raise Balance For Representative to India

Beginning next Sunday, a campaign will be inaugurated among the members of the Washington and Lee student body to complete the amount necessary for supporting an alumnus of the University in India. The campaign will last through Monday, and will be led by Arthur Rugh, of the Student Volunteer Movement, New York City, assisted by M. W. Lee, State Student Secretary for Virginia, and others.

Arthur Rugh is a native of Pennsylvania, and graduated from Wittenberg College in 1901. While in college he was for two years president of the Y. M. C. A., president of his class in his sophomore and senior years, member of the college glee club, basket ball team, pitcher on the baseball team, and captain in his senior year.

In 1901 Mr. Rugh was State Student Secretary for Ohio, and in the following year he travelled for the Student Volunteer Movement. He is at present National Student Secretary for China having, entered the service in that field in 1903. During his six years in China he travelled through most of the provinces, visiting practically all of the important cities in the interest of the Association work, and was on the inside of the student life while the Revolution was in progress. He has been kept in America for a longer term than the usual furlough, and has been very helpful to many of our leading asso-

MARSHALL IS DOWNED BY SCORE OF 27 TO 0

Green and White Men From West Virginia Hold Generals to One Score in First Half But Are Overcome in Last Period

BY REUBEN A. LEWIS

Checked by Marshall College's stubborn stand during the first half, Washington and Lee sputtered in the last two periods and achieved a 27 to 0 victory over the West Virginians on Wilson Field Saturday. Marshall made a plucky fight to halt the advances of the General backfield, but did not succeed except in the second period when Washington and Lee met with two untimely penalties and experienced the only costly fumble of the clash. In each of the other three periods, a General sped over the goal line for a touchdown.

Redoubling the charge in the second half, Washington and Lee penetrated the Marshall defense and, by virtue of their versatile attacks scored three touchdowns. The central figures in the advance of the Generals were the fleetfooted Cy Young and the crafty Johnny Barrett. During the four periods of football that produced innumerable thrills among the cold, benumbed spectators, Young registered 189 yards advance, while Barrett gained 110 yards.

Washington and Lee offered a crafty attack, making a marked success in the use of the forward pass. The most sensational gains of the battle were attributed to Young's skill in hauling down the soaring spirals of Johnny Barrett. In the third quarter the agile quarterback registered a 47 yard gain and a second advance of 30 yards just prior to the close of the fray. The far flighted spirals were varied with the short passes from Young to Barrett, which afforded gains to the Generals of 6, 7 and 18 yards.

Penalties were inflicted eight times during the struggle. Washington and Lee was penalized on six counts and reversed an aggregate distance of 55 yards. But for these setbacks, one or more touchdowns would have swelled the score. Marshall was penalized twice.

Though seldom put to test, the Marshall backs were unable to pierce the Washington and Lee line and gained but 35 yards during the four periods. Forward passes which Thornburg caught gave Marshall 23 yards, while short plunges by Workham, Calloway and Bates were responsible for the scant distance remaining. But, on the defense, the West Virginians put up a plucky fight and often threw Young, Barrett and Sweetland for losses. The work of Okey Taylor, the huge right tackle, featured.

In punting, Washington and Lee had a distinct edge, as Young's spirals outdid the efforts of either Workman or Carter. While the General forwards nailed the receiver of a punt or kick in his tracks, the Washington and Lee backs made several sensational returns.

Buck Sweetland, who returned to the gridiron at left halfback, showed bursts of old time form when he broke through the line for neat gains. The sturdy back gained 69 yards. Johnny Sorrells proved a reliable line plunger and annexed 63 yards during the progress of the clash.

The Initial Score

The first touchdown was registered by Young in the opening period.

To start the contest Barrett returned Workman's kick 15 yards to the 30 yard line. Young reeled off a left end run of 33 yards, while Sorrells' 3 yard advance was followed by a 15 yard penalty on Marshall for holding. Buck Sweetland pierced the line for 19 yards, advancing the pigskin within the scoring zone. At this juncture, the Marshall defense stiffened. Sorrells was held to one yard on the initial trial, while Taylor hurled Barrett for a 2 yard loss. Young skirted left end for 7 yards. The forward pass was essayed as a means of scoring the initial touchdown. However Calloway intercepted the pass but was downed for a seeming safety behind his own goal line. However Referee Randolph ruled the play illegal, as the passer was not 5 yards

SPECIAL TRAIN TO V.P.I. GAME

Big Crowd Expected to Attend Annual Clash With Techs in Roanoke

The first game of importance in the South Atlantic 1915 football season will be played between W. and L. and Virginia Polytechnic Institute at the Fair Grounds in Roanoke Saturday, October 16. For years this game has drawn a big crowd and has been attended by the student bodies of the two institutions. This year it promises to be of greater interest than ever on account of the narrow margin of the Generals' victory last year, and the reported strength of the Techs this year.

The Generals' entire squad, numbering nearly forty, the three famous coaches, two trainers, the managerial staff and the squad physician will leave for Roanoke on the special train at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, reaching Roanoke before noon. They will use the commodious dressing rooms at the new Roanoke Y. M. C. A. building, which privilege has been extended by the officials of the association to the Blue and White management.

Along with the team will go practically the entire student body of Washington and Lee as well as a large number of townspeople. Arrangements will be made to accommodate a crowd of five hundred or more. The corps of cadets from V. P. I. will arrive in Roanoke at about the same time that the Lexington train is due. Their train should carry close to five hundred supporters.

Tickets for the big game were placed on sale in Roanoke Monday

GENERALS ARE PRAISED BY INDIANAPOLIS STAR WRITER

Ralston Goss Witnessed Wesleyan Game---Elaborate Preparations Being Made For Indiana Game

"It is a steam roller, composed of brawn, speed and brains, that Washington and Lee University will send to Indianapolis to meet Indiana at Washington Park, Oct. 30," writes Ralston Goss, Sporting Editor of the Indianapolis Star, after witnessing the football game between W. and L. and Wesleyan in Lynchburg, October 2.

The bare fact that the Star would send a man as far as Lynchburg from Indianapolis should give some idea of just how the people of Indiana look upon the meeting of the team from their state university with the 1914 champions of the South Atlantic division. And in addition to this the praise given the Generals by the Indianapolis sports writer shows that on his part he will look for a hard fought game when the two teams meet. W. and L. is, no doubt, not well known through Indiana, for it is the first time that a football team from here has traveled that far west in its conquests, but there is no doubting the fact that the "Hoosiers" are not expecting a "practice game" with some insignificant team. Goss was lavish in his praise of the mighty Generals, and especially so of Young, Barrett, Shultz and Harrison, naming them in that order as the most important men on the team. He speaks of Barrett as the leading ground gainer and compares him with Johnnie McGovern. Speaking of Young he says: "This man appears to be a star in every department of play." Continuing he says: "Next in the order of their apparent value to the team attack and defense come Captain Shultz and Right End Harrison." Of Shultz he says: "Shultz is a credit to the state of Indiana in every football particular. It apparently is impossible to compel him to take 'time out,' so powerful is he." Center Al Pierotti, Bryan and Dingwall also come in for special mention.

JUNIOR LAWYERS WANT THE "LID" REMOVED

Appoint Committee to Confer With Seniors But No Progress is Made

Aroused at what seemed to be a revocation of one of the time-honored privileges of the Law School, the Junior Law class met Tuesday to protest against the closing of the library on Sunday in accordance with the notice which was issued Oct. 2.

The meeting was presided over by John J. D. Preston, executive committeeman for the class, and many speeches were made pro and con. A motion was made that a committee be appointed to confer with the Seniors and ask their co-operation in a petition to the Faculty to reopen the library and in the event they would not assist to proceed alone. This motion was carried by a large majority. The committee appointed was R. P. Hobson, E. S. McCord and B. S. Sanford. A motion was then put that the class go on record as opposed to the Sunday closing, and this was carried.

The class then adjourned to meet one week later to elect the class officers for the year.

Thus far no progress as to the removing of the "lid" has been reported by the Juniors.

Indianapolis is expecting a big game on the 30th and are advertising it extensively. Manager McDougle has received some circulars which are being distributed throughout Indiana announcing the game. These circulars were issued more than a month before the day the game is scheduled. An elaborate program will be carried out, as is evidenced by the following news item sent out from Indianapolis: "Never in the history of any athletic event, in Indiana, has such elaborate preparation been made, as are well under way for the football game between Indiana university and Washington and Lee university, in this city Oct. 30, at Washington park. The fact that it is an intersectional contest, a contest between two sections of the country, as well as a contest between the states of Indiana and Virginia, has lent an almost national interest to the game.

"A state wide organization, headed by Charles A. Greathouse, superintendent of public instruction, has created unusual interest from one end of the state to the other. Each county in the state is represented on this committee by an alumnus, as county chairman. The football game is a part of the official program of the State Teachers' association's meeting which will be in session the last half of the week of Oct. 30. There are more than 20,000 school teachers in Indiana and at least 12,000 of these are expected to attend the convention and a majority, no doubt, will stay for the game.

"In anticipation of the greatest crowd that ever attended a college contest in the state, it has been decided to place tickets on sale for the game on Oct. 4, at the Claypool hotel. The committee in charge of the arrangements has decided 'first come, first served' as the policy in the ticket sale, and mail orders for seats will receive prompt attention."

LITERARY SOCIETIES

WASHINGTON

After a lapse of two weeks, due to the postponement of the program last Saturday night, owing to the football game in Lynchburg, the Washington Literary society convened in Washington Hall Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The president, M. L. Masinter, occupied the chair. The program was interesting from the start, a great variety of speeches constantly entertaining the members and others present.

The first part of the program was an oration by E. S. Smith, who had for his subject "The Growth and Success of Pan Americanism." Samuel Wofsy followed with a declamation entitled, "The Laboring Class," consistently following his hobby, "Socialism," throughout his talk.

The debate for the evening occupied a most important place on the program. The subject for discussion was, Resolved, "That a Republican Victory in the next Presidential Election would be for the best interests of the United States." Both sides presented strong argument, making the discussion lively and well contested. L. W. Nock and J. A. Rew upheld the affirmative side against Gus Ottenheimer and A. L. Bennett for the negative.

In the discussion the affirmative speakers advanced the argument that a change of tariff was needed and that the Republican party could better protect our nation in time of war. The defenders of the negative came back with the contention that a change was not good in such a crisis as exists at the present time and that Woodrow Wilson was fully capable of meeting that crisis.

Considering this argument and also that the gentlemen of the negative had more fully demonstrated their contention, the judges, E. S. Smith, M. B. Ridenour, and J. R. Collins, decided two to one in favor of that side.

Interesting extemporaneous speeches were made by Charles Lombardi, J. D. Owens and S. L. Robertson.

Morris Evans, Charles Lombardi, and Sam Silverstein were initiated as new members of the society. This makes twenty-three new men who have become members so far this year, far more than the number of initiates at this time other years.

On account of the football game in Roanoke this coming Saturday, no meeting will be held. E. S. S.

CHEMISTRY III CLASS

VISITS BUENA VISTA

Under the leadership of Robert G. Shaw, instructor in the chemistry department, the class in Chemistry III—Industrial Chemistry—made a trip to Buena Vista last Wednesday to visit the various industrial plants there. While there the young chemists were shown through the Columbian Paper Co.'s big plant and the various chemical processes in the manufacture of paper from wood pulp were explained to them. They also went through the tanning and extract works of the Buena Vista Extract Co.

Those who made the trip were: Robert G. Shaw, H. K. McCormick, Reuben A. Lewis, C. P. Kelley, J. A. Lee, E. L. Hix, H. J. Blackford Kirk and Hagan.

GRAHAM-LEE

The excellent start made by Graham-Lee this year was distinctly in evidence last Saturday evening when the second regular meeting of the session was held with but five absences. The membership was increased by the initiation of Messrs. A. S. Watkins, C. R. Stribling and M. M. Hurd. The names of Messrs. E. B. Shultz, F. J. Williams, J. T. Bate, J. E. Moore and Robert Kane were proposed for membership and were referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The program was for the most part well rendered. F. T. Cole delivered an oration on the subject, "Weak Points in Our National Defense," and was followed by W. M. Junkin, who declaimed Tennyson's "Ulysses." L. M. Williams outlined extemporaneously the situation now existing in the Balkans.

The debate on the subject, Resolved: That the United States Should Intervene to Protect China from Japanese Aggression, was clear, interesting and warmly contested. Laurence Williams and H. M. Shumate argued the affirmative and were adjudged a decision over N. O. E. Treadway and Charles McNitt. The speech of Mr. Williams was especially good.

In view of the fact that a large number of members will probably attend the game in Roanoke next Saturday, the regular meeting for that evening was, upon motion of Mr. Latimore, postponed until Oct. 23.

From what is to be gathered from the conversations heard among the students, nearly all of them are going to attend the football game between W. and L. and V. P. I. which will be played in Roanoke Saturday. The student who says he isn't going is hard to find.

For a number of years the game with the Techs has been considered one of the most important on the Generals' schedule. For years the Lexington boys returned from this game heavy-hearted, for there was a time when W. and L. had a team that used to get beat, and the Techs were generally the victors. But a change occurred. Three years ago the Generals downed the boys from Blacksburg 20 to 6 and the two games played since then have told a similar story.

Naturally every supporter of the W. and L. team this year believes that the story will be duplicated, but those who are in a position to know say that the Techs have "some team" this year. This does not mean that the Generals haven't a better team. It does mean, though, that the students of Washington and Lee are going to have to get behind their team in the coming game, and let the players know that we think they are better than their opponents. There is no doubt but that the V. P. I. cadets are going to back their team, and we can't have W. and L. outdone when it comes to supporting the men who bring such honors to our school.

As has been wisely expressed by our coach, a man who does not think the team is going to win ought not go to the game, but it is to be hoped that every man in school believes the team is going to win and believes it enough to follow the team on to their rivals of years and years. We won't be outdone on the field, and let's not be outdone in backing the men on the field. Are you going to do your part?

RED SOX TWIRLER BEAT

W. &amp; L. IN APRIL 1914

Ernest Shore, who pitched the first game of the world's series for Boston against Philadelphia, pitched for Guilford college of North Carolina against Washington and Lee April 22, 1914. W. and L. was defeated by the score of 3 to 1, the same score by which Philadelphia won from Boston.

For Washington and Lee, Jennings pitched in the game two years ago. Shore allowed four hits, a two and three bagger going to Donahue and a single each to Colville and Walling. Nine men in all were struck out by the big leager—Harrison, Young and Rives each being fanned twice. In the game against Philadelphia Saturday Shore allowed only five hits and struck out two men.

TEAM ORGANIZING FOR INTERCLASS FOOTBALL

Freshmen Had First Practice Friday—Sophomores Have Good Prospects

About twenty-five Freshmen reported for their initial practice on Wilson Field Friday afternoon. Captain Gregg will be greatly handicapped by the loss of a large number of men who are with the Varsity squad and who will be ineligible for class football.

It had been planned by the First Year men to obtain an experienced upperclassman as coach but so far no one has been found to take the job. In spite of these difficulties the Freshmen seem determined to turn out a team worthy to represent their class.

There were a number of promising and experienced men out for practice Friday, among whom were: Hill, formerly of Wedemeyer Academy; Leech from Palmer High, who seems to be a player of ability; Baumgarten, who was a back field man on Frederick High last year; Meyers, who played end on Asheville High; Girardeau, who should make good guard; McGill, a good half back from West Haven, Conn.; Bloker, who has weight and ability; Whitelaw, who is an old man in the back field; Hansbarger, who gained his experience playing on Greenbriar Presbyterian, against the W. and L. Freshmen last year; Campbell, will make a good man on the line. Besides these old timers there were a bunch of enthusiastic but inexperienced men whom include: Young, who was the pushball leader; Terry, French, Menick, Cransford, Miller and others who should make good men.

Manager Wible has negotiated with the following teams for games:

Randolph-Macon Academy; Greenbriar Presbyterian School; Lynchburg High School; Augusta Military Academy; Greensboro High School; Shenandoah Valley Academy, and Staunton Military Academy. The game with Staunton has been arranged for Nov. 6.

At a meeting of the Sophomore class Tuesday arrangements were made for a class football team, of which L. P. Collins was elected captain, and T. G. Woodson, manager. Captain Collins will call the first practice next week. He expressed the opinion that a large number of candidates will be out, from which a heavy and fast team can be selected.

Nearly all the members of last year's team have returned. Ends C. W. Covington, A. S. Marx and A. C. Crymble; Tackles W. B. Trigg and C. E. McKenry; Guards G. A. Revercomb and L. L. MacKinnon, Center J. H. Stephenson; Quarterback R. E. Kirkpatrick, and Halfbacks W. F. Lutton and W. C. Revercomb will again be on the job. A valuable asset to the team will be made in several members of last year's Varsity squad—Fullback R. R. Hinkle, and Ends L. P. Collins and E. P. Anderson. J. H. Sorrells, who played fullback on the freshman team last year is this year starring at that position on the Varsity.

In addition to the regular class schedule, manager Woodson has several trips in view to the neighboring Preparatory schools. The team will probably meet the Greenbriar Presbyterian School of Lewisburg, W. Va., again this year in the hope of recovering the scalp which they lost last year as freshmen.

John Izard, '08, of Roanoke, came to Lexington Saturday to see the Marshall football game.

Y. M. C. A. WILL RENEW CAMPAIGN FOR BLUE RIDGE COTTAGE FUND

During the next few days an effort will be made to interest all the students of Washington and Lee in the building of a cottage at the Blue Ridge Association grounds near Asheville, N. C. It will be remembered that the idea was first inaugurated last year, when it was decided to join with the Randolph-Macon Woman's College of Lynchburg in raising a fund of $1,000 for this purpose. The Woman's College has already raised its $500, and about $200 has been paid in to the fund at Washington and Lee, leaving $300 yet to be subscribed.

Dr. W. D. Weatherford, International Y. M. C. A. Secretary for the South a few days ago issued the following statement in regard to the matter:

"In the raising of money for the Blue Ridge Association it seemed wise to give to the colleges the privilege of sharing in the building of cottages which could be used by their delegates during the student conference. It would naturally be expected of course, since the Blue Ridge grounds was originally undertaken in the interest of the students in the South, that the students would pay their contribution share in the building of such a place. Every dollar of the money, of course, will be raised from contributions, and those to whom it ministers and for whom it was built would naturally be expected to have a large share in the same. The plan for the contribution toward cottages contemplates a man's college and a woman's college uniting in the building of a cottage, the name of the two colleges building the same to be put on the cottage and the students from the two institutions to use the building alternately in the two conferences.

"The advantages of a college having a cottage are as follows:

"(1) As the conference grows in size and increasing numbers of small schools send representatives it will be necessary to limit the size of delegations from the larger colleges. However, the Blue Ridge Association agrees to permit any school that has a share in the building of a cottage to fill that cottage during the conference, thus allowing that college to have larger delegations than would under other circumstances be permitted.

"(2) In the second place, the cottage will help to bring the required delegation to Blue Ridge year by year. Frequently all that is needed in a college to get the religious leaders to attend the conference is just a little bit more push, and the cottage will help to get this. The fact that the college has a cottage there which must be occupied by somebody else if their delegation is not there will put a little pressure on and will help to land the wavering man. Perhaps no other thing will mean as much to the Association as having a permanent and steady delegation summer after summer at the conference.

"(3) In the third place, the cottage is an inestimable value to the delegation because it gives them a local center for meeting. Each cottage has a large lobby with a fireplace, and in the cool evenings, after the work of the day is over, the whole delegation can gather in this lobby and discuss fully and carefully the plans that have been brought forward during the day and how they may be applied in their own local institution. Those colleges that have been using cottages the past two years feel that it has increased the efficiency of their delegations by fifty per cent.

"(4) Any college can justly take pride in having a share in building a great institution like this which will minister to the student life of the entire South for all years to come. Leading professors and others who have visited Blue Ridge are all saying that it is perhaps the most dynamic place in the South for large idealism. Not only so, but the fact of having a cottage at Blue Ridge puts any college on record as having a virile and vital religious and moral life on its own campus. In the best sense it will proclaim to the world the fact that these institutions are really doing religious work and that they are interested in the religious life of the students throughout the South. Already ten cottages are on the grounds and only four more will be added to complete the number which the Blue Ridge Association plans as its permanent

Among the features inaugurated this year by the Y. M. C. A. is the weekly bulletin of college events. The bulletin is published every Saturday morning and contains brief notices of events that are to take place during the coming week. All notices to be published should be handed in to the editor, F. J. Gilliam, or the Y. M. C. A. General Secretary before 6 p. m. Thursday. The bulletins are placed in a rack at the left of the bulletin and every man in the student body is urged to take one. The Association states that it is hoped that men having notices of meetings or events of any kind will avail themselves of this means of securing publicity as it will be impossible to continue the bulletin unless the notices are handed in.

W. & L. BAND HAS FOURTEEN MEMBERS NOW

The W. and L. band, under the leadership of T. S. Jones, has made its appearance earlier this fall than in previous years, having appeared at the first football game of the season. During both the Davidson and the Wesleyan games the musicians did good work in awakening enthusiasm in the supporters of the team as well as in the players themselves. On account of several of the instruments being out of repair the band failed to perform during the game with Marshall College Saturday, but will return to action ere long.

The band is not a new institution at W. and L., but its personnel changes from year to year. This year T. S. Jones is leader and R. G. Vance manager. Composing the band are fourteen players: T. S. Jones, L. Chaffin, E. D. Crocheron, cornets; T. H. Gilbreath, J. H. Stephenson, G. G. Gregg, altos; S. H. Showell, trombone; R. S. Rhodes, baritone; R. G. Vance, bass; N. L. Dickenson, J. Goodman, drums; Somerville, D. Kerner, piccolo.

TWO RALLIES IN CHAPEL BEFORE ROANOKE TRIP

In order that all of the students may know the details of the trip to Roanoke for the coming game with V. P. I., a "Roanoke Special" meeting will be held in the chapel Wednesday. At this meeting the trip will be explained in detail, and the importance of every student going will be brought out in various ways by numerous speakers.

Again Friday evening a football rally will be held in the chapel in order to raise the enthusiasm for the trip to the highest pitch. At both of these meetings there will be yell practice, especially for the new men. The cheer leader has announced that some of the "oldtimers" will be at these meetings and that the cheering during the Roanoke game will be led by Harry Moran and Eddie Parks Davis.

Y. M. C. A. WILL RENEW CAMPAIGN

equipment."

Last year Washington and Lee sent a delegation of six men to the student conference, and there were four Washington and Lee men at the Y. M. C. A. summer school, which immediately followed. It is highly important that the necessary amount be raised, both because of our obligation to Randolph-Macon and the usefulness of a cottage to all future delegations attending the conferences.

SOPHOMORES FILL VACANCY

At the meeting of the Sophomore class held last Tuesday afternoon E. W. Sanford was chosen as secretary of the class to fill the vacancy caused by H. G. Smith transferring to the Junior Law class.

The officers of the class football team were also selected at this meeting, about which mention is made elsewhere in these columns.

Degree Applications Being Made

Notices have been posted on the various bulletin boards calling attention to the fact that all applicants for degrees this year must make application on or before October 15. Already a large number of seniors have filed their applications.

SOUTHERN COLLEGIAN STAFF IS SELECTED

Editor Robertson and Manager Thornburg Promise a Good Magazine This Year

Under the leadership of Editor S. L. Robertson, plans for the "Southern Collegian" are fast assuming definite shape. The staff has been selected and most arrangements made for the first number which will appear in about two weeks.

Several new features are to characterize this year's production. Commencing with the first issue there will emerge "The Darker Side", a collection of original jokes contributed by the staff and such members of the student body as possess any proficiency in this direction. Before the appearance of the second issue a Literary Society Department will have been organized, thus bringing the magazine a step nearer to its original conception as a product of these societies. "The Spotlight", a sketch of some well known leader on the campus, which was considered so successful last year, will, in all probability, be revived in a later number this session also.

Business Manager B. W. Thornburg expresses himself as satisfied with his prospects, though he feels that the support given by the student body is, perhaps, not all that he has a right to expect.

The personnel of the two staffs is as follows:

Editorial: Editor-in-chief, S. L. Robertson.

Assistant editor-in-chief, E. L. Junkin.

Associate editors, D. A. Falk, H. P. Magruder, E. S. Smith, C. E. Worth.

Managerial: Business manager, D. W. Thornburg.

Assistant Business managers, Sam Silverstein and W. W. Sager.

Y. M. C. A.

The regular Y. M. C. A. meeting was held in the Library Tuesday evening. An unusually large number of students were present to hear the speaker, Mr. T. M. Terry of the Craddock-Terry Shoe Company, Lynchburg.

Mr. Terry began with: "One of the dangers of today is that the head is educated but not the heart, making men brutes. It is necessary to keep the heart pure and unscarred for as a wound leaves a scar so does sin scar the heart."

Continuing the speaker said:

"Impatience is going to be the greatest drawback when a man leaves college. It is a good thing for a man to start life with a vision of success, but one should remember that success catches up with a man and cannot be found by running ahead after other things. Start slow, start small, but build firmly, in a word, be patient."

Mr. Terry summed up his remarks with a brief outline of Joseph's life, his worldly success, change in character, patience, and courage.

Dr. J. W. H. Pollard, Professor of Hygiene and Physical Education, will speak at the Y. M. C. A. at its next meeting Tuesday, October 12, at 7:45 p. m. Dr. Pollard's subject is to be "An Old Theme from Another Standpoint." All students are cordially invited. E. F. G.

RENEW WORK FOR MISFIONARY FUND

ciations in stimulating large interest in the foreign work.

Mr. Rugh has made several visits here in the past, and is well known throughout the student world. He will speak at the chapel Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and also in one of the churches of the town Sunday night. On Monday he will probably address a student body meeting in the chapel, the hour to be announced later. Every man in college is urged to hear him.

About a year ago the members of the student body adopted a plan whereby Washington and Lee was to support one of its alumni as its representative on the foreign field. The committee in charge of the matter has selected C. S. Osbourn as the most suitable man for the place, and he will sail about next October to take up his work in India. An effort will be made in the coming week to complete the necessary amount for paying his expenses, which will amount to about $1,200 a year.

"Pat" Osbourn was a student at Washington and Lee from 1905 to 1910. During this time he was for two years president of the Y. M. C. A. and two years acted as General Secretary. He was very prominent in all branches of college life, having been president of his class in his freshman and sophomore years, president of the Athletic Council, president and stroke of the Harry Lee boat club, member of the Executive Committee, captain of basketball team, and valedictorian of his class.

After leaving Washington and Lee Mr. Osbourn taught for three years at Marion Institute, Marion, Alabama, and since that time he has been a student at the Yale Divinity School, from which he graduates this year. It is hoped that he will be able to be present during the mission fund campaign, when every student will have an opportunity to meet him.

COMBINED MUSICAL CLUBS HOLD FIRST MEETING

Thirty-five men responded to the call for a meeting of the Combined Musical clubs, which was held in the Phi Delta Theta rooms last Tuesday evening. The meeting was presided over by Eddie Parks Davis, who has been instrumental in the work of the clubs for a number of years.

While no definite steps were taken toward organizing, a tentative plan was outlined. According to this the aspirants for places in the various clubs will be divided into groups and picked according to their merit. The departments of the organization will be the glee club, the mandolin and guitar club and the orchestra.

Notice of further meetings of the clubs will be posted on the bulletin board.

TWENTY-FIVE STATES HAVE STUDENTS HERE

Northern and Western Sections Furnish Men to Add to the "Cream of the South"

The number of matriculates so far this year exceeds that of last year at this time by more than thirty, proving that the depression in the business world caused by the European war has not affected Washington and Lee as it has quite a number of other colleges and universities throughout the country. The total number of students enrolled on the Registrar's books to date reaches exactly the 500 mark. The registration of the new men began on September 15, the day before the session opened, in order to avoid the rush. By the end of the first week more than three-fourths of the 500 had already matriculated, the rest having strolled in during the last few weeks.

Twenty-five states and two foreign countries are represented by the 500 students here, showing that Washington and Lee is recognized far and wide as an institution of national repute. From as far north as Massachusetts, as far south as Florida, and to New Mexico in the west, men come to herald Washington and Lee and to seek learning within her historic halls.

Of the total number enrolled 138 are in the law school and 362 in the other schools of the university. As usual, Virginia heads the list of states represented with 205 students, of which 58 are in the law school and 147 in the academic and science schools. West Virginia comes next with 47 men. Then follow Tennessee and Maryland with 27 and 24 each respectively.

Below is given a list of the twenty-five states and two foreign countries represented here, appearing in numerical order:

- Virginia 205
- West Virginia 47
- Tennessee 27
- Maryland 24
- Kentucky 21
- Florida 18
- Mississippi 17
- Texas 15
- Louisiana 14
- North Carolina 14
- Arkansas 13
- Georgia 12
- New Jersey 11
- New York 9
- Alabama 8
- South Carolina 7
- Massachusetts 7
- Illinois 6
- Pennsylvania 6
- District of Columbia 4
- New Mexico 4
- Connecticut 3
- Michigan 3
- China 2
- Missouri 1
- Ohio 1
- Porto Rico 1

China and Porto Rico, are the two foreign countries represented, the former having two students here and the latter one. Before the session is half over, it is expected that the total enrollment will reach 525 or more.

MARSHALL IS DOWNED BY SCORE OF 27 TO 0

behind the line of scrimmage when the oval was thrown.

The intervening distance of only 5 yards from the goal line forced Marshall to kick for safety, Workman punting out of bounds on the 21 yard line. On the first attempt, Sweetland lost two yards, but Young's forward pass to Barrett netted 6 yards and Sorrells insured first down with a powerful line buck through guard that netted 9 yards. With the ball on the 8 yard line, Sorrells diminished the intervening distance to 5 yards, while Barrett crashed through the massed eleven to the one foot line. Young circled right end and scored the first touchdown. Goal was kicked easily.

During the remaining moments of the first quarter, the Generals gained possession of the ball when Workman kicked off and made four successive first downs, but lost it just as the period closed when a forward pass proved barren from the 23 yard mark. In the second quarter, Washington and Lee was held scoreless. Right off the reel two penalties, one for holding and the other for offside play, were inflicted and forced the Generals to kick.

For the first time, Marshall assumed the offensive. Thornburg gained 12 yards on a forward pass, but on the succeeding plays the West Virginians were held and ordered a punt. On the first down after getting possession of the ball, Washington and Lee fumbled and Sheppard recovered the straying pigskin. Marshall relinquished the coveted oval after four futile trials. At this stage, the Washington and Lee backs advanced rapidly, Young, Sorrell and Sweetland speeding 24 yards in three trials. However, Young was thrown for a 12 yard loss and although Barrett gained 9 yards, he was forced to punt. Marshall essayed a forward pass and Sweetland intercepted it, just as the first half closed.

The Second Half

Smarting from the low score registered in the first period, the Generals returned to do battle with a redoubled charge in the final period and quickly scored a second touchdown. Young renewed the battle by kicking over the goal line. Thornburg, who was entrusted with the oval three successive times, gained but 5½ yards, forcing Workman to kick 37 yards to Barrett, who returned to the 47 yard line. Sweetland failed to advance, while Harrison lost 2 yards on an end run. On a criss-cross run, Young made 18 yards. Buck Sweetland squirmed through the bunched Marshall linesmen for 8 yards, while Sorrells insured downs with a 3 yard line buck.

Sweetland battered center for half of the required ten yards. Thirteen yards from the goal line, Barrett circled right end and crossed the mark. A kickoff was necessary and succeeded but Young missed goal.

This proved to be the only score of the third quarter, for a penalty for holding caused the Generals to lose the ball after they had advanced it within 15 yards of the line and Carter spirited the pigskin up the field with his toe. Just as the third period was waning, Young reeled off the longest gain of the battle when he caught Barrett's forward pass and advanced 47 yards to the 9 yard line.

It seemed as though the series of penalties would ruin another beckoning opportunity when Washington and Lee was offside on the first down and penalized, but Sweetland battered the line for 13 yards, and Young carried the ball over for a touchdown on the next play. His kick of goal made the count 20 to 0.

The fourth score of the game came during the last few minutes of the fourth quarter period. After two exchanges of punts in which the Generals fared the better, consistent gains by Barrett and Sorrells and an 18 yard advance on a forward pass by Barrett, brought the oval to the 5 yard line. A stream of substitutions, which saw Bethel, Till and Moore in active service, dispatched Mercer Graham to right end. And fortunately for the Generals, the youthful gridironist pulled down a forward pass from Young behind the goal line and boosted the score to 27 to 0, as Young kicked goal. Shultz caught a pass on the play immediately preceding, but the referee adjudged Marshall offside and thus robbed the big tackle of his only opportunity for a score in four years of play.

The lineup:

W. and L.		Marshall
Izard	L. E.	Bonar
Shultz	L. T.	Dorsey
Bryan	L. G.	Shepherd
Pierotti	C.	Mynes
Dingwall	R. G.	Kay
Ignico	R. T.	Taylor
Harrison	R. E.	Davison
Young	Q.	Workman
Sweetland	L. H. B.	Calloway
Barrett	R. H. B.	Bates
Sorrells	Full	Thornburg

Substitutions: Bethel for Dingwall, Graham for Harrison, Till for Sweetland, Moore for Bryan, Mullen for Thornburg, Carter for Workman.

Touchdowns: Young, 2 Barrett, Graham.

Goals after touchdowns: Young, 3. Officials: Referee, Randolph of Virginia. Umpire, Robertson of Richmond College. Head linesman, Moomaw of Washington and Lee. Time of periods: 13 minutes.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO V. P. I. GAME

morning, and will also be sold at the box office at the Fair Grounds Saturday afternoon from 1:30 on. As at former games the V. P. I. cadets and their followers will occupy the right side of the grandstand, and the W. and L. supporters will use the left side of the stands.

Magoffin of Michigan, will referee the contest. Lieutenant Shaffroth of the Navy, will act as headlinesman. Land of Cornell, who is at present fleet constructor with the Atlantic submarine flotilla, stationed at Newport, R. I., had agreed to act as umpire, but now finds it impossible to be in Roanoke on the 16th. Consequently the other official will probably be Church of Yale, Gass of Lehigh, Maxwell of Swarthmore, or O'Reilly of Georgetown. Needless to say, the arbitrating will be of a much higher order than any ever seen in Southwest Virginia before.

The round trip tickets for the Roanoke excursion will be placed on sale at the University Supply Store and at McCrums, at $2.00. General admission to the game will be $1.00 with 50 cents for grandstand seats. This makes a total for the trip and game of $3.50. Returning to Lexington, the special train will leave Roanoke at 10 p. m.

This is the game that every student in college should see, for a victory over the Techs is a great victory for the White and Blue.

On to Roanoke!
