

GENERALS WIN THRILLER FROM OLD DOMINION 5-4

Captain Gus Lindburg Pitches Team To His Fifth Straight Victory.

STEARN'S CATCH FEATURE

Darlington's Winning Streak of Five Games Is Broken By the Blue and White.

Washington and Lee, 5; Virginia, 4. These are the sweet words. The Orange and Blue went down to defeat yesterday afternoon before the Generals' baseball nine in one of the most exciting and thrilling games that has been played on Wilson field in many a day. Four big events happened out on the new diamond; first, Captain Gus Lindburg hurled his fifth victory of the season; second, Tommy Seehorn hit a homer, the longest hit that has been made on the new playing arena; third, Tom Stearns saved the game for the home team in the ninth by making a spectacular bare-handed catch that gave all the spectators a big thrill; and fourth, the Blue and White broke up Darlington's, Virginia's ace, winning streak of five games and sent the Old Dominion hurler to the showers at the end of the sixth inning.

Action began immediately in the first inning, and it looked as if the game might be a slugfest, but after the third stanza, both Lindburg and Darlington settled down to do some real pitching. The Generals made seven hits in the first three grounds, and tallied three runs, while Virginia was credited with three tallies and garnered three of their bingles.

By winning this game from the Cavaliers the Generals went into the lead in the race for the state championship of baseball, as now Virginia, V. M. I., and V. P. I. have defeats chalked up against them.

Coach Greasy Neals attempted to pull the defeat out of the fire in the ninth when he sent two pinch hitters into the fold. Both of them proved rather dangerous to the home nine, and Luther, who batted for Brown, hit one to right that Stearns made the almost impossible catch, and then Unverzagt hit for Beard, and he poled one down the right field line that went for a circuit smash. The Old Dominion nine made a rally in this stanza, but it was nipped in the bud. After Unverzagt's smash, Ahner popped to Hawkins for the second out. Freidburg was safe on Hawkins' error, but the red-topped keystone sacker threw out McCoy for the final out.

"Gus" Lindburg, who was selected by Coach Smith to work against the visitors, toiled a great game. Although he did not strike out any of the opposing batters, he hurled well in the pinches. Virginia had eight men left on the hassocks, and the captain bore down when the Old Dominion club had a chance to tally some scores.

The Generals collected eleven bingles, everybody on the team getting one or more hits with the exception of Hawkins. Captain Lindburg led the attack against the opposing toilers, getting a single and two doubles in four times at bat. McMillan got

FRESHMEN DEFEAT V. P. I. EASILY, 13-6

Meet Fishburne In Waynesboro Today—Paxton Or Wilkins On To Pitch.

The freshman baseball team left early this afternoon for Waynesboro, where they will play the cadets of the Fishburne Military School upon their arrival there. Fresh from their well earned victory over the strong V. P. I. yearling nine the Little Generals will present a strong aggregation on the field to meet the prep school ball tossers.

The following men are on the trip and each of them will in all probability appear in the line-up at some stage of the game: Jones, Spotts, Tipps, Lambert, Ritchie, Sadloch, Eigelbach, Johnson, Howe, Scales, Wilkinson and Paxton. The pitching choice rests between Paxton and Wilkinson for the start of the game.

W. & L.-V. P. I. GAME

The Washington and Lee freshmen baseball team clubbed their way to a 13 to 6 victory over the V. P. I. yearling nine, on Wilson Field Thursday afternoon. The Little Generals clouted out twelve base hits, six of them going for extra sacks, Jones, with a home run and a triple, Spotts with two triples, Eigelbach with two singles and a double, Lambert with a three bagger and Johnson with a pair of safeties, led the onslaught for Coach Twombly's charges.

The freshmen lost no time in getting next to Jones' curves and when the smoke had cleared away eight runs had crossed the plate on six hits, two free tickets and an error. Three singles resulted in another run in the second frame, and two more runs crossed the plate in the fourth inning on a hit and three errors. Three hits including a triple and a double netted the Little Generals two more counters in the lucky seventh.

Two passes and a hit by Raider scored the Gobblers' first run in the second. After pitching airtight ball for six frames, Scales weakened in the seventh when the visitors secured four hits, and two bases on balls, which accompanied by two costly

Baseball Informal Set For May 9th

Southern Collegians Will Furnish Music For Final Informal of Year.

The last informal of the year will be held in Doremus gymnasium Saturday, May 9th. This informal will be for the benefit of the Baseball Sweater Fund, all proceeds going to this cause.

All of the informals this year have met with unusual success, and their number has been greater than that of many preceding years. This last one of the year should be the most successful of the entire season, forming a climax for the informal dances at Washington and Lee.

Music makers for the occasion will be the Southern Collegians, already well known here and throughout a large part of the South for their exceptional ability to furnish jazz music. They will perform in not less satisfying manner for this last informal of the year.

Rich Delivers Famous Lecture

"Battle of Chancellorsville" Delivered To Students of History Department.

Mr. Rich, a prominent attorney of Boston and lecturer at Harvard University, delivered an inspiring lecture last Thursday night to the students of the History Department. This was Mr. Rich's second lecture here. As his subject he chose the "Battle of Chancellorsville."

In the beginning of the lecture, Mr. Rich eulogized General Lee and General Jackson. He went on to describe the outnumbering of the Confederate army by the Union army, and how much better equipped was the army from the North than the Southern one. The battle of Chancellorsville was again refought in the vivid description given by the lecturer. Each move of the Confederate and Union forces was retold and "Stonewall" Jackson's brilliant attack and the driving back of the Northern army. In this attack Jackson was wounded and the loss suffered by Lee, because of this, was emphasized by Mr. Rich.

Mr. Rich completed his series of lectures in his second lecture delivered Friday to the Transportation class of the School of Commerce and Business Administration on "Subnormal Rates."

While in Lexington, Mr. Rich was extensively entertained by faculty members. He left today for Charlottesville, where he will spend several days at the University of Virginia.

DELTA SIGMA RHO HONORS NATIONAL PRESIDENT

Luncheon Given At Dutch Inn—Strahorn and Boyer Elected To Membership.

A delightful luncheon was tendered Mr. Stanley B. Houck, national president of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity, Thursday afternoon at the Dutch Inn. Mr. Houck is at present on a trip visiting the Southern chapters of Delta Sigma Rho. The luncheon began at 2 o'clock and the discussion which followed lasted until shortly after 4 o'clock. The subject of the discussion was the prevailing conditions existing in the fraternity at the present time.

At a meeting held Wednesday evening J. S. Strahorn, Jr., and W. H. Boyer were elected to membership in the forensic fraternity.

Eleven members including the three faculty members were present at the luncheon.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN COUNCIL ELECTION

NETMEN VICTORIOUS OVER RAND'PH-MACON

But Lose To Virginia By One Point In Matches Held Yesterday.

The Washington and Lee tennis team opened up their season last Thursday afternoon by defeating the Randolph-Macon racquetters 6 to 1. The W. and L. netmen took every match except one singles in which Sheffey of Randolph-Macon downed Cassell in a hotly contested duel.

Crenshaw, W. and L., defeated Hughes, 6-3, 7-5.

Sheffey, R.-M., defeated Cassell, W. and L., 6-1, 8-6.

Sternberger, W. and L., defeated Evans, R.-M., 6-0, 6-1.

Gould, W. and L., defeated Sheetaz, R.-M., 6-3, 6-4.

St. John, W. and L., defeated Bartlett, R.-M., 7-5, 6-2.

Crenshaw and Cassell, W. and L., defeated Sheffey and Evans, R.-M., 6-1, 6-3.

St. John and Sternberger, W. and L., defeated Hughes and Bartlett, R.-M., 4-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Lose To Virginia.

The Washington and Lee tennis team lost to the University of Virginia Friday afternoon 5 to 4. All the matches were very close and hotly contested. Crenshaw playing number one singles for W. and L. displayed a superior brand of tennis by defeating Thurtell in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2. Cassell lost to Capt. Manning of Virginia in a very close match most of the games running into deuce.

In the doubles W. and L. took two out of the three matches. Capt. St.

Negative Side of Debate Wins Point

Open Forum Debate With Two Duke Representatives Held Last Night.

Two men from the Washington and Lee debating team contested with two representatives from Duke University here last night on the following question: Resolved, That the United States should recognize the present government of Russia as a 'dejure' government." This contest was conducted on the open forum plan. The affirmative side of the question was upheld by W. G. Pratt of Duke and W. D. Mullinix of W. and L. The negative by R. A. Merritt of W. and L. and W. F. Blakeney of Duke. Professor G. S. Fulbright, faculty member of the W. and L. Debating Council, served as chairman of the debate; C. W. Lowry, Jr., acted as timekeeper. By a vote of the audience, the decision was awarded to the negative team.

This contest was the first one to be conducted in Lexington under the open forum system, and many members of the audience displayed an unusual amount of zest in questioning the various debaters concerning sundry points brought out by the latter in their speeches. All of the debaters exhibited great skill in answering the questions which were fired at them in rapid succession; the members of the negative team should be especially commended for their remarkable coolness under a continual torrent of interrogations.

The victory of the negative team was probably due to the fact that they proved the Soviet Regime to be a government representative not of the Russian populace as a whole, but of a single class; the affirmative team was unsuccessful in its efforts to refute this statement.

Budnick Wins Run-off In Only Opposed Office On Ticket.

630 VOTES HIGH MARK

Thomas, Rauber, Palmer and Holt All Win In Unopposed Races By Large Vote.

Kay Thomas, Ty Rauber, M. I. Budnick, Mike Palmer and Maynard Holt will be the student representatives on the Athletic Council for the coming year. None of the candidates elected were opposed, except M. I. Budnick, for the office of Secretary and Treasurer, for which there were three candidates and two ballots were required for election.

The polls were open for the first ballot between the hours of 9 a. m. and 2:05 p. m. yesterday and resulted in the election of J. K. Thomas, president; L. J. Rauber, vice-president; and Mike Palmer and Maynard Holt, members at large. On this ballot P. Stearns was eliminated from the race for the coveted position of Secretary and Treasurer, leaving M. I. Budnick and L. S. Stemmons still in the field. Saturday the polls were again open and resulted in the election of M. I. Budnick to fill the much sought for office.

The new president of the Athletic Council needs no introduction to the Student Body. He has played stellar football at end for three years and is captain-elect of the Generals for the coming season. In 1923 he was mentioned for a position on Walter Camp's mythical All-American team. He is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Alpha Delta, Sigma, White Friar, Cotillion Club, "13" Club, and Square and Campus. Kay expects to get his degree in the law school next year.

Ty Rauber, the new vice-president, was unopposed and received 612 votes. He was captain of last year's Freshman eleven and played in the backfield of this year's Varsity. He

The Other Two Hundred.

There seemed to be a revival of spirit and enthusiasm behind the Generals' ball team by the attendance at the Virginia game yesterday, but for some reason or other, fully two hundred Washington and Lee students were not present to see the Big Blue team trounce the Cavaliers in one of the most thrilling games ever played on Wilson Field.

Inasmuch as six hundred turned out, as against two hundred and eighty-three for the largest attendance since the first Cornell game, we ought not to be too pessimistic over the attendance yesterday. But when we stop to consider that there were two hundred who were not present at the most important home game of the season we would like to know the reason. Certainly there were not so many in the hospital, and the laboratories were not overcrowded with toiling students. How it is possible for so many to stay away from such a contest as the one yesterday is a mystery.

Attendance has been extremely poor at the games this season, both freshman and varsity and unless students atone for the poor spirit in the remaining few home games by coming out in full force, the season 1925 will stand as damaging testimony against our spirit in support of our teams.

The Generals do not deserve such treatment, whether they have been winning or losing but the fact is that the team this year has been setting a mighty good record for itself, and the win over the crack Virginia team yesterday, with their pitching ace in the box, in itself is sufficient to show how hard they are working to turn wins in for the glory of Washington and Lee. Are we going to let those nine men eat dust out there day after day in the hot sun and not so much as give them the least we can give in the way of support—our presence at the games?

To Mr. Rich.

We express our true appreciation of his kindness in coming to Washington and Lee to deliver a series of excellent lectures both on business subjects and general subjects. The classes in transportation profited greatly by his two lectures on the subject of rates, and his other two lectures of more general nature on the subjects of business ethics and the Battle of Chancellorsville were thoroughly instructive. Mr. Rich is an authority in the subjects upon which he spoke and we are indeed fortunate in having his presence on the campus during the past few days.

The last five presidents of the United States have been college fraternity men.

THE COLLEGE WORLD

Examinations have been abolished by the psychology department of Temple University in the belief that they are inaccurate, antiquated, and influenced by personalities.

The unclaimed goods in the lost and found department at the University of California will be auctioned off at an early date. There are about $500 worth of the goods. All proceeds will go to buying equipment for the band.

Optional attendance at classes and lectures is being considered as a means of weeding out undeserving students at the University of Michigan.

Because of the increased number of women wearing knickers to classes at the University of Missouri the authorities have passed a rule permitting them to be worn only in the department of physical education.

The University of Minnesota radio station has recently been heard in Australia for forty minutes. This distance of 11,000 miles sets a new record for the Twin Cities' radio broadcasting sets.

At Union University in Tennessee, it is a violation of the university regulations for a woman student to be seen walking on the campus with a man. No hikes are permitted except with a married instructor as a chaperon. Students are allowed two week-end dates a month.

A California professor has sworn off absent-mindedness. His bill for $300 in some consulting engineering work, which was presented recently was found to be four years late, and payment was refused.

University of Alabama students are to compete in a five mile walking contest. The winner's prize will be a pair of shoes.

Members of the Phi Beta Kappa honorary fraternity at Williams College have been excused from all restrictions regarding cuts. They need not keep up their attendance at class as long as they keep up the standard of their work.

A school for cheer leaders at the University of Vermont has already enrolled twenty students.

Saturday automobile trips to points of educational interest in the vicinity will be a weekly feature at the University of Iowa.

Musical manuscripts of great value were found in one of the old library files by a senior student at Cambridge.

A free-lance journal of campus opinion will appear on the campus of the University of Kansas.

FORMER CHAPEL ORGANIST DIES

Notice has been received of the death of Frederick Werber, '70, of Newberry, South Carolina. Mr. Werber attended Washington and Lee during the time General Lee was its president. He delighted to tell of the time when he was called into General Lee's office and was expecting to receive a severe reprimand for some minor breach he had committed. Upon arrival at the General's office he was told to leave. Shortly afterward he was recalled by General Lee and asked if he would play the organ in the chapel. He received no reprimand whatsoever and during his entire college career he was the official organist in the University chapel.

ALUMNUS IN COMMAND OF FORT HUMPHREYS

Col. W. D. Anderson, '02, has recently been appointed to the command of Fort Humphreys, succeeding the newly appointed military aide to President Coolidge. Before Col. Anderson's promotion he was instructor in charge of the Engineering School at Fort Humphreys. He is the son of William A. Anderson, former rector of the board of trustees of Washington and Lee University.

OVER HUNDRED BOOKS ARE ADDED TO LIBRARY

Biographies and Autobiographies in the List Placed On Shelves.

Some hundred new books, representing every field and style of writing, are added to the college library each month and the "New Books" shelf seldom fails to contain something to interest the casual reader.

Listed in the Accessions Book for the month preceding April 15 are one hundred and twenty volumes, ranging from such a subject as Einstein's "Sidelights on Relativity" to Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland." A majority are on scientific and technical subjects, some forty being connected with commerce.

Among the new novels are "The Spanish Farm" by R. H. Mottram, "The Reckless Lady," by Philip Gibbs; "Elsie and the Child," by Arnold Bennett, and "Those Barren Leaves," by Adohos Huxley.

Biography and autobiography are always fascinating fields and several such books are found. "Joseph Purlitzer: His Life and Letters," by Don Seitz, and "Twice Thirty," by Edward Bok, tell of the lives of these two great publishers. Amy Lowell has written a "Life of Keats," which gives new sidelights on this romantic character.

Admirers of Woodrow Wilson will enjoy the new two-volume edition of "Public Papers: College and State," by the late war president.

If the reader is seeking "something a little different," he will find it in "The Complete Limerick Book," by Langford Reed or in "The Travels of Sir John Mandeville," edited by P. Homelins, or in Lord Dunsany's, "The Book of Wonder."

A boycott of local barbers is in full sway at the University of Utah, and is scheduled to continue until May 1.

GLOWING TRIBUTE PAID PROMINENT ALUMNUS

Communication To Nashville Paper
Praises Julius Kruttschnitt,
Former Railroad President.

Under the caption of "Blood Will Tell" The Tennessean, of Nashville, Tenn., carried in its columns a glowing tribute to Julius Kruttschnitt, W. and L. alumnus, class of '70, by Judge Robert Ewing of Nashville. The tribute was paid on the occasion of Mr. Kruttschnitt's retirement as head of the South Pacific Railway system and was as follows:
Editor The Tennessean:

In your issue of Friday you give due prominence to the announcement that after 43 years of serve in its behalf, Julius Kruttschnitt, at the age of 70, retired on Thursday as the head of the Southern Pacific Railway, availing himself of the generous and wise practice of the company to justly recognize efficient service, long and faithfully performed.

Those who have kept themselves informed of Mr. Kruttschnitt's accomplishments, resounding not only to the interests of his company, but to those also of our country at large, feel with him that he has earned the right to rest and that his exercise of this right is quite philosophical.

Mr. Kruttschnitt is a man of marked ability, inherited, I believe, from his mother, who was a sister of Judah P. Benjamin, the great Southern lawyer and statesman. She had the happiness also to be the proud mother of another son, Ernest B. Kruttschnitt, who was a year or two older than Julius. He, on completion of his preparatory education, elected to adopt the profession of his celebrated uncle and soon became one of the leading lawyers of his native city of New Orleans. Before his death, some years ago, he had become the recognized leader of the bar, not alone because of eminence achieved in the practice of his profession but, also, because of his fearless advocacy of the right in the matter of state government.

Shortly before these two brilliant sons of a gifted and devoted mother were ready to enter college, the Southern Confederacy's cause under overwhelming numbers, had collapsed. Mr. Benjamin, who at the beginning of the conflict was representing his state in the senate of the United States and who at the close was serving as secretary of state of the Confederacy, under the apprehension that, in the spirit then prevailing, an effort would be made to try him for treason, had departed for England.

Meanwhile his sister, deprived by this enforced absence of his helpful presence, nevertheless had his advice and counsel. Brave and like Cornelia of Roman fame, she knew what she possessed in those boys. Though she was undergoing the hardships incident to all in the South in those days of destruction and reconstruction, she nevertheless gave them such groundwork of preparation that when they arrived in Lexington, Va., they were found ready to enter Washington and Lee University, sent there because presided over by General Lee, well known by their uncle to be highly capable and intensely bent on seeing that Southern boys were so instructed as to become efficient and the fittest of all instruments for restoring and further up-building their section of our common country. Amply, at the university, and in subsequent years, did they repay her and ideally fill out her fondest hopes.

I was a class mate of Ernest Kruttschnitt. While at Lexington he lived in the home of Col. William Preston Johnston, son of General Albert Sidney Johnston, known to fame. Colonel Johnston was the professor of history. He had been the private secretary of President Davis. He resigned his chair a few years afterwards in order to write the life of his father. This done, he became president of Tulane University. His influence on those near him was highly beneficial. Ernest graduated with the highest honors and shortly thereafter became one of the active trustees of his Alma Mater. Unhappily he died in the prime of manhood, but not before he had attained the highest rank in his profession and very marked recognition from his city and state of highly efficient service, patriotically rendered.

The commercial world knows what Julius Kruttschnitt has accomplished, and how helpful his acts have been in the wise development of so large a section of our country, rendering the condition of those occupying it more prosperous and their lives happier because of the improvements. He has done much, very much, towards bringing about a better understanding and kinder feeling between large corporations and those they are serving. I doubt not that he regards this as really his greatest work. Having earned rest, he now retires with the obligation of his company to him of faithful service fully recognized and with an honorable record of public service rendered which stands and will long stand out for emulation by the young men of his beloved South. Better opportunities than he enjoyed are wide open to them. If they will but follow his example in educating themselves; doing the absolutely necessary grinding work of preparation, and then give whatever work they engage in the same ceaseless attention he gave his, success is almost sure to come.

But what can be said of that mother? Is it not all embraced in the word love?

ROBERT EWING.

NEW PHI KAP HOUSE PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

Will Be of Colonial Architecture and Complete In Every Appointment.

The new Phi Kappa Sigma house is now under construction, excavations having been finished and the form work for the foundations well under way. The project will cost $30,000, and the contract calls for completion by the first of September, 1925.

The new Phi Kappa Sigma house is the second to be built on the fraternity row. The house will be 65x39 feet and is designed in the red-brick-white-column colonial style of the old Washington and Lee buildings. The basement will contain, as present, only the heating plant, storage for kitchen supplies, pressing room and servants' room, but a large area at one end has been excavated for possible future development.

On the first floor the Colonial front door opens into a large living hall, with fireplace, which is joined by French doors to the library and dining room at either end while a similar opening connects with a corridor leading to a door and an uncovered brick terrace at the rear. The kitchen, butler's pantry, housekeeper's suite, telephone booth and a coat room with lavatories are likewise provided on this floor. The second floor contains bedrooms accommodating sixteen men, a shower room and separate toilet room. The third floor provides for a large chapter room, trunk room, bath and sleeping quarters which take care of eight men. A large sleeping porch at the end is included in the plans but will not be completed until later.

BASEBALL RALLY WELL ATTENDED

Wonderful Spirit Exhibited At First Baseball Rally of Season.

The first baseball rally of the season was started off Thursday night with the Washington and Lee Swing. After a few good yells led by "Dizz" Briggs, it appeared that if spirit meant anything the Generals would certainly beat Virginia. "Cap" Nelson gave a short talk on the lack of support the students have shown this year and remarked about the poor attendance at the freshman games, urging the boys to go over and do a little cheering for them.

"Buddy" Aylmer next spoke. He stated that the team was going to play its best and if the students got behind it with a few yells and some pep the team would do the rest. Captain "Dick" Smith followed, saying he had a hunch that the Blue and White was going to beat Virginia. He also insisted upon having larger crowds at the games and said he knew there would be a big attendance at the Virginia game, but he wanted everybody to turn out for the others in the same manner.

Michigan's new $50,000 swimming pool was officially opened to the general student body recently, with Matt Mann, Varsity swimming coach on hand to instruct students who came and went in a steady stream.

two blows, both one base hits. The Orange and Blue were able to garner seven safeties off Lindberg, four of which came only after the second inning.

Ahner, the first man up, was thrown out by Hawkins. Freidburg hit a single to left and Dawson let it roll through him, Freidburg taking third before the ball could be returned to the infield. He rallied on McCoy's sacrifice fly to Gwaltney. The home team came back in their half determined to even the score. Gwaltney led off with a roller to Hushion, and was safe on the shortstop's high peg to first, which Bronaugh caught but couldn't touch the bag before Gwaltney slid in safely. He took second on a short passed ball, and evened the count on Lindberg's first double to right.

Virginia scored two more in the second and the White and Blue also counted two. Wrenn hit one to the left field bank and he trotted around the paths for a homer. Hushion was safe on Palmer's fumble and he took second on the play. Cabell hit one to center and Hushion dented the plate.

After Aylmer and Hawkins had gone out, Stearns hit one down the third base line, and was safe at second on an attempted steal, Cabell dropping Brown's throw. Palmer hit safely and Stearns scored. On a hit and run play, Palmer scored from first on Gwaltney's double to right center. Lindberg got an infield hit and Gwaltney went to third. Both were stranded there as Seehorn went out, Hushion to Bronaugh.

The tie was broken in the fifth on Seehorn's homer. It was a terrific blow and the Generals' third baseman was passing third base before Freidburg had even gotten to the ball, the hit going so far in right field. Another was added in the sixth. Stearns opened the sixth by popping to Darlington. Palmer whiffed. Gwaltney walked and stole second, and for the second time Captain Lindberg came through in the pinch and sent a double to right, Gwaltney scoring the Generals' last tally.

A lightning double play was engineered by the Generals' infield in the eighth. Wrenn worked Lindberg for a free pass. And after Hushion had fled to Dawson, Cabell hit one to Palmer who tossed the ball to Hawkins forcing Wrenn, and the second baseman whipped the pill to Aylmer in time to get Cabell.

There are two members of the Minnesota senate who in earlier days were gridiron stars at the University of Minnesota.

They are Senators Charles E. Adams of Duluth and James E. Madigran of Maple Lake.

Adams played right half on the Minnesota eleven in 1893 and 1894 and quarterback in 1895 and 1896. Madigran shifted about in several different positions during his four years at the university from 1890 to 1893. In his senior year he captained the team and was its outstanding player.

"I hear that Jones' wife is kicking over the traces."
"Yes. Jones should have seen to it that his Finchley coat was more thoroughly brushed."
