

FROSH BATTLE PONY EXPRESS TO SCORELESS TIE

Snow Makes Field Sloppy and Slows Up Play So That End Runs are Impossible.

WHITLOCK'S ABSENCE FELT But Lott and White Star On Offensive, and Eberts, Fitzpatrick, Spruit On Defense.

Washington and Lee's Little Generals and the Pony Express of V. P. I. battled to a scoreless tie on Wilson field yesterday in the only game that the Freshmen play at home this year. Snow continued to fall during the entire length of the game, thus making impossible anything except line plunges and punts.

The Generals received the ball and rushed it to the Gobblers' twenty yard line, from where Lott tried a drop kick. The ball was blocked. V. P. I. took the ball down the field on short rushes. The ball changed hands many times in the punting duel that ensued between Lott and Peake. Near the end of the first quarter, McArthur tried a place kick which was blocked. V. P. I. came near scoring when the Generals fumbled the ball, but the Generals recovered and Lott punted to safety from behind his own goal line.

McEver and McArthur brought the ball up the field on short bucks and two passes failed. McArthur again tried a place kick which failed, the Generals receiving the ball on their own 20 yard line. A series of punts and short plunges occupied the remainder of the first half, except for the pretty run made by Lott for twenty yards, when he saw that his attempted punt would be blocked.

The last half was practically a repetition of the first, in that short bucks and punts occupied almost all of the plays. Early in this half, Lott, on attempting an end run was knocked out, but gamely remained in the play. Peake and McEver rushed the ball to the Generals' 9 yard line, but our line stiffened and held the Gobblers for three downs, and a Blue warrior broke through their forward defense and tackled the V. P. I. runner behind his scrimmage line. The play then went from one end of the

BLUE AND WHITE BAND FEATURE AT CHARLESTON

Blue and White opposed Gold and Blue when Washington and Lee's band marched down the main street of Charleston this afternoon in competition with West Virginia's 125 piece band. It was the first time in twelve years that the two teams have met that the Blue and White had a student band to cheer them on. Last year the alumni of that city made every possible effort to have the student band attend the game, but the plans did not materialize. This year, however, due largely to the efforts of W. W. Donally, Jr., member of last year's senior law class, $150.00 was raised by the Charleston alumni, and the band made the trip.

Pres. Smith Addresses Teachers' Convention

President Henry Louis Smith last night addressed a mass meeting held in conjunction with the State Teachers' Convention at Clarksburg, W. Va., on "The Supreme Task of a Christian Democracy." The meeting was held in the Public Auditorium of the city and was open to the public. The convention is continued today, and Dr. Smith will again make an address, this time to the teachers alone, on "The Teacher's Personality."

Railroad Officials To Visit Lee Chapel

Twenty Officials and More Than Hundred Division Chiefs To View Lee's Tomb.

Twenty railroad officials and more than 100 division chiefs of southern roads will visit the tomb of General Robert E. Lee in the Washington and Lee Chapel here Monday. Members of the party are guests of President Fairfax Harrison of the Southern System.

They will arrive here at 12 o'clock and after eating luncheon with Dr. Henry Louis Smith, will go to the chapel where Dr. Smith will explain the pictures, the tomb of the Lee family, the recumbent statue of the General, and other things of interest to them.

To give an idea of the vast increase in visitors to Lee Chapel, a few figures are significant. For the month ending September 30 last year, 12,505 went through the Chapel; while for the same date this September we boast 24,812 visitors, almost double the number of the preceding year.

W. AND L. FACULTY HAS 13 IN WHO'S WHO

Biographies of One in Every Four of W. and L. Faculty Members Make Notable Show in Book.

One faculty member in every four at the University has earned a place for himself in Who's Who. Thirteen out of fifty are named in its pages.

Who's Who, listing 25,000 biographies of the most distinguished men and women of the country, represents only one out of every 4,800 of the people of the United States. The biographies of the thirteen faculty members at Washington and Lee make a notable showing for an institution of this size. Those listed are: President Henry Louis Smith, A. B., A. M., Ph. D., LL. D.; Dean Henry Donald Campbell, A. M., Ph. D., Sc. D.; James Lewis Howe, A. B., Ph. D., M. D.; Walter Le Conte Stevens, A. B., Ph. D.; Thomas James Farrar, A. B., A. M., Ph. D.; Livingston Waddell Smith, A. B., A. M., Ph. D.; Robert Granville Campbell, A. B., A. M., Ph. D.; De La Warr Benjamin Easter, A. M., Ph. D.; Glover Dunn Hancock, A. B., A. M., Ph. ## MOVIE WRITTEN BY ALUMNUS TO BE AT LOCAL THEATRE SOON

"Unholy Three" By Writer of Words To Swing Judged By Critics As One of Season's Best.

"The Unholy Three," a picture booked for the New Theatre, was written by a Washington and Lee man, Tod Robbins, '14, who wrote the words to the Washington and Lee Swing. "The Unholy Three" was judged by critics as one of the two best pictures in the greater movie season of the year.

LARGE VOLUME OF NEWS BEING SENT

More than 72,000 words to the papers and press services of the south is the mark set by the University News Service so far this year. The total mentioned is exclusive of athletic news which does not fall within the scope of the News Service.

News is regularly sent to the Associated Press and the United Press, both of which serve many papers in the south. Connections with the International News Service are now being established. In addition to the services, more than twenty papers are being served by the bureau.

MOUNTAINEERS DEFEAT GENERALS BY 21-0 SCORE IN ANNUAL CLASSIC

Captain Thomas, Leading Generals In Own Home Town, Stars For Blue and White

Battling on a wet, snow-covered field that slowed down play, West Virginia defeated the Fighting Generals, by a score of 21-0, at Charleston, West Virginia, this afternoon before stands packed with 14,000 people. The heavy Mountaineers were too much for the lighter Blue and White, but they by no means had an easy time in conquering the eleven warriors from Lexington, who played a wonderful game to the man. Captain Kay Thomas, playing in his home town, was easily the star of the Washington and Lee eleven, and almost scored on the Mountaineers single handed when he blocked Barnum's punt in the first quarter and picked up the ball, being downed on the West Virginia 23 yard line by Barnum, who caught him from behind... Thomas, displaying the All-American skill that he has shown in the Princeton, V. P. I. and Kentucky games, was in on almost every play. He recovered Farley's fumble in the second quarter on West Virginia's thirty yard line, but the Generals lost another chance when Murrin intercepted a pass on the next play.

Washington and Lee fans were afforded a thrill in the last quarter when substitutes were injected into the game for the White and Blue. Stearns, substituting for Rauber, plowed his way through the line time after time, proving the best and only consistent ground gainer for the Generals. The rejuvenated line and backfield, displaying the line smashing ability that had made them feared, plowed down the field to West Virginia's twelve yard line, where they were held, the Mountaineers punting out of danger.

First Quarter.

Thomas won the toss and elected to kick off, defending the east goal. Van Horn kicked off to Barnum who returned from the ten yard line to West Virginia's 33 yard line. Two line bucks gained 7 yards. Farley ran off right tackle to mid-field for the first down of the game. Two plays off tackle netted West Virginia another first down on the W. & L. 34 yard line. A tackle play gained four yards, but the next run around the right end was stopped without a gain. A short pass and a line buck netted another first down on the W. and L. 22 yard line. Barnum crashed through right guard for 12 yards, making first down on the Generals' ten yard line. Farley gained 8 yards through left tackle, and Daves threw Glenn for a four yard loss on the next play. Two plays through the line netted W. Va. only five yards and the Generals took the ball on their one yard line. The pass to Rauber was low and he was downed behind his goal for a safety. Score: West Virginia, 2; W. and L., 0.

Rauber punted from his own thirty yard line to Farley, who was downed on his 35 yard line by Thomas. First down was the result of three line plunges by West Virginia on the 46 yard line. Three line plunges failed to gain first down, and the punt was blocked by Thomas, who recovered the ball and ran it to the West Virginia 23 yard line before being downed from behind by Barnum. Rauber failed at the line on two attempts. West Virginia was penalized 5 yards and Rauber made first down on two bucks at the line. Two line plunges and a pass resulted in no gain and the quarter ended with the ball on the West Virginia 11 yard line. Score: Washington and Lee, 0; West Virginia, 2.

Second Quarter.

With Palmer holding the ball Rauber failed in an attempt to kick a placement goal from the 21 yard line. West Virginia took the ball on their own 20 yard line and two line plays resulted in 6 yards, Glenn took the ball around left end with good interference for 26 yards, putting the ball on the Generals' 48 yard marker. Farley and Barnum took

INFORMAL DANCE NEXT SATURDAY

Southern Collegians To Play For Hop Sponsored By Monogram Club For Virginia Game.

Permission has been secured from the Faculty Committee in charge of dances, to have an informal dance on the evening of November 7, that date being the day of the Washington and Lee-Virginia game. It will be the first time that the men on the football team will have had the chance to demonstrate their Terpsichorean ability, they having been absent on the Kentucky trip on October 17, the date of the last informal.

This dance will be sponsored by the Washington and Lee Monogram Club and the members will function in connection with the regular floor committee. The gentlemen's agreement will constitute the rules governing the dance and the agreement will be rigidly enforced by the floor committee in charge.

Admission will be limited to Washington and Lee students, alumni, faculty and their guests. In order to bring a guest one must personally vouch for him in writing and present

Generals Have Clean Championship Slate

State Race To Be Decided Here Saturday; Remaining Games To Tell Conference Tale.

Washington and Lee football followers are now turning their attention to the chances of the Generals emerging victorious in the races for the Southern Conference and Virginia state championships. With wins registered over Kentucky and V. P. I. by decisive scores, the Generals have a clean start for both titles. The state race will be decided next Saturday when the Cavaliers are played on Wilson Field, while this same battle will enable Blue and White fans to make further predictions as to the outcome of the conference schedule. Every remaining game which the Generals play will affect their conference standing, tilts with Maryland, N. C. State, and Florida following the Cavalier battle in quick succession.

With six teams undefeated thus far in the race for the Southern Conference championship, the early season records list the Generals in third place. Due to their impressive showing against all opponents they have thus far met, the University of Alabama's Crimson Tide is given first place, while the Virginia Cavaliers, in view of their three victories over conference rivals, are given second place over the Big Blue team, which has emerged victors in the two contests played to date.

Alabama deserves the premier position given her in the ratings made up this week chiefly on account of

'MIDST DARKNESS DRINKWATER LAUDS AMERICAN HEROES

Famous Author and Lecturer Speaks By Candlelight When Electricity Goes Out.

An unusually entertaining speech was delivered in the Washington and Lee gymnasium last night by John Drinkwater, the well-known English dramatist and poet, who is making his third lecture tour for this season. At least three hundred people heard the address, which was delivered under the auspices of the Woman's Club of Lexington.

In introducing Mr. Drinkwater, Dr. E. F. Shannon, professor of English at Washington and Lee, declared that the audience was extremely fortunate in being able to listen to an Englishman who has taken such an interest in America as to write dramas glorifying Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. Lee; he expressed the hope, moreover, that Drinkwater would soon write a play with "Stonewall" Jackson as the chief character.

Drinkwater declared that his re-

A Great Team.

Sentiment expressed by the University of Kentucky dean in his letter to President Smith last week praising the spirit of the Fighting Generals reflects the opinion of the outside world. "You must have put some of your spirit into the Washington and Lee football team," said Dean F. Paul Anderson.

We are justly proud of that team, and equally proud that they uphold the spirit of this student body. Clean play, high-mindedness, and true gentlemanly conduct are some of the essential elements that this institution represents.

And that same spirit is being represented in Charleston today, by both the team and the host of followers that took the trip to view the annual clash. That team heralds far and wide the name and spirit of our institution, and is more than worthy of the support being given it by the Blue and White fans today.

The Real Spirit.

We are justly proud of the goodly number of students who took the trip to Charleston today to witness the annual clash with the University of West Virginia on the gridiron. The fact that so many of our student body were willing to make the trip even though it is more expensive than the majority of football trips and go so far under such unpleasant weather conditions speaks for itself as to their spirit. It is truly the spirit of the greater Washington and Lee and the Fighting Generals which is spoken of elsewhere in this column and notice the Dean of the University of Kentucky at our game there.

President's Paragraph

No. 9. 1925-26.

A Shallow Slavery Unworthy of a W. and L. Man.

A highly-developed, loving, and lovely social nature is the charm of manhood, whether young or old. But when it degenerates into shallow and habitual slavery to the opinions and standards of the "gang," the "set," the class, the campus; when the individual lives in constant fear of doing or saying something "unpopular," and can generally be claimed by both sides in every hotly debated question—then his social nature has blighted his manhood, and he has become a mere time-server, who is totally unfitted for a man's work in a man's world.

Let every W. and L. student in this formative period of his crystallizing manhood, develop the Power and the Habit of independent, individual, well-considered Judgment, rather than weak and childish submission to mob rule and the majority vote.

ADDRESS ON WORLD PEACE

Dr. Hoyt conducted a discussion Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. on world peace. This question will be brought up in the U. S. Senate on December 13th.

"BILL" HOLT, '23, FORMER PRESIDENT OF STUDENT BODY, MARRIED

Of great interest to many members of the Washington and Lee student body will be the marriage of W. E. "Bill" Holt, '23, to Miss Grace Rudisill at Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 20. The wedding was described by a Memphis paper as being "one of the most brilliant weddings ever solemnized in the Second Presbyterian Church" of that city.

The groom was attended by his brother, Maynard Holt, '27, and the following Washington and Lee men as groomsmen: June H. Rudisill, Jr., Frank Barton, George Mason, Ed Bozeman, C. W. Hussey, Charles German, Jr., and Sam Raines. "Bill" Holt will be remembered by many of the older students as the president of the student body for the year 1922-23. He was also business manager of the Ring-tum Phi, captain of the Albert Sidney Boat Club, member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Alpha Kappa Psi, "13" Club, Cotillion Club, and Alpha Tau Omega fraternities.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

Beginning November 1st and continuing through the 15th a series of meetings will be held at Trinity Methodist Church. Mr. T. M. Swann will be the speaker. Mr. Percy Y. Brown of Roanoke will lead a chorus choir. The students and faculty are cordially invited.

MANY TOURISTS VISIT W. & L.

Many tourists who are traveling south are now visiting Washington and Lee. They are intensely interested in the university, both in its buildings and in its campus. The main points of attraction are the Lee Memorial Chapel and the Doremus gymnasium.

The 1902 baseball team of Washington and Lee wound up an unusually successful season by defeating Emory and Henry on May 10 by the score of 4-2. But two of the games played were lost, both of these being to the University of Virginia. Among the teams defeated by Washington and Lee were V. M. I., V. P. I., and Hobart College.

PLAY OF GENERALS' QUARTER GETS PLACE AMONG YEAR'S BEST

Henry Wilson Given Credit For Most Sensational Defense Play On Forward Pass.

In the American Boy magazine, which went on sale at the newstands on October 25, appeared the following paragraph in an article written on football plays of exceptional merit from the 1924 season by H. G. Salsinger. This account of Henry Wilson's daring feat in the Washington and Lee-Kentucky game last year was included with such stories as those about "Red" Grange, of Illinois, Eddie Pooley of Dartmouth, Wakefield of Vanderbilt, Stuhldreher of Notre Dame, and Dixon of California.

"The most sensational defense play on a forward pass last year was probably that made by Wilson, quarterback of Washington and Lee—a play that enabled his team to defeat Kentucky. Near the close of the game Washington and Lee was leading by a score of 10 to 7. It was Kentucky's ball near midfield. The ball was forward passed to a Kentucky halfback who had gotten behind the end and started down the field with the end giving interference. Wilson, playing safety position, had come up fast on the play, and was the only man between the Kentucky runner and Kentucky victory. Wilson saw that he could not get by the end who was interfering, and he made up his mind instantly. Leaving his feet, he jumped cleanly over the interferer. The runner noticed the leap and cut to on side. Wilson again acted in the fraction of a second, coming down on one foot and lunging at right angles. He caught the Kentuckian by the foot with his right hand and brought him down. For lightning thinking and lightning execution this play stands as an unusual example."

field to the other with no team in danger. White made a thrilling run of thirty yards, but was forced out. Washington and Lee secured the ball on the Gobblers' ten yard line and the backs failed at two bucks. Lott then took the ball to the center of the field and tried a drop kick that was blocked. Washington and Lee recovered the ball, but the whistle had blown and the Blue lost their chance to score. The game ended with the ball in the Gobblers' territory.

The Generals missed the brilliant running of Whitlock, who was out of the game on account of a wrenched shoulder. Lott and White were especially good on the offensive and Eberts, Fitzpatrick, and Spruit caught the opposing backs behind the line time and again. No one who saw the game can doubt the fame of the Gobblers' team, as they played a brilliant and heady game. Smith had the longest run of the game to his credit, intercepting a Gobblers' pass and returning it over 25 yards.

More than twelve automobiles left yesterday bound for Charleston, W. Va., filled with Washington and Lee students who will view the annual clash between West Virginia University and the Generals today. A number of these cars took the trip via Roanoke to Charleston, while the others went by way of Clifton Forge, White Sulphur Springs, to Charleston. Both of these routes are said to be in passable condition, although the majority seem to favor the more direct route of Clifton Forge and White Sulphur. The latter road makes the exact distance from Lexington to Charleston 187 miles.

RECORD CROWD AT VA. GAME IS EXPECTED

Although the road to Roanoke has been reported open at intermittent times ever since last year, it was actually completed several weeks ago and is now open all the way through. The road to Lynchburg is only about half paved, but is graded all the way and is therefore comfortable driving in dry weather.

All the roads into Lexington being open, it is probable that there will be a record-breaking attendance at the Virginia game next Saturday.

GENERALS HAVE CLEAN CHAMPIONSHIP SLATES

her elimination of Georgia Tech last Saturday. Prior to this, these last year's champions had defeated Louisiana State and Sewanee by large scores, the total scoring for the three games being 76 for Alabama and nothing for her opponents. Virginia, while winning all three of her games, was able to score only 31 points, while the three teams played by her ran up 16, more than half as many as the Cavaliers themselves. Thus the showing of Coach Neale's charges is less impressive than the published standings show, and many think that the Generals should be given second place over the Cavaliers due to other one-sided victories over each of the two conference rivals played.

Looking ahead to the games to be played before the close of the season Thanksgiving, there is every reason to claim for the Blue and White eleven an even chance for conference laurels for the year. Curly Bird's Old Liners may cause the Generals some trouble, but, with the showing they made against the V. P. I. Gobblers and the Charlottesville Cavaliers, the Maryland outfit looks to be inferior to De Hart's machine when it is functioning properly. N. C. State has anything but an impressive record to date, having been defeated by a number of teams, their last drubbing coming at the hands of V. M. I. last Saturday. This will be the last game of the season on Wilson Field, and will be played November 21.

Florida has been one of the disappointments of the south this year. Rated as little below the champion Alabama machine last year, the 'Gators have flivvered badly this season, meeting defeat at the hands of Virginia not long ago. Last year the game at Jacksonville resulted in a victory for the Florida eleven, but chances for a W. and L. victory this year are exceedingly bright.

Many sports writers place the odds for second place at the close of the season in favor of Tulane. Thus far this eleven has won two and lost no games, amassing 51 points to ten for their opponents. Much of their prestige has been won by unexpected victories over mid-western elevens of admitted ability, and it will take the best that their future competitors can put on the field to stop them short of a high place in the standing.

Backers of the local eleven claim that they have just hit their stride. The losses to Pittsburgh, Furman, and Princeton are out of the way, and with the passing, end running, and line bucking backfield and end offensive combinations proving themselves functioning with precision, upsets in the early season listing of southern elevens are looked for.

PAN ELECTS SIXTEEN TO MEMBERSHIP

Pi Alpha Nu ribbon society elected sixteen men at a meeting held Thursday night. The names of the new members will be announced in the next issue of the Ring-tum Phi. Officers of the society for this year are: President, G. T. W. Hendrix; vice-president, G. E. Burks; secretary-treasurer, Z. H. Herndon.

spect for his renowned compatriots, Shakespeare and Cromwell, was no greater than his esteem for such distinguished Americans as Lee and Lincoln. After this encomium of the great men produced by our nation, the eminent playwright recited a number of his sonnets and lyrical poems; the most touching of these pieces was "Mrs. Widow," in which the lonely life of a woman bereaved of her husband is depicted with admirable skill. Among the other verse-productions recited by Drinkwater were "Reckoning," "In Lady Street," "Moonlight Apples," "Elizabeth Ann," and "The Toll-Gate House."

In his lecture, Mr. Drinkwater declared that men can be divided into two groups: first, those who desire to dominate; and, second, those who wish to understand. The dramatist declared, furthermore, that all true artists could be placed in the second category.

While Mr. Drinkwater was in the midst of his discourse, the lights went out suddenly; the lecturer rose to the occasion, however, by blowing out two of the four lighted candles on the table in front of him and continuing his speech in the dark. The lights flashed on again about twenty-five minutes before the close of the lecture.

NEW CAVE SUBJECT OF INTEREST TO MANY

Exploration of the cave recently discovered one mile west of Lexington is still progressing and every day new objects of geological interest are uncovered.

The cavern entrance is located in an old rock quarry about 100 yards from the Lee Highway. Eight rooms have been opened so far and there are numerous passages which have not as yet been explored. The largest room found is seventy-six feet long by forty-four feet wide. The rooms are about twelve feet high with many strange and picturesque formations extending from the ceiling and walls. Among other objects of interest is a lake which connects two of the largest rooms.

A group of business men from Roanoke have been through the cave and have tried to interest Mr. Showalter, owner of the property, in the formation of a company to develop the cave, but as yet no deal has been made.
