

Dues For Prom Asked by Soph Finance Group

Chairman of Finance Committee Reports Shortage of Funds

MOSBY WILL LEAD SOPHOMORE PROM

Tal Henry Engaged to Furnish Music for Thanksgiving Dance Set

The collection of the dues from the members of the Sophomore class to finance their annual prom has been progressing very slowly. Unless a greater progress is made within the next several days, the dance will not be as successful as heretofore.

Davis Gunter, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Sophomore class, said "All Sophomores who have not paid their dues as yet, are requested to do so at once, so as to facilitate the work of the Finance Committee. It is the obligation of every man to pay his dues in order to make the dance a success."

C. H. McMillan, president of the Cotillion Club, stated, "No member of the Sophomore Class who has not paid his dues in full will be admitted to the Sophomore prom or will be allowed to take part in the figure. Every man will be given a ticket, and he will be required to present it both at the entrance and at the forming of the figure."

John L. Mosby, Lynchburg, Va., president of the Sophomore class, will lead the figure. Mosby will have with him Miss Margaret Ellen Bell of Lynchburg. William M. Burdette, vice president of the class, will assist Mosby in the figure.

All members of the Sophomore class who have paid their dues will take part in the figure with their girls. The decorations for the Thanksgiving dance set are well under way. A number of men have been working in the gymnasium every afternoon this week. The color scheme for the dances is orange and black. The orchestra will again be placed down at the end of the gymnasium as it was for the two informals.

Tal Henry and his North Carolinians will furnish the music for the three dances. The orchestra has been broadcasting over station WLW in Cincinnati for the past three weeks. The members of the student body who have tuned in on the broadcast have been very well pleased with his work.

Students Give Team Support

Stands Cheer Loudly For Generals At Virginia Game Saturday

Despite the numerous attacks on the loyalty of the student body and the activities of the football team, the Washington and Lee men in the stands at Virginia made a showing that might almost be said to equal the fight of the team.

The forces of nature were not lined up to make the best football weather, and the forces of Virginia managed to make it a rather disappointing game, but if there was any doubt as to the sincere support of the team on the part of the school, it must have been removed by the actions of the students last week-end.

The cheering was much louder than it has been at any of the previous games, and the crowds proved more consistent in following the leaders.

Washington and Lee's band made a splendid showing between the halves of the game. In playing the Virginia song and the Swing, and during interludes in the playing, the men showed the vast improvement that they have made with the heightened interest taken in their activities this year.

The Virginia men provided some amusement just before the start of the game, when the pledges to the Phi Delta Phi honorary legal society circled the track in an old coach. The men wore the customary loud "shine" outfits.

When caught robbing grocery store, be nonchalant—smoke a herring.

HOLIDAYS BEGIN WED.

The Thanksgiving holidays for the session of 1930-31 will begin at 3:30 p. m. on Wednesday, November 26 and will end on Monday, November 31 at 8:30 a. m., according to Dean H. D. Campbell.

Dean Campbell also said that all cuts on the four days preceding and the four days succeeding the holidays would be counted double as far as probation is concerned but only single in regard to the loss of quality credits.

Thomas Takes Belser's Place On Mat Squad

Mathis Pointing for Meet With Richmond YMCA December 13

Cromwell Thomas, undefeated 145 pounder of last year's freshman team, is the outstanding contender to wrestle in the position left vacant by the resignation of Captain Belser, according to Coach Mathis.

Belser is leaving school at the end of the first semester. No one will be chosen to fill the vacancy because of the new policy of Washington and Lee athletic teams of not electing a captain.

Thomas wrestled in every meet for the freshmen last year and was one of the leading scorers.

Fall practice for the wrestling team will end on Wednesday of next week, and regular season practice will get under way immediately after the Thanksgiving holidays. Eight men from the football squad will join the wrestlers at that time, and earnest preparation will start for the meet with the Richmond Y. M. C. A. on December 13.

The Richmond team, with a number of former college grapplers in the line-up, will be a tough opponent. This meet will be doubly important, Coach Mathis stated, because those who make the team at that time will, in all probability, be the ones who are chosen to make the trip to West Point for the Army meet on January 10. The Generals defeated the Army last year by the score of 23 to 10.

The freshman squad will be aided greatly by the addition of a number of men from the frosh football squad. These new men will report for practice tomorrow at 4:30.

Only the lighter men are practicing at present, but there are several exceptionally good wrestlers among them. These men are Messick in the 115 pound class, Taylor and Thomas in the 125 pound class, and Austin in the 135 pound class. Bremen and DeVan from the football squad, who wrestle in the 165 and 145 pound classes respectively, have some experience.

Resignation Of Belser Taken

New Captain of Wrestling Will Not Be Elected According to Rule

The resignation of Townsend M. Belser as captain of the wrestling team was officially accepted at a meeting of the Athletic Association Council last Friday night.

Belser turned in his resignation to the Council recently, since he will not be in school after the middle of the year. There will be no new captain elected for this sport, as this office has been done away with under the new system of managing athletics.

Leigh Williams was sworn in as a member of the Council at this meeting. He will take the place of Frank Hanna who is not in school this year.

At the request of Mr. C. E. Williams, who has been in charge of the tennis activities, a manager for this team will be elected according to the same method that managers for other teams are chosen. The Council elected Haven Walton as manager of the swimming team for the season of 1930 and '31.

By the action taken at this meeting golf has been added as a minor sport. The team is to be under the direction of Cy Twombly, and will operate under the same rules of eligibility as are effective for the other sports.

Beauties For Annual Asked For By Editor

Pictures for Beauty Section Will be Accepted After Thanksgiving

Pictures for the Beauty Section of the 1931 Calyx, University annual, will be received beginning Wednesday after Thanksgiving holidays, according to W. O. Thomas, editor of the publication. All photographs should be sent to Thomas at the Beta House, or mailed to him at Box 896.

"We hope this year to have a Beauty Section that is really a beauty section," Thomas said, "and toward this end we hope to have contributions from every man who thinks his girl or girls more comely, more seemly, or worthy more sincere commendation for pulchritudinous qualities than any other or others."

It is not essential that your girl be one who has attended social functions at Washington and Lee, or even that she has visited Lexington, he pointed out. However, in judging the entrants, preference will be given those girls who have been here at least once.

Final proofs on engravings for the opening section of the book have been completed, and work is in progress on other art work and engravings.

Individual pictures will be taken again beginning Wednesday after the Thanksgiving holidays. The photographer will be here two weeks, in order that every man may have opportunity to be photographed.

Aside from individual pictures, all that now remain to be taken are those of winter sports, Fancy Dress, and feature pictures.

Rain Holds Up Grid Tourney In Semi-Final

Game Between Arcades and K. A.'s Postponed for Third Time

Three times has the date for the Kappa Alpha-Arcades tilt, to determine who will meet Tourist Inn for the Touch-football championship been set, and three times has rain intervened to cause postponement of the contest. The latest day set for the game is Tuesday, but it is likely that the field will be too muddy at that time. In case the game is not staged on Tuesday, it will be played as soon as the field dries off sufficiently. Meanwhile members of both teams are fretting over the long delay, it has been more than a week since either team has been in action.

Looking back over the games of the tournament it seems that the tourney has been characterized by three distinctive types of play. The opening games found the teams with very poor defenses and weaker offenses, the result was that there was an average of only one touchdown scored in a game. The second round games were productive of much higher scores, indicative of increase on the offense, but no improvement on the defense. Now as the teams reach the semi-finals and finals they seem to be drawing nearer perfection, as each team displays a certain amount of concentrated scoring power, but the vastly improved defenses on all hands appear capable of holding them. The three remaining teams are very evenly matched.

An attempt to select an all-tournament team would be a task of the most difficult sort. Many Touch-football stars have sprung up over night, so to speak, as this game has not been played on the Washington and Lee campus for the last five years. Some of the outstanding performers of the tournament are: Linemen: Hudson, Arcades; Dean, Tourist Inn; Savage, Kappa Sig; Davis, K. A.; Malone, Sigma Nu. Outstanding backfield men are: Piley, Arcades; Wright, Sigma Nu; Brooks, K. A.; Cross, Tourist Inn; Perrow, Kappa Sig; Crowl, Phi Psi; McMillan, Beta. The best punters in the tourney are Bliss, S. P. E., and Graham, K. A.

The day for the finals between Tourist Inn and the K. A.-Arcades winner has not been decided upon.

An unwelcome guest is one of the best things going.

Seniors Dispute Causes Of Bald And Shiny Pates

Doctor Hoyt Says Lexington Water Has No Ill Effect On Growth Of Hair

Attempts to discover whether the environment of a college town has anything to do with the number of Seniors on the Campus who are bald-headed have proved fruitless.

Minute statistical data on hirsute head-covering divides Seniors into two general groups: They are either bald or they are not bald. Whether anything can be done about it still remains a moot question.

A senior with an abundant shock of beautiful bushy hair is lucky, and may become a musician. A thin to medium crop of hair indicates that the Senior is less lucky, and if he wishes to be a musician also, the best he can do is perhaps beat a base drum. The senior who is partly or completely bald is simply out of luck altogether, and musical talent is hopeless unless he can be content with a plumber's job and take out his musical ambition on water pipes.

Several seniors were questioned concerning their particular crops of hair and how they got them—or lost them. Results were inconclusive. Those who possessed hair said Lexington environment stimulated growth. Those who were losing, or had lost, their hair boldly stated that Lexington was a bad place in which to grow hair. For some of the bald ones, water caused all the trouble; for others, the atmosphere was detrimental. Still others attributed their shiny pates to insidious dietary influences.

Dr. Hoyt, when asked about this bristling problem, stated, "You cannot generalize on the conditions which cause baldness. Individual cases differ, and each case is unique, depending most probably on physical phenomena of the body. Scientists are studying the causes for baldness but have found no specific cure for all cases. It is known, however, that scalp stimulation, massage, careful washing and shampooing are treatments which aid in the preservation and growth of the hair. There is no basis for belief that Lexington water is bad for the hair, because it is an exceptionally pure water and has no harmful effects. It is not good, however, to use too much water of any kind on the hair, nor should hair be washed too often. It remains an individual problem."

You are either lucky, less lucky, or unlucky if you have more hair, less hair, or no hair, respectively—this is all that can be said of seniors at Washington and Lee who happen to be in the various stages of hirsute decline. Only one senior, perhaps, has given a definite answer to the question, "What is good to keep hair in?" His answer was, "An empty cigar box."

Tucker To Talk To Literary Society

The Graham-Lee Literary Society will be addressed in their next meeting by Hon. St. George Tucker, congressman from this district. Mr. Tucker is an Alumnus of Washington and Lee. This meeting will be held on Tuesday night, November 25. It will be held in the Literary society room in Washington College. The student body is cordially invited to attend.

The district council at Tottenham, England, is asking the British health ministry to hold an inquiry on the question of permitting local councils to disseminate birth control knowledge.

The annual drive for subscriptions to the Southern Collegian starts tomorrow. All subscriptions must be paid before Thanksgiving.

Second Issue of The Alumni Magazine Out

Inauguration of Dr. Gaines is Featured in Alumni Publication

The Alumni Magazine, containing everything from a story on the inauguration of the new president to a story of the new road constructed on the campus, was put in the mails last week. This is the second issue of the magazine which "Cy" Young has edited since coming back to his alma mater last summer.

A very attractive cover with a picture of Dr. Gaines on the front wearing the robes of his office, binds the book. A great deal of money has been spent to make this the most attractive issue ever published by the University.

"Is literature your hobby, Doctor?" the reporter asked Dr. Gaines in the character sketch included in the leaves.

"Well, I don't know whether I have a hobby," he said puffing at his pipe, "unless it's boys, my own three and the nine hundred others who are also mine. Yes, I guess it's boys."

On another page is a story arising out of the recent controversy over changing the name of the school paper. The editorials printed on both sides of the argument are reprinted here along with the executive committee's ruling not to change the name.

Alumni will revive an interest in the school and in memories of times spent at Washington and Lee when they read of the activities of the various alumni whom they knew so well while here. Bill Rafferty, quarter-back in 1911-12, is now head coach at Virginia Military Institute. J. H. Dillard has done extensive work in behalf of the negro race. The famous "Tex" Tilson, now coach at Duke, but remembered here for his greatness on the football field, was recalled to his former class mates. Working with "Tex" at Duke is another well known figure to Washington and Lee grads, "Eddie" Cameron. He is coaching basketball there.

"Cy" Young tells of an interesting trip through several states visiting the alumni this summer. He met many of them in his travels for the purpose of closing up the apparent gap between the alumnus and his Alma Mater.

Leibowitz writes up an account of the football season through the time the magazine went to press. Some very interesting sidelights are shed on the hard-fought West Virginia and Kentucky games.

The fact that enrollment has reached a new peak and established an all-time record for the school is told under the heading of "Record Enrollment at Washington and Lee This Year."

Practically all of the speeches given at the inauguration ceremony are included in write-ups in the magazine. These will be doubly interesting to the alumni as some of the returning men were former students of the University.

Sigma Upsilon Plans Season

National Literary Fraternity To Become More Active This Year

Sigma Upsilon, national literary fraternity, is this year in the twenty-fifth year of its existence. It was founded at the University of the South in 1905. The Sesame Chapter was established at Washington and Lee in 1918.

The purpose of the fraternity is to promote literary achievement, and to arouse interest in this subject. Annual national contests are held, in poetry, short story writing, and other forms of literature.

To be eligible for Sigma Upsilon, a man must be taking some advanced course in English. He must be a student of unusual ability, and some definite achievement to his credit.

Although for the past three years Sigma Upsilon has not been a very active organization. This year it will be different, according to E. M. Graves, the president of the organization. In the past it was customary to hold frequent meetings, for the purpose of discussion and criticism of current literature. It is the intention of the officers to revive this system.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS NINETEEN DAYS OFF

For the benefit of the freshmen and those upperclassmen who haven't grown up we present the following facts. From eight o'clock tonight, the approximate time you will receive this issue, there are nineteen days till December 20, the first day of the Christmas holidays. To be more specific you must wait 744 hours till 12:30 p. m. arrives on the twentieth. If this isn't long enough one may find consolation in the fact that this totals 44,640 minutes or 2,678,400 seconds.

The Teams In Intramural Race Meet

Decided that no One Fraternity Group Can Have More Than 35 Members

A meeting was recently called by Athletic Director Forrest Fletcher of the then eight remaining teams in the intra-mural touch-football league in order to decide on a few matters of procedure for the remainder of the intra-mural program and to discuss the protest which had been lodged against the Tourist Inn football team.

Several protests were lodged against Tourist Inn by members of the intra-mural league stating that the non-fraternity group had about three hundred men to choose its teams from while the average fraternity had only about 35 men in its chapter. In order to offset this tremendous advantage in favor of the non-fraternity men suggestions were offered.

It was proposed to have eating houses and dormitories enter teams in the league allowing only legitimate members of these organizations to play on the representative teams. This was tentatively decided against in that there are so many fraternity men in the dormitories to make this plan inadvisable as it would work a hardship on the non-fraternity men. Again some of the eating houses throughout the town have only a few men eating there. If they wished to enter a team in the football league they would not be able to do so as they would not have enough men to make a team.

How to arrange the non-fraternity men in such a manner so that all of them would have a chance to play and yet, not work a hardship or place the fraternity men at a disadvantage became the perplexing problem before the group. It was tentatively decided to allow any non-fraternity team to enter the league under any name that it should choose, but that the team could not have more than 35 members, the average number of men in a fraternity. These men must play under the banner of the same club for the full year. They can not play football for Tourist Inn and then play basketball for Lees dormitory. Then it becomes only a question of organizing the non-fraternity men into groups of not more than 35 men that all teams will be more equalized.

If there are events on the intra-mural program which are individual in nature any one student can enter that event unattached if he so desires. Should a fraternity man desire to play with a non-fraternity group he is eligible to do so providing he stays with that same club throughout the year. As arranged at the present time all students will be eligible to compete, which is the aim of the intra-mural program. Later in the year some outside organization may decide to make competition somewhat keener by offering trophies in addition to those offered by the athletic department.

The men at the meeting at which these questions were brought up were: Forrest Fletcher, A. E. Mathis, and Cy Twombly of the Physical Education department, Horace Gooch and Ben Ayars of the Intra-mural board, J. M. Dean, who has officiated at most all of the intra-mural football games; Joe Wright representing Sigma Nu, Marvin Piley of Arcades, Sam Barasch of Zeta Beta Tau, Carl Kinsey from S. A. E., Mosby Fred Livingston of S. P. E., Haven Walton and Earle Richmond of Tourist Inn.

Fire engines, with hose pipes, were used at the great fire in Southwark, England, in May, 1676.

Decisions Give Wahoos Game By 21-7 Score

Generals Are Drowned As Officials Make Questionable Rulings

MITCHELL'S PLUNGING IS FEATURE OF GAME

Blue and White Fullback Averages Six Yards On Each Play

A fighting Washington and Lee team lost the game to the University of Virginia, in Charlottesville, Saturday, on a rain soaked field. A homecoming crowd of about 6000 witnessed the game in a drizzling rain.

The first two touchdowns made by Virginia came as a result of breaks and last was scored after a 55 yard drive down the field in the fourth quarter. The Generals made their lone touchdown, at the beginning of the second half, after a steady march down the field.

Mitchell was the main offensive power of the Blue and White attack. He plunged through the Virginia line for an average of over six yards a try.

The Washington and Lee team opened the game with a powerful attack. The Generals came within scoring distance when Martin intercepted Sippley's pass and returned it 40 yards to the Virginia 34 yard line. They made two first downs to place the ball on the six yard line. Mitchell made most of the yardage with his driving plunges. The Cavalier line held the Generals for downs and gained possession of the ball on the five yard line. The Washington and Lee team threatened again later in the quarter when they drove down the field only to be held again when within scoring distance.

Through out the game both teams played cautious football and punted on the third down.

The crowd was given a thrill when a long pass, Martin to Jones, was incomplete. Jones, with a clear field ahead of him, was reaching for the pass when he was tackled from behind. The referee ruled that the receiver had not been interfered with, in spite of the protests of Coach Oberst. The Generals were deprived of another opportunity to score.

Thomas made a 25 yard run around right end to score Virginia's first touchdown. Bryant added the extra point with a place kick.

The second Virginia touchdown came as a result of a penalty, when the referee ruled that one of the men in the W. and L. line had tripped an opponent during the play. Faulkner had punted from the Generals 25 yard line to the center of the field. The ball was brought back to the point where the referee thought the ball was, in the progress of the play, when the tripping occurred, and was awarded to Virginia. The Cavaliers advanced the ball to the two yard line. Thomas fumbled the ball on a play through the line. Thibodeau recovered it for Washington and Lee. However, it was called a touchdown, when the referee ruled that he had blown the whistle before the fumble, and that Thomas had crossed the goal line. Williams, acting as captain for the Generals, asked for time out, but the referee motioned for play for the extra point. The place kick was wide, but the point was awarded to Virginia, when the whole Washington and Lee team was called offside.

The Generals made another drive down the field and carried the ball to the Virginia eight yard line. Mitchell plunged through center and over the goal, but fumbled, and the ball was recovered by Thomas. The play was called a touchback and the ball was brought out to the twenty yard line and given to Virginia.

Just before the start of the drive, which started when Faulkner recovered a fumble, Mattox and Thibodeau entered the game. Mattox had only been in the game a few minutes, when the officials said that the W. and L. halfback had exchanged blows with Tompkins, a substitute tackle, and both were put out of the game. Mattox carried the ball just once during the time he was in the game when he returned a punt.

At the close of the first half the Generals had the ball on Virginia's 40 yard line. Martin passed to Williams who ran several yards before he was tackled. The ball was fumbled and Coeke recovered for Washington and Lee. (Continued on Fourth Page)

THE VIRGINIA GAME

From a cloud of unfortunate incidents that are only to be deplored and not recalled, the Washington and Lee football team emerged on Lambert field last Saturday to play a game that made every man in the stands proud to be on that side of the field.

No Washington and Lee team ever fought harder, and after seeing much of their good work made ineffective by forces beyond their control, came back and fought harder yet. Every man in the stands knows it. The score shows nothing about the game. And the score is not important in this case.

The "fighting Generals" earned their name, and everyone, including the Wahoos, knows that Virginia's eleven players never beat the big Blue by two touchdowns.

We would like to have beaten Virginia for the whole country to know it. But the student body is satisfied with what the team did, and whatever the readers of sports news think they know, we know what we saw—and we're proud of our team.

CIGARETTES

Last year 119,049,000,000 cigarettes were burned in the United States, or 1000 per capita. This number is sufficient, if laid in the statistician's favorite end-to-end formation, to make 11 round trips to the moon and then circle the globe eleven times.

The report of the Treasury department, for the fiscal quarter ending Oct. 1, shows that the amount taken in from all sources was $72,500,000 less than for the happy corresponding figure last year. Income taxes alone fell $55,740,000 below the figure for their glittering quarter of 1929. The only gain in the intake for the national cash box came from the cigarette. The only light of hope came from the glowing end of a cigarette. Taxes from the slender pallid article of commerce increased $1,860,000, to the great total of $97,881,500.

The consumption of cigarettes is increasing day by day. It is a real problem for some senior, who can't get a good subject to investigate for a thesis, why, when we have smaller incomes, import less goods and do less business generally, we must have more cigarettes.

The butt has now achieved the honor of being the only progressive element in the Treasury finances. Thus it seems little more than treason for the Anti-Cigarette League of Oregon to ask the voters to ostracize the cigarette. But the people of Oregon rallied to the aid of the administration, and their verdict must have been one of the few bright one's in post election vista at Washington.

CAESAR IS ALSO DEAD

"Guilty? Yes, if there is such a law, but I have never heard of it," is the statement which John Schexnayder, 82 of the Louisiana backwoods, had his interpreter tell the judge in Baton Rouge when arraigned on a bootlegging charge. Monsieur Schexnayder, who speaks only French, said that he had been making whisky for 50 years and if there were any law against it, it was news to him. Among other things which he related was that no one ever told him that the Civil War was over. Our hope is that some bailiff, who could speak French, had the kindness to tell the barefooted defendant that Thomas Jefferson had purchased Louisiana from Napoleon; that Louis XIV no longer dazzles Europe with the extravagance of Versailles and Foutainbleau; that Catherine de Medici is now a sweet old lady enjoying the peace and comfort of her grandchildren; that the Bastille is not a prison for bootleggers; that airplanes aren't overgrown buzzards; and last of all, after the proper preparation for the shock, that there has been another war, and that Herbert Hoover is president of the United States.

Vice-President Curtis apparently believes that liquor law enforcement, like charity, should begin at home.

Let us hope that the Law Enforcement Commission is not going to make the mistake of coming out for light wines and beer.

The sale of grape juice which turns to wine is branded OK by the prohibition enforcement officers in Milwaukee, but a vender was arrested in St. Louis for selling the same essence of the same fruit. Imagine the embarrassment of Attorney General Mitchell. Incidentally the grape juice being sold for the manufacture of wines is put on the market by no other than Mabel Walker Willebrandt.

Satan may be free, but we haven't seen him hanging around his old haunts and maintaining his superiority over dogdom in front of Washington College.

Student support of the Ring-tum Phi consists of 350 subscriptions from a student body of over 900.

In all probability there will be a great deal accomplished in the session of Congress which will meet shortly. Every lame duck will have his own special pet piece of legislation which he feels he must put through before he goes out. The result will be a whole lot of bills passed and nothing accomplished.

We are startled sometimes to find that some of our modern slang is not so modern. The expression "to cool one's heels" appears in the works of Henry Fielding published in about the middle of the eighteenth century.

We wonder how much Virginia paid that referee for services rendered in the game Saturday.

Prohibition agents in Georgia have found a still in the bottom of a well. Since when have dry agents been looking for truth?

McGowan, Salinsky, Kimmel, O'Brien, Kennedy, Shultz, LaPreste, Glordano, and Smith. No these names are not the roster of the World Court or an attendance record in an International conference but just a few of the players names who participated in that all-American game of football between St. Louis U. and Loyola, Saturday.

Charles A. Philbower, supervisor of high schools in a New Jersey county, wants high schools to teach how to pick husband of wife. A good course on how to pick winning horses would satisfy us.

The Columbian

It occurred to me that Columbian Rhymes with Miscellanea:

Spe-hic-ing of prohibition (What, didn't you know?), speaking of prohibition, there was once a generous bootlegger (this being a particular instance) who was being pursued by a coast guard revenue cutter. He threw his cargo overboard, sped away in his boat, opened fire on the revenue officers and said kindly to his men, "Give 'em both barrels, boys . . ."

But this is no place for the discussion of prohibition. The column affords no capacity for getting to the dregs of the case. It has become a very dry subject, and most arguments for its solution, when distilled, are all wet.

Withal—and who doesn't regret it?—the extremes of controversy which have arisen over prohibition have made of it an altogether inauspicious hindrance to sane and discriminate living . . . (leave the change on the counter, Barney.)

To be snobbish and to be conscious of it, that is sophistication. To be snobbish and unconscious, that's vulgarity—and for all but a few, out of fashion . . .

Perhaps at this terminus you would like to hear about the young man in a small Western town who had nothing to do at night but sit around . . . when night came he just sat around . . . If anybody asked him, "What are you doing?" he said, "Oh, just sittin' around." . . . He did this until he learned to grow fond of it . . . he gave up his job and sat around all day . . . now he just sits around . . . because he likes it . . . (Very simple, try it. Or stop it.)

Ah, why can't we be born old and die-young? it's an idea . . . Brought to you every Tuesday and Friday evening by THE MANIAC

Council Will Hold Tourney

Debating Squads To Be Composed Of First Year Men Only

The Debate Council has announced the completion of plans for a debate tournament for teams representing various groups on the campus and composed of freshmen only. The subject decided upon for discussion, one of especial interest to freshmen, is, Resolved: That a system of deferred rushing should be adopted at Washington and Lee.

Each team will be composed of two men representing fraternities, dormitories, boarding houses or any other group containing several freshmen. Preliminaries will be held in the near future, the finals being held in the Lee Chapel immediately before the Christmas holidays.

The council has provided a silver loving cup to be awarded to the winning team and a five dollar gold piece to the best individual speaker in the final debate. It is expected that the men appearing in this contest will furnish the nucleus around which the team for next year will be formed.

The first meeting of the teams will be held Thursday night in Room 105, Newcomb Hall, at which time the subject will be explained and dates set for the preliminary debates. No speeches need be prepared for this meeting. Fraternities are urged to appoint teams to take part in the contest.

T. W. Davenport, debate manager, also announces that tentative arrangements for debates are being made with the universities of Florida, Oklahoma, Tennessee, and a team from Michigan.

Frosh Courtmen Will Begin Daily Work With Young

According to Coach Ray Ellerman, the Frosh basketball cagers will now settle down to hard work. The Freshman football season is over and the full squad reported for practice yesterday.

Cy Young, who has been coaching freshmen football, will now turn his attention to coaching the Little Generals at basketball. He will call daily practices from now on.

Among the Freshmen football players that reported for practice yesterday were Moscovich, Wilson, Smith, Steinburg, and Sawyer. More are expected later. Each one of these men has had experience in the basketball line and is expected to strengthen the Baby Generals.

GENERAL GOSSIP

Both the freshmen and the varsity football teams were the victims of faulty officiating in their respective games on Friday and Saturday. The Frosh were penalized more than 200 yards against the Virginia Poly freshmen while the varsity was kept from scoring, and was scored on, as the result of seemingly mental lapses on the officials' part.

Pat Mitchell played the finest game of his career against the Wahoos on Saturday, making it two Saturdays in succession that he has been the outstanding member of the Washington and Lee varsity. Thomas of Virginia was the big gun in the Wahoo attack, but his work was more than matched by that of Mitchell.

When a team plays like Washington and Lee did against the University of West Virginia and Kentucky it deserves the whole-hearted support of the student body. But when a team puts up a game like Washington and Lee did against the University of Maryland and still expects its student body to support it would not only be an insult to the intelligence of the students and alumni present at the game, but to those members of the team who are out there trying and giving their best to win.

Washington and Lee has a much better football team than what the records show, but there is apparently something wrong among the members of the team itself, as gleaned from the games played to date. We hope that the discordant elements of the team, Democrats and Republicans as it were, will get together and end their season in a blaze of glory against Duke.

H. C. Byrd writing in the Washington STAR commented on the Washington and Lee team in the Maryland contest stating that it seemed to be stale and that Williams, rated one of the best ends in the south, seemed dead on his feet in playing way below his usual standard. Byrd is also coach of the University of Maryland team.

Coach Ellerman has his basketball candidates divided up into two groups or teams with the tentative first team composed of Cox, Barasch, Annin, Burke, and Cross. The second team lines up at present having Cummings, Smith, Hardwick, Holbrook, and Pillely, with Violet in reserve.

Relieved of football for the year several members of the freshman football team reported for basketball Monday afternoon. Among them were Moscovich, Steinburg, Rosenberg, Laird, Wilson, and Howie Smith.

Coach Forrest Fletcher of the track team scored one on the Virginia athletic heads when he was able to bring the University of Virginia track team over here for an indoor meet this year. With one of the best teams in history under Fletcher this year, Virginia seems to be due for a trimming.

When weather will permit Kappa Alpha will play the Arcades for the right to meet Tourist Inn for the championship of the intramural football league. Already members of the three teams have cast covetous glances at the medals on display at the Corner.

Prominent Surgeon To Talk

Dr. R. P. Bell, prominent surgeon of Staunton will deliver a lecture to the student body soon. This is given through the auspices of the Tau Kappa Iota fraternity. The date has not been definitely decided but will be announced this week.

POOL NOW OPEN

There is now a sufficient supply of water so that the pool will be opened to the whole university next week. Swimming has been prohibited since school opened due to the lack of water.

A survey of the earnings of more than 1400 professional and business women, which was made by the University of Wisconsin in co-operation with the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, has revealed that a college education is worth a considerable monetary value to women who intend to engage in careers.

College graduates were found to earn an average of $346 more a year than their less educated sisters.

A school for boys is to take the place of a community of Shakers which have occupied the site of Mt. Lebanon near here for more than 150 years. The five remaining members of the family which has owned most of the land, have turned the estate over for a school, to be called "The Mount Lebanon School for Boys."

Baby Generals Lose To V. P. I.

Tech Scores Three Times In Second Half. Freshmen End Good Season

The Little Generals met their first defeat with a Virginia opponent when they went down before the onslaught of the V. P. I. freshmen last Friday, by the score of 22-0 in a game played at Blacksburg. The game was played on a damp field and under an overcast sky. The Little Generals made a gallant stand in the first half but the heavy going proved too much for them and they were forced to give way before V. P. I.'s powerful forward wall and brilliant backs.

V. P. I. started like they were going to have an easy day of it when they returned the opening kick-off deep into W. and L. territory. But the Little Generals held and took the ball on downs. From then until the last of the second quarter the teams saw-sawed up and down the field. V. P. I. finally pushing the ball across on a run by Casey.

The Little Generals' goal line was crossed three times in the second half. The entire game was much more closely contested than the score indicated. Casey and Grove starred for the victors, each making several long runs and gaining practically every time they carried the ball. Rosenberg, Wilson, Moscovich and Sawyer were outstanding for the Little Generals.

The game marked the final game for the W. and L. freshmen this year. In spite of the defeat their record is outstanding, because of victories over Virginia and Maryland.

Tank Practice Is Held Daily

Arrival Of Water Enables Swimmers To Begin Practice In Pool

The Generals swimming team has started work in earnest with the arrival of a supply of water. The squad practices every day under the direction of Coach Twombly. There are 22 men on the Freshman squad and 23 on the Varsity.

They have been devoting their time so far to the fundamentals of the art, practicing turns, starts, strokes, and kick. Haven Walton, the manager of the natators, has arranged a tentative schedule for this year. The swimmers will meet William and Mary, Virginia, Duke and Richmond. A tentative meet is scheduled with Navy, and the team will enter in the Southern Conference meet in the first part of March. Other meets will be announced later.

With two months of hard practice stretching before them the team looks good. There are plenty of experienced men from last year left, and the freshman squad contains several promising men. The team stands a very good chance in the Southern Conference, according to the swimmers.

Strong Duke Eleven To Oppose Generals On Thanksgiving Day

Duke's impressive 18-0 victory only increased the opinion that they have one of the strongest teams in the Southern Conference. North Carolina State put up a game fight to check the powerful drives of the Blue Devils eleven, but were unable to check the DeHart-coached machine that had previously run over the Navy, Villanova and Kentucky teams for well-earned victories.

The Duke attack was led by the brilliant half backs Murray and Brewer, which accounted for two of the Duke touchdowns. The other touchdown was gained on a break. Hyatt, a Duke wingman, fell on the ball back of the State goal line when a backfield man made a costly fumble. The first two touchdowns came as a result of long straight down the field marches which were often checked, but were not to be denied.

Duke is Washington and Lee's next opponent Thanksgiving Day. While Duke's record looms much more impressive, a hard fought game is expected. The Blue Devils have not lost a game since the first game of the season.

Mathis Will Award Wrestling Cups For Outstanding Ability

Three years ago Coach Mathis of the wrestling team inaugurated the practice of donating several cups to members of the wrestling team as an award for outstanding ability. A 14 inch cup is awarded to the Varsity man who scores the most points during the season. This goes to the permanent possession of the winner and Coach Mathis furnishes a new cup every year.

Virginia Tech Leads Teams In State Race

Tulane, Alabama Fight For The Southern Conference Championship

WASH. STATE WINS IN WEST

Maxey, William and Mary, Leading Scorer In State, Mattox Eighth

By virtue of Virginia's defeat of Washington and Lee, V. P. I. holds the top position in the race for the state championship with three wins and one tie to their credit and only one more game to play. Virginia is in second place with four victories and one loss. William and Mary and Washington and Lee are tied for third place with three victories and one defeat each. If V. P. I. beats V. M. I. they will be the undisputed state champions, but a loss will place Virginia at the apex. If the game resulted in a tie, however, V. P. I. would still have the better record.

In the Virginia Conference, Emory and Henry, the last of Virginia's undefeated teams, met its downfall before the William and Mary eleven 27 to 0. By this victory, the William and Mary team stepped into the undisputed lead in this conference.

In the Southern Conference, Tulane and Alabama are the only remaining teams undefeated. Resulting from their 25 to 0 victory over Georgia, conqueror of Yale and New York University, Tulane only is left to dispute Alabama's march for the title. Alabama by trouncing Louisiana State 33 to 0 scored its seventh conference triumph.

In the Far West, Washington State's great eleven clinched the Pacific Coast Conference title by whipping Washington 3 to 0. Oregon State cleared this title for the Cougars by giving Oregon its first defeat of the year 15 to 0.

The Utah Indians, burying Colorado University under a 34 to 0 count, won the Rocky Mountain championship for the third consecutive year.

The chase for the Big Ten championship has settled down to a private affair between Northwestern and Michigan.

Kansas, by staging a comeback to outpoint Oklahoma 13 to 0, went into a tie with the Sooners for the Big Six championship.

In the Southwest, the Texas Steers stopped Christian's march toward the conference title 7 to 0. This left the race badly tangled with Texas and Southern Methodist, as the leading contenders.

In the East, Western Maryland is the only undefeated and untied team, however their schedule does not permit them to be contenders for the title. Fordham suffered their first defeat since the close of their 1928 season at the hands of St. Mary's combination from California. The score was 20 to 12. This leaves Dartmouth and Army as the leading contenders, neither team being beaten and both being tied once.

Notre Dame maintained its perfect record by defeating Drake 28 to 7, but had to call on the first string to do it. The 1930 edition of Knute Rockne's at Notre Dame has swept everything before it and is practically the strongest team in the country.

The leading scorers in the State is Clarence (Red) Maxey, of William and Mary who has fifteen touchdowns and three extra points for a total of 93 points scored this year to his credit. This equals his total for last year, and as the season is not over yet it gives him a chance to break it. His nearest rival is Cathers of Emory and Henry who has a total of 50 points. Mattox is eighth with 30 points.

In the East, MacUiso, of Colgate, by scoring four touchdowns and kicking two extra points and a field goal in last Saturday's game, is in the lead with 135 points. Grossman of Rutgers and Goff of Rhode Island are tied for second place with 96 points each.

Two years ago the cup was awarded to Bolton, 175 lbs., for making 16 points in seven meets. Last year Wayne Mathis won the cup for making 26 points in six meets in the 155 lb. class. The same plan will be followed this year. In addition Coach Mathis started the practice last year of awarding smaller cups to those wrestlers who entered in the majority of the meets and had no losses.

Last year eight cups were presented, four to Freshmen and four to Varsity men. The Freshmen were Evans, Abramson, Thomas, and Van Eek. The Varsity men to win a cup were Belser, Mathis, Hall and Tilson. These cups are given by Coach Mathis personally to stimulate interest in the sport and are presented at the close of the season.

The pass was ruled incomplete and the Blue and White was penalized five yards for a second incomplete pass.

At the start of the second half the Washington and Lee team marched down the field for a touchdown. Mitchell bore the brunt of the attack. A 28 yard pass, Martin to Williams, together with straight football put the ball on the four yard line. Martin scored on a reverse line play. Mitchell added the extra point with a place kick. Martin, Thibodeau and Schuchart all made good gains during this period of the game.

An exchange of punts and two first downs put the Generals on Virginia's 18 yard line. The Cavaliers were penalized fifteen yards for illegal communication. This put the ball on Virginia's three yard line. On the fourth try Mitchell missed going over by inches. The Cavaliers made their last touchdown after a 55 yard drive down the field featured by the running of Sippley and Thomas. Sippley going over from the 14-yard line. Bryant added the extra point.

Students Are Able To Belong To Eighteen Clubs On Campus

To the student who does not know his Greek alphabet, let him only read over the list of honorary organizations gracing our campus. Twenty strong are they in number and every field of activity is covered. They make possible the writing home and announcing your pledging to "Upsi Upsi Upsi" or "Ring Rang Rung" and becoming more perfect in your mother's eyes. This is the time of the year when most of these societies pledge their men and the various colors of the rainbow displayed on the lapels of the "goats" blinds one. The reward for membership is, in most cases, a key to be twirled on one's watch chain.

Thirteen of the organizations are of national scope and have in their membership men who are outstanding in their respective societies.

The thirteen national organizations are Phi Beta Kappa, scholarship; Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership; Phi Delta Phi, Phi Alpha Delta, law; Sigma Upsilon, literary; Delta Sigma Rho, oratorical; Phi Beta Epsilon, Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic; Gamma Sigma Epsilon, chemistry; Tau Kappa Iota, biological; American Society of Civil Engineers; Kappa Phi Kappa, educational, and Square and Compass, masonic. It is possible for a student to become a member of eighteen of these honorary fraternities. Membership in one law fraternity does not allow membership in the other and the same rule applies to the two Sophomore societies. The local honorary social clubs are Sigma, "13" and "11" clubs, Pi Alpha Nu, White Friars, Cotillion Club, and Alpha Sigma.
