Team To Return New Year's Day For Hard Practice

ARMY HAS GOOD TEAM THIS YEAR

Tilson, Mathis, and Osterman Will Be With Team Again This Year

This afternoon the varsity and frosh wrestling squads concluded their practice sessions until after the holidays when the regular schedules will be resumed. The members of the varsity who are making the trip to West Point for the Army meet Jan. 10 will return here on New Year's Day for several days of hard practice before the other members of the squad return. During this period there will be two practices each day; one at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and the other at 4:30 in the afternoon.

Those who are taking the Army trip will take their wrestling clothes with them over the holidays and do some running and conditioning exercises to stay in shape. This has been necessitated by the fact that the cadets have no Christmas holidays and will practice right through until the meet without any let-up.

The Generals won last year by the score of 22-10 and the soldiers will be out for vengeance. The Big Blue will have three members of last year's winning combination with them again this year. Mathis, Tilson, and Osterman.

Coch Mathis stated, "The Army will have a tough team with all of their old men back. Due to the fact that they have no Christmas holidays they will be in mid-season form. We will take three men on last year's team and five men that have never made the trip before. Personally, I predict a very close meet with the team that's in the best condition the probable winner."

Wofford, a member of the freshman team last season, will probably wrestle in the 165-pound class against North Carolina State here on January 17. The week following the Army meet may also see a change in the 135 pound division in case Coach Mathis decides to give Osterman a layoff to work off some weight. In that case, Davidson, Hickman, and Montague will battle it out for the right to wrestle against N. C. State.

Coch Mathis declared that the frosh look fair so far this season, but not as good as last year's team which won the state championship. The freshmen are working out regularly with the varsity. As soon as school reopens in January, they will start try-outs for the first meet against Augusta Military Academy which will be held here on January 15.

The outstanding men in each division are as follows: 115, Messick, intramural champ, and Taylor; 125, Thomas, intramural champ and Burton; 135 pound, Austin; 145, Pritchard and Funkhouser; 155, H. Smith, intramural champ; 165, Brennan; 175, Eicholtz, intramural champ; and heavyweight, Boland.

Student Group Conducts Tour

National Student Federation Visits Europe to Promote Good Will

The National Student Federation of America conducts a student tour of the principal countries of Europe every summer for the benefit of students of member colleges. A student representative is appointed on each campus to head the delegation from that institution.

The principal object of these tours is to bring American students in closer contact with foreign students. It is felt that this will promote a better understanding between the youth of different countries and aid in the furtherance of world peace. World peace is the chief study of the Federation and its promotion is the aim of the work which it is carrying on through its staff.

That world peace and improved international relations can be greatly furthered by an understanding between the students of different countries is a firm basic (Continued on page four)

Many Wide-Eyed Freshmen See Snow for First Time

"There comes a time in every man's life." Wednesday it arrived for numbers of wide-eyed freshmen. Snow! Stinging darts of cold fire were the silvery flakes. They swirled earthward painfully striking trudging students on their faces. On the ground the sparkling sheet lay lightly, fluffy as eider-down. Beautiful as a picture, it brought pain and anguish to those who ventured to sink a foot into its frozen depths. Thus were students from "sunny southern states" initiated into a world of winter's white wrath.

The annual escapades of "way down south" freshmen with their new found toy afforded much merriment Wednesday. Whether these "simple scenes," which occur regularly with the coming of the first snowstorm each year, are enacted innocently or not is a question that is debatable. Be that as it may, the capital trick was the construction of a gigantic snowman in his room by a foolish frosh! We didn't wait to see the flood when he (the snow-fellow) weakened under the strain. Many were the brainstorms that revived the ancient wheeze of packing some of the "cold cotton" in a box and mailing it down to the country where it isn't! Looks as if Uncle Sam is in for damp days.

Most of the snow entranced portions of the student body, who were content to roll and tumble the afternoon through. Rusty sleds were excavated, oiled and tugged to the highest hill. Run-aways were packed, and away they shot to the bottom. Throughout the day one had to be wary less an expertly directed frozen missile should knock a correct chapeau into a "cooked hat." Each man once again a "Tom Sawyer," a great time was had by all.

This unordered delivery of winter will hamper greatly the plans of many for their journey home. Unless the snow melts by Saturday, tire chains, and most careful driving will be the order of the day. Busses will probably run a bit late and neither trains nor busses will be able to make the time scheduled by students eager for a sight of home. What's that? Let's be cheerful. Alright, but what if it snows again before Saturday?

A Greeting To The Students

As Washington and Lee boys scattered for the holiday period they must not forget that our interest and affection follows them, just as much in the home of parent or friend as here on the campus.

If good conduct and hard work can earn as part of the reward a time for rest and play, then our students deserve a full measure of both during these Christmas holidays.

That you may be happy in honorable recreations, that you may be safe from illness and from danger, that your hearts may be warmed by the sense of love given to you, that your purposes may be strengthened for the tasks in the months ahead and in the years beyond—this is our Season's greeting, our hope for every one of you.

Varied Topics Dealt With In New Volumes

Carnegie Library Collection Is Augmented By Thirteen New Books

There are thirteen new books ready for the use of the patrons of the Carnegie Library. These volumes include biography, fiction, civilization, history, education, and religion.

In biography, there are John Thomson's "Jeb Stuart" and Du Moulin-Eckart's "Cosima Wagner." The former depicts the life of J. E. B. Stuart, a famous cavalry leader of the Confederacy; and the latter is that of the wife of Richard Wagner, the great composer.

There are two new books in fiction on the library shelves, "Rich Man's Daughter," by R. H. Mottram, and "King's Minion," by Raphael Sabatini. Mottram's story is the transition of a service man from war to peace, and Sabatini's is a story of the adventures of Robert Carr, the favorite of James I.

History is represented by Muk-eji's "Disillusioned India" and William Davis' "Life in Elizabethan Days." Both treat their respective subjects in a very delightful manner.

Another very interesting volume is "Civilization and Its Discontents" by Sigmund Freud. This book tells and explains the various contributions of Civilization to the happiness of Man. Also Bertrand Russell's "Inquests of Happiness" is an interesting study of the powers of cheerfulness.

The contribution of education to this new list of books is "Marks of an Educated Man," by Albert Wiggin. The title clearly suggests the contents of this book.

W. R. Inge's "Christian Ethics and Modern Problems" is a very unbiased book on the problems confronting Christianity, and completes the list of books that can be classified.

Among the miscellaneous books are "Conversation," by Andre Maurois, "Willa Cather," by Rene Rapin, Axel Munthe's "Memories and Vagaries."

Miss Rockwell, the librarian, requests that all books be returned before vacation or brought to the library so that an extension of time may be given.

Bookings For The Spring Troubadour Show Being Made

Completion of the itinerary of the Troubadours' spring show is expected soon. James Spark, Business Manager, mailed letters to alumni in the towns where the Troubadours expect to play last week. The publicity staff has started work and everything points to extended tours this year. Tentative contracts have been sent out to many interested towns.

The plans for the set have been finished and work will start immediately after the holidays. This work will be under the direction of Allen Wofford, Rucker Ryland, and Preston Sale. Designs for the costumes are being made and Brad Haley, president of the organization, plans to bring several samples of costumes from Missouri when he returns to school.

The call for more tryouts has not been responded to and Haley wishes to urge again that any men interested please see him at once, especially those who wish to try out for the Girls' chorus.

Jewish Group Gives Alumnus Great Praise

Newton D. Baker Given Award For Work Done For Race

Newton D. Baker, Washington and Lee alumnus and trustee, was the guest of honor and principal speaker at a dinner in New York last week. The occasion being the conclusion of a "Seminar on Human Relations" between Protestant, Roman Catholic, and Jew under the auspices of the National Conference of Jews and Christians. Mr. Baker was the Secretary of War during the Wilson Administration.

Mr. Baker was presented by the American Hebrew Magazine with a medal awarded for the promotion of better understanding between Christian and Jew in America. In acknowledging the award, Mr. Baker, the first recipient, who is the Protestant co-chairman of the National Conference of Jews and Christians, stressed, as did other speakers, the necessity of tolerance in the world of the present and future.

Mr. Baker declared that the modern world cannot continue to meet new problems with which it is faced from day to day if numbered up with superstitions and prejudices. "The world needs more religion, not less," he said, "but it needs less religious controversy, not more. Democracy as a form of political organization can only succeed in an educated people." Mr. Baker continued, "to the extent that we indulge prejudices and superstitions, we imperil the success of democratic government."

Rabbi Isaac Landman, editor of the American Hebrew, presented the medal to Mr. Baker "in recognition of pre-eminent services in breaking down bigotry and in building bridges of better understanding between Protestants, Catholics, and Jews in America" and as testimony that Mr. Baker had "done most" to "promote amity, concord and understanding among the three major faiths."

"13" Club Initiates Men December 13

On Saturday night, December 13, the thirteen club held their annual initiation of Juniors. The "13" club is one of the honor societies on the campus which each year elects to their membership a junior from each of the thirteen fraternities represented. The fraternities are represented this year by Charles Biddle, of Kappa Sigma; Eugene Martin, of A. T. O.; Lawton Calhoun, of Kappa Alpha; John Ladd, of Beta Theta Pi; Malcolm Campbell, of Phi Delta Theta; Thomas Doughty, of Pi K. A.; Joe Wright, of Sigma Nu; John McClure, of Phi Kappa Sigma; Roy McKinney, of Sigma Chi; Paul Wofford, of S. A. E.; Edward Tonsmeire, of Delta Tau Delta; Beverly Wilson, of Phi Gamma Delta, and Robert Hornor, of Phi Kappa Psi.

These men have been carrying on their shines on the campus since November 13.

Graham and Lees Dorms Stage Battle in First Snow

Graham and Lees dormitories, skirmish formation, finally took the initiative and rapidly advanced forward only to be quickly forced back by Lees who had taken the mass formation, a modification of the Persian phalanx. Immediately pressing their advantage, Lees commenced an effective drive that continued until the prepared ammunition had been exhausted. Hand-to-hand combat then ensued, with participants from both sides battling valiantly in over ten inches of snow until a truce was declared.

Graham advanced the proposal to rout out all non-patriots in opposite dormitories, and without awaiting a favorable reply from Lees, immediately hurried from the field to carry out the proposal. In the confusion, Lees attempted to warn their opponents that such action would mean a decision of defeat for them, but Graham heeded not Lees, after throwing nine snowballs to the

Pi Delta Epsilon Holds Its Annual Initiation Friday

The annual initiation of the newly elected members of Pi Delta Epsilon was held Friday. The members of this fraternity have all served for two years or more on some college paper and have done outstanding work in this line.

During the last few years, this fraternity, though far from being inactive, has not had any definite project on hand for promotion. However, at the last meeting a resolution was passed to endeavor to improve the publications now on the campus and to make the Washington and Lee publications the best in the South.

Few New Rules In Conference

Southern Conference Body Passes Only Few Minor Changes

Few changes were made in the playing of collegiate football in the Southern Conference at the body's recent annual meeting in Chapel Hill at the University of North Carolina.

Advancing the plan for abolishing spring football practice by the member schools of the conference, Forest Fletcher, one of Washington and Lee's representatives, played a most conspicuous part in the Conference meeting.

Mr. Fletcher and R. A. Smith, both of the Generals coaching staff, brought before the executive committee of the body the plan for abolishing of the practice by the grid teams. The motion, as presented, got much comment from many of the southern institutions and newspapers as well as schools and presses in all parts of the country.

The executive committee in a part favored the motion of the Blue and White heads and much argumentation and debate devolved after the proposition. In a final decision, the conference officials voted down the proposed amendment and continued it lawful within the conference to have a practice session of unlimited time in the spring.

A most important question was carried by the body when the members voted to make it illegal and unlawful for any representative of a member institution to go into any preparatory school and solicit athletes for his school.

Upon motion the proposed plan of bringing the University of Tennessee into question for the allowing of freshman football practice before the opening of school was abolished. The Volunteer institution presented a written apology to the body and the eligibility was not brought to question. The rule in regards to this as now exists in the conference states that freshman football practice may not be held by any member school until the formal opening date of that institution for the session.

The University of Virginia was again named as the place for the holding of the Conference boxing championship tournament. Birmingham as the site for the outdoor track meet of the Conference, Chapel Hill as the place of the indoor track meet, Virginia Military Institute as the wrestling meet place, and Atlanta as the place for the holding of the basketball tournament.

Generals Open Court Season With Victory

Down Shawnee Club of Lynchburg by 50-14 Score

SCORE ONLY NINE POINTS IN FIRST

Stage Great Come Back and Score 41 Points in Second Half

Staging a sensational comeback in the second half after a very mediocre beginning, the Washington and Lee Generals auspiciously inaugurated the present court season by downing the Shawnee Club of Lynchburg 50 to 14 last night.

Coch Ray Ellerman placed a team on the floor of four monogram men and one sophomore well schooled in the Meanwell system of basketball. The new mentor made numerous alterations in this opening lineup, endeavoring to hit upon the best working combination, twelve men being used in all.

The encounter was three minutes old before Cox opened the evening's scoring with a free throw, following with a short shot a few seconds later. Dinwiddie retaliated with a one-handed toss, and a few minutes later added another two points. Cox bolstered the Generals scoring with a push shot and two foul shots. Leigh Williams sank a long one, and Dinwiddie and Masters caged a field goal and foul respectively to close the first half with the score 9 to 5 in the General's favor.

The second period started with a bang when Burke caged a long one, and from then until the final whistle, Cox, Williams and Barasch kept the net burning with shots from all corners of the court. In sharp contrast to the ragged play and listless shooting that characterized the play of the "Big Blue" in the initial stanza, the Generals passed and dribbled smoothly and clicked field goals with amazing consistency in the last half, scoring forty-one points and completely routing the Lynchburgers. The visitors presented a very poor exhibition of the net game, allowing the Generals to shoot at will and had the home town netters had their "goal eyes" with them in the opening period the score would have been doubled. Dinwiddie was the whole show for the invaders. He scored ten of his team's fourteen points and played a good defensive game. Masters and Haas were the other members of the Lynchburg team to break into the scoring.

Cox led the General scoring with fifteen points, gained from five field goals and five free throws. He was closely followed by Williams with seven and Barasch with six field goals. Other Generals breaking into the scoring column were Burke, who played a nice game at running guard, Pillee, Cross, and Violett. Cox and Leigh Williams were both somewhat below their last season's form, but will be in good shape at the beginning of the collegiate season early in January. Barasch gave a better performance

RESOLUTIONS

We feel kind of futile writing editorials and attempting to fill the better part of three columns of this page when we know that they will be read by few.

The limit of enrollment was reached at the opening of school. After a hectic rush week with old men in a "storm" and freshmen in a bigger one, a record number of men are wearing pledge buttons.

We could go on naming numerous things that have happened here since September, but it is useless. You know it all as well as we do.

The New Year is coming on and with it the season for resolutions. We know you'll make them. Or maybe you are like us and refuse to make them because you know you won't keep them.

GREETINGS

By tomorrow at this time or Sunday morning at the latest, Lexington will be as deserted as a church on Thursday morning.

Christmas to most of us will be a round of parties, dances, dates, and what not. We hope that it is enjoyable. But we are wondering if there aren't two or three here, who are going out to the country, and go on moonlight sleighrides, sing Christmas carols on Christmas eve, and pop corn, and plunk apples.

But we do believe, however, that all will spend their holiday in the best way possible. They will look for the most fun and the best time.

GIVING

Someone has said, "Too much of our Christmas giving is extravagant waste and bondage to social custom. Too little of it is prompted by the unselfish love that is the inspiration of Christmas giving."

The custom of giving presents at Christmas is a wonderful and beautiful thing, but if our hearts do not go with the gift, the gift is meaningless. A gift should represent a part of ourselves and unless our spirit goes with it, it is a fragile shell, meaningless.

We must remember at Christmas that it is the spirit of giving and not simply the gift that counts. Let us then not be cold and formal in our giving, but let us rather give from our hearts.

EXCHANGE SCHOLARSHIPS

Among the many changes which have brought about the last war, none stand out so distinctly as the new, or at least re-awakened, sense of internationalism.

Nevertheless, more far reaching in its effects than these annual summer treks, is the growth of what are called "exchange" scholarships.

The extent to which this practice has grown can be realized from the fact that there are now nearly 2000 of these scholarships in existence from 160 European and Oriental universities.

Such scholarships naturally are valued by scholars who wish to study the life and thought of foreign countries. They are especially valuable, however, in fostering international feeling.

The Columaniac

Told by one who still lingers in Lexington: "I could have gone home a week ago—I could be out having a date—I could be doing any number of nice things—Just think, I could even be sleeping—"

Our Contemporaries

The formal opening of the University of Wisconsin's new field house was scheduled to take place December 18th with a game between the basketball team of Wisconsin and the University of Pennsylvania.

Seventy thousand people saw the first Army-Navy game since 1926, which was played for charity purposes. The football game resulted in gate receipts of $600,000, the distribution of which among needy families is to be conducted by the Salvation Army.

Officials of the United States Military Academy at West Point have accepted the invitation of the Morro Castle cadets to send a football team here next fall.

The Morro Castle cadets, representing the Cuban Military school were defeated in a football game at West Point this year, when they played the U. S. Army plebes.

Coach Dick Hanley, of Northwestern, was sent to bed by his physician after the Northwestern-Notre Dame game, because the strain had weakened his condition.

The retirement of Coach Bill Roper at Princeton University at the end of the present football season, removes another of the small number of famous coaches who have stayed at one institution for an extended period.

Roper is considered one of the country's authorities on football tactics, although for the past few years he has been overshadowed in many respects by the spectacular Knute Rockne.

Longest Recess in Years Given Corp at Virginia Tech

Cadets at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute are to have a longer Christmas holiday than usual this year. The recess begins Friday at noon, December 19, and ends Monday, January 5.

The V. P. I. students must take the fall quarter examinations which begin Monday, before leaving. The Christmas recess is the only break in the academic routine at Blacksburg until commencement June 5.

GENERAL GOSSIP

Edited by J. M. Dean

Playing their first game under the Meanwell system Coach Ellerman's proteges didn't click so well. Trying to use the plays on a set defense was too much for the players at so early a stage in the game.

The Shawnee club showed up late, as the opening wrestling opposition likewise did, without the services of Ernie Wood. They had no special offense to show the good sized crowd which gathered to see the Generals in action for the first time.

Although the Shawnees failed to score from the field very often, when they did the General guard looked bad as the baskets were made from close range.

Washington and Lee exhibited something new in the way of attack Thursday night when a feint was used to draw the guards out of position in order to get a clear shot at the hoop. Sam Barasch especially, used the feint to good advantage. The feint is a means of attack which has been conspicuous by its absence heretofore on previous General cage teams.

Burke made a number of good shots from out beyond the seven-foot line; Cox was good as usual under the hoop; Williams dribbled the length of the floor on several occasions to score; Cross handled himself well as long as he was in the game.

Due to the fact that the Shawnee team showed up late music was to be had by means of the loud speaker. Rudy Vallee was heard on the Flesherman Yeast Hour, but a good thing was pushed a little too far when the speaker was turned on whenever time out was taken by either team.

The basketball team is returning from the holidays a few days earlier than the rest of the students so that the next home engagement Ellerman will have the rough spots ironed out of the General offense and defense.

Clifford Sauerbrun, forward on Cy Young's yearling squad, has a brother playing regular forward on the William and Mary five this year. He has been one of the mainstays of the Indians for the past two years.

Bus Malone is rapidly getting his boxers in shape for the coming mitt campaign. This year the Washington and Lee ring mentor will have one of the best teams in the Southern Conference, and should bring home the title under the leadership of Captain Johnny Slosberg in the 125 pound class.

Both Barry Wood an Harvard athletic fame and Wesley Fesler of Ohio State, All-American end for the past three years, have been elected to Phi Beta Kappa. A rare combination of brain and brawn.

An independent club composed of Washington and Lee students engaged the varsity in a scrimmage game during the past week and gave the General cage representatives a tough workout. The team was composed of Johnny Schuchart, Gil Hewson, Bob Fang-boner, Mike Leibowitz, John Crowl, Pete Wurzbarger, and John Culey.

Coach Mathis will meet one of the toughest mat teams on the Washington and Lee schedule a few days after the reopening of school in January. The General grapplers will return to Lexington on the first and meet the Army at West Point the following week.

Teams Picked By Sports Editors All Over The Country

Realizing that in fairness to all the combatants in our great game of football no one critic is adequately qualified to undertake alone the assignment of choosing an All-American Eleven. Les Gage, Sports Editor of College Humor, posted eight competent reporters at points of vantage to observe the 1930 contests. The following are the members of the advisory staff who have assisted in making College Humor's selections: Robert Harron (New York Evening Post), George C. Carens (Boston Evening Transcript), Zipp Newman (Birmingham News), Lloyd Gregory (Houston Post-Dispatch), Oliver Kuechle (Milwaukee Journal), C. E. McBride (Kansas City Star), Ed R. The finals in the intramural wrestling tournament were run off on Tuesday, and metals were awarded to eight students who were victorious in their respective weights.

The matches were all very interesting and exciting, five being won by falls and two on time decisions. Four of the winners were freshmen wrestlers, and two of the other four had had some wrestling experience before this tournament.

favored over the Middle West's pair of superb forwards, Milo Lubratovich of Wisconsin and Hugh Rhea of Nebraska.

"Probably the most difficult positions to award are the guards and center posts. This fall's campaign brought three splendid pivot players, all of whom were superior to most of the guards—Ben Ticknor, Tony Siano and Mel Hein. We have favored the Harvard center, Ticknor, for first team position, stationing Siano at guard. It is with regret that we place Washington State's great center, Hein, on our second eleven.

"From a host of guards, the husky Baylor forward, Botchey Koch, has a slight edge over Baker of Southern California, Metzger of Notre Dame, Beckett of California and Woodworth of Northwestern.

"A quartette that outshone Rockne's famous Four Horsemen contributes two men to our All-American backfield, Frank Carideo and March Schwartz. Carideo ranks as the best of all field generals. Besides being one of the smartest signal callers ever to play the game, Carideo is a superb blocker, ideal as a safety, an excellent kicker, can pass and receive passes. Len Macaluso of Colgate, is placed at the fullback post, while Pinckert of Southern California is conceded a first team berth, although Dodd of Tennessee is just about on a par with the coast player."

The February issue of College Humor Magazine not only contains the All-American team but also eight All-Sectional elevens."

Smith; 165-pound class, Wright; 175-pound class, Elchoetz, and heavyweight, Heaps. Hickman was the winner in the 135-pounds division of last year's tournament also.

The winners represented five fraternities. Beta Theta Pi's were the leaders with three final victories, and the Kappa Alpha Nu's were second with two. Sigma Nu's Lambda Chi Alpha's, and Alpha Chi Rho's each had one.

In the 115-pound class, Messick, Beta Theta Pi, threw Butler, independent. The match lasted about four minutes, and Missick had been on top almost the entire time.

In the 125-pound class, Thomas, Beta Theta Pi, won a time decision over Hemming, Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Thomas managed to get on top as soon as the match started, and Hemming was unable to get away at any time during the match.

In the 135-pounds class, Hickman, Kappa Alpha, threw Sanders, Pi Kappa Phi, in about two minutes. The match was a very exciting one, as both were nearly thrown two or three times before the match finally ended.

In the 145-pound class, Ladd, Beta Theta Pi, threw Paddock, Sigma Nu. Neither was able to get the other down on the mat during the first two minutes of the bout so the remaining time was divided into two periods. Paddock started on top of Ladd in the first, but the latter managed to get out from under and throw Paddock in a little less than three minutes. In the last period, Ladd started on top and held his opponent down for the remaining three minutes of the bout, thereby winning by a fall.

In the 155-pound class, Smith, Kappa Alpha, threw Sheffield, Phi Kappa Sigma, in a little less than a minute. The match was a very fast one, as in about thirty seconds Sheffield managed to pick Smith up and throw him to the mat, but the latter rolled over and in a few seconds had Sheffield pinned.

In the 165-pound class, Wright, Sigma Nu, threw Brennen, Alpha Tau Omega, in about three minutes. After wrestling standing up for about a minute, Wright threw Brennen to the mat and pinned him with a body scissors.

In the 175-pound class, Eicholtz, Lambda Chi Alpha, pinned Chamberlain, Phi Kappa Psi, in a little over a minute. Eicholtz fell on top of his opponent after wrestling standing up for about thirty seconds and managed to throw him with a half-nelson.

In the heavyweight class, Heaps, Alpha Chi Rho, was just able to edge out a time decision over Grove, Pi Kappa Alpha. This match was the most exciting of the day. As in the 145 division neither was able to get the other to the mat and the match had to be divided into two periods. Grove started on top in the first. During this three minute period both the wrestlers were almost thrown several times, and Grove was able to get only two minutes time. However, in the second period Heaps started on top, and Grove was unable to get any of the three minutes time, thereby losing by a minute time decision.

divided to make sectional tours of Europe.
There will be a member of the Washington and Lee student body appointed to head the delegation from this institution. The appointment will be announced early in January. It is hoped that a great many students of the university may be able to arrange to make this tour.

The National Student Federation of America-European tour is conducted annually for the benefit of American students and the opportunity offered is taken advantage of by many students. In connection with the tour junior summer schools abroad are conducted.

 Continued from page one last night than he did at any time during the 1929 campaign. Local fans were disappointed when Ernie Wood, dynamic captain of the Generals of last year failed to appear in the visitors lineup. The game was held up about an hour, due to the failure of the Shawnee Club to arrive on time.
 The new public address system was used and proved very satisfactory.
 Following the game the General cagers disbanded for the Christmas holidays. They will return on January 1st to begin preparation for the opening of the collegiate season with St. Johns here on January 9.

Student Group Conducts Tour

 belief of the Federation and in conducting European tours for American students it hopes to bring this about. This tour is designed especially to have the American students come in closer contact with the foreign students. At a good many stops while in Europe the members of the party will stay in student homes and in this way will become better acquainted with the private life of the foreigner. At other stops, good hotel reservations have been made for the travelers.
 There are several different branches of the tour and the student may select that trip which has the greatest appeal to him. Some of the party will make a trip to the Latin countries, others will make special studies of the British Isles, France, Germany and other important European countries. There will be a separate party going from each college and that group will later join other parties which will later be sky, declared themselves victors and hastened to the successful defense of their capitol from the invaders. Both sides afterwards crowded into the lobby of Lees and taps were blown to indicate the cessation of the main engagement.

Graham-Lees Dorms Battle In First Snow

 The majority of participants from both sides, amounting to somewhat over one hundred, then joined together for the avowed intention of paying a visit to Mayor Crim Peck, and skipped up to Main street to the tune of "Jingle Bells." Pausing only for a few moments in front of the Robert E. Lee hotel to render two Christmas carols, the army then proceeded in the general direction of the mayor's house, halting at times to place the trash containers in the middle of Main street where some vociferous individuals contended they rightfully belonged.
 However, the major was denied the pleasure of a visit as no one was able to determine the location of his home, although authorities claim that no camouflage had been employed by Mr. Peck.
 The battalion then tore on towards the campus, and due to the illness of Dr. Campbell, gathered in front of Dr. Gaines' home to sing "Silent Night, Holy Night," which was followed by the "Swing" and a cheer for the university and Dr. Gaines. Disbandment took place at the dormitories, and shortly after midnight an intermittent barrage commenced from the windows and developed with increasing vigor until a general bombardment was in progress. The crashing of broken glass and thudding snowballs finally ceased early Thursday morning, although snipers high on the fourth floors continued activities until shortly before daylight.
 On Thursday morning, Lees surveyed the field of battle and proclaimed themselves undisputed victors, with only fourteen broken window-panes as against nineteen in Graham.

 pence Square, Philadelphia, by February 1. No entry post-marked later than midnight, February 1, will be considered.
 The winning short story will be published in the June issue of the magazine, while the victor in the longer story class will appear in the July issue.
 Two well-known short story writers and the editor-in-chief of the Ladies' Home Journal will judge manuscripts.
 The magazine reserves the right to purchase at its rates any story submitted in the contest, excepting those awarded prizes.

That middle-aged students can learn as rapidly, if not more rapidly, than young students, has been proved by the University of California in a series of examinations conducted recently.

According to university officials adults taking correspondence work as well as regular college courses during the past year, have in general showed greater progress in their subjects than campus undergraduate of college age.

This superiority is laid, in part, to the serious intentions of the older students.

Cuts Count Double
 Classes will resume on Monday, January 5, at 8:30 a. m. Cuts will count double until Wednesday and those returning late are warned to remember this. Two weeks later the first semester examinations will start.
