

Harrier Squad Has Dual Race With V. P. I. Saturday

Race Will Begin Before Game and End Between Halves—Howard Has Best Time.

The first cross country meet of the season will be held next Saturday when the Generals meet the V. P. I. harriers in Lexington.

The race will start in front of the grandstand just before the whistle blows for the beginning of the W. and L.-Lynchburg College game. By starting at this time it should end between the halves of the game. The run will be over a six-mile course beginning and ending on Wilson Field. Either the Main Street course or the Brushy Hill circuit will be covered, depending upon which is in the best condition at the time. This will be the first cross country meet held in Lexington since the fall of 1919.

The method of counting the score is as follows: The first man to finish counts one point, the second, two, etc. Seven men are entered for each team, but only the first five of these to cross the line are counted. The team getting the lowest score is the winner.

The White and Blue harriers are in first class condition for the race and are expected to make a good showing. The results of a time trial held last week over the Main street course shows the average time of the first seven men finishing to be thirty-three seconds faster per man than

W. W. HEISKELL WINS THE McCURM PRIZE

His Difference Between Scores of Winners and Losers Same As Actual Difference.

The 10 dollar prize given by McCrum Drug Co. for the closest guess as to the outcome of several of Saturday's most important games was won by William W. Heiskell. It seems very natural and a marked coincidence that Heiskell should win the prize as he is the Intercollegiate Editor of the Ring-tum Phi. The judges were Captain Corse, M. D. Klein, and Bobby Funkhauser. The results were:

Winner's Prediction.
V. P. I., 21; Davidson, 0.
V. M. I., 10; Virginia, 7.
Navy, 10; Ga. Tech., 6.
Cornell, 20; Colgate, 0.
Harvard, 13; Centre, 6.
Total of V. P. I., V. M. I., Navy, Cornell, and Harvard scores was 74.
Total of Davidson, Virginia, Ga. Tech., Colgate, and Centre scores was 19.

WHITE AND BLUE OUTPLAYED WEST VA. IN ALL PHASES OF THE GAME

Charleston Gazette Is Lavish In Praise of Generals' Fight Last Saturday—Team Returns Without Injury—8,500 See Classic—Statistics Tell Tale—Team Merited Better Reception.

The Fighting Generals arrived in Lexington about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon without an injury to show for the hard game against West Virginia. Eddie Parks Davis spoke to the students assembled to welcome the team and said that in his opinion every student has a right to be proud of the men who represented the White and Blue, who, as the Charleston Gazette phrases it, outplayed the Mountaineers in all phases of the game.

This game might have been called the Army and Navy game of West Virginia. All society turned out in its brightest colors. West Virginia, and Charleston in particular, is the home of many Washington and Lee Alumni and students. The entire West Virginia student body attended the game. Among the 8,500 spectators who jammed Laidley Field to overflowing, supporters of the White and Blue were in great numbers. "Joe" Silverstein, "Fats" Miller and others had organized their cohorts and kept things humming. When the White and Blue had made their last great stand and the whistle had blown a great roar, echoed by that raised in the Lyric when the final telegram had been read, swept across the field from the south stand to the dancing blue warriors in the middle of the field and from the north stands a groan of agony went up. What was probably the greatest game ever played in West Virginia was over and the Generals had won a great moral victory.

Statistics of the game show that the Washington and Lee team gained exactly 101 more yards than the team that beat Pitt. They played a game that showed excellent coaching and did not suffer a single penalty for off-side or holding. But as to forward passing. Ten completed passes out of twenty attempts, for a total gain of 277 yards against a team of the calibre of the Mountaineers is something to be proud of. When has such a record been duplicated? And in addition, not one of the incomplete passes was intercepted. The only thing that marred the day was the fumbles of the Blue team and these slips can be overlooked when all the splendid work in other departments is considered.

When the big team came home from the fray the reception accorded them was less than they deserved. Not one-half of the Student Body met the team and most of these were Freshmen. This was partly due to the team's arriving an hour and a half after the time announced, but a team that played as the big Blue eleven did merited being waited for an hour and a half and a good many hours more. The absence of a rally Saturday night after the game has also been commented upon.

Coach De Hart put the squad to work Monday afternoon in the mud and will keep the men going right up to Friday night to strengthen the weak points which were brought out in Saturday's game. Jimmie Thomas who did not go to Charleston on account of his injury sustained in the Carson-Newman game, will be in condition to play in the Virginia game. It is expected that McDonald will be in shape by Saturday.

PIGSKIN ISSUE TO BE LADLE OF NEXT MINK

Main Feature Will Be Girls' Section—Many Changes Planned—Student Body Contributions Wanted.

The next issue of the Mink which comes out on Wednesday, Nov. 15, will be called the Pigskin Issue. The main feature will be the girls' section conducted by "Cy" Hall. Another large feature will be several articles written by some of the leading men around the University.

The cover of the Pigskin Issue has already gone to press and this next issue will have four pages more than the last one. It is planned by the staff to increase the size every month until it reaches the volume of 44 pages, which will be nearly twice as large as the first issue.

The section entitled: "Hickville Herald," will probably be changed to have a name more local. This section has called forth considerable favorable comment. The parts which have a tendency to be rough are very few and scattered, but it is thought by some that the entire omission of such things will make the publication more popular, and will make it a better magazine to send to girls' schools. The increase of good cuts will come as a matter of course, and when the staff has settled down it will produce more and better cuts.

"STUDENT" FREW

Brilliant quarter of Generals whose head work won victory over brawn. "Student" proved himself a source of surprise to the Mountaineers in many ways. He was insignificant to them until he opened his bag of tricks.

GAME WITH HILL CITY SQUAD PROMISES FIGHT

Coming With a Reputed Heavy Line and Fast and Experienced Backfield.

WITT LOOMS FORMIDABLY

Whole Student Body May Accompany Team To Lexington—Fighting Chance To Win.

On Saturday Lynchburg College, known to their followers as the "Hornets," will be the attraction on Wilson Field. This is the last of the so-called minor games on the schedule of the Fighting Generals of 1922 and unless the dope is far wrong it will develop into a real battle.

Lynchburg College has a team that is far from weak. It boasts a fairly heavy line and a fast and experienced backfield. Witt, the diminutive Lynchburg half, has starred in every game so far this season. He is a triple threat man and can run the ends, throw passes and punt equally well. In the Wake Forest game Saturday, Witt ran back a punt 90 yards to a touchdown and made an almost equally brilliant run against Hampden-Sidney a week ago. Witt is ably assisted in the backfield by Cromwell, Kitchin and Woodside. The latter comes from Canada and has played for McGill University.

After getting away to a slow start and being handicapped by the loss of

The seven games picked by McCrum's to be balloted on this week are: Chicago-Princeton, Ga. Tech-Notre Dame, Yale-Army, University of Pennsylvania-Navy, Pitt-Bucknell, N. C. U.-Maryland, Harvard-Dartmouth. The Ring-tum Phi has collected the following information to be used for what it is worth. You never can tell about comparative scores, but here they are, any how: Princeton's strength is problematical. They defeated the University of Maryland 26-0, Johns Hopkins 30-0 and Virginia 5-0. They defeated Chicago by a small score last year, but have lost several of their best men. Chicago has defeated the University of Georgia 20-0. Georgia defeated Tennessee 7-3.

Although Georgia Tech lost to the Navy they have a powerful team, having defeated Davidson, 19-0, and the University of Alabama 33-7. Davidson, it will be remembered, held V. P. I. to a tie score. Notre Dame has not played any games of national importance so far this season. They won their first two games by fairly large scores, not being scored upon and in their last two defeated Purdue 20-0 and Depauw 34-7.

Centre was Harvard's first large game. They had won three games previous to last Saturday. Dart-

"FIGHTING GENERALS"

Washington and Lee, 12; West Virginia, 12.

If there be such a thing in football
as a "moral victory," the White and Blue clearly won such a victory last Saturday at Charleston. Doped to lose by a margin of from twenty-one to twenty-eight points, the Big Blue Team took the field against the Mountaineers facing odds that might have discouraged even the most optimistic.

That same team left the field sixty minutes later, heralded as a "Wonder Eleven" because it had tied the much touted West Virginians, conquerors of Pitt. To the Fighting Generals and followers of Washington and Lee it was a clean cut victory—to the Mountaineers it was defeat and humiliation. West Virginia had met a better team!

The details of the game are too
well known to require further elaboration. The game itself has probably caused more widespread comment
than any other played in this section of the country since Centre defeated the Mountaineers in 1919. The score even fails to tell the whole story. But to those who saw the hectic battle,
the one thing that will be remembered longest, is the wonderful comeback staged by De Hart's proteges
at the beginning of the second half.
It was a case of fight and skill against beef and brawn, and the former was the favorite in the struggle. The Big Team, if ever more deserving at one time than another of the name, "Fighting Generals," that time was Saturday. As in all games, a few men played stellar roles, but it was an eleven-men victory, and every one of those participating in the game fought every minute of the way.

Skill, training, coaching and a lot of other things contribute to success in football, but the ability to fight is, we believe, the element that wins
most games. And Saturday's game bears out the truth of this statement.
It is this same fight that will carry the team to yet greater victories, and help it to overcome even bigger odds.
WASHINGTON AND LEE IS PROUD OF THE FIGHTING GEN-ERALS AND THEIR FIGHTING
COACH.

IS IT RIGHT?

More Freshmen are perhaps called before the Freshman Council for not speaking than for any other single cause. The reason for this is that the custom of speaking has become such a part of campus life, that failure to follow that custom is more quickly noticed than is a violation of other Freshmen Rules.

If a Freshman fails to speak to an upper-classman, he is called before the Freshman Council and punished for failure to obey a rule. On the other hand, an upper-classman speaks or not as he sees fit. We're glad to see that most of the old men speak, but there are many who do not. It is a case of telling a Freshman he must speak, while the older men may speak if they wish.

The evil is not a prevalent one, but one which should be eliminated.
Freshmen expect and are entitled to consideration in this matter. If we hope to properly assimilate our Freshman class, that its members may, in the future, keep alive the ideals and traditions of old Washington and Lee, we must show the right spirit toward the men while they are Freshmen.

First impressions are best, and if
a new man is snubbed by old men,
it will be difficult for him to appreciate Washington and Lee and its
"campus democracy."

CENTRE SPRINGS
UNIQUE FORMATIONA Lock Step Affair Which Conforms
To Rule—Harvard Yields To It
for a 52-Yard Drive.

Centre, last Saturday, sprung several new plays and shifts that for a time dazzled Harvard. The lock step play, or "Sing Sing shift" as one sport writer called it, was perhaps the best, according to the New York Times, which is quoted in part:

In the brand new shift, a lock step affair, the Colonels imitated the famous convict march to 'unch. First, the Colonels lined up in the regular manner. Then all seven of the linesmen straightened up, right faced,
and with hands on the shoulders of the man in front, marched in lock step to the right. When the left end was even with the ball, he bent down and held it for a moment. Then they faced left and marched back until the right end was on the ball, the other linesmen in scrimmage line six inches or a foot behind the ball.

The backs had also marched back and forth, but on halting either assumed a tandem or box formation, and to one of them the end shot the ball under his arm, instead of thru his legs, generally to the back on the nearest rear corner, and a nine man interference was possible. The runner slanted off to tackle or shot straight ahead. Once or twice a forward pass was thrown.

Sometimes the linesmen made only one trip sideways, sometimes three, mostly two. Each lock step was the sign for a rippling titter from the assembled throng, but when the Colonels solemnly retraced their steps,
the spectators roared.

Centre used this formation without a let up during the second period,
and made a single drive of 52 yards down the field, the proud Harvard system falling back, yard by yard, in face of the new shift.

BIBLE DISCUSSION GROUPS
ARE PROGRESSING

The Bible Discussion groups which meet every Tuesday night and are prepared for by the group leaders
every Monday night are being well attended, according to Jack Thomas.
The nineteen group leaders were present at Dr. Riley's normal class Monday night. The purpose of the groups is to study the student problems on the campus and these meetings should be attended by every man on the campus. They are really "bull sessions" on serious problems instead of boresome discussions.
Great good is expected to be done on the campus by the holding of these Bible Discussion groups.

ALUMNI

What Is the Matter, Alumni?

The West Virginia classic played on last Saturday failed to draw the enthusiastic crowd of alumni from throughout the state who have attended this game in previous years. It is true that a record crowd witnessed last Saturday's battle with enthusiasm which is rarely equaled but the fact remains that W. & L. Alumni were noticeably lacking, although those who did attend helped not a little to give the Generals the confidence to win the "moral victory although a tie" over West Virginia.

Despite the fact that the usual large crowd of Washington and Lee Alumni did not attend the game in Charleston last Saturday both Students and Alumni were royally entertained while there. Two dances, one Friday night and one Saturday night following the game, were given by the West Virginia and Washington and Lee Alumni jointly.

We expect the largest crowd of Alumni ever attending a W. & L. game in Charlottesville on Saturday, November the fourth. WILL YOU BE THERE?

Watch for definite announcements in the next issue.

James (Bootey) Madison, '22, is studying law at Louisiana State University.

H. P. Magruder, '16, is in the insurance business in Woodstock, Va.

George Peterkin, ex-'20, "Shorty" Mathews, and "Hot Shot" Robinson are studying at the University of Mississippi this year.

Thomas Tryor, '06, from Winchester, Va., and E. B. Clark, from Oklahoma, paid a short visit to town last week.

James Harding Howie, a prominent North Carolina lawyer, and graduate of Washington and Lee, passed thru Lexington recently.

Joseph M. Bauseman, Jr., who is remembered as being socially prominent in 1915-17, is practicing law with his father in Woodstock, Va.

SIDELINE SLANTS

Charleston will not soon forget "Monk," "Student" and "Hop." The "Triple Threat" is a thing that is not supposed to exist below the Mason-Dixon Line, but the Blue and Gold learned its lesson when Frew after gaining the profound respect of the assemblage as a punter, broken-field runner and as a receiver of Monk's passes, dropped back with his men in punt formation—and completed a twenty-five yard pass to Mattox.

Monk has a head and he uses it. The best master of the passing game east of California got the ball as usual after that amazing exhibition of slight of hand that had the Mountaineers so completely fooled; but Tallman, probably reasoning that Monk was the most probable recipient of the spheroid, managed to crash through the Generals' line, closely followed by Nardacci. "Monk" dodged and squirmed defending himself with a stiff-arm until he had been forced twenty yards back. Being rapidly closed in upon by Mountaineers and no eligible General being uncovered, Monk picked one of the few spots unencumbered by West Virginia players and neatly grounded a pass thus saving the Generals a big loss of ground.

NOTICE

All canvassers of the "Y" financial campaign see their men right off and turn the cards in immediately. Over two hundred cards are still out.

DO FIGURES PREVARICATE?

They May Not, But Comparison of Scores Has Doubtful Quality—Look At These.

Washington and Lee is one of the nineteen leading football teams of the country that have not tasted defeat so far this season. The others are: V. M. I., Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Michigan, Navy, Army, Iowa, Penn State, W. & J., University of Penn, West Virginia, Lehigh, Vanderbilt, Dartmouth, Lafayette, and Chicago. Of this number twelve have clean goal lines, Navy, Chicago, Princeton, Lafayette, Michigan, Lehigh, Cornell, Penn State, University of Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, and Dartmouth. Five teams have played tie games: W. and L., Michigan, Vanderbilt, W. & J., West Va. Iowa beat Illinois by one point, Princeton beat Virginia by five points and four others have won out by one touchdown. Next week Chicago plays Princeton, University of Pennsylvania plays the Navy, and Harvard plays Dartmouth. This will eliminate three while Notre Dame and the Army will have no easy time defeating Ga. Tech and Yale, respectively.

By comparative scores W. and L. is seven points better than Pittsburg, 14 points better than Syracuse, and even with Lafayette. Also Princeton beat Virginia five points, Virginia beat Richmond 8 points, Richmond beat Roanoke 6 points. This makes Princeton 19 points better than Roanoke. W. & L. beat N. C. State 8 points, N. C. State beat Roanoke 13 points. This makes W. and L. 21 points better than Roanoke and thus 2 points better than Princeton.

Further—Harvard beat Centre 14 points, Centre beat V. P. I. 4 points, V. P. I. tied Davidson, who tied Wake Forest. Lynchburg College beat Wake Forest 13 points. This makes Harvard 5 points better than Lynchburg College. Hence all over five points that W. and L. beats Lynchburg shows her superiority over Harvard. When Harvard, Yale, and Princeton play each other, it will be easier to tell by how many points W. and L. is the best team in the country.

If you live to a ripe old age, you may get your picture in the paper; but some people accomplish that by being rotten while young.

M. W. Paxton, '20, won the Lexington golf club tournament last week.

mouth won its first three games by fair sized scores and was defeated by Vermont, 6-3.

Dartmouth should not be underestimated, however, as they had the ball on the one yard line as the whistle blew and Carl Beck, our former West Virginia friend, was playing with Vermont.

Pitt defeated Syracuse last Saturday 21-14. They have, however, lost two hard games. One to West Virginia, 9-6, and the other to Lafayette 7-0. Bucknell held Lafayette to a 28-7 score and held the Navy to two touchdowns, scoring one themselves. They won three games previous to this by large scores.

The University of North Carolina has defeated South Carolina, 10-7 and N. C. State by a close score. Yale was on the long end of a 18-0 score. Maryland has not shown up as well, losing to Princeton, 26-0, and U. of Penn., 12-0.

Yale has defeated Carnegie Tech and N. C. U. in addition to several small schools. Iowa, however, defeated the Blue team. Carnegie Tech defeated by Yale 13-0, played W. and J. a 7-7 tie, outplaying them throughout the game. Army has played five games, winning them all by good margins. The closest of them the Auburn game which the Cadets won 19-6.

The University of Pennsylvania has won all of their games this season, but by small scores against small schools. Swarthmore almost defeated them Saturday but the Red and Blue came back in the latter part of the game and won 14-6. The Navy defeated Georgia Tech 13-0 and Bucknell 14-7 in addition to winning several small games by large scores.

LYNCHBURG HORNETS LAST WILSON FIELD ATTRACTION

Captain "Boogie" Meyers and several other veterans from the line due to injuries, Coach Pat Evans' machine has developed rapidly and has turned in victories over Hampden-Sidney and Wake-Forest in their last two starts winning the former by a score of 6-0 and the latter by the comfortable margin of 20-7. It must be remembered that the "Hornets" are the only team that have thus far crossed the goal line of V. M. I., having made a touchdown in the game here the first of the season.

The Lynchburg student body feels that, in spite of the earlier unsuccessful invasion of Lexington, their team has a fighting chance to win and a good chance of a close score that would amount to a moral victory. Accordingly a number of the student body are planning to follow the squad of twenty players to Lexington next Saturday. A movement is on foot to bring the entire student body, but this has not yet been settled definitely.

HARRIER SQUAD HAS DUAL RACE WITH V. P. I.

in a similar trial last year, ten days later in the season. The times of the first fourteen men who ran in this trial are as follows: Howard, 34:44; Smith, 34:52; Pass and Hawkins, 35:40; Swope, 35:56; Guerrant, 36:19; Heiskell and Rochette, 37:49; Hill, 38:56; J. Copper, 39:30; Lan-kenau, 39:57; Goodwyn, 40:29; Ful-ton, 40:53; Poole, 40:55.

V. P. I. had forty-three men out at the beginning of practice this season, ten of whom were old men. All of the team, which downed Wash-ington and Lee by one point last year, is back. Among those showing up especially well are Newman, Chinn, Roden, Spires, and Richards. Besides the meet Saturday, V. P. I. has dual races scheduled with V. M. I. and Virginia in Blacksburg, and will enter the annual cross country run which is to be held at V. P. I. Nov. 28. W. and L., V. P. I., Virginia, Johns Hopkins, and Maryland are usually represented in the South At-lantic meet.

Since both Washington and Lee and V. P. I. have their 1921 teams back intact and an abundance of new material to draw from, the race Sat-urday will, in all probability, be a close contest.
