

TROUB ELECTION CLOSES SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Gifford Gets Presidency—Players Lose J. L. Peck and C. E. L. Gill This Year.

With the finishing of the Troubadour road trip, the curtain falls on the activities of the Troubadours for this year. The trip closed the most successful financial year in the history of the Troubadours. It is the first time in its four years' existence that the season ended with a surplus. This is due both to the management and to the quality of the plays produced.

The Troubadours lose this year two of its most prominent members, J. L. Peck and C. E. L. Gill. Both men have been actively connected with the Troubadours for the past four years, and are the last of its original members. Peck has been the director for the past four years and has written two original plays, two musical comedies and two road plays. Gill has been active in the rehearsing and the selection of costumes. He is also responsible for the success of the recent Fancy Dress Ball.

Efforts are being made to select for next year's production the best plays possible. Two plays, Selyns' "Tea for Three" and George M. Cohen's "The Meanest Man in the World" will probably be given, along with the Fifth Annual Musical Comedy.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: A. S. Gifford, president; D. N. Farnell, Jr., business manager; Charles Wright, production manager; Al Turner, property manager; Ed Woodson, president dramatic club; J. C. Roberts, president Glee Club; Reed Graves, president Mandolin Club; and Prof. Wooten, faculty advisor.

Monday Sees Beginning Interfraternity Baseball

Schedule of Games Revised Over Original Charting—Rules of Contests Announced.

Interfraternity baseball is with us again and once more the coveted banner that casts forth the radiance and message of championship mounts the altar of America's national pastime. Monday the initial game will grace Wilson field provided Jupiter Plu does not take a fancy to use his sprinkler can. The Pi Kappas will lock horns with the Zeta Bet Taus for five innings, to be followed by the Delta Tau Delta-Phi Gam clash.

With the flag in mind some of the most zealous of the fraternity baseballers sallied forth while the snow was yet with us to toss the pill back and forth and to get the old paws toughened up. They are evidently and apparently out to cop the fraternity baseball rag, and if practice and constant effort could win, we could surmise now who will be the victors. Now all the front yards of the fraternity houses show grassless spots much the worse for wear. At all periods of the day while there is light enough to see, the spat, spat, of baseballs hitting the gloves may be heard. Interest is getting keener and resolutions made daily to be the one to drag the banner.

As to the rules of the contests, the games are to be five innings in duration, except the final game which

FROSH DEFEAT ROANOKE HIGH IN SLOW GAME

The Freshmen defeated the fast Roanoke High School team Friday afternoon on Wilson Field by the score of 4 to 3. Devoid of features throughout, the game was rather uninteresting to the few spectators present.

The tide of victory swayed from one side to the other during the game and the final decision was always in doubt. The pitching of both moundsmen was especially good. Each team managed to get five hits during the game and except for the errors and slow base running the score would have been much smaller.

The Freshmen scored the first run of the game in the second inning without the aid of a hit. Smith, first up in this inning, gained life when the first baseman booted his hard drive over first, and he went all the way to third on a wild throw by the first baseman. Woolfolk struck out, but Ingram laid down a perfect sacrifice and Smith scored. Reese struck out to end the inning.

Roanoke tied up the score in their half of the fourth inning when Trimmer three-baggered to right field and rode home on Webber's intended sacrifice which was fielded to catch Trimmer, Webber going safe at first. Barns singled and Crockett sacrificed both runners. Crossgrove struck out but Jeffries was hit by a

SWEET BRIAR MECCA OF THE PLEASURE SEEKERS

The local committee on intercollegiate social activities entrained Friday morning to favor Sweet Briar with its attendance at the annual May Day celebration and dance given there. There were several who could not make the morning train on account of the early hour and other reasons, and they followed at various times later in the day in cars. The party was composed of around thirty of the leading social lights, both ordinary and extraordinary, and beyond a doubt the university will be well represented, and carry off the honors of the occasion as usual.

The Sweet Briar May day celebration is looked forward to each year by those who are fortunate enough to be able to attend. The dances have an added attraction this year in that Jan Garber and his Garber-Davis orchestra furnished the music for both nights. Sweet Briar girls and Garber-Davis orchestra make a combination that cannot be beaten anywhere. The May day celebration was held on the campus in the afternoon Friday, and the regular May day dance was given Friday night. The second dance, Saturday night, was the regular week-end dance.

FINAL SCORE 14 TO 2

White and Blue Team Garners 12 Hits—Frew Gets Prettiest.

The Generals completely buried Randolph-Macon under an avalanche of hits and runs Wednesday afternoon on Wilson Field, defeating them 14-2. Woolwine's pitching, the Generals hitting, and airtight fielding featured the contest.

"Doc" Woolwine pitching his first game held the visiting team to four hits and two runs and had them at his mercy at all times. After the fourth inning they did not get a single safety and only one man reached first base.

As usual, the "wrecking crew" was in evidence. Twelve hits were gathered by the White and Blue batters, McMillan and Aylmer each getting three. Frew made the prettiest hit of the day. In the eighth inning he lambasted one so far to right center that he had circled the paths before the fielder had fairly gotten his hands on the ball.

The Generals put up one of the best fielding games seen on Wilson field this year. They played errorless ball, accepting perfectly many hard chances. "Monk" Mattox shone at shortstop accepting nine chances perfectly and starting two double plays. Woolwine handled six.

The Generals scored three in the first inning on an error, a base on balls and singles by McMillan, Dawson, and Aylmer. Four more came in the third on an error, McMillan's and Dawson's second hits, a base on balls, a fielder's choice, and Woolwine's safety. The next inning the White and Blue scored two more by two hits, an error and a walk. The Generals made their last runs in the eighth on a walk, Frew's homer, an error and two singles.

Both of Randolph-Macon's runs came as a result of long hits. In the third, a triple and an infield grounder brought one across, and in the fourth, a walk, followed by a double made the visitor's last counter.

Two base hits—Aylmer, Bauserman.

Three base hits—Yancey.
Home run—Frew.
Stolen bases—Horn, Switzer, Mattox, Gwaltney.

Sacrifice hits—Switzer, Horn.
Struck out—Woolwine 7, Yancey 7.
Base on balls—Woolwine 2, Yancey 6.

Wild pitch—Yancey 2.
Passed balls—Hardison.
Double plays—Mattox to Aylmer, Woolwine to Mattox to Aylmer.
Time of game—1:40.
Umpire—Pierotti.

The Pi Delta Epsilon Journalistic fraternity at Lehigh has inaugurated a new idea of publishing a paper called "The Best Times," which was sold at the different fraternity houses during their recent house parties.

GENERALS CLOSE THEIR SEASON NEXT WEEK

Play Hopkins, Maryland U., Navy and U. of Delaware On Trip.

The Generals will close their season next week after meeting four strong Northern teams. The team will leave Sunday afternoon and will go to Baltimore where they play Johns Hopkins on Monday. Next Generals will meet the University of Maryland at College Park, Maryland, after which they will battle the strong Navy aggregation. On May 10 the Generals will meet the University of Delaware, from which place they will go to New Brunswick, New Jersey, to meet Rutgers. The last game of the season will be with the City College of New York at New York City. This will keep the team away from Lexington for seven days and will be the first time that the baseball team has ever gone north, as heretofore the baseball team always took a southern trip.

All of the teams that will be met are of the highest calibre, but the Generals are above the average this year, having lost only three games out of thirteen played and two of the teams that defeated the Generals in the first game were defeated in the second game of the series. The batting average of the team is very good as the whole team is batting well over .325. The pitching staff is also very strong, it having been the main strength of the team in every game, although they were handicapped by the loss of Lindberg and owing to McCallum having a sore arm. Taking the above facts in consideration it is expected that the Generals will bring some Yankee scalps back with them.

The men who will make the trip have not been selected, but the four pitchers, MacDonald, McCallum, Lackey, and Woolwine, will make the trip.

We are glad to see Arthur Wood among us again. Mumps and flu had him going.

E. & H. Drops Their Game to Tune of 5 to 2

Switzer Leading Man With Big Stick In Thursday's Game.

VISITORS GET SIX HITS

Frew, Mattox, McMillan and McDonald Complete W. & L. Career.

In a game that was rather slow and featureless the Generals defeated the representatives of Emory and Henry on Wilson Field Thursday afternoon by a score of 5 to 2. The crowd was rather small and interest was low but the Student Body can hardly be blamed as they have been treated with so many extra base hits in crucial moments that an ordinary game seems dead and lifeless.

Switzer lead the hitting of W. & L. with two singles and a double out of four times at bat, while McMillan, Aylmer, and Gwaltney each got two singles. Russell, of Emory and Henry succeeded in driving out two singles out of the visitors' total of six and Herndon made his drive to right good for two bases.

"Monk" Mattox continued to play big league ball at shortstop, catching several men on first by bullet like throws when it looked as though they had sure hits.

Frew, Mattox, McCallum, and McDonald completed their baseball career on Wilson field in this game and all of them gave a very good account of themselves in their last game. McCallum, although allowing two hits

Richmond Takes First In Oratorical Contest

J. H. Miller Speaks On "Virginia First"—Lowry Ties for First But Loses.

The walls of Lee Chapel paid responsive heed and resounded last night to fiery address and thoughtful wisdom. Thus in a zenith of oratory and flowing words did the thirty-third annual contest of the Virginia Intercollegiate Oratorical Association come and go. The first place was the source of reconsideration, L. H. Miller of University of Richmond and C. W. Lowery of Washington and Lee having received the same percentage in the first decision of the judges. The result of the conference on the tie was in favor of Miller, which placed Lowry as second. C. R. Quarles of Randolph-Macon won third place. Miller took as subject "Virginia First" and delivered an address worthy of great commendation. Lowry spoke on the "Menace of Lawlessness" and the fact that he ran the Richmond man such a close race speaks for address. Quarles spoke on "Finding Ourselves," and rendered an able and thoughtful as well as didactic speech. There were eight to take part in the contest:

Carl W. Seiler of Roanoke College. Subject: "The True American"; W. C. Barger, Jr., of Hampden-

FRESHMAN ATHLETICS

What has become of our school spirit? The little that we possessed seems to have disappeared entirely, especially during the present baseball season. True, the majority of our Varsity games have been well supported and some little spirit has been manifest. But our Freshman athletics have suffered much from a lack of support by the Student Body. At no single time when a game was played on Wilson Field, have more than a scant two hundred students turned out to see the Yearlings in action.

This is a situation deplorable in the extreme. With our entry into the S. I. C., our Freshman teams are the only sources we have for future Varsity material. What incentive has the first year team to play good baseball, when there is no support from the bleachers. We wonder how many men preferred to attend the movies yesterday afternoon to seeing a well-played baseball game. However, our love for baseball should not be our only reason for supporting our Freshmen teams—we should back those teams because of the effect of a large attendance on the team itself. The effect is largely psychological. If men feel their efforts are not appreciated, they can never be expected to develop a love for old Washington and Lee—the kind of love that produces fight.

Our Freshman teams of this season are our Varsity teams of next year. Imagine, if you will, the members of this year's Frosh team, comprising the Varsity next season, and playing just as enthusiastically as the Student Body supported it during the 1923 season! Who would be the first to complain? Easy enough. The same group of students that refused to support the first year team the season before. It's unfair, men, and a condition that should not exist at Washington and Lee.

Sunday evening the Big Nine leaves on the northern trip, with prospects more than bright. Playing in hostile territory, however, will be far different from playing on Wilson Field and the Generals will have to play their best brand of baseball all the time to win a majority of their games. Nothing would instill greater confidence in the men, or act as a greater incentive to call forth their best efforts, than a good sendoff by the Student Body. Of course it's Sunday, but no harm could come from a rally just before the team leaves. What do you say to an old-time rally tomorrow? Watch for notices and be there at the time!

Finals and Stadium fund subscriptions are coming in slowly now. Time is getting short, and the subscriptions to both funds are long past due. Pay up immediately!

Have you seen the new absence rule? We have, and believe it to be the best faculty rule passed in a long time. The habit of "cutting" classes has become an acute problem on our campus, and the practice must be stopped. The rule recently passed should prove to be the solution for the problem.

Washington and Lee should feel honored in having the State Oratorical Contest come to Lexington. We trust each participant enjoyed his stay in our midst and that much good was derived from the contest. We take this means to congratulate the victor. It has been a pleasure to have had you men, representing the different Virginia colleges, with us.

LIFE SAVING TESTS

GIVEN NEXT WEEK

American Red Cross Life Saving tests will be given in the gymnasium pool every afternoon next week between 3:30 and 4:30.

Those who pass the tests will be awarded a bathing suit emblem, a pin, and a certificate of membership in the Red Cross Life Saving Corps. The holder of a certificate is eligible for and capable of holding a position on any Red Cross Life Saving crew. The test will consist of breaking holds in the water, the various approaches and carries, disrobing in the water, lifting a ten-pound weight from the bottom of the pool, and the Schaeffer method of resuscitation.

Coach Twombly requests all those who wish to take the tests to be at the pool at 3:30 Monday afternoon.

GYM TEAM AWARDED MONOGRAMS

Four members of the Gym team have been awarded modified monograms. These monograms were awarded on a purely competitive bases for service on special apparatus.

As there were ten men on the team all of which have done good work it required the most careful judgment of Coaches Brett and Twombly to determine the four who most deserved the awards. Those selected are A. M. Pickus, captain; R. B. Houchins, H. A. Spang and Goodman. Pickus has served on the team three years and the other three two years each.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL TO ASSUME STADIUM FUND

At the last meeting of the Executive Committee, it was decided that the Athletic Council would take over the Wilson Field Stadium Fund.

In addition to this important business the Committee considered individually each order for the university ring. Forty-three orders were taken, three of which were rejected because of insufficient qualifications. The remainder, 17 from the Academic school, 7 from the law school, 9 from Commerce, 5 from Science, and 2 from the Engineering school will be on hand about May 20.

MATHEWS-JORDAN

An announcement that will come as a complete surprise to his many friends on the campus, is that of the marriage of C. Waller Mathews, '26, to Miss Helen Katherine Jordan. The event took place at the bride's home in Covington, Va., Saturday, April 28.

The young couple will reside at the Lambda Chi Alpha house, during the remainder of the present school session, after which the groom will enter the employ of the Virginia-Western Power Company.

ALUMNI NOTES

Preparations are rapidly being made for the "Best Finals Yet." It is especially desired that a large number of Alumni and former students be here. Notify the Alumni Secretary that you are coming, so that arrangements may be made for your entertainment.

Remember that the classes of 1913 and 1918 hold their reunions this year.

The following Alumni have already signified their intentions to attend Finals: Judge E. C. Caffrey, '09; Fred. W. McWane, '13; Jas. H. Miller, '15; Joseph John Allen, '70; J. Shirley Riley, '16; John L. Crist, '13; "Red" Moore, '13; J. R. Caskie, '09, and others. It is hoped that many can be added to this list before the next issue of the Ring-tum Phi.

The above list shows that a very small number of our Alumni have said they would be here. It is pretty safe to say, though, that when the time rolls around they will be here. We would like to know that you will be here a day or so before Finals.

Let us hear from you now!

FROM JUNE 1 THROUGH JUNE 5 — ALUMNI DAY, MONDAY, JUNE 4.

FINAL SUBSCRIPTIONS MUST BE PAID

Cards To Be Issued To Those Who Have Paid—Hold Through Finals.

A large percentage of the Finals subscriptions from the Student Body are past due. A very elaborate program has been arranged for Final Week, but it will be absolutely impossible to carry out this program unless each student pays up his subscription immediately. Contracts for Final Ball supper, decorations and favors cannot be closed unless this outstanding money is collected.

Within the next few days cards will be printed and issued to all those who have paid their subscriptions. It is urged that these cards be kept until the end of Final Week. The invitations for Finals Week are expected to arrive on Monday. As only the exact number signed for on the bulletin board were ordered it is requested that they be called for immediately after their arrival. If they are not called for within a week they will be sold to anyone who did not order.

BILLY SUNDAY CLUB HOLDS SERVICES THURS.

Quite a number of students and townspeople were present at the meeting of the Billy Sunday Club of Lynchburg held in the Lee Chapel Thursday night, under the auspices of the campus Y. M. C. A.

The meeting was opened by singing, followed by prayer offered by Rev. T. S. Center of the Billy Sunday Club. Introductory remarks were made by J. N. Thomas, who presided at the meeting after assisted by "Ted" Schultz, which the meeting was taken in charge by the club, each of its members making enthusiastic addresses. Col. James Scott and W. Carey Barker, '09, were among the visitors and the latter made a very fine speech concerning his days on the W. and L. campus. A solo was sung by F. P. Hur.

As a reminder—only two more weeks 'till exams.

Varsity Alumni Baseball Game, Monday, June Fourth. Last year a baseball game between the Varsity and the Alumni of the University was played during Finals Week and added a great deal to the attractions of the day. It has been decided to have another game this year and in all probability it will become an annual affair. One game has already been played this spring between the Varsity and men of yesteryear fame with the result that the Varsity was defeated. That is something to brag about for the Generals have not had many defeats handed them this year.

All Alumni who have ever played any ball are expected to be ready to play in the Varsity-Alumni game June 4. Bring that old suit that you are so proud of and give us an exhibition of baseball as it was played in your day. You may need your batting eye, too, because this year's varsity believes in hitting the ball. If you don't believe us ask "Monk" Mattox, "Student" Frew, and several more of them.

John Alexander McDonald, '13, writes that he will not be able to be here for Finals this year, but that he will be on hand for the Virginia game next fall. "Mac" is practicing Law in Durant, Oklahoma.

INTERESTING PROGRAM AT WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Question of Method of Handling Cold Checks To Be Debated.

The meeting of the Washington Literary Society will be especially interesting tonight as the debate will be on a real live campus issue—"Resolved: Cold checks should be dealt with under the Honor System." R. G. Whittle and Jen. Cook will have the affirmative, while Masinter and C. A. Joice will defend the negative. The remainder of the program will be as follows: Humorous Selection, Dick Feamster; Current Events, G. T. Clarke.

The Graham-Lee meeting tonight will be very important as the report of the Constitution committee will be made. A committee with E. J. Spady as chairman have drawn up the changes that they deem necessary in the constitution and they will be considered at this meeting. Every member should be present.

THIRD GAME WITH VIRGINIA CANCELLED

The third baseball game which was to have been played with University of Virginia in order to decide the tie, has been cancelled because a date suitable to both Washington and Lee and Virginia could not be agreed upon.

Virginia named May 19 as the only time convenient to her, a date which does not suit the Generals because it is a week after their season closes and would thus require them to keep training that much longer. It also comes immediately before the final examinations begin.

"EVERY SENIOR A SUBSCRIBER"—SLOGAN

Campaign To Get Senior Subscriptions To '23-'24 Ring-tum Phi To Be Instituted.

"Every Senior a subscriber" is the slogan to be heralded on the campus in the next few days. A campaign is to be instituted by W. H. Cluverius, next year's manager of the Ring-tum Phi, to obtain every Senior's subscription to the Ring-tum Phi for the session 1923-24.

Knowing the desire of the present graduates-to-be to keep up with the more intimate affairs of their Alma Mater, at least for the first year away, Cluverius is planning to give an opportunity to each man to subscribe before he leaves. This will end the matter in as much as the graduate will have the paper bought and off his mind. To this end the present Seniors will be approached individually by some member of the subscription committee.

As there is a mutual advantage in subscribing for the paper, the Ring-tum Phi will be aided considerably, the Seniors are urged to subscribe.

FROSH DEFEAT ROANOKE HIGH IN SLOW GAME

pitched ball, filling the bases. Perry tightened at this juncture and Britts popped to first.

W. and L. again forged ahead in their half of the fourth when Smith beat out an infield hit, stole second and went home on the catcher's wild throw to catch him at third.

In the fifth, Roanoke scored their two last runs on Rice's safe on error and Whittock's home run to right field.

The Freshmen scored the winning runs on Seehorn's home run and a walk, two stolen bases, and Reese's single.

CUTTING THE CORNERS

Six more games. Go to it, Generals!

Generals' record to date: Won 12, lost 3.

Monk Mattox has a mighty peg. He catches many a runner at first who would have been safe when up against an ordinary shortstop.

Bock and Switzer have the best averages for the week. Bock has four hits out of six, average .667, and Switzer five out of nine, average .555.

in the first inning, tightened up after that and laid the visitors down in "one, two, three" order until McDonald relieved him.

Both teams scored one run in the first inning on hits. In the third McCallum struck out, Gwaltney reached first on the shortstop's error, and Switzer walked. Mattox sacrificed them to second and third. McMillan hit the first baseman but Gwaltney beat the ball to the plate. McMillan stole second and he and Switzer scored on Frew's single over second. In the sixth the Generals added their last tally when Gwaltney, Switzer and McMillan all drove out singles. McMillan's single through second scored Gwaltney. The visitors came to life again in the seventh when Harding after reaching first safely on McMillan's error, scored on hits by Wygal and Graham. Cecil struck out, however, and Felts and Herndon were easy for the infield.
