

GENERALS OUTGENERAL TECHMEN 12-0

Brilliant Flashes of Speed In Early Stages Leave Gobblers Scoreless

STUDENT BODY SEES BIG BLUE TEAM AVENGE LAST YEAR'S DEFEAT SATURDAY

Generals' Line Too Strong For Gobblers and They Fail To Wipe Out Lead of Two Touchdowns Made At Outset—Every Member of White and Blue Stars In His Dept.

Doped to lose by sport writers, but with the Student Body behind them and with grim determination in their hearts, the Generals of 1923 went on the field in Lynchburg last Saturday and avenged the defeat of last year by the score of 12-0. Tech was swept off their feet in the first quarter and although they soon recovered they could not deliver consistently enough to succeed in crossing the goal line or even get anywhere near it until the last part of the last period.

The Generals opened up with a string of forward passes at the very start of the game and when the smoke had cleared there were two touchdowns pushed across the goal line and the scoring was over for the day. During the rest of the game the ball see-sawed up and down the field, although always in V. P. I.'s territory until the last part of the last quarter, when the Gobblers threatened to score, but Daves threw Sutton for an eight-yard loss after they had placed the ball inside of the Generals' ten-yard line.

The Generals' line was a veritable stone wall and withstood time after time the plunging attacks of the famed Tech backfield and it was very seldom that they made more than two yards directly through the line. There was only one formation by which the Gobblers were able to gain and it was in this off-tackle formation that they made most of their advances. These gains were somewhat irregular, however, and they were never able to keep the ball long enough to cross the goal line as the Big Blue Team always stiffened and held. As to first downs, the two teams had even honors, as both made 14. The Generals clearly outclassed their opponents in forward passing, had a slight edge on them in punting and due to the fine work of Hamilton, were better at returning punts. The only time that the Techmen were able to return the ball at all on punts was in the last minute of play when Flory came back through an open field for 40 yards.

The whole team played an excellent brand of football and all starred at one time or another. Every man in the line deserves especial mention for his work but that of Hatcher, Tilson and Daves was probably the most outstanding. In the backfield Frew, although injured in the face in the first play of the game and with blood smeared all over him, handled the team with fine generalship, threw his passes with great accuracy and carried the ball for nice gains time after time. Captain Cameron plunged through the line with a drive that could not be stopped. One time in particular after he had driven through the first line he wormed his way back and forth past four men before he was stopped. Hamilton hit the line and went around ends for nice gains several times. Some of the falls he received when tackled on end runs brought the crowd to their feet, but he always came up undaunted. Burke, although he very seldom carried the ball, was one of the most valuable men in the back field. He played a wonderful game, both on the offense and the defense. He was on the receiving end of both forwards passes which scored touchdowns.

First Quarter.

Washington and Lee defended west goal. Kicked off to V. P. I.'s eight yard line. It was returned 10 yards. On second play Sutton fumbled and Thomas, W. & L., recovered. Two attempts at passes failed. Frew on the third tossed ball to Burke who ran 18 yards for the first touchdown. Try for goal failed. W. & L.'s second kickoff went to V. P. I.'s fifteen yard line, but Sutton returned to thirty-five yard line. After two line plunges the Gobblers punted to the Generals' forty-five yard line. Hamilton and Frew made first down around the ends. W. & L. punted to V. P. I.'s five yard line. Generals penalized twenty yards on the next play. On third down and five to go, Rutherford fumbled. W. & L. recovered. Two passes and a line plunge by Frew placed ball on Gobblers' twenty yard line. Frew went through line for four then tossed another pass to Burke, who romped across the line for another counter. Try for goal failed. Flory returned the Generals' kick from the eight yard line to the twenty-eight. First down is made by Sutton and Flory, but ball is fumbled, to be recovered by Hatcher, W. & L. Failing to make downs, Frew punted over Gobblers' goal

Five Talented and Charming Young Ladies Appear In Light Opera Revue.

The five members of the White's Light Opera Revue presented a very enjoyable program on Friday night to a large audience of students and townspeople in the auditorium of the Lexington High School. The entertainment was one of the best of its kind ever given in Lexington, and the members of the revue proved conclusively their ability as entertainers.

The program opened with a musical revue chorus of three young ladies who delighted the audience with their variety of songs and dances. They were called back time after time for encores. The piano and violin solos which followed were equally as good. A reading in which the Sunshine Girl, the leader of the troupe, gave a realistic description of a lady at a baseball game made a decided hit. The piano monologue which included the demonstration of the present day jazz dance met with the unanimous approval of all the students who had seats near the foot lights.

X-COUNTRY SQUAD IS IN IMPROVED SHAPE

Time Trials Have Been Run and All Is Ready For Virginia Meet Friday.

Although at the opening of the year, the prospects for Washington and Lee's cross-country team seemed poor because of the failure of several letter men to return to school, the end of a period of approximately five weeks training finds the squad approaching that condition which enabled it to win every meet last year.

At present, attention is focused upon the meet to be held here with the University of Virginia on Friday, November 2.

During the last eight years Virginia has won only three cross-country matches from W. and L. and according to "College Topics," "the Virginia harrier squad is training intensively with the purpose of winning this one, especially since cross-country was the only sport in which the "Old Dominion" was defeated last year by the Generals." Our squad is equally anxious to win this meet, especially since Virginia won two of her victories over the home course.

Coach Fletcher has not yet definitely selected the seven men who will compete against the University of Virginia. Howard, who has been running exceptionally fast, is the only man whose place is assured. Gannaway, a member of the team two years ago, but who did not run last year, has been showing up well; also Hawkins, who was on the team last year when the Generals defeated Virginia, is rounding into excellent shape. Heiskell, another letter man, is running his usual steady

Coach Brett Predicts Great Season For Boxing and Wrestling.

VIRGINIA MEET ARRANGED

Thirty-five Out For Boxing While Thirty Aspire To Generals' Mat Team.

That Washington and Lee faces one of the most successful seasons through which they have passed in recent years is the prediction of Coach E. E. Brett, when questioned regarding the boxing and wrestling teams. There are about thirty-five men out for boxing and they have been kept busy during the past week or so with conditioning exercises.

Beginning with this Friday the team will start their first real competitive trials. Of the members of last year's squad who have reported this season Bettis, Masinter, Horton and Felsenthal, who was last year's captain, are the most promising candidates. Many more aspirants are expected out after football season. Among these "Tex" Tilson stands out prominent. "Tex" was a big factor in boxing two years ago, but was not able to come out last year because of winter football training.

Virginia is the only meet arranged so far, although negotiations are under way for Penn State and Navy. An extended trip will be taken, but whether it will be East, West, or North has not been definitely ascertained as yet.

Freshmen Score Brilliant Victory Over Chatham Military Academy

Little Generals Display Fierce Running Attack and Vim Behind Line Plunges—Were Adept In Aerial Attack Also.

By the use of a successful aerial attack and line plunges that always netted gains, the Little Generals defeated the Chatham Military Academy by the score of 34 to 0. What was expected to be one of the hardest games on the schedule, turned out to be an easy victory for the Yearlings, and the military boys could not withstand the fierce attacks of the First Year team.

The Yearlings started off the game with a score in the first few minutes of play, and from that time they could never be stopped as the ball was always in C. M. A.'s territory. But for the fact, that the Little Generals suffered frequent penalties the score might have been larger. The Freshmen's line proved to be a stone wall to the cadets and they could never advance the ball within scoring distance.

Rauber, McCandless, Rectors and Stearns, who formed the backfield for the Freshmen, were the shining lights on the offense and Van Horn and Simpson proved great obstacles to the Military School on the defense. For Chatham, Captain Mattox, brother of "Monk" Mattox, who made

FIRST ISSUE OF MINK DUE ABOUT WEDNESDAY

Dimensions of Magazine Have Been Reduced, While Number of Pages Were Increased.

Due to several unforeseen incidents, the initial issue of the Mink for this year has been delayed beyond the time set for its appearance. This delay was caused by the loss of the cuts for this issue some time ago, but the staff has everything ready now and the "Greek Number" of the Mink is due to appear on the campus about Wednesday of this week.

The Mink, this year, has many new features and many departures from the magazine of last year. Chief among them is that the size of the publication has been reduced to dimensions of "Judge" and "Life," while the total number of pages has been increased considerably. This will make the Mink conform in size with practically all the college magazines of the country today, thus standardizing it to a great extent.

The quality of the material in the Mink this year will be on a very high plane and will be well worth reading. Contributions by many of the well known writers and humorists of the day give it a flavor seldom found in college magazines and one which adds considerable distinction to it.

The number of cuts has been increased, so that it will not lack anything to please the eye. The cover design is very attractive. Many humorous pictures and drawings are also incorporated in this number.

With such a good start this year, the Mink promises to become still better with subsequent issues and to still hold its place among the foremost college comics.

NOVEMBER 3—HOMECOMING!

With the stage all set and everything in readiness, Washington and Lee will welcome its Alumni next Saturday at the annual Homecoming Day celebration. What could be more appropriate than such an event, to acquaint present W. and L. men with those of yesteryear? Customs may change, but traditions and ideals never! The men returning, though many have faced the world for decades, typify the same spirit for which the old institution has become famous—exemplify the same ideals we now cherish, and love the historic, if not sacred, surroundings with a devotion that can scarcely be appreciated by undergraduates.

Washington and Lee has just cause to feel proud of its Alumni! No institution of like kind in the country can boast the calibre of men this one does. In city and village, urban centre or secluded hamlet, W. and L. men have taken their places among the leaders in a manner that has brought glory to, and reflected credit upon their Alma Mater.

It is fitting then, that the returning Alumni (and we feel sure all who possibly can will be here) should be honored by the undergraduates at Homecoming. Be not misled, the grads care not to be the recipients of a well-planned celebration! To them, the greatest honor is to be treated as real W. and L. men—just as undergraduates. Too often have Alumni expressed their disappointment that students show them little consideration, if they do not in fact ignore them completely, on their visits to the campus. This perhaps is not true of the more recent classes whose members are well known to many of the present members of the Student Body, but it is true in a big way of the men who have long since departed from the campus.

If we are real Washington and Lee men, let us show the Alumni some consideration! A simple "Hi, Gentlemen!" delivered with a real meaning, does an Alumnus more good than perhaps anything else at the hands of an undergraduate. They may have been here many years ago, but they're W. and L. men nevertheless; they are interested in the old school just as much as any of the present-day W. and L. students. When the "old boys" come flocking in this week-end, be on the alert to notice them, speak with the true ring in your voice!

Remember the time is not far distant when you may return as an Alumnus, walk across the old campus, and long to be "one of the boys" again. Is there anything that would depress you more on such an occasion, than to be passed up by every student, without so much as a simple "Hello?" Think it over—then out with a real "Hi" to the men who have blazed the way for you!

We are late in appearing this issue due to the fact that the members of the staff, along with the rest of the Student Body, made the trip to Lynchburg. Since the inside of the paper had to be made up Friday morning, much of the news appearing herein may have the semblance of being "stale." The usual Saturday night service will be resumed this week-end.

VIRGINIA NEXT!

Scarcely will talk of the V. P. I. game have had time to quiet before Student Body, townspeople, Alumni, and visitors will journey to Wilson Field to see the fighting Generals engage the Old Dominion eleven. Truly Lexington will entertain the biggest crowd in its history. Virginia is coming strong, perhaps two thousand students and townspeople will ride the Special from Charlottesville.

Washington and Lee as host to the throng of visitors has a peculiar responsibility. It will require a lot of organization to handle the crowd, and to look after the various details attendant upon a big game. Shortly you may be approached by some member of the Athletic Council, the football manager or some of his assistants, or members of the Executive Committee, to solicit your aid in helping with some part of the work. It is manifestly impossible for the present organization of committees to look after all details as they should be, especially with Homecoming Day bringing its scores if not hundreds of Alumni back.

If there is need of you, you will be called upon! Be ready to respond should the call come. Ushers, ticket sellers, reception committees, and the like will all be needed. Let's put the Virginia game over "big!"

THE COLLEGE WORLD

The annual class fights which have been in vogue at Lombard College since it was founded in 1858, were abolished by a vote of the Freshman and Sophomore classes this year. A program of events to be carried out in the presence of the entire student body was decided upon to replace the former conflicts.

A fountain pen "filling station" has been installed at the main desk in the Lunt Library at Northwestern University. When your pen goes dry you drop a penny in the slot, and pull a lever. Enough ink flows forth to fill the largest pen tank.

The Yale student council has drawn up a pledge which all are supposed to sign, to the effect that in the future they will not take any part in "noisy or riotous actions or demonstrations in the streets or other public grounds of the city of New Haven." Moreover, a fine of seventy-five cents was levied on all Sophomores who took part in a riot last June, for the purpose of defraying the expenses of that disorder.

Charles Stillman, '82, of New York City, has established the James Raymond Goodrich Memorial Scholarship Fund at Yale by a gift of $100,000. This gift provides for ten scholarships of $500 each, and will be awarded annually "to students who possess not only exceptional intellectual ability but who are also marked by high character and fine personality such as to give promise of their leadership among men."

The tones of "Old Main" bell of Colorado University were transmitted from the university wireless broadcasting station after one of their big football victories recently to be picked up by Colorado Alumni in all parts of the West.

This was the initial number of a series of programs to be transmitted in the interest of their memorial campaign.

A Chinese youth once came all the way from China to enter the Rice Institute at Houston, Texas. He had expected to find an agricultural school devoted to the study of rice culture, whereas the institute is, in reality, a university with a $13,000,000 endowment from William Marsh Rice.

MRS. AND MR. POLLY TICKK PLEASES LARGE AUDIENCE

W. & L. Professors and Students Take Part In Civic League Play Last Thursday Night.

"Mrs. and Mr. Polly Tickk," presented under the auspices of the Lexington Civic League in the High School auditorium last Thursday night was well received by the capacity audience of students, townspeople, and children. The play was well presented, and the song and dance numbers especially enjoyed.

The action had to do with conditions in 1975, when women are supposed to control the elections as well as the homes. The men no longer go to lodge meetings or work in offices, but stay at home to cook, mind the children, and do the family darning. The women are getting so strong that they want to pass an anti-trousers bill. The men are rebelling, though, led by Billy Lawson (J. C. Roberts), a bachelor, and they contrive to substitute Billy for Mrs. Highbrow, a woman senator, at the ladies' convention. He learns their plans is discovered, however, but the men come in demanding the vote, and the women, led by Daisy Anne Gray (Sarah Armstrong), Billy's sweetheart, think they have been too drastic, and Daisy decides to be an old-fashioned girl.

The principal parts of the play rested on the capable shoulders of Miss Sarah Armstrong, who came here from Atlanta to stage and direct the play, Mrs. M. P. Matheny, C. E. L. Gill, and J. C. Roberts. Each did his or her part of the singing well, and their acting was all that could be desired.

The chorus made up of eight young ladies of Lexington added a great deal to the charm of the play. Their dance and song numbers were well received, and their costumes lovely and effective.

It was quite amusing to see some of the college professors and students knitting, scrubbing the floor, and wearing dresses and other feminine attire. Students and professors taking part were: J. C. Roberts, C. E. L. Gill, C. F. Milair, J. A. Graham, K. C. Prince, W. C. Norvell, C. W. Blandford, and M. C. Murdaugh.

Miss Emily Penick was at the piano for the song numbers, and the High School orchestra furnished plenty of jazz music between acts.

W. & L. ALUMNUS SPRINGS INTO LITERARY FAME

"Ted" Robbins, Former Generals' Track Capt., Has Story In "Everybody's."

Washington and Lee men will be interested to know of the success of Ted Robbins, who was here from 1910 to 1913, along the line of short story writing. In the November issue of Everybody's, Robbins' name appears as the author of "For His Lady Friend." This story is a boxing story, told in the manner of H. C. Witmer. This is only evident in the conversation of the story. But when Robbins describes or has a paragraph of explanation, he lets go, and it is then that you know what he is like.

While at W. & L., Robbins was captain of the track team and editor of the Calyx. It is also a matter of record that he fought a man who came here with the reputation of "the Lightweight Champion of France." But after Robbins had won the battle, it was found that the man was merely out of a job and had hit upon the idea of posing as the French champion.

FIRST TERM EXAMS TO BEGIN JANUARY 24

The final exams for the first semester this year will start on Thursday, January 24, and continue through Monday, February 4th. The second semester will begin on Thursday, February 7th. Contrary to the announcements in the catalogue and Freshmen handbooks, the above dates are absolutely correct, having been issued from the office of the registrar during the past week.

The Thanksgiving holidays are Thursday, November 28, Friday, 29, and Saturday, 30, of Thanksgiving week. The annual Thanksgiving hops will take place on Friday and Saturday nights during the holidays.

RICHMOND NEWS LEADER RECALLS BY-GONE DAYS

When Washington Building Housed Both Class Rooms and Dormitories Under One Roof.

There are doubtless a good many students (professors, alumni and townspeople as well) who do not know how old the buildings on the Washington and Lee campus are. For this reason it seems well to quote from the Richmond "News Leader" for several days ago which contained an article from a paper of 100 years ago in its By-Gone Days column. It was as follows:

"Washington College, Lexington, Va., October 11, 1823. The walls of the Sentre Building (the present Washington College building) of this institution are rising with considerable rapidity; and it is expected that they will be completed and the roof on within a few weeks. The building is 100 feet by fifty, with a ten-foot portico in front, and contains besides a number of lodging rooms or dormitories, a large Common Hall, two Society rooms, two Lecture rooms, two rooms for Apparatus, a Library room, Museum, etc. The whole it is expected will be completed some time next summer. The lodging rooms will be very comfortable and convenient. The apparatus and lecture rooms well adapted for performing experiments in Mechanical and Chemical Philosophy and delivering lectures; and the Common Hall is sufficiently large for public exhibitors."

This article shows the Academic building to be almost 100 years old. It is still in good condition now, but has long been outgrown, and this year cannot hold all of the Academic classes. It has been a great many years since the "convenient and comfortable" lodging rooms were occupied (now the office of the Chemistry department and laboratory), and doubtless many since "public exhibitors" used the Common Hall, which probably is the present Geology and Biology lecture room.

The Y. M. C. A. is making an effort to have each student Bible class named. The class at the Methodist Church has chosen the name of "The Generals' Bible Class," while the one at the Presbyterian Church is called "The Blue and White Bible Class." The Y. M. C. A., in order to stimulate interest in them, will give a banner to the class having the highest attendance for the year.

The Billy Sunday Club of Roanoke will be here Thursday night, November 1. The club is composed of several of the business men of Roanoke, and is headed by W. C. Barker, an alumnus of W. and L. They will take part in the regular program of the local "Y."

FINE OUTLOOK FOR PUGILISTS

The wrestling situation is also optimistic. About thirty men have come out so far and the classes have gotten down to real work in a remarkably short time. The coaches have been giving them conditioning exercises and teaching them the fundamental methods. Up to date, only two of last year's team have reported, these being Hubbard and Cummings. Several of the men are still out for football and so will not report till later in the season. Among these is Hatcher, who has been on the wrestling team now for two years, and Dick Beard who was a member of last year's team.

So far the only meets which are certain are those with Navy, Virginia and V. P. I. A long trip is under consideration with the possibility of some of the following teams: West Point, Lehigh, Columbia and Princeton.

pace. Two new men, Bean and Gordon, although not eligible for the team, have both been showing upwell. It is doubtful whether Swope, who has a slight attack of grippe, will be able to run Friday. It is also doubtful if Wilson, who has been running next to Howard, will be able to enter, as he has been suffering from sore feet.

Virginia will prove a worthy opponent of the Generals as the Old Dominion has three exceptionally strong men in Stevens, Goward, and Irvine, all members of last year's team. A very close and interesting race should result.

The race will start on the Athletic field at 4 o'clock and will last thirty-five or forty minutes.

Between the Goal Posts

Probably the largest number of students that ever witnessed a W. & L. football game on foreign sod saw the Generals in action Saturday in Lynchburg.

—o—
We went. We saw. We conquered.

—o—
"Student" Frew gained the praise and admiration of the Student Body when on being hit in the mouth on the first play of the game, he kept on fighting till the very end in a blood-soaked jersey. It is said that he lost a pint of blood during the game, and it is not hard for those who saw the game to believe it.

—o—
Knocked from his feet and hitting the ground with enough force to finish most men, Pat Hamilton would spring back into position time after time. His ability to take punishment was almost superhuman.

—o—
Pat Hatcher, the roving center on the Big Blue team, playing against a man outweighing him twenty-three pounds, succeeded in breaking thru the line many times.
