BIG TEAM ANNEXES BRILLIANT VICTORY

St. Johns Bows To Superior Opponent; Visitors Helpless Before Locals.

CROWD IS DIMINISHING

Marylanders Put Up Good Fight, But are Unable To Locate the Basket; U. T. Next.

Displaying a brand of basketball that was unbeatable, the Generals took the St. Johns quint into camp on Doremus floor last night by the count of 49-11. The smallest crowd of the season was on hand to witness the contest that was decidedly more interesting than the unbalanced score indicates. What the crowd lacked in numbers, it made up for in enthusiasm, and the playing of the White and Blue, individually and collectively, provided many an opportunity throughout the evening for outbursts of pent-up noise.

Coach Raftery's clan got busy soon after the initial whistle and never let up until the timer's stopwatch registered forty minutes of play, while the score board showed the very pleasing result above. Lake started the fireworks before the students had finished their usual prelude — The Swing, when he dropped the ball in from a perfectly executed formation, Glenn to Hines to Lake. A few seconds later he duplicated this feat, to be followed shortly by Capt. Hines when he caged a basket from a difficult angle.

Having gotten their five-man machine under way, the locals refused, not only to be defeated, but even to allow the visitors possession of the ball, except for a few seconds at a time. It was useless for the Marylanders to attempt to carry the ball past the middle of the floor, so airtight was the defense offered by the White and Blue. This accounts for the fact that the visiting outfit resorted to long shots entirely, many of which were wild and ill-aimed throws.

Picking stars for the Generals would be mere enumeration of the participants of last night's game. Every man of the seven who represented the White and Blue in the con-

CANDIDATES SELECTED FOR DEBATING FINALS

Four-Man Team Will Be Picked February 4th From Eight Winning Orators.

Preliminary tryouts for the Varsity debating team were held last night in Washington College, and as a result the following men were chosen to enter the elimination trials to be held February 4: S. A. Glickstein, D. H. Lindsay, E. W. Poindexter, J. G. Ragsdale, J. N. Thomas, L. Y. Thompson, F. B. Waters and R. G. Wickersham.

In the elimination trials, a team of four will be selected from the eight eligibles, to represent the University in the triangular debate with Johns Hopkins and North Carolina. It is probable that other debates will be arranged for the third term in response to resolutions to that effect adopted by the council. E. W. Poindexter has been elected permanent secretary of the council, and is already in touch with University of Missouri and University of Cincinnati, and expects to arrange debates with these two institutions for next year.

VIRGINIA TECH MAT TEAM HERE

Expected To Tax Generals' Strength On Mat Tonight; Locals Ready.

Washington and Lee's wrestlers meet the matmen representing V. P. I. tonight at 7:30 in what promises to be a hard fought match. The strength of the Tech grapplers is unknown since this is their first meet, but all reports coming from Blacksburg indicate that the Cadets will be represented by a strong aggregation. This is the first time that V. P. I. has met W. and L. on the local mat, the meet last year having been held at Blacksburg. The Generals won this contest by the score of 19 to 11 after a hard fight.

These men will represent the University tonight: Ellis, N. Gotten, Cothran, Sutherland, Hatcher, Asbury, and Potts. Cothran in the 135-pound class, although new on the 1922 team, is an experienced wrestler, having won his monogram in this sport last year.

Following this meet Coach Brett's charges will undergo a hard week's training in preparation for the meet with the strong Navy team which will be staged at Annapolis next Saturday. The outcome of this match will be eagerly watched since the Navy grapplers have already defeated teams representing two of the larger universities in the East.

DR. GOSSARD SPOKE TO PACKED HOUSE

Described Suffering of War-Stricken Countries; Said America Owes Them Aid.

Before an audience that taxed the Y. M. C. A. room to capacity last Thursday night, Dr. Gossard, who has but recently returned from Europe where he studied industrial, social and economic conditions, spoke, informally, on present conditions in that continent.

Dr. Gossard explained that what Europe needed to solve her present problems was spiritual rather than financial aid, although the latter is much needed. "There must be brought about some means whereby each nation may place in every sister nation, that implicit confidence which means co-operation and harmony, rather than conflict and strife. It is this, and this alone, that will restore Europe to her pre-war level. As long as countries continue to build up armies, fearful, it seems that a neighbor may rise up at any moment and strike a deadly blow, there can be no real progress, and suffering will continue."

"Europe," explained the speaker, "is in destitute circumstances. The suffering among the great masses of people is all but unbearable. Students, eager to receive an education that they might help restore their country to its former position, are enduring untold hardships in order to realize their ambition. In numerous instances there are found two students who own a pair of shoes and perhaps a suit of clothes jointly."

J. R. Caskie, '06, came up from Lynchburg last week to attend the Delta Tau Delta initiation. He is president of the Lynchburg Alumni Association.

INFORMAL BREAKS WINTER MONOTONY

Dance Promises To Measure Up To Usual Standard; Freshmen May Go.

Once more the taxi drivers are doing a flourishing business and Lexington is rejuvenated with the sounds of festivities in the air. The informal tonight promises to be a good one even though a scarcity of girls, due to examinations and various other causes, threatened for a time to prevent the dance from coming up to the usual standard. Now with thirty-five or more girls in town and Charley Wright's All-Southern Six prepared to furnish some real music, the dance can be little other than successful. The affair promises to wax fast and furious between the hours of eight thirty and twelve.

A large part of the receipts received will go to the financing of the basketball team and it is expected that a large part of the Student Body will avail themselves of this opportunity to help the team and at the same time to spend an enjoyable evening.

The regulations as to the admission of Freshmen will be the same as were enforced at the Thanksgiving dances, the regular green tie must be worn and each Freshman or two Freshmen must accompany a young lady.

PLAN TO BEGIN WORK ON NEW LAB.

Hope To Get Started On Project In Early Fall.

That Washington and Lee will have a new chemical laboratory seems very probable, according to statements given out by President Smith Thursday. The funds hitherto collected have been devoted to the endowment of the University; a total of $1,300,000 has now been reached and from now on the money received will be used for building purposes. The first large project will be the building of a modern chemical laboratory, designed to accommodate a Student Body twice the size of the present one. The building will be located behind the law building, probably on the site of the old gymnasium which burned eight years ago. The main front will face towards the gymnasium and the side entrance will face towards the law building.

The leading laboratories of the country are now being studied and complete plans will soon be made. Dr. Desha is at work on the plans for the equipment. The entire project however, depends on the rate at which the new money is received, and in spite of depressed conditions in the South at present, which may delay the contribution of money, it is hoped that the building will be begun early next fall as planned.

CULVER CLUB NOTICE!

There will be a meeting of the Culver Club on next Wednesday night at 7:30, in the Commerce Room, first floor of Newcomb Hall. This will be a short but very important meeting. All members are urged to be present.

Don't let Washington and Lee be dried—and found wanting.

GENERALS WILL MEET TENNESSEE

Visitors Have Envious Record; Ga. Tech and Vandy Among Victims.

When Washington and Lee meets the University of Tennessee in basketball next Tuesday night, it will be the first time in three years that a team representing Tennessee in any branch of sport has appeared here. This causes interest in the approaching court contest to run high, and speculation is rife as to the strength of the visitors.

Little dope can be secured on the Tennessee outfit, and if what is forthcoming may be taken as a criterion of their ability, it goes without saying that the locals will be extended to the limit to register a victory over the Knoxville aggregation.

The record hung up so far this season by the Tennessee quint includes among others, victories over Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech. The last named victim was the subject for an 85-10 walkaway by the Tennesseans. Vanderbilt, though defeated by a narrow margin, is reputed to have an unusually good team itself this year, so the victory of the University is all the more creditable. Vanderbilt has registered a win over Kentucky this season, and the latter is being heralded as having one of the strongest teams in the central West this year.

Thus it would seem that the team which will stack up against the White and Blue Tuesday night is far from being one of unknown or untested strength. The line-up is made up almost entirely of veterans, and the team as a whole possesses weight with speed. With such a combination to do battle against, the Generals will face no easy job.

With the St. Johns game out of the way, Coach Raftery is now grooming his charges for the Tennessee contest, and expects to send his strongest combination against the visitors. Hines, whose foul shooting has been a bit off color of late, is devoting much attention to this part of his play, and expects to show some of his old-time form in this department against Tennessee. The line-up that started against St. Johns will be used in the game Tuesday.

LAST OF GREEKS END YEARLY INITIATIONS

Fraternities Finish Induction Ceremonies Tonight To Pledgees' Joy.

Nine more Greek letter societies have completed their annual initiations this week. This practically ends the period of goat activity for the year and the last of the new men become full-fledged members with the administering of the final ceremonial rites this week-end.

The following is a list of the pledgees with the fraternities who have initiated recently:

Phi Kappa Psi: J. W. Carscaden, Heddsville, W. Va.; J. Collins, Bramwell, W. Va.; T. S. Crockett, Columbus, Ohio; W. W. Donnally, Charleston, W. Va.; W. D. Kelley, Bluefield, W. Va.; H. H. Kurtz, Conneaut, Ohio; A. A. Payne, Charleston, W. Va.; C. L. Walters, Glencoe, Ill.

FINALS CAMPAIGN TO BE LAUNCHED SOON

Carter Expects To Initiate New Soliciting Scheme; One-Day Campaign.

PROGRAM IS ELABORATE

Finance Committee Will Start Canvass February 6th; Co-operation Urged.

The biggest annual event in the campus life of Washington and Lee, barring nothing, is Finals. To alumnus and undergraduate alike, it is a time eagerly looked forward to, pleasantly anticipated and carefully planned; the time when exams are over, books are cast aside for the year, and everybody is out to fittingly celebrate the close of another college year.

To make Finals possible, it has been the prevalent custom to raise funds by popular subscription—a policy which permits the president not only to apportion his receipts to his expenditures, but also to offer everything included in Finals absolutely free. It often happens a man possesses more of the ready cash just now or a few weeks hence, than he will have available June 10th. Subscribing at this time then, he is no longer worried over Finals, financially speaking.

The little placards which will soon make their appearance in conspicuous places about the campus, bearing the legend "Finals depend on you," will summarize the whole situation in a nutshell. Without the wholehearted support of the Student Body, a Finals in keeping with the customs and traditions of Washington and Lee will not be possible. On the other hand, if the individual students will contribute their support, financially and otherwise, a Finals bigger and better than ever before will mark the climax of the social life at Washington and Lee for the 1921-22 session.

A meeting of the finance committee, consisting of some thirty-five members, has been called by President Dayton E. Carter for Sunday February 5, at which time definite plans will be made for conducting the financial campaign. The canvassers will start work either on the Monday or Tuesday following, and if present plans work out, every student will have been seen by one of this body by the close of the day on which the campaign is launched.

In order to facilitate the task of the committee in charge of this work, it is especially desired that men sign up immediately upon being solicited.

RARE TREAT AT "Y" TOMORROW

The social at the "Y" tomorrow afternoon will include rare entertainment of a vocal nature—the famous Troubadour quartette, Morrison, Carr, Danforth, and Roberts, who will concert and distribute harmony. This is essentially the same four who created such a furore in musical circles through their masterly rendition of song in the last Troubadour entertainment.

Throughout the afternoon some charming ladies of Lexington will serve refreshments and it is anticipated that a large number of students will spend an otherwise dreary Sunday afternoon at this social.

News Editor for This Issue.

A. C. KELLY

All matters of business should be addressed to the Business Manager, and all other matters should come to the Editor-in-Chief.

We are always glad to publish any communication that may be handed to us. We desire to call attention to the fact that unsigned correspondence will not be published.

FALSE MODESTY

For some time there has been developing a tendency toward regarding certain useless campus conventions as hard and fast rules, to be respected and abided by as closely as those more securely founded traditions which shall always be handed down with strict injunctions. This feeling extends even to the matter of dress, on a campus that claims to be one on which the idea of personal liberty holds proud and undisputed sway. Even the golf suit vogue seems to be disappearing in favor of rigid uniformity in apparel.

The point that we are thinking of in particular is this: only on exceptional occasions, such as fraternity goat meetings or late on dark nights, do the more venturesome members of the Student Body have the hardihood to saunter through the campus with other than regulation civilian garb enveloping their persons. It is no exaggeration to say that the winners of Varsity letters have come to look askance upon the practice of wearing monogram sweaters of any kind. They cannot be ashamed of the letters which they have won in the service of their University, but evidently fear that over-critical fellow students will consider it a form of affectation.

Camphor balls and trunk trays are not the places for athletic insignias. The winning of a letter for representing this University in intercollegiate athletics has always been accorded a high position among campus honors, as it by all rights should be. But where does the honor come in, or how are the students to know who has kept the faith, if this mistaken policy of excessive and self-conscious timidity is persisted in?

It was primarily to distinguish her leaders, the men who play a prominent part in the most important branch of college activities that the University long ago began to grant this ancient privilege of wearing "W. & L." The man who wins this coveted insignia has made some sacrifice in order that he may do so. Often he has denied himself many pleasures that he otherwise might have enjoyed in full. But, to be brief, the attitude of the letter men of today effectively defeats the purpose of awarding the insignia and the principle behind it.

If the status of the Varsity letter is not to decline, as it surely will if it falls into disuse, now is the time for the captains of the major sports to take the lead in bringing back the old custom of wearing the "W. & L." as a badge of highest honor. If you are proud of your monogram, wear it!

TO NATIONAL SUBSCRIBERS

The business management regrets that the alumni and national subscribers have been annoyed this past fall by missing issues of the paper, and by receiving bills when they have already paid. It is our greatest desire to see that this paper reaches you, and we always appreciate your letting us know when you do not receive the Ring-tum Phi.

Last fall the National Subscription Manager turned out to be not only unreliable but also dishonest. While we regret that such a statement is necessary, still we feel that it is due our national subscribers that we should let them know why they have received the paper irregularly and bills have been sent the second time. If you have, or should in the future receive a bill for a subscription you have already paid, please bear the above in mind, send us your cancelled check, and we will adjust our records accordingly. We are glad to say that the dishonest party has been dismissed from the University.

At present Mr. D. T. Ordeman, '20, has charge of the national subscribers, and he will welcome any criticisms or suggestions you may have to offer.

An enthusiastic meeting of Washington and Lee Alumni was held in Louisville, Ky., on January 19th, at the Seelbach Hotel. Professor W. H. Moreland, '06, of the Law School, represented the University and was one of the principal speakers. Other interesting talks were made by Laurence C. Witten, '10, of Cincinnati; Judge Thos. R. Gordon, '72, of Louisville; J. A. Logan, '68, Christiansburg, Ky., and Helm Bruce, '80, of Louisville.

The Kentucky alumni now have a very active and well organized Alumni Association with R. P. Hobson, '17, president; John J. Davis, '92, secretary, and J. A. Drummond, '12, treasurer. They decided to hold their banquet every year on January 19th, Lee Memorial Day.

Alumni present were: Claude P. Light, '11; Arthur Tabb, '04; Laurence C. Witten, '10; Helm Bruce, '80; J. W. May, '16; M. B. O'Sullivan, '08; W. H. Field, '92; John J. Davis, '92; Thos. R. Gordon, '72; J. A. Logan, '68; R. M. Strassel, '10; W. H. Moreland, '06; G. H. Osborne, '23; W. R. Knebelkamp, '21; S. B. Kirby, ex-'22; R. J. McBride, '97; W. L. Hodge, '06; J. A. Drummond, '12; R. P. Hobson, '17.

Harry K. "Cy" Young, '17, is living in Helena, Arkansas, where he is engaged in the lumber business. While at W. and L., "Cy" was captain of football, basketball and track in '16, and captain of baseball in '17. He is the only man, so far as we can find out, that has ever been captain of all four major sports while at Washington and Lee. "Cy" says that he is raising a young half back down in Arkansas.

J. H. T. Sutherland, '20, is principal of the Stonega Graded School, Stonega, Va.

C. H. Morrisett, '15, is connected with the Legislative Reference Bureau of the state at Richmond, Va.

Shirley Riley, '16, attended the Sigma Chi initiation last week. Shirley divides his time equally between the Sigma Chi house and his home in Roanoke.

We take this opportunity to correct an announcement that appeared in this column some time ago of the marriage of Arch Persons, of Louisville, Ky., to Miss Margaret Nixon of Augusta, Ga. The information as received appeared to be from an authentic source, but was evidently the work of either a humorist or a rumorist. We sincerely regret this error.

"Randy" Cabell, '20, is an instructor at Fishburne School, Waynesboro, Va. He was up for the Kappa Sigma initiation last week.

Announcement has been received of the marriage on December 31, 1921, of Shirley J. Robbins, '20, to Miss Bernice Beishline of Orangeville, Pa. They will make their home in Roselle Park, N. J. Shirley is employed in business at Jersey City, N. J.

test, played not only consistently, but brilliantly. Lake's work was perhaps the feature of the locals' all-round play, his shots were little less than spectacular, while his floor work and passing were better than he has shown yet this season.

Capt. Hines, around whom the Generals' offense is built, was in the game from the first whistle, covering lots of the floor, guarding his opponent nicely, and displaying his usual ability to locate the basket. The White and Blue have a captain whose play stamps him as a real leader. Time and again last night when he had possession of the ball near his own basket, he would pass it to one of his teammates, and forfeit his own chance to increase an individual scoring average.

Cameron and Thomas at the guards are improving with each game, and against the visiting quint last night, handled themselves like veterans. If the work of this department continues to improve as rapidly the coming week as it has the past week, we'll pass a "Watch Out" to Tennessee and W. V. U. Although a bit off color in his goal tossing, Glenn played a bang up game at center, outjumped his opponent and out-classed him in all-round play. McDonald and Arbogast, substituting at guards, showed the same reliable form displayed by them last year, while bearing the brunt of the Generals' defense.

The visitors had but one outstanding player, Matthews at left forward. Besides scoring the entire eleven points secured by his team, he handled the ball nicely, and played a good defensive game. Anderson at guard and Porter at forward contributed some pretty passing during the evening. The game was remarkably clean and but few fouls had to be called. The Maryland team showed lots of fight but were powerless before the slashing offense of the locals.

Band practice will be held next Tuesday evening at 7:15 in the Troubadour Room, Washington College. Manager Houck especially desires to have new candidates report for this practice. Any men who can play the clarinet are urged to come out, as this particular part of the band needs more volume. It is not necessary that you be a finished musician in order to complete for a place in the band, and those having had but limited experience, are invited to attend these practices and all the aid possible will be given.

BE LAUNCHED SOON

This is particularly important as a budget must be made up following the campaign, and arrangements made accordingly for the music, suppers, favors, and other outlays incident to this event.

Wherever possible, each student who expects to remain over for Finals, is urged to contribute ten dollars, while those who do not stay over are requested to make a minimum pledge of five dollars. However, all pledges, large or small, are earnestly solicited. Where convenient, it is desired that contributions be paid in cash or post-dated checks, rather than merely signing a pledge card, as a portion of the money is needed immediately. All pledges are payable on or before April 15.

The complete program for Finals has not been announced as yet, but the usual four-night dances will be held, besides two dansants, the annual boat race, and in all probability a series of two baseball games.
