Work on Commons Starts Next Month; $1,209,896 Bid Awarded

Preston House Will Be Razed; Completion Date Not Announced

By Pres Rowe

Excavation for Washington and Lee's long awaited Commons will begin November 5, it was announced Wednesday by President Gaines.

Eight general contractors bid for the job; the contract being awarded to the English Construction Company of Altavista, Va., for $1,209,896.

According to Earl S. Mattingly, treasurer of the university and member of the Board of Trustees, total budget set up for the project is $1,415,000. This will cover both excavation and construction costs.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES of the university met in President Gaines' office Saturday to award the bid.

Included in the construction work will be a dining hall, seating 525 persons, two 40-student dormitories, the University Supply Store and the remodeling of the Student Union.

No completion date has been set for the project. A university spokesman said the Commons will probably be ready sometime during the 1957-58 session.

Dean of Students Frank J. Gilliam said he knew of "no proposal to require next year's freshmen to take their meals in the Commons, if the completion occurs well after the beginning of the 1958-59 session."

FRESHMEN and upperclassmen next year may be able to use the Commons on a voluntary basis, he added.

However, Dean Gilliam said there is no question about the use of the dining hall for the 1959-60 session. Freshmen will be required to take their meals there at that time, he said.

Plans for construction call for excavation to be centered in the area extending from the Student Union to the rear of Preston House.

PRESTON HOUSE is currently serving as additional freshman dormitory space and will remain standing and occupied until the completion of the Commons.

Dean Gilliam stated that "the eventual development of the dormitory system will necessitate the destruction of Preston House. However this will not be done until sufficient space is available.

Other bids on the project ranged from $1,249,502 to $1,397,800. Companies from Richmond, Lynchburg and other cities also submitted bids.

THE LARGEST single item in the accepted bid includes $721,850 for the dining hall and Student Union remodeling. Other items were $222,239 for one dormitory, $193,551 for the second dormitory and $71,346 for the University Supply Store.

The English Construction Company is currently building a grammar school in Lexington.

Phi Delta Phi Will Initiate Three Lawyers

Three new law students will be initiated into Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity next Thursday, October 25, it was announced today by Mark Davis, Magister of Tucker Inn at W&L.

The three, who all were pledged this week after the end of legal fraternity rushing last Friday, are Bayles Mack, Intermediate law student from Fort Mill, South Carolina; Victor Milner, Jr., freshman lawyer from Danville, Virginia; and Jerome Susskind, also a freshman student from Jackson, Michigan.

Following initiation ceremonies in the afternoon, a banquet will be held at the Mayflower Hotel at 6:30 p.m. Featured speaker will be H. Graham Morison, senior partner of the Washington, D.C., law firm of Morison, Murphy, Clapp and Abrams.

The new members bring Phi Delta Phi's total membership to 25 men. Of the new men, both Milner and Susskind are W&L graduates.

First Lit Seminar Speaker Taught Flournoy, Nelson

Both Drs. F. Flournoy and R. Nelson agree that the first speaker for the Seminars in Literature is one of the "friendliest and most natural person they know."

Both had studied under Dr. F. P. Wilson at Oxford.

Besides being personal tutor for the two Washington and Lee professors, Wilson found time to edit a 12-volume "Oxford History of English Literature." He is currently touring the United States as a speaker for Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, and after leaving Lexington he plans to go to Sweet Briar college.

In describing Dr. Wilson's role as a personal tutor at Oxford, Professor Flournoy said, "He is one's only teacher and counselor and tries to prepare the student for those exams he must take after two or three years of study."

Dr. Nelson added that there are no classes and few lectures at English universities; most of the knowledge a student obtains through his own research. After two or three years, the student presents his thesis, takes a set of exams, and hopes he has absorbed enough to win his degree.

Dr. Wilson's special interest are Elizabethan drama and the 17th Century. His seminar will be on "Comedy in the Age of Shakespeare," and will be given at 8:15 p.m. on Wednesday.

Fraternity Spirit Trophy Winner Will Be Announced November 23

Winners of the fifth annual "Anti-Wahoo" fraternity spirit trophy will be announced on November 23 during the Washington College football game, head cheer leader, Physz Lemmon said today.

The one-and-one-half-foot bronze cup which was won by the Deltas last year is awarded to the fraternity "showing the most united spirit at the homecoming pep rally and football game," Lemmon said.

Who Will Be The Queen?

Homecomings To Feature Parade And "Tea Party"

A post-game combo party and the crowning of a homecomings queen will highlight the annual homecomings weekend, November 1-2. These two features of the weekend are being initiated this year.

Physz Lemmon, captain of the cheerleaders, announced the new contest to chose the queen of the homecomings events. Each fraternity and the NFU has been asked to submit a picture of their candidate for homecomings queen to Lemmon no later than the Wednesday before the game. These pictures will be judged by a special board of "Distinguished Bachelors" of the faculty: Drs. Bordon, Shillington, Turner, Welch, and Leyburn.

One of these prudent gentlemen will crown Washington and Lee's homecomings queen in an appropriate ceremony on the field at half-time. All candidates for queen will be escorted into the stands before the game by the fraternity presidents.

Following the game SWMSFC will hold its first fundraising project of the year. A BYOL "Tea Party" will begin immediately after the game in the Pine Room of the Mayflower Hotel. The two hour dance will feature a "good local combo," and ice and set-ups will be furnished. The cost of admission is $1.00 stag and $1.50 a couple.

All profits from the party will be used to further the work of the committee, according to Sage Lyons, Committee chairman.

The traditional freshmen torch-light parade and pep rally on the Friday night before the game, the fraternity house decorations and the newly created pep band, the "Conservative Six" will lend color to the weekend.

Thirty Students Miss Classes Daily As Flu Continues

The flu epidemic is still going strong with more than 30 students being excused from classes daily, says Nurse Allen of the school's medical department.

According to Doctor Feddeman, university physician, the number of cases this week is less than those reported last week, but the decrease is not enough to release the campus from its quarantine.

Nurse Allen went on to say that there is no connection between the flu virus and the recent outbreak of pink eye on campus, to her knowledge, and no such cases have been reported to the medical office so far. Virginia Military Institute Officials report a few straggling cases of flu, but nothing in the way of an epidemic like they experienced a few weeks ago.

Nineteen Men Chosen for 'Who's Who'

By EVERETT RICE

Nineteen Washington and Lee men have been selected for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, it was announced today by Dean Frank J. Gilliam.

This year's selection includes 15 academic seniors and four law school students. Nineteen men were chosen last year also.

The newly honored men are: Dick Anderson, Steve Berg, Harry Brunett, Max Caskie, Arnold Groobey, Gill Holland, John Hollister, Farris Hotchkiss, Archie Jenkins, Lew John, Jim Lewis, Sage Lyons, Parkhill Mays, Bob McCullough, Bob Neunreiter, Bill Roberts, Charley Rodriguez, Norm Roettger, and Cliff Smith.

Following is a list of the names and activities of the nineteen new men.

DICK ANDERSON, Pi Kappa Phi intermediate law student from Gambrills, Maryland. Editor of Friday Edition of Ring-tum Phi last year. Phi Beta Kappa. Omicron Delta Kappa, President's Advisory Committee last year. Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity. Member of Moot Court Team.

Steve Berg, Phi Epsilon Pi senior from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Editor of the Friday Edition, the Ring-tum Phi, fraternity president and house manager, Vice President Sigma Delta Chi, Publication Board. President's Advisory Committee. Executive Committee of Christian Council and Publicity director of University Religious Conference last year.

Harry Brunett, Delta Tau Delta senior from Baltimore, Maryland. President of Dance Board. Co-Director of University Religious Conference last year. Dorm Councilor.

Max Caskie, Delta Upsilon senior from Arlington, Virginia. Editor of Shenandoah. Chairman of Friends of the Library. President of Washington Literary Society last year. Ring-tum Phi Tuesday Edition.

Gill Holland, Sigma Alpha Epsilon senior from Lynchburg, Virginia. Captain of Varsity Wrestling Team. Vice-President of Student Body. Phi Eta Sigma. SWMSFC.

Archie Jenkins, Beta Theta Pi senior from Jacksonville, Florida. President of Openings Dances last year. Vice-President of Fancy Dress. Dance Board Secretary. Assimilation Committee.

Lew John, Delta Upsilon senior from Cortland, New York. Phi Beta Kappa. President of Interfraternity Council. Chairman of Student Library Committee. Cold Check Committee.

Jim Lewis, Delta Tau Delta senior from Baltimore, Maryland. Captain of Varsity Lacrosse Team and of Varsity Football Team. University Athletic Committee. Honorable Mention in All-American Lacrosse. Dorm Councilor.

SAGE LYONS, Phi Delta Theta from Mobile, Alabama. Executive Committee last year. Dean's List. Candidate for Presidency of Student Body. Calyx. Lacrosse.

Bob McCullough, intermediate law student from Murfreesboro, Tennessee. Editor of Law Review. Chairman of Moot Court Team. Phi Delta Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity. Past president of Student Bar Association.

We Need A Medical Staff

It's a shame that the members of the Board of Trustees didn't make a trip to Washington and Lee's medical office when they were in Lexington last week.

They would have seen at least 10 to 15 students sitting, waiting and hoping to have a chance to see the school physician before he attends to his regular practice or makes his rounds among the flu stricken fraternity houses.

The fact that one doctor unaided given the job of caring for more than 300 sick students while trying to care for his own private patients, casts an unfavorable light upon the university. This man is doing an almost inhuman task, and is doing it well.

In spite of the doctor's efforts to see as many of the worst flu cases as possible in his limited day, an equal number of cases go without his care. The school nurse, although alienating some students on first contact, is also doing the best job she can. However, she is not qualified to prescribe medicines in the doctor's name or even to diagnose illnesses. But she does this in his absence.

Even under normal conditions the present medical staff is insufficient. Each student in his university fee of $20 pays for care of a physician, not a nurse who goes out of her way to be as unpleasant as possible. Since the doctor is in his office only two hours a day the students are certainly not getting their money's worth.

But it took a real epidemic to emphasize this deficiency here. We've got the flu this year, last year it was the measles and virus, will school be ready for a possible outbreak next year?

Since the Board of Trustees is intent upon building Washington and Lee for the future it must realize that the present and overworked two-man medical staff will certainly not be able to handle an increased enrollment of 1500 men.

True, a new medical office, an adequate infirmary are also needed: but two nurses on duty all day, and a doctor who can stay in his office for at least half a day are a necessity!

Campaign Malpractices

We were surprised and upset with one particular aspect of the freshman campaign last week—namely the malicious destruction by both parties of the posters and signs of the opposing party's candidate.

The practice, from all indications, was not one-sided. Hardly a poster on campus escaped the wrath of some zealous freshman's pencil.

This practice is entirely uncalled for and completely out of line with the "spirit" these elections attempt to inspire.

We hope 1) that the upperclassmen and officers of neither party had anything to do with this; and 2) that the freshmen will have matured enough by the spring elections to cease such wanton behavior.

Our Worthless Organizations

We find it totally incomprehensible that some 236 members of the Student Body joined four so-called "honorary" campus organizations last year. We contend that these organizations 1) are not honorary; 2) add nothing constructive to the University; 3) take up a considerable amount of time—accruing little or no benefit to the members, other than extracting sizable initiation fees.

The organizations of which we speak are the "13" Club, PAN, White Friars, and the Mongolian Minks. Sigma, the secret senior society, might well augment our list.

First, we contend that these organizations are not honorary. In most cases the society picks a member, or as many as the case calls for, who will not refuse the worthy "bid" offered him. For psychological reasons, invitations to join these groups are rarely refused.

Second, these organizations add nothing constructive to the University and in some case do it considerable harm by abusing school property.

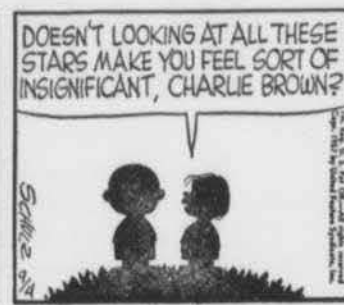

Third, the initiation into these societies takes a considerable amount of time, which, we are sure, could be used in a more worthy manner. There are many really first-rate organizations on campus which could use a little student support.

The standards set by the majority of the student body call for organizations which 1) entitle all members to a picture in the yearbook; 2) take up little or no time and have as few meetings as possible. Groups which do not meet these standards are doomed to extinction.

With these points in mind, we would advise the freshmen as well as the upperclassmen to pick organizations which justify their existence by adopting constructive programs.

The numerous organizations on campus are in some cases valuable contributions to the university curriculum. The ones we have named, and others, we feel are not.

Almond Still Advocates 'Massive Resistance'

By Stan Cook

With the Virginia gubernatorial election less than two weeks away, both Republican Ted Dalton and Democrat J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., have been conducting spirited campaigns. Last Saturday, Democratic candidate J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., visited Lexington and was interviewed by the Ring-tum Phi.

School segregation has been the paramount issue throughout the current campaign. As of now, there is no integration in the Commonwealth. Both candidates contend they are for segregation but differ on how to preserve it.

Almond supports a stand of "massive resistance" to any integration. Dalton, on the other hand, supports a locally administered pupil assignment plan whereby individual localities would assign pupils on basis other than color.

Dalton's plan is similar to North Carolina's plan which has permitted some integration.

The Democratic "massive resistance" strategy is to resist integration with every available legal weapon. It includes some hope that the Supreme Court decrees will be modified. If one legal weapon is thrown out, it will involve supplying another. Ultimately, it would seek to test the sovereign power of the State against the Federal government.

By all this procedure, its proponents say, it would preserve segregation long after locally administered pupil assignment plans have resulted in integration.

Dalton has declared that the Democratic program will bring "massive surrender." Almond contends that the Dalton plan will leave the State open to countless lawsuits by the NAACP leading to mass integration.

In response to several questions by the Ring-tum Phi, Almond outlined his position.

QUESTION: What is your position on the segregation issue?

ANSWER: "I will resist what I consider the unwarranted and unconstitutional encroachment upon the reserved powers of this State to govern in our internal affairs. The overwhelming majority of our people will not accept integration. Integration will isolate the support of the people from the public school system."

QUESTION: Will you seek to preserve segregated public schools?

ANSWER: "I am dedicated to the cause of public education at all levels. I shall do everything in my power to preserve the public school system as an essential instrument of public service."

Phi Beta Kappa Revises Grade Qualifications

A major revision in qualification for Phi Beta Kappa membership has been announced by Washington and Lee chapter president Dr. W. W. Pusey.

According to the new policy, beginning in 1957-58, freshman grades will be included in the consideration of all students for election to membership.

Qualifications for membership have been stated as high scholarship, liberal culture and good character. In the past, only the grades of the last three years have counted toward membership.

Generally speaking, the Gamma chapter of Washington and Lee considers each graduating class by itself, and each individual elected. Election is not based upon any fixed percentage of class membership and there is no strict numerical minimum for election.

It is generally regarded, however, that for serious consideration a senior must have an average at least equal to magna cum laude at the time of election.

The Spastic Movie Goer...

Movies Reviewed, Caskie And Dance Board Mentioned

By Mike Norell

I have just seen what is probably the funniest movie that Lexington will have all year and I feel like writing a book about it.

"The Happy Road" is a light, happy little comedy during which it is impossible to cease smiling and totally impossible to suppress great, satisfying belly-laughs.

It is a delightful, enchanting, sparkling, gay and just sexy enough to keep the most doltish boob interested. It is even heart-warming, as much as I detest that hackneyed term. If some spots seem corny, it is because the viewer cannot lose himself in the whirling and sometimes farcical whimsy that can only be described as sheer fun.

Gene Kelly, the producer-director-star of "The Happy Road," has never been regarded as a great actor. Given a script as lively as this one, though, and cast as a brash, hurrying American in easy-going France, he is fine.

BARBARA LAAGE, a fetching French pastry, is provocative and pretty as the Frenchwoman trying to find her little girl.

The plot is simple—two children, one the young son of the American businessman and the other the daughter of the French lady of leisure, run away from a boarding school in Switzerland. They are determined to travel four hundred miles to Paris on their own, while the two parents are just as determined that the tads be apprehended.

THE CHASE, through town, country, canals, police nets and the British army, is one of most hilarious movie sequences that I have ever seen. It culminates in a series of maneuvers in which the two children calmly elude the British army's "Operation Meatloaf," which was to have been employed only when the Red Army invaded London.

Altogether, it is a purely joyous film. Despite the excellent acting of Kelly and Laage, though, Michael Redgrave as the ruffled British general steals the show. The children, whose names I did not get, were amusing, natural, and very much the way children ought to be.

"THE HAPPY ROAD" is an impulsive and funny merry-go-round of happy happy HAPPY.

The Lyric has had some good films recently. Following "Face in the Crowd" (in which the same lodge brother who is growing a tail appeared as an extra—this should explain why he appeared at the movie's opening at the Lyric in a tuxedo), Mr. Sides ran an Italian movie, "The Gold of Naples."

I WAS ADVISED by one of my professors to see this picture. I decided to take his word for it, so, dragging myself from my sickbed, I staggered into the Lyric and enjoyed two hours of good acting and fine Italian comedy.

"The Gold of Naples" is a sequence of four intriguing vignettes, each starring one of Italy's finest screen talents.

THE FIRST STORY, entitled (I think), "The Racketeers," demonstrated that Toto, the comedian and pantomime, is as brilliant as Alec Guinness in facial expression. Not a naunce does he let pass by and all are magnificent.

One factor which seems to make Italian movies superior to Hollywood products is a wealth of

Young GOP's Set Precedent

By Bill Ashworth

It does my heart good to know that the Young Republican Club of Washington and Lee endorses Ted Dalton for Governor of Virginia. When the Republican Club of a student body composed of men from forty-eight states and varied and assorted lands backs a candidate for Virginia public office, a precedent is set. Just think of the new horizons opened to the erstwhile dabbler in politics. Now he can really be influential. Anyone from anywhere can now do his part in selecting the next governor of Virginia.

The point is that it is idiotic for members of a cosmopolitan student body from the assorted and forty-eight states to concern themselves with the affairs of one state. A very small minority of the student body are residents of Virginia. The only branch of the Virginia government that even remotely touches the student body is the one which exists to enforce the laws. The laws will be always enforced except in the event of a state of anarchy, and I haven't notice a candidate of the Anarchy Party hanging around recently.

In retrospect, I think I might be wrong. It would be fun to dabble in politics. Especially in the politics of those states which do not effect me.

I could expound the merits of the Cacti Reclamation Project in the West. I could try to integrate Levittown. The man who favors more coloring in Florida Oranges would get my support in that state. My endorsement in the Detroit mayoralty election would go to that astute man of the people favors who lower tail fins.

On second thought, I don't think I'll bother. I'll just buy a desert island and run for Governor. No non-resident interest is invited.

Will Tiger Taste Bitter Milk of Defeat?

Ohio School is 4-1

Powerful Wittenberg Will Be Tough Foe for Generals To Tame Tomorrow

By BILL LOEFFLER

Washington and Lee will face what will probably be its toughest opponent of the season this Saturday when Wittenberg College invades Wilson Field for a 2 o'clock contest.

The first question in the minds of many fans will be "who is Wittenberg?" It may not be long before they find out. The Tigers from Springfield, Ohio, come to Lexington boasting a 4-1 record and are easily the toughest team to test the Generals so far. After dropping their first game to Akron 9-7, Wittenberg stormed back to defeat its next four opponents. Last Saturday they rolled over Mount Union 51-7.

The Tigers are a strong, powerful team that make their own breaks and usually capitalize on them. They run from a very effective winged-T formation, and are a highly alert team. They rely a great deal on a good passing attack and end runs.

Following last week's 33-6 loss to Randolph-Macon, Coach Lee McLaughlin has worked long hours on pass defense this week. It was a weak pass defense plus a case of fumbleitis which wrecked the Generals' hopes last Saturday.

McLaughlin also has a new offense which he hopes will add to the attack. The squad has put in a lot of time on contact drills and worked on protecting the passer and a review of offensive signals.

The Generals expect to be near full strength this weekend as most of the 14 cases on the squad have subsided. Tudor Hall, the "Big Train," will be back in his fullback position. Al Gitter, the team's top punter, will be out for two weeks with a leg injury suffered in the Macon contest. Guard Fred Heina suffered a broken nose in the Jacket tilt and is a doubtful starter. Ira Samelson and John Grabau, standouts last Saturday, are still nursing injuries but should see action.

Bob Funkhouser will fill in for Gitter in the backfield while Grabau will take over the punting chores if he plays.

It looks like a rough sixty minutes for the Generals tomorrow unless they can show a noticeable improvement in their pass defense. Against Macon the ground defense held up well until late in the game but it was the porous air defense plus the loss of six first-stringers that led to defeat. With most of the sick and injured back in top form, W&L may pull a surprise tomorrow and a win at this time over a team like Wittenberg would do wonders to improve team morale.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

By SID WHIPPLE

A few weeks ago in this column I stressed the importance of rivalry for sound, healthy football at W&L. Last week we attempted a step in this direction when we printed standings of a proposed football league: the Little Four. In most cases the reaction to such an idea was favorable.

At present a league including Johns Hopkins, Randolph-Macon, Hampden-Sydney and W&L, exists only in the imagination of a few. Its reality, however, is not as far off as it seems.

The above schools I believe are ready for such an association. Hopkins, Randolph-Macon, and Hampden-Sydney now belong to the large, loosely constructed Mason-Dixon Conference. The Tigers and Yellow Jackets are also members of the Virginia Little Eight of which, four schools: Roanoke, Lynchburg, RPI, and Norfolk W&M have no football teams.

In two other leagues W&L is nothing more than a figurehead. True, our basketball, baseball and wrestling affiliation with the Virginia Big Six and Southern Conference are important, but since we play none of the other league members in football our raison d'etre is meaningless.

What then is there to prevent the formation of one more league, this one veritable?

Perhaps this winter, representatives from the four schools can meet and draw up an association based on certain football agreements. These governing rules should not be hard to agree upon since all four schools follow a non-subsidization program and have similar football intentions. A trophy might even be voted on to go to the league champions for a year. How long has it been since W&L won a trophy for football?

But if this is accomplished it must gain the respect and support of the student bodies in the league. For, it takes more than two similar football teams to make a rivalry. Both alumni and students must actively boost the games at home and away. Or, as a fellow hedonist expressed to me the other day, "There are just as many A.B.C. stores in Prince Edward County."

Three top-seeded players Bill McWilliams (Phi Delta Theta), Deco Detering (SAE), and Bruce Owen (KA) received first round byes in the school tennis tournament. In the second round Bill McWilliams will meet Andy Adams, Deco Detering will face Bruce Keeling and Bruce Owen will be matched with Ed Soatner.

In games that were played, Ed Woodson (SAE) defeated Bob Lethbridge (SN) 6-3, 6-3. Bob Todd (SN) beat his opponent, Bob Bohan (Phi Delta Theta), 6-0, 6-4. Gene Hamilton (SN) defeated Tony Gray (Lambda Chi Alpha) 6-0, 6-1, and Gene O'Dell (Phi Kappa Psi) took Bill Fidler (Pi Kappa Phi) in straight sets 6-2, 6-3.

Other first round winners were Jerry Wilbourn (PiKA) over Robert Grady (KA) 11-9, 6-1, and Dennis Patton (Lambda Chi Alpha) 6-0, 6-1 over Palmer Pardington.

Flu, tests, and rainy weather caused an abundance of first round forfeits. Players who have reached the second round through default are as follows: Howard Rosenblum (ZBT), Bob Diehl, Bill Barrington

Thinclads To Try for Two Out of Three Tomorrow Against Richmond in Home Meet

Tomorrow, the cross-country team faces the Richmond Spiders in the first home meet of the season. Last week, the harriers defeated Randolph-Macon to tie their record at 1-1. Although Captain Steve Coates and Freshman Holt Merchant have been sick, the team is still in good shape. The Saturday meet promises to be close all the way, according to Coach Miller. It will pit two very strong runners from Richmond against the depth of the Generals.

So far, the Spiders have had only one defeat, that at the hands of William and Mary, an exceptionally fine team. It is hoped, however, that the meet will be a repeat of last Saturday's performance.

Lynchburg Halts Last Half Rally By Booters, Wins 5-3

Jack Blakeslee and Clem Gunn turned in outstanding performances yesterday, but W&L lost again 5-3. Little Lynchburg has now overpowered three formidable foes in W&L, Duke, and North Carolina.

Paul Rutherford scored two goals and Warren Nussle one in a belated second half drive.

Next Thursday the Blue and White play host to Frostburg. Game time is 3:15.

CLOTHES MAKE THE BMOG

Last week we passed along some fashion hints for coeds. Today we will do the same for college men. The most important thing to remember, gentlemen, is to dress with verve, with dash, with inventiveness. Don't be imprisoned by the traditional conservatism of men's clothing. Brighten up your appearance with a single earring, or a cavalry saber, or a gold derby.

Guard Against Gaudiness

However, guard against gaudiness. If, for instance, you are wearing a gold derby, do not also wear a cavalry saber. This is too much. Wear a dagger instead, or, for formal occasions, a bowie knife.

Let us turn now to a persistent rumor that a garment called the "suit" is on the verge of making a comeback. Some of you older students may remember this "suit." It was an ensemble consisting of a jacket and trousers, both of which—this'll kill you—both of which were made out of the same material!

The last "suit" ever seen on an American campus was in 1941—and I ought to know because I was wearing it. I was an undergraduate then, and in love—hopelessly in love with a beautiful statistics major named Harry Sigafocs. (She is one of the two girls I have ever known named Harry. The other one is her sister.)

I loved Harry madly, though her expensive tastes were the ruin of me. Bit by bit I sold off my belongings to pursue this costly courtship—first my books, then my clothes, until finally I was left with nothing to wear but a "suit." One night I came calling for her in this garment and she, of course, slashed me across the face with a riding crop and sent me from her door.

I slunk home and lit a Marlboro and sat down to think. I always light a Marlboro when I sit down to think, for their good mild flavor is a great aid to cerebration. I always light a Marlboro when I don't sit down to think, too, because Marlboro is my favorite cigarette, and I know it will be yours, too, once you make the acquaintance of that filter, that flavor, that flip-top box. As the man says, you get a lot to like with a Marlboro.

Well, sirs, smoking and thinking thus, my eye happened to fall on an ad in a campus newspaper which said: "WIN A COMPLETE WARDROBE! Touhy's Toggery, the campus's leading men's store, announces a contest to pick the best-dressed man on campus. The winner will receive absolutely free a complete new wardrobe!"

Struck by a sudden inspiration, I took pen in hand and wrote a letter to Mr. Touhy of Touhy's Toggery: "Sir—I see by the paper that you are giving a complete new wardrobe to the best-dressed man on campus. What a ridiculous idea!

"Obviously, to be the best-dressed man on campus, you must first have a lot of clothes, and if you have a lot of clothes, what do you need with another wardrobe?"

"Touhy's Toggery should give a new wardrobe to the worst-dressed man on campus. Me, for instance. I am an eyesore. There isn't a crow in town that will come near me. Three times this month the Salvation Army salvage truck has picked me up. Esquire has canceled my subscription.

"I submit that a vote for me is a vote for reason, a vote for equity, a vote for the American way!"

With a flourish I signed the letter and sent it off, somehow feeling certain that very soon I would be wearing a complete new wardrobe.

And I was right—because two weeks later I was drafted.

Always fashionable, always correct for any occasion, is the bright red and white flip-top box of Marlboros, made for your pleasure by the sponsors of this column.

Norell Actually Reviews Movies

fault with European films, simply because whatever defects there might be in a script (which we cannot perceive anyway) are obliterated by a general impression of natural animation and of seeing real people on the screen. In short—dynamic.

I DON'T REMEMBER if Washington and Lee's other motion picture pundit reviewed "Brother Rat." I didn't see it, but there is a point of some interest connected with it.

While I was conning Mr. Daves out of a few free passes to the State the other day, he showed me some press photos taken at the "Brother Rat" world premier in 1938. There on a poster were emblazoned the names of Pricilla Lane and Wayne Morris. In tiny, barely legible print were the names of Ronald Reagan and Jane Wyman, two rather insignificant characters, who managed to make the Lyric's marquee.

This is in the same class with the TV Late Show production of an old movie in which Marilyn Monroe had an unbelievably brief walk-on. The ads proudly proclaimed that MM was starring in tonight's production of the Late Show. You can't win.

AS FOR THE OTHER MOVIES in town lately, I will agree with the Tuesday reviewer—"Face in the Crowd" was excellent, and both "Jet Pilot" and the "Helen Morgan Story" were clinkers.

The bus-boys in the co-op were muttering around the other day about Max Caskie cutting me in his column (I find that they are ardent Caskie fans). I wouldn't mention this, except that since Caskie is the only student who reads his column, most of you are not aware of his Limpid remarks about your good old spastic movie-goer. I was going to challenge him to a duel, but I am probably a greater coward than Caskie, so will not do anything so rash. (I am not disparaging Caskie's courage—it is just that I am bound to be a greater coward than damned near anybody.)

Note to the Dance Board: Oh, yes indeed, are we lucky to get Billy Butterfield and Johnny Long for another dance set! Why not concentrate your efforts in getting Lawrence Welk for Fancy Dress? Or Guy Lombardo? Or even Smilin' Bob and the Blue Mountain Ridge Runners? Let's get QUALITY!

Virginia Governors Race Discussed By Columnist

QUESTION: What is your opinion on Senator Dalton's plan?

ANSWER: "His plan embraces and promotes mixing of the races in the public schools, and I shall resist integration with all the honorable and legal means at my command."

QUESTION: Recently I heard a comment that you would adopt the Dalton plan if elected. Is this true?

ANSWER: "That statement was made by a Republican. The Republicans have shifted their tactics. They are calling on the people of Virginia to support Mr. Dalton because of his pupil assignment plan. At the same time, they call for my defeat and say that if I am elected I will adopt the Dalton plan. This is irrational, illogical, and inconsistent."
