Guest Ticket Priority Set By Committee

The Steering Committee, at its meeting yesterday, outlined the policy for releasing guest tickets for the 1960 Democratic Mock Convention.

The Washington and Lee faculty and administration will have first priority for guest tickets. Committee after all other orders of priority will receive one ticket for himself and will be allowed one extra ticket for a wife or husband.

Since each member of the faculty or administration has to request his tickets, the Steering Committee is planning to send reminders to them.

No tickets will be available for children.

Tickets must be requested by the members of the faculty and administration in writing to the Steering Committee (P. O. Box 1161, Lexington) by no later than April 19.

Additional tickets requested by the faculty and administration will be considered by the Steering Committee after all other orders of priority have received attention.

Students' wives and students parents will have the second order of priority for tickets. They will be accorded the same general treatment as members of the faculty and administration.

Tickets for wives and parents must be requested by the students through the Steering Committee (Box 1161) by April 19.

Alumni, who will be treated on a first-come, first-served basis, will have the third order of priority. Tickets for alumni must be requested from Frank Parsons, University Public Relations director. Requests which have already been received will be referred to Parsons' office.

There will be only a limited number of tickets available for the Mock Convention, and no one will be admitted to the keynote session without a ticket.

All state chairmen whose delegations are going to place a name in nomination are requested to submit, in writing, the names of the persons making the nominating and seconding speeches to the Steering Committee (Box 1161) by April 19.

Editorial Cited By Sen. Jackson

Washington and Lee's 1960 Mock Convention recently received some publicity in a most appropriate place—in the Senate of the United States.

Following a visit from Al Corwin, PEP sophomore and assistant state chairman for Washington, Senator Henry M. Jackson addressed the Senate of the United States on the W&L Convention.

His remarks appear in the April 8 issue of the Congressional Record, as follows:

"Mr. JACKSON. Mr. President, the Washington and Lee University Mock Convention every 4 years has become known throughout our Nation as one of the outstanding practical experiments in politics for students. In 12 previous mock conventions, Washington and Lee students have successfully predicted the presidential nominee 7 times. The Washington and Lee mock conventions have attracted some of our Nation's outstanding leaders as guest speakers. This year, for its May 3 mock convention, Washington and Lee is to be honored by the presence of our Democratic Party's beloved Harry Truman. The Washington and Lee newspaper, the Ring-tum Phi, has editorialized on the mock convention. I ask unanimous consent that this editorial be printed in the Appendix of the Record."

"There being no objection, the editorial was ordered to be printed in the Record as follows."

An editorial by the Friday edition of the Ring-tum Phi titled "An Auspicious Beginning" was printed in the Appendix.

History a Cure for Arrogance, Wright Tells PBK Convocation

By MAC MCCLUNG

Dr. Louis B. Wright, director of the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, D.C. addressed the annual Phi Beta Kappa-Cincinnati Society Convocation in Lee Chapel at noon today.

Dr. Wright who was introduced by W&L president Fred C. Cole, spoke on "History as a Cultural Bridge." "History is a great antidote to arrogance," Dr. Wright said, in emphasizing sizing the practical values of history today in foreign and domestic relations.

"History," he said, "teaches intellectual humility and respect for others who have demonstrated their worth." This, he stressed, could prevent the further occurrence of an ignorant or ugly American.

"History gives us greater understanding and perspective of our present problems." Dr. Wright felt that not even the confident American can be too self-sufficient, too self-satisfied.

The systematic knowledge of history, which is our cultural bridge with tradition and the wisdom of the past, is "valuable to the individual personality because it takes him out of himself."

Dr. Wright also emphasized history as a "fine discipline for us, of whatever age." The historians and the humanists are providing the civilizing values which holds our culture together. And these, he said, are the disciplines which Phi Beta Kappa seeks to instill.

The humanist must have a special knowledge and understanding attained through the whole of our educational process, especially reading. He said, "Omnivorous reading is excellent background for the humanist." This is the way we will avoid cultural ruin stemming from "optimism based on ignorance."

"All good history is written about people, of a definite time and a definite place." Dr. Wright said that today the place of the social history, the reconstruction of the lives of the people of our past, was an important and popular one, but that it would be best not to forget that social histories stem from the painstaking research of scholars—that part of history which is accused of being dull.

History provides America's greatest concern, the value of the past over the plight of the present. The humanist wants something of value found in history—an intellectual discipline—the pragmatic search. History, which is found only in cultivated and mature societies, provides the cultural bridge giving the proper perspective and adaptability of the past to the present.

Former ABA Head, Ross Malone, To Deliver Tucker Law Lectures

Ross L. Malone, former president of the American Bar Association and a Washington and Lee alumnus, will deliver the Tucker Lectures this Friday and Saturday.

Washington and Lee's first Law Day will be held Saturday. This is the first such event planned by the School of Law and the Law School Association.

Some 100 law school alumni are expected to attend Law Day activities and hear Malone speak, according to Dean Clayton Williams. Topic of the 1960 Tucker lectures is "The Lawyer and His Professional Responsibilities." At noon Saturday, he will discuss "The Discharge of His Responsibilities."

Besides the Tucker Lectures, other events on the Law Day calendar include a Saturday luncheon at which Washington and Lee President Fred C. Cole will be the principal speaker.

Honored guests will be Malone, Dean Williams, and Law School Dean Designate Charles P. Light.

The Law School Association, headed by E. Waller Dudley of Alexandria, will hold its annual meeting Saturday afternoon. Alumni are invited to attend regular law classes on Saturday morning.

Malone, who was president of the American Bar Association in 1958-59, was graduated from Washington and Lee in 1932. Since then he has been a member of the law firm of Atwood and Malone of Roswell, N. M.

Prior to his election as ABA president, he was chairman of the organization's Committee on Individual Rights as Affected by National Security. From 1951 to 1954, he was a member of the ABA Board of Governors.

From 1952 through 1954, Malone was a deputy attorney general of the United States. He is the author of numerous articles on legal aspects of the oil and gas industries and public utilities. He is a member of the New Mexico state Board of Bar Examiners.

In 1958, Washington and Lee conferred the honorary Doctor of Laws degree upon Malone.

Dr. Atwood Resigns Post To Join GE

Dr. Edward Charles Atwood, Jr., associate professor of economics, has resigned from the W&L faculty effective the end of this semester to enter private business.

Dr. Atwood, who has taught here since September, 1952, will be a Consultant in the Investor Relations division of General Electric Co. in New York. The new position is effective July 1.

"It is with sincere regret that I find it necessary to leave Washington and Lee University. My association with administration, faculty and students has been extremely gratifying, and I will remember my years here as productive and enjoyable ones for both my family and myself," Dr. Atwood said today.

Dr. Atwood received his B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. from Princeton University. He received his doctorate in June 1959.

Lowly Sophomores Target For Abuses of Seniors

By ROB ELDER

No one in history has been so maligned as the college sophomore.

The word sophomore itself is a sort of semi-stigma, derived from the Greek sophos, meaning wise, and mors meaning fool.

"A little learning is a dangerous thing," Alexander Pope said, and no one has left sophomores alone since. As freshmen they weren't expected to know anything; as sophomores they are expected to know nothing; the main difference is that a sophomore can give three examples.

Traditional campus folklore labels the sophomore as the scourge of the academic world. He is usually pictured as a freshman who has picked up two important habits after one year of higher learning: that of the pipe, and that of profanity. He doesn't know how to use either very well.

The other chief characteristics of the sophomore is his singleminded devotion to the worthy cause of womanhood. He knows exactly what women are for, and will be glad to tell you—in detail—how he found out. Although he thinks laissez faire is French for something to do with sex, after each weekend he has fantastic tales to tell of his exploits, both amorous and alcoholic.

The only trouble with this standard description of the sophomore is that it is not true. Occasionally, of course, it fits perfectly an individual who is in his second year of college. But in general it applies no more to sophomores than to anyone else on campus.

General Wood To Speak Here

Maj. Gen. Robert J. Wood, U.S. Army deputy chief of research and development, will address Washington and Lee University students in Lee Chapel at 8 p.m. on April 19.

General Wood has announced no title for his remarks, but Maj. Edward J. Roxbury, head of Washington and Lee's ROTC staff, said the speaker would probably discuss non-classified developments in modern weapons.

General Wood is a native of Petersburg, and attended Randolph-Macon College before entering West Point. His Army assignments have included duty in the Philippines, Newfoundland, North Africa and Europe.

He took part in the Italian campaign in World War II with the Fifth Army. He has been an instructor both at West Point and the National War College, and he has been associated with SHAPE and NATO.

Skip Rohnke Leads Track Team Over Guilford 113-27

Generals Take 13 Firsts; Face U. of Richmond

By BILL OUTMAN

The Washington and Lee cindermen ran roughshod, yesterday, over Guilford College as they registered a 113-27 victory for their third win as many starts this season. Last Friday, W&L stomped Elon College 94-27. Also in last Friday's meet Skip Rohnke threw the javelin 211' 3" to set a new school record in this event. His previous best had been a 200' 10" toss which had earned him a second place in last year's Penn Relays.

Lucky 13

In yesterday's rout, the Generals captured a lucky "13" first places, with the only double winner being Rohnke with firsts in the discus and javelin.

In the 100-yd. dash, the Generals took all three places with Nathan Simpson first at 10.8 seconds, followed by Funkhouser and Posey.

The shot put and discus events were clean sweeps, also with Dave Monroe putting the big apple 42' 6" followed by White and Cruger, while Skip Rohnke with a 121' 8" toss captured first in the discus with Tharp and White placing second and third.

Hickey Wins

In the mile run, Jack Blakeslee came home first in 4:56, while Jim Hickey traveled the 440 yd. dash in 53.1 seconds to capture first place.

Joe Smith placed first in the high hurdles with a winning time of 17.3 seconds, while Al Codwin, who placed second in the high hurdles, ran away with the 220 yd. low hurdles in 27.7 seconds.

This coming Thursday, the undefeated cindermen face the University of Richmond on Wilson Field at 3:45.

Sports This Week

In sports this week, the Generals will be busy. Thursday the track team will meet Richmond here, and Saturday they will enter the Quantico relays.

Also Saturday, the lacrosse team will play host to the University of Baltimore.

In tennis, Thursday will find the Blue and White at George Washington University, and Saturday will find Lynchburg College here.

Lacrosse Team Bows 23-3 to Maryland

The University of Maryland, scoring nine goals in the first quarter, easily defeated the Washington and Lee lacrosse team 23 to 3, Saturday afternoon at College Park. It was the third straight victory for the Terps since an opening game loss to Mt. Washington.

The first goal came at the 2:36 mark when midfielder Jerry Thelen tallied unassisted. Then in a space of four minutes the Terps tallied five times to completely demoralize the Generals team.

The Generals didn't get a goal until 14:30 of the first period when Jay Stull broke through the Maryland defenses and whipped a hard grounder into the Maryland nets.

The Generals got their final two goals midway in the second quarter when Skip Horst dodged the Maryland defense for one goal and then added a second on a beautiful feed from Stull. Except for this brief moment of glory the day was all Maryland's. The Terps took a 15-3 lead to the dressing room at halftime and led 17-3 at the end of three periods.

Thelen and attackman Jim Martone were high scorers for Maryland with five goals apiece. However, the real standout was Roger Goss who had eight assists and one goal.

In other lacrosse games Saturday, Johns Hopkins defeated Princeton, 8-4, Navy blanked Washington College 19-0, Army topped Yale 17-3, Mt. Washington defeated Hofstra 12-1, and undefeated Baltimore University beat a potent Virginia team 9-3.

The Generals next game is this Saturday against Baltimore on Wilson Field at 3 p.m.

The Generals' lacrosse team has now lost three and tied one game. Their lone tie came against Loyola College during spring vacation in Baltimore.

Golf Team Tops WV., Behind Vardaman, by 3

Washington and Lee's golf team,* led by Sophomore Jack Vardaman, yesterday defeated West Virginia, 7 1/2-4 1/2.

Vardaman, leading Coach Cy Twombly's freshman-laden eight man team, took medalist honors with an even-par 72. He easily defeated the Mountaineer's Adolph Popp, 5 and 4.

In other matches the General's Joe Ulrich won 5 and 4 over Sam Urso, Grantham Couch topped Bob King 3 and 1, and Freshman Chuck Vance and Bill Wylie conquered their opponents, 2 and 1, and 3 and 2, respectively.

In last Friday's match with Lynchburg College, W&L was held to a disappointing 4 1/2-4 1/2 tie. Joe Ulrich topped all golfers with a 76.

Coach Twombly said that he was very pleased with the showing of his freshmen in the West Virginia meet and expects to stock his line-up with them in future contests so that they may gain the much-needed experience. The Coach also expressed his anxiety over next Tuesday's match at William and Mary, stating that the Indians will have a great advantage playing on their tricky home course.

The W&L Golfers began their season with a win over Roanoke College of Salem, Virginia.

the University of North Carolina, and a native of South Carolina, Dr. Wright has been director of the Folger Shakespeare Library since 1948.

The library is a research institution specializing in collections on Anglo-American civilization in the 16th and 17th centuries. It has the largest collection of Shakespeare in the world, and is considered to be the focus of Shakespearean scholarship.

Alumni Invited To Installation

Formal invitations to attend the campus inaugural ceremony for Dr. Fred Carrington Cole were mailed to local alumni and friends of Washington and Lee University this week-end.

The ceremony will be held at 11 a.m. on May 7 on the front campus lawn of the University. In the event of rain, it will be held in Doremus Gymnasium.

Dr. Nathan Marsh Pusey, president of Harvard University, will be the guest speaker at the convocation. Official delegates from many other American colleges and universities will take part in the academic procession, together with designated groups of Washington and Lee students and alumni who will represent the student body and the Alumni Association.

Following the inaugural ceremony, the trustees and faculty of Washington and Lee will be hosts to the official delegates at a luncheon in Letitia Pate Evans Dining Hall.

"Since this will be a seated luncheon, the number of places is limited and admission must be restricted to persons holding special cards," according to Dr. L. J. Desha, executive member of the faculty-staff committee planning inauguration activities.

Dr. Wright served with the United States Army in World War I and later as a newspaper correspondent and editor. He is the author of at least 10 volumes and some 60 articles and short monographs.

Dr. Wright has edited many other scholarly publications and is an authority on history and literature of colonial America, especially Virginia.

He has received honorary degrees from 16 colleges and universities.

From 1932 until 1948, Dr. Wright was a member of the permanent research group at the Huntington Library in San Morino, Calif., another of the nation's great sources of scholarly information. He was instrumental in developing the library as a research institution.

The honor guests at today's convocation were the 14 W&L students elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity.

Formal initiation ceremonies for Phi Beta Kappa will be held this evening, followed by an annual banquet.

The old Virginia Epsilon charter will be reissued to the chapter this Saturday during a formal banquet at the Mayflower Inn. On hand for the occasion will be the SPE National President Terry Kurtz, and Col. Paul A. Rockwell, U.S. Army (retired) who is well-known as an army officer and as a historian.

"NO PARKING"

As everyone knows, the most serious problem facing American colleges today is the shortage of parking space for students' cars.

Many remedies have been offered to solve this vexing dilemma. For instance, it has been suggested that all students be required to drive small foreign sports cars which can be carried in the purse or pocket. This would, of course, solve the parking problem but it would make double dating impossible—unless, that is, the boys make the girls run along behind the car. But that is no solution either because by the time they get to the prom the girls will be panting so hard that they will wilt their corsages.

Another suggested cure for our parking woes is that all students smoke Marlboro cigarettes. At first glance this seems an excellent solution because we all know Marlboro is the cigarette which proved that flavor did not go out when filters came in—and when we sit around and smoke good Marlboros we are so possessed by sweet contentment that none of us wishes ever to leave, which means no gadding about which means no driving, which means no parking problem.

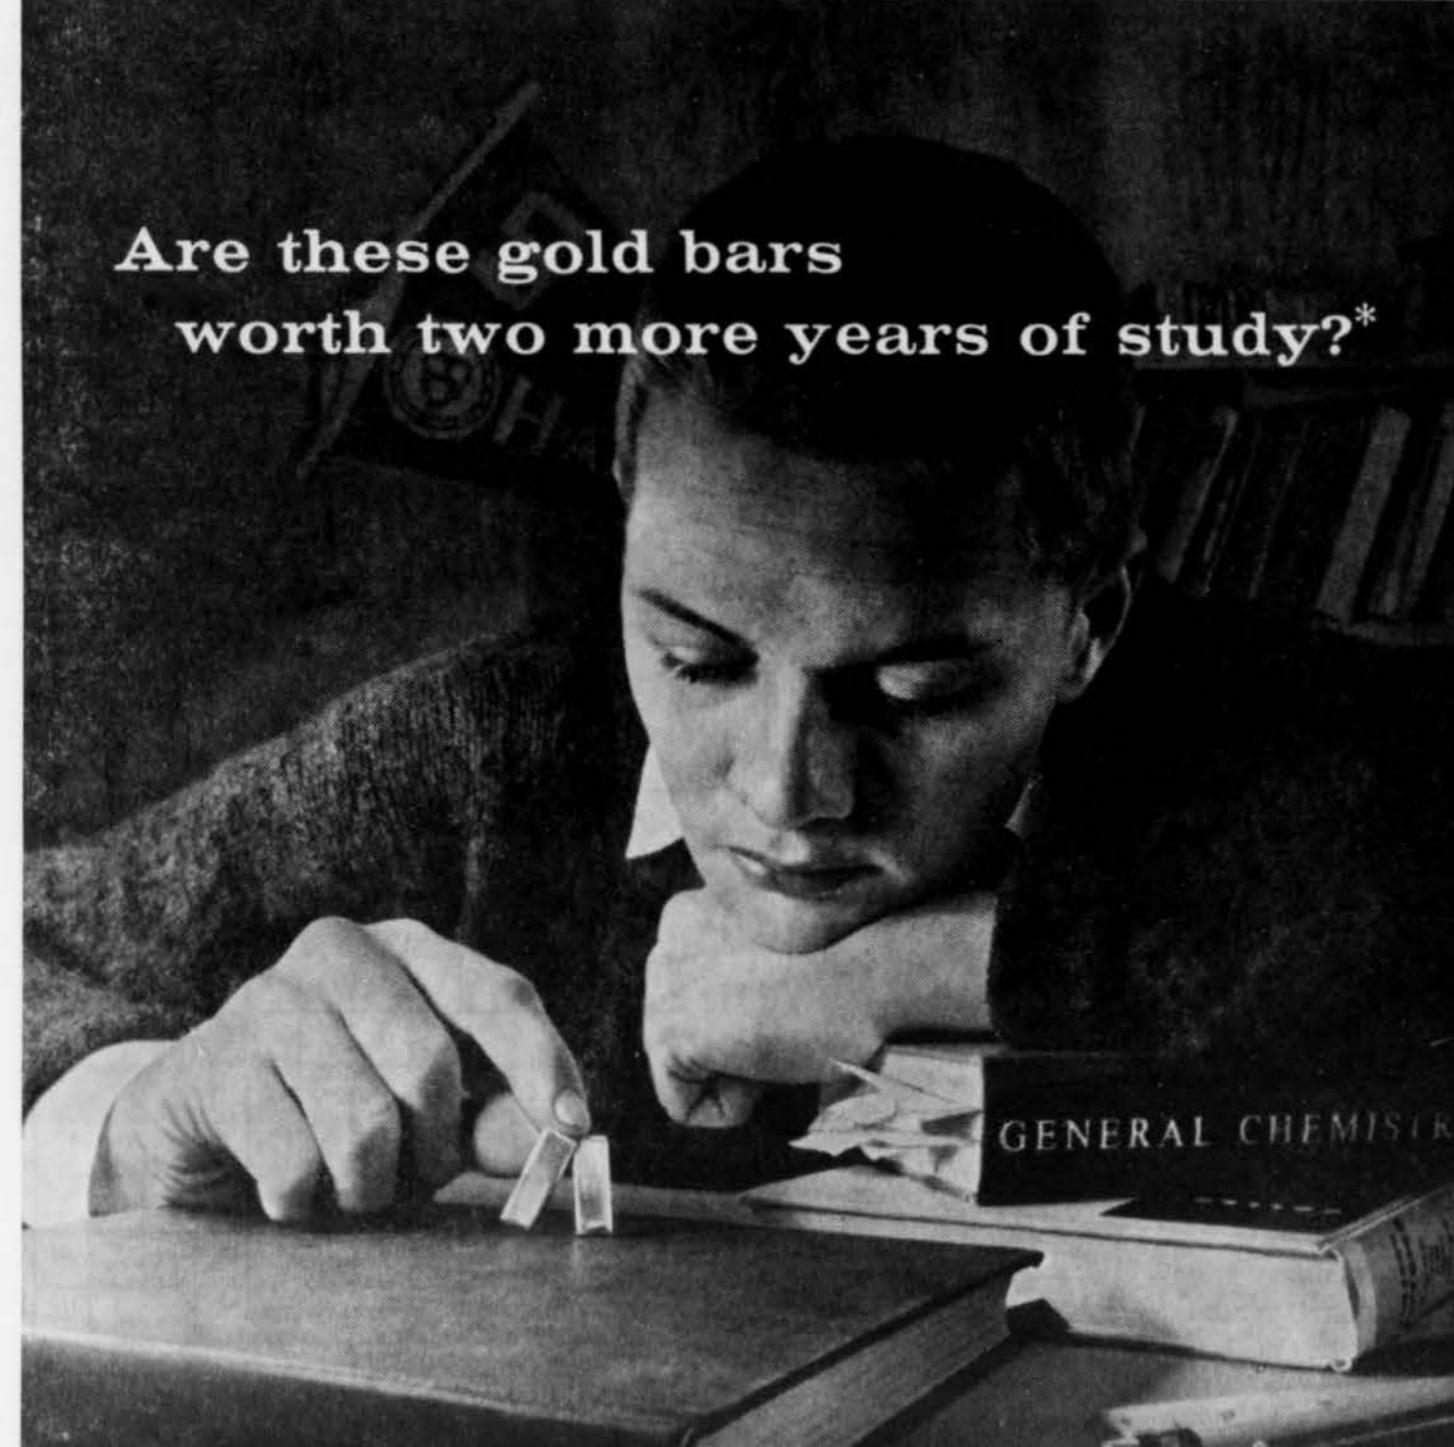

But the argument in favor of Marlboros overlooks one important fact: when you run out of Marlboros you must go get some more, which means driving, which means parking, which means you're right back where you started.

Probably the most practical suggestion to alleviate the campus parking situation is to tear down every school of dentistry in the country and turn it into a parking lot. This is not to say that dentistry is unimportant. Gracious, no! Dentistry is important and vital and a shining part of our American heritage. But the fact is there is no real need for separate schools of dentistry. Dentistry could easily be moved to the school of mining engineering. Surely anyone who can drill a thousand feet for oil can fill a simple little cavity.

This experiment—combining dentistry with mining engineering—has already been tried at several colleges—and with some very interesting results. Take, for instance, the case of a dental student named Fred C. Sigafoos. One day recently Fred was out practicing with his drilling rig in a vacant lot just off campus. He sank a shaft two hundred feet deep and, to his surprise and delight, he struck a detergent mine. For a while Fred thought his fortune was made but he soon learned that he had drilled into the storage tank of the Eagle Laundry. Walter P. Eagle, president of the laundry, was mad as all get-out and things looked mighty black for Fred. But it all ended well. When Mr. Eagle called Fred into his office to chew him out, it so happened that Mr. Eagle's beautiful daughter, Patient Griselda, was present. For years Patient Griselda had been patiently waiting for the right man. "That's him!" she cried upon spying Fred—and today Fred is a full partner in the Eagle Laundry in charge of pleats and ruffles.

As a college sophomore, you're nearing the mid-point. Halfway through college—halfway through Army ROTC. Now you face a major decision: Are the gold bars of a Second Lieutenant worth two additional years of study in advanced ROTC?

That question is yours to answer now—before you register for your junior year. As you explore the facts, carefully weigh the traditional responsibilities and rewards of serving as an Army officer...

1. Traditional responsibilities. To meet the command responsibilities of an Army officer, you apply the leadership principles absorbed during advanced ROTC training. And your executive potential grows as you gather leadership experience.

2. Traditional rewards. In every organization, greater responsibilities mean greater rewards. Thus the traditional responsibilities and prestige of an Army officer are matched by material advantages. For example, if you plan to marry soon after graduation—an officer's salary can be a distinct advantage. A married 2nd Lieutenant earns a minimum of $355.68 per month—plus substantial fringe benefits.

Need more information? Check with the Professor of Military Science and Tactics at your college or university. He'll be glad to discuss your decision with you.

*Last year, 14,436 sophomores answered "yes" to this question—and entered advanced Army ROTC.
