

Generals Carry 5-0-1 Mark Into Carnegie Tech Game Tomorrow At Pittsburgh

Doug Martin, 159 pounds of power from Ft. Thomas, Ky., who is fast becoming a do-everything-well football player, will get another chance to show his versatility tomorrow when the Generals tackle Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh.

Martin, who has paced the W&L ground gainers all season and who has gotten the Generals out of four jams with 50-yards-plus quick kicks, turned passer last week against Hampden-Sydney.

Not settling for anything less than perfection, the little fullback faked a power play to the left, then fired a 29-yard scoring strike to end Ned Hobbs, which gave the Generals a 14-7 win.

In fact, Martin was the key in the Generals' 80-yard drive for the winning touchdown.

He got the drive rolling by taking a short pass from quarterback Steve Suttle and racing 26 yards to the W&L 46. From the 50, he powered 13 yards up the middle and finally from the 29, he heaved the scoring pass to Hobbs.

Statistically Martin has gained 442 yards on the ground in 66 carries for a 6.7 average. He has scored three touchdowns and a two-point PAT. He has completed one of two passes for 29 yards and a touchdown. He has caught three passes for 56 yards. He has quick kicked four times for a 50.8 average.

Yes, indeed, as Coach McLaughlin said, "Martin is becoming a do-it-all player."

Carnegie Tech, the Generals' opponent tomorrow, boast a 3-3 record. The keys to the Tartans' attack are ends Larry Arendas and Marty Poad, who, according to the Carnegie Tech football pressbook, are probably the best pair of ends the Tartans have ever had and this includes the ends of Tech's big-time era.

Both Arendas and Poad were particularly pesky in Carnegie Tech's 20-16 win over the Generals last year.

Poad is the favorite target of quarterback Alex Bouxein while Arendas is a defensive stalwart who specializes in blocking punts and stopping touchdown drives.

The Generals should remember one of Arendas' specialties. The tall end blocked two W&L punts last year that gave the Tartans short (Continued on page 4)

Injury-Ridden Freshmen Tackle Massanutten Sat.

Four key injuries may prevent Washington and Lee's freshman football team from posting its first winning season since the start of the non-subsidized athletic program. The Brigadiers face Massanutten Military Academy tomorrow at Weedstock, Va., in their season final.

The Brigadiers, who have rolled up a 3-2 record so far, go into their last game without the services of starting center Mike Sheffey, first team linebacker Jack Neal, and quarterback A. J. Barranco.

Halfback Stuart Yoffe, who scored all 18 of the Brigadiers' points in a 20-18 loss to Ferrum Junior College last week, is a doubtful starter because of a sprained ankle.

Yoffe injured his ankle midway through the Ferrum game, but the injury did not seem to slow him down. In the fourth quarter, he outran the whole Ferrum team, racing 97 yards with a kickoff for the final W&L touchdown.

In appraising Massanutten, Coach Hal Bates said, "Massanutten has a good passing attack and a fast team, but I think we can handle them. They are about our size."

Massanutten has compiled a 3-2 record in its first five contests.

The W&L freshman team, which is being called the best freshman squad in years at W&L, boasts a speedy backfield and a stout line.

Yoffe and halfback Henry Sackett supply fast, outside running while fullback Sid Butler is a powerful up-the-middle man.

Quarterback John McDaniel and a trio of glue-fingered receivers—ends Ed Cluff and Buck Oglivie and Yoffe—give the Brigadiers a potent passing attack.

Anchoring the offensive line are Croft, Oglivie, Bob Henley, Jim Sylvester, Charlie Savage, and Wilmont Kidd.

The second unit, sparked by George Craddock, Neal, John Madison, Jim McCeney, and Barranco, is Coach Bates' defensive team.

In collecting their 3-2 record, the Brigadiers whipped Hargrave, 20-0; Woodberry Forest, 13-0; Augusta, 23-13. They lost to Staunton, 7-6, and Ferrum, 20-18.

The team has played exceptionally well despite several minor injuries and despite their great handicap of non-subsidization. Much credit is due to Coach Bates, but especially for this PIKA I-M Tennis Champions—standing Ray Lovelace, John Gillette, Paul Seville, and Johnny Graham. Seated, Bill Davis, John Tribble and Tim Ireland.

PiKA Captures Intramural Tennis Championship; Dets Take Unofficial Lead In I-M Standings

Thus far Washington and Lee's intramural program has seen the completion of only three of the fall sports—track, swimming, and recent tennis.

In a close fought match for the tennis championship, the PiKA's defeated the Betas, the Law School, and the Phi Kaps for the tennis crown. Although this championship has been decided, the points for all house has not been determined, and therefore cannot be included in the tabulation below.

In the season's first event, track, the Dets captured the coveted crown on the basis of capturing 50 points in both participation and board points. They were followed by the Phi Dets, KAs, and SAEs.

In the only other I-M sport to reach completion, the Phi Psis captured the swimming championship with the SAEs, Phi Phis, and Dets rounding out the top contenders.

At present, there are still two contests in contention before the fall season will officially draw to a close. The league playoffs are still in progress for the golf crown, while the touch football program has just begun.

In this year's football contest there appears to be a close race in the making. Last year's champs, Beta, has been tied by the PEPs while runner-up PiKA has defeated the Phi Gams. Also in contention, and considered a real threat is the Law School team which has defeated the Phi Dets and the ZBTs already this year.

League bowling began last Wednesday evening and will continue throughout the fall season and into the winter competition.

Bootmen Aim Toward Roanoke's 'Homecoming' With Improved Offensive Unit; Knight Injured

Tomorrow, the Washington and Lee soccer team will be seeking their fourth victory of the season when they meet Roanoke College in Salem, Va.

This game should prove to be a rough one for the Blue and White not only because of the fact that Roanoke has an experienced squad, but also due to the fact that it is "Homecoming Weekend" in the Star City, and believe it or not, the day's big game will be soccer!

The Generals, however, will be operating at almost full strength, with the only player on the disabled list being Co-captain Dave Knight. Several of the team will be playing the game with minor injuries, but Coach Joe Lyles feels that the starting nucleus will be in reasonably sound shape.

Another factor favoring the General eleven is the improvement which has come about in the offensive scoring attack. The N. C. State game marked the first time since the season opener that W&L had exhibited any real offensive threat.

Steve Hawkins, Charlie Begg, Jim Starkey, Wick Hollingshead, and Tain Tompkins will be carrying the scoring attack to the Roanoke goal, and if practice has paid off—W&L should have a forward wall that will score throughout the contest.

Roanoke, although sporting a losing record, has a strong defensive squad unit headed by center halfback Jack Klegg, who started
