

Generals Slip Past Centre, 38-22; Will Sewanee Be Next?

Sewanee's Tigers Sharpen Their Claws In Preparation For Clash With W&L

Sewanee's Tigers are stalking for their favorite dish—raw General. The Tigers from Tennessee invade Wilson Field this Saturday with two purposes in mind: beat Washington and Lee and win the College Athletic Conference championship. Some people thought Sewanee would be looking ahead to this Saturday's clash with W&L when they met Southwestern last Saturday. If the Tigers were dreaming of a feast and a plush throne room, Washington and Lee had better watch out. Not only did Sewanee post its fourth win in six games but it also ran up its biggest points spread of the season—44-0. Sewanee, led by junior tailback M. L. Agnew, had trouble with Centre two weeks ago, posting a 28-6 win, but Southwestern seemed like easy pickings for the hungry Tigers. It has been three years since the Tigers slashed Washington and Lee and then they managed only a 15-14 win in the fog at Sewanee. How do the teams stack up statistically?

Through the games of October 27 Agnew led the conference in rushing (390 yards) and passing (320 yards), and total offense (710 yards) and was third in scoring with 26 points. Washington and Lee's Tommy Keesee had second in rushing (364 yards) and second in total offense (391 yards). Stu Yoffe was third in rushing (292 yards) and fourth in total offense (292 yards). Chuck Lane was second in passing with (170 yards). Yoffe now has 440 yards rushing and total offense. Lane has 216 yards passing and Keesee has 395 yards rushing and 422 yards total offense. Yoffe, Keesee, Henry Sackett, and Skip Chase hold four of the top six positions in CAC scoring. In team statistics Sewanee has the upper hand in total offense, passing offense, total defense, rushing defense, and passing defense. W&L's main asset is its 263.7-yard average rushing offense per game. Picking a winner Saturday is up to you, but one thing's certain: the game should be one of the best at W&L in recent years.

Kentucky Boys Shine At Home

Washington and Lee, launching its drive to the College Athletic Conference title, wobbled by Centre College, 38-22, Saturday at Danville, Ky. The Generals, obviously tired from a 14-hour bus trip, looked sloppy on offense, but still managed six touchdowns, 371 yards rushing, and 46 yards passing. Centre put on a surprising show for a winless team and would have made the score much closer had not halfback Bill David intercepted a Bill Hourigan pass on the Washington and Lee 10 as the game ended. Although he did not score a touchdown, Halfback Stu Yoffe led the Generals' ground attack with 151 yards in 10 carries. Quarterback Chuck Lane picked up 60 yards in 11 tries, halfback Skip Chase dashed for 55 yards in eight runs and fullback Tommy Keesee earned 31 yards in eight attempts. Washington and Lee drove 57 and 74 yards for tallies in the first two times it had the football, but Centre sandwiched a touchdown in between the Generals scores, making W&L's margin only 12-8.

Yoffe, Keesee, and Chase ground out the yardage to the Centre five after taking the opening kickoff on the W&L 43. From the five injured star Henry Sackett and Yoffe teamed up for the score with Sackett scoring on a one-yard plunge on fourth down. Centre bounced back to take an 8-6 lead when Hourigan climaxed a 76-yard drive with a four-yard end sweep. The Colonels' quarterback then passed to Ken Kell for the two-point conversion. Yoffe then set up the Generals' second score with a 59-yard dash to the Centre four. Chase burst over from the one for the tally. Early in the second period the Generals again put six points on the scoreboard. Tackle Phil McCaleb broke up the Centre defense to block Al Newton's punt before he even got a chance to kick the football. End Bob Carlson then grabbed the ball from McCaleb and scooted 18 yards for the third W&L touchdown. Two series later Washington and Lee recovered a Hourigan fumble at the Centre 37. Again on fourth down the Generals scored. This time on a 31-yard pass from Lane to Chase. Washington and Lee kept rolling in the third period, adding two more tallies. With David, Keesee, Chase, and Yoffe clicking off six-to-ten yards a clip the Generals rolled from the Centre 48 in eight plays for a 30-8 lead. Keesee went over from the one. After Hourigan scored Centre's second touchdown, the Generals began their final TD march. The Generals took over on the Colonels' 44 but it took them 11 plays to chalk up their final tally. Frosh Tackle FUMA Friday

Washington and Lee's freshman football team will try to lengthen its win string to three games Friday against Fork Union Military Academy, but its work will be cut out for it. The Light Brigade meets the talented FUMA outfit at 2:30 on Wilson Field. "They're going to be tough," said freshman coach Dana Swan. "They'll fight Staunton (which beat W&L, 3-0) for the Military League crown on Thanksgiving. They've lost only one game—to

Augusta—and really pose a big problem for us. "They've got a big, fast line and a backfield which averages 190 pounds. "If we get by them, we'll know (Continued on page 4)

GLOOM AT THE TOP

Oh, sure, you've been busy, what with going to classes, doing your homework, catching night crawlers, getting married—but can't you pause for just a moment and give thought to that dear, dedicated, lonely man in the big white house on the hill? I refer, of course, to the Prexy.

(It is interesting to note here that college presidents are always called "Prexy." Similarly, trustees are called "Trixie." Associate professors are called "Axy-Pixy." Bursars are called "Foxy-Woxy." Students are called "Algae.")

But I digress. We were speaking of the Prexy, a personage at once august and pathetic. Why pathetic? Well sir, consider how Prexy spends his days. He is busy, busy, busy. He talks to deans, he talks to professors, he talks to trustees, he talks to alumni. In fact, he talks to everybody except the one group who could lift his heart and rally his spirits. I mean, of course, the appealing, endearing, winsomest group in the entire college—you, the students.

It is the Prexy's sad fate to be forever a stranger to your laughing, golden selves. He can only gaze wistfully out the window of his big white house on the hill and watch you at your games and sports and yearn with all his tormented heart to bask in your warmth. But how? It would hardly be fitting for Prexy to appear one day at the Union, clad in an old rowing blazer, and cry gaily, "Heigh-ho, chaps! Who's for sculling?"

Heigh-ho, chaps! Who's for sculling?

No, friends, Prexy can't get to you. It is up to you to get to him. Call on him at home. Just drop in unannounced. He will naturally be a little shy at first, so you must put him at his ease. Shout, "Howdy-doo, sir! I have come to bring a little sunshine into your drear and blighted life!" Then yank his necktie out of his vest and scamper goatlike around him until he is laughing merrily along with you.

Then hand him a package and say, "A little gift for you, sir." "For me?" he will say, lowering his lids. "You shouldn't have."

"Yes, I should," you will say, "because this package is a carton of Marlboro Cigarettes, and whenever I think of Marlboro, I think of you."

"Why, hey?" he will say curiously.

"Because Marlboros have taste, and so do you," you will reply.

"Aw, go on," he will say, blushing furiously.

"It's true," you will say. "Moreover, Marlboro has a filter, and so do you."

"In my swimming pool, you mean," he will say.

"Yes," you will say. "Moreover, Marlboro has a soft pack, and so do you."

"My limp leather brief case, you mean," he will say.

"Yes," you will say. "Moreover, the Marlboro box has a flip-top, and so do you."

"But I don't have a flip-top," he will say.

"But you will," you will say. "Just light a Marlboro, and taste that tasty taste, and you will surely flip your top."

Well sir, you will have many a good chuckle about that, you may be sure. Then you will say, "Goodbye, sir, I will return soon again to brighten your lorn and desperate life."

"Please do," he will say. "But next time, if you can possibly manage it, try not to come at four in the morning."

Prexy and undergrad, male and female, late and soon, fair weather and foul—all times and climes and conditions are right for Marlboro, the filter cigarette with the unfiltered taste.

we've accomplished something." Washington and Lee, after suffering two defeats and a tie in its first three games, suddenly caught fire two weeks ago. The Light Brigade rolled to a 7-0 win over Bridgewater College's junior varsity and then smacked Greenbrier Military School, 12-0.

"Our defense was nearly perfect against Greenbrier," Swan said, "but we made too many mistakes on offense."

The Generals' defense, which has given up only three touchdowns—all in a 19-7 loss to Augusta—stopped Greenbrier cold. It held GMS to 23 yards rushing and 52 yards passing.

"In spite of the close score, the win over GMS was a good effort," Swan said. "Greenbrier was never really in the ball game since we exerted constant defensive pressure. Our vastly-improved offense allowed us to move the ball nearly at will. Fumbles kept us from getting several more touchdowns."

domes are "eggheads." Besides legalizing specific words, Webster's Third erases the taboo on many grammatical usages. Now you can write, "Winston tastes good like a cigarette should" and rest assured it is acceptable English. Equally correct is the statement

"The event was cancelled due to rain." In addition, a teacher can't mark wrong "unlike gasoline engines, fuel does not enter the cylinder with air."

Dr. Flournoy questions the teacher's acceptance of the Third Edition as a hard and fast rule for English grammar. However, all is not lost.

George Gossman got credit for the score when he recovered Lane's fumble in the end zone. Yoffe added the only conversion of the day on a run.

Twice more the Generals got inside the Centre ten, but couldn't add another tally.
