

CARRELL, GEER COP SENIOR EC POSTS

By WARREN MONTGOMERY

In the rising Senior Class, Phi Delt Dave Geer, and SAE Rick Carrell won the top spots over incumbent Lamar Lamb and Beta Larry Manning. Carrell led the vote count with 96 and Geer was second with 95. Lamb, an EC member for two years, finished third with 93.

Fred Mindell, Chuck Walker, and Bryant Kendrick coped the other executive committee posts for the year.

Cross party voting lead the way to Progressive Party victories in the rising Senior and Junior Classes, while the University Party showed considerable strength in the rising Sophomore Class.

Senior Class

Jody Brown an SAE from Memphis, showed great popularity defeating DU Bob Patton for the presidency of the Senior Class. The other offices went to Sam Simpson, Phi Gam, Veep of the Commerce School; Walter Bennett, Sigma Nu, Veep of the Liberal Arts School; Gordon Archer, Phi Gam, Veep of the Science School; Earl "Mack" Magdovitz, ZBT, secretary, and Henry Quekemeyer, Delt, historian.

Junior Class

In the rising Junior Class Fred Mindel showed considerable strength polling 146 votes to lead the five EC contenders. Chuck Walker finished second with 134; John Moore, third with 101; and Gareth Aden, 79. Roger Sennott, Reform Party candidate, showed unexpected support getting 39 votes. Dave Marchese, a Phi Gam, won the presidency over Sigma Chi Scott Kennedy, 135-108. Phi Psi Bob Lee won the VP spot while Yancey, a Beta, and Joe Framptom, A PIKA, won the secretary and historian's posts respectively.

Sophomore Class

In the rising Sophomore Class Bryant Kendrick, a Phi Delt won the EC post over Kirk Follo, an SAE, 142-115. Bill Jeffress, a Delt, polled more votes than any other candidate defeating ZBT Stuart Finestone, 150-104. Barry Vaught, a KA took the Vice President's spot over Chuck Staples. Reform candidate Roper Vaughan pulled the surprise of the night when he coped the secretary spot. Vaughan is a Phi Delt. Ken Greene, a ZBT, edged Lambda Chi Skip Brooks for the historian post.

"I believe we did have the best candidates," said Progressive Party chairman Tom Pace. "Apparently the student body agreed. That we were pleased is undoubtedly true, however, we were also disappointed in several cases. We believe the student body is now more interested in electing the best candidates than playing the game of party politics. We can only hope that best men were elected."

The Progressive Party seemed to vote straight tickets while pulling votes from the UP in the upper class elections.

University Party Co-Chairman Billy Cannon commented, "Naturally

we were somewhat disappointed, however, we believe the results reflected popularity more than anything else. We feel that it is the job of our party to nominate candidates for class offices rather than force a straight ticket vote on our members."

Jere Turner and Bob Pless were elected Wednesday night to represent the Intermediate and Senior Law students respectively.

Qualifications

Carrell, who is an SAE from Pensacola, Florida, is on the Dean's List, the Student Service Society, and SWMSFC. This year he was the Circulation Manager of the Ring-tum Phi, and next year will serve as Business Manager. During this year he served as chairman of the Liberty Hall Committee and as a fraternity officer.

Geer, who is a Phi Delt from Spartanburg, South Carolina, is treasurer of SWMSFC and his fraternity. He also played an active part in the Student Service Society. He is a member of the "13" Club, a varsity swimmer and was elected this week as a dormitory counselor for next year.

Mindel, who is a ZBT, from Toledo, has been active in varsity basketball, the Student Service Society, the Liberty Hall Society, the Calyx and Ring-tum Phi. He is a fraternity officer and is on the Dean's List.

Walker, who is a Kappa Sig from San Antonio, will be returning for his second year on the EC. He is on the Honor Roll and Dean's List, SWMFC, the Liberty Hall Society, Shenandoah Business Staff, Dance Board Advisory Committee. He was chosen the IFC Outstanding Freshman in 1963 and is a fraternity officer.

Kendrick, who is a Phi Delt from Greenville, South Carolina, is the captain of both the freshman football and lacrosse teams. This year he has been in the UCA, and served as the freshman representative to the Assimilation Committee.

New Trends In California Forecast Victory To Rocky

Washington and Lee's Mock Republican Convention is predicting that Nelson Rockefeller will upset Senator Barry Goldwater in the California primary.

Rocky Gets Votes

The GOP Chairman for California announced today that he will cast his state's 86 votes for Rockefeller in the W&L Convention on May 4. His decision, (made after intensive study of the Rocky-Goldwater fight in California), is based on the belief that the New York governor will come from behind and defeat Goldwater; thus insuring Rockefeller California's block of 86 votes on at least the first two ballots.

The California chairman, senior Jim Sylvester, analyzed every poll taken in California in the last few months. He received advice and campaign details from both Goldwater and Rockefeller campaign headquarters in Washington and California.

Rocky On Rise

Sylvester admits that if the primary were held this week, Goldwater would win comfortably. But he lists four factors which he thinks will enable Rockefeller to pull away from the Arizonian during the next month. The first prediction is that Rockefeller will do unexpectedly well in the Oregon primary on May 15, and that his campaign will take on new energy thereafter.

The second factor favoring Rockefeller is that more voters than usual will turn out for this primary, because of the frenzied activity of both camps. A large turnout will benefit Rockefeller because Goldwater's strength is in a "hard core" of dedicated Republicans who are not likely to increase in numbers any more than they already have. Rockefeller, though, expects to attract much additional support in his thorough criss-crossing the state.

Lodge Is Favorite

Third, says Sylvester, Rockefeller will begin to attract the active support of those whose first choice is Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, the most popular candidate in California. Lodge's moderate following will vote very heavily for Rockefeller.

Dr. Baumann Discusses Ideas Of C. G. Jung

By SAM McCHESNEY

Analytic psychiatrist Dr. Dieter Baumann spoke on "An Example of Dream Interpretation" in duPont Auditorium last Wednesday night.

Dr. Baumann opened his lecture with a discussion of C. G. Jung's theories. Dr. Jung stated that there were two parts to the psychic, the ego and the unconscious. He stated that ego dealt with the central point of reference, whereas the unconscious was manifested in intangible forms such as dreams.

Dr. Baumann followed this with the problem of interpreting a dream. Baumann stated that when a dream was interpreted the patient felt a sense of relief. The patient actually became more alive. This is caused by the release of energy stored in the unconscious to the conscious.

Dream Interpretation

In trying to interpret a dream, Dr. Baumann followed a general pattern. First, he asks the patient what has happened to him recently. In this way Dr. Baumann can see what the patient feels and from that discover what the dream refers to. Sometimes he has his patient write out his dream since it gives the patient "a dedication of attention to the dream."

After attempting to find out what the patient feels, Dr. Baumann proceeds to ask the patient what comes to his mind when a segment of the dream is recalled. With this information in mind Dr. Baumann attempts an interpretation. In order to interpret the dream satisfactorily, Dr. Baumann states that an agreement must exist between the patient and the interpreter.

Two Hindrances

Dr. Baumann states that two factors can hinder the interpreter's understanding of the dream. First, the analyst and the patient might have the same problem. Also, the interpreter can lack knowledge to interpret certain symbols. In this case he has to check a general file of symbol interpretations and in this way find the answer to the problem.

Dr. Baumann then referred the audience to a dream of a 33-year-old woman. This lady, who lived in an apartment, dreamed that she heard a moan from her guest room. She walked near the guest room bookcase and felt the floor move, as if she were standing on someone. She left the room, and her dog came into the guest room and began tearing up the floor. In so doing the dog uncovered a body. The dead body released a great stench. At this time the dreamer was awakened by her alarm clock.

Dr. Baumann had to solve this problem. Following the procedure before, he discovered that the patient had always had trouble solving al-

Manning Named To Head New Dormitory Counselors

John Larry Manning, Jr., a Beta junior from Arlington, Virginia, has been chosen as Head Dormitory Counselor for next year, announced the Dean of Students Office Wednesday. Manning's three Assistant Head Dormitory Counselors are to be: Daniel L. Manson from Martinsville, Virginia, a Delt junior; Henry B. Quekemeyer, a Delt junior from Roanoke; and Stephen P. Smith, a Sigma Nu from Jacksonville, Florida.

Re-appointed Counselors

The Dean's Office also announced the reappointment of 6 of this year's counselors, 17 new appointees, and 10 alternates. The reappointed counselors are: Joel E. Brown, SAE junior from Memphis, Tennessee; F. William Burke, Beta senior from Washington, D.C.; Shannon Jung, a junior from Alexandria, Louisiana; F. Lamar Lamb, a junior from Roswell, New Mexico; Lewis B. McNeace, Jr., Phi Kap senior from Roanoke; and J. Malcolm Morris, SPE junior from Richmond, Virginia.

New Counselors

The newly appointed counselors for the freshmen dorms are: William D. Andrews, Delt sophomore from

Alternates

In case one of the appointed Dorm Counselors is unable to serve in this capacity next year, the vacancy will be filled from among this group of alternates: John L. Baber, III, Earl T. Berry, James G. Buckley, S. Birnie Harper, Thornton M. Henry, Allan F. Hubbard, John C. Moore, Consider W. Ross, E. Starke Sydnor, and Robert C. Vaughan.

Reform Party Wins Position

The newly organized Reform Party succeeded in the election of its candidate for secretary of the Sophomore Class. Roper Vaughan, Phi Delt was elected by a wide margin after being nominated by Bill Babcock, an SAE freshman, in a denunciation of "big clique" nominating and manipulation.

Vaughan Kidnapped

It was said that the party leaders had exerted pressure on Vaughan to withdraw from the race; the Reform Party backers, however, determined not to see their efforts thwarted, kidnapped their candidate so that he was not able to decline his nomination at the class assembly. Upon his release, Vaughan pointed out that his intention to withdraw from the race did not indicate his unwillingness to serve in the office of secretary but merely his obligation to his fraternity, which had been erroneously blamed for his candidacy.

Reform Policy

In his speech, Babcock lashed out at "straight party" voting, suggesting that voting should be for the best man in the best interest of the school, rather than in the interest of fraternities. He challenged the assembled voters to accept the Reform Party's platform by electing their candidate, and declared that if the Reform Party were successful, it would hold open primaries in the elections of next year.

This year's Reform Party is unaffiliated with any reform movements of previous years. It is an effort to start a process of evolution which would end, it is hoped, in a more democratic campus political system.

A Needed Improvement

By its assent to the new Rush Week proposal last Monday, the Interfraternity Council offered further testimony of that Body's resurrection this year.

The traditional system for Rush Week has been a constant sore spot with the IFC for many years. Three of the proverbial criticisms have been the stampedes into the dormitories, the traffic problem, and the freshmen's immediate and overwhelming exposure to a drinking atmosphere. Although in previous years committees had been set up by the IFC in an attempt to resolve these problems, no alternative plan was drafted that could be found equitable by all the houses.

That such a plan has at last been realized, as is the case if and when it receives a second three-fourths majority vote next Monday, could only be the result of concentrated work and patient deliberation on the part of this year's Rush Committee. On paper, the proposal is very cogent and if backed by strong leadership, it may provide W&L with its first non-devastating Rush Week next fall. We wish the IFC, and in particular next year's rush chairmen, the best of luck in putting this plan successfully into effect.

An Educational Experience

The second page is dedicated to providing an insight into the prospects of the six major Republican candidates. Each candidate has been reviewed by his or her respective campaign manager.

This weekend will probably be the most enjoyable and educational one we will spend in four years at W&L. Everything points to the creation of an excitement that is generally felt only at the national conventions.

The political eyes of the United States will be directed towards Washington and Lee's famed Mock Convention as an indication of what will happen in July at the San Francisco Republican Convention.

Time, The Washington Post, the Associated Press, and the United Press International, along with state-wide television and national TV hookups, will all be here to cover the Convention. There is a strong possibility of the addition of The New York Times, Huntley-Brinkley and other national news media to this impressive list of publicity coverage.

It is because of its unique position as a replica of the national convention and its accuracy in the past that the Mock Convention is receiving much nation-wide emphasis. This emphasis will, of course, extend to the Washington and Lee student body because of the very nature of the Convention.

The importance of the Mock Convention and the emphasis placed upon it behooves us more than ever to act like gentlemen. For this reason, the Steering Committee has laid down two simple rules: there will not be any drinking in the gym itself nor will there be any drinking on the streets of Lexington. Each student is reminded that he is not only responsible for his own behavior but also for the behavior of others.

The thirteenth W&L Mock Convention can be the best ever.

Recent AP Survey Indicates Nixon As GOP Nominee

By JACK YARBROUGH

In a survey conducted by the Associated Press which started on April 1, correspondents in the 50 states and District of Columbia questioned more than 3000 county chairmen, vice chairmen, town leaders, and other party leaders as to who they thought would get the Republican nomination this summer. This survey indicated that Richard Nixon would get the nomination and be the national standard bearer for the Republicans in 1964.

In the first poll conducted back in October Goldwater was a runaway, but in the December poll Goldwater lost a lot of ground and now he has been overtaken by Nixon in April.

Premium on Experience

If a premium is placed on experience this July in San Francisco, and if Goldwater doesn't muster together the necessary 655 votes by the second ballot, there is a very good chance that Nixon will get the nomination.

Goldwater's aides claim that the Senator will have upwards of 550 first-ballot votes by July. The problem is that he could lose most of this strength in a twinkling. Some delegates are bound to Goldwater only for the first ballot, others only loosely to him. They could desert him at any time to climb aboard somebody's bandwagon. Getting closer to home, Philip Sharp revealed in the Tuesday edition that the returns from our Mock Convention survey indicated that there will be a lot of switching of votes on the second, third and succeeding ballots away from Goldwater. Sharp goes on to say that the survey reveals a very noticeable trend in the shifts to Nixon. So with this in mind it is obvious that Nixon has a good chance of getting the nomination next Tuesday.

One other thing should be pointed out here. There are several states that will give their delegates to favorite sons. Included among these are Kentucky, Wisconsin, Ohio, and Minnesota. If Nixon could pick up some of these delegates on the second ballot, and make a good showing, his chances will be very good.

Experience

Nixon has the appeal of experience. He served six years in the House and Senate and was Vice President for eight years under Eisenhower. He is not an open candidate and insists that he is enjoying his new law firm practice in New York. He is well known nationally, and he came very close to beating Mr. Kennedy in 1960. Nixon is working very quietly in the background suggesting that old friends not get too deeply committed to other candidates. If and when Goldwater starts losing support, Nixon will be around to pick up the "rafters."

Thus far only Goldwater and Nixon have been mentioned as contenders for the nomination. It would be a mistake to overlook Rockefeller, Scranton, and Lodge. Both Scranton and Lodge—despite the fact that they, like Nixon, have not campaigned in any primary election nor said they are candidates for the nomination—received many more votes in the latest survey than they received in October and December. Rockefeller, who is campaigning for the nomination ran last in October

Second Ballot Victory Seen For Goldwater

By BILL BURKE

Senator Barry Goldwater and his policies and proposals have been widely discussed throughout the nation for some time. He has always been willing to discuss the issues in a free and straightforward manner, and this quality has been immensely refreshing in American politics; politics that are usually marked with deception and platitudes.

Civil Rights

He has always made a sharp distinction between the civil rights that are guaranteed under the Constitution and the rights of association which are basically moral issues and cannot be solved by passing unenforceable federal laws. Therefore he feels that the proposed public accommodations section is an example where the new laws will only hinder and not help the cause of racial tolerance.

On foreign aid Goldwater has said that he was "opposed to foreign economic aid as it is presently conceived and administered" but he supports "military and technical assistance; the former to protect our friends against Communist aggression and the latter to help nations help themselves." He would encourage less interference and more results in our foreign aid program and "less money better spent."

Goldwater is for a free world market in international trade and has said that "expanding international trade is most important to the well being of the people of the U.S."

Senator Goldwater has repeatedly stated that the right to strike "constitutes a basic civil liberty." He sees this right as a corollary to the right to bargain collectively. But his position on labor-management is conditioned by his concern for the trade union member and his rights—as opposed to those of the labor bureaucracy.

Stand on Cuba

He fully supported the 1962 blockade against Cuba during the missile crisis. Ever since then he has challenged the administration to continue the strong action that would eliminate the Communist military and subversion base just 90 miles off our coast. He has charged, without challenge, that the administration has failed to enforce restrictions on shipping to Cuba.

Goldwater's Prospects

Reports from state and national Republican leaders show the convention's leaders that Goldwater now has more votes than any other GOP presidential hopeful, but nobody knows if his lead is strong enough to pull in the undecided delegations.

Looking at the overall picture, Durette, the Steering Committee's Republican Party Chairman, says he thinks Goldwater "will have upwards of 400 votes on the first ballot" at the Mock Convention.

Barry Goldwater stands for a strong, solid fiscal policy and a continually growing America—an America under freedom and the basic individual rights of each and every American citizen. He is certainly no "extremist," and he certainly can win in 1964—he is, in fact, the only candidate that will offer the American voter a choice.

Barry Goldwater not only can win, but he will win. Because of these reasons, and many others, and, regardless of California, Barry Goldwater will win the nomination of the Washington and Lee Mock Convention for President on the second ballot.

W&L Rockefeller Forces Predict Victory; See Him As Best Man to Defeat Johnson

By STEVE HIBBARD

From the very beginning, Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller has been an announced candidate. This has had both its advantages and disadvantages. With the progression of any campaign, people are constantly going to find points of contention to use against the candidate. But Rockefeller has remained relatively free of these slander-seekers, though it is well seen that he has not been given a good press.

However, the pertinent question is: Will Rockefeller get the nomination both here at W&L and again in July? It is my firm belief that he will. The following are some of the reasons why Governor Rockefeller should be the GOP's choice.

First, we must remember that we are looking for a candidate who can beat Johnson next fall. This man is Rockefeller, for with him we would not run the risk of extremism, which we certainly cannot afford to toy with in these days, nor would we be getting a wheeler-dealer.

We would be getting a man whose 32 years in business, international affairs, and politics make him the most qualified candidate for the position that demands such great responsibility and unquestioned understanding of both foreign and domestic affairs.

An important point that should be made is what exactly it takes to get elected, besides the man himself. It is time to face the cold hard facts realistically. Money and organization are the two keys to a successful campaign. Rockefeller has both.

The Republican Party realizes the tremendous odds they are up against in this coming election, and they are looking for a candidate who has both the funds and the organization to wage an all out battle. Rockefeller is the only man who could successfully do this. Just reflect on what gave the late President Kennedy the victory: his resources and organization.

Stabilization

Along with these two criteria, the party is looking for a man who will stabilize the party. This can only be done by selecting a candidate who will be able to battle Johnson to the end. Rockefeller can and will rally the support of the party. He is also the most likely candidate to pick up support from the other party.

The candidate that is nominated this coming July will have to be known, both nationally and internationally. This is prerequisite and Governor Scranton does not have this. This along with his firm conviction not to run would rule him out as a candidate for serious consideration.

Mr. Lodge has shown support in some small states, but this seems more of a popularity vote than a vote for a man who can do the job. His job at present, as he calls it, is as a servant of the people in Viet Nam. It is doubtful that the support he will receive will be enough of an impetus to bring him back to the states.

Maine Senator-GOP Surprise?

By GEORGE CRADDOCK

Senator Margaret Chase Smith is waging an active and austere campaign for the presidential nomination at the Republican Mock Convention to be held here on May 4 and 5. This campaign is being run without the aid of large financial resources or the help of powerful political organizations; rather emphasis is being placed on experience, on principles, and a sober and direct approach. We believe that the political convictions of the Senator are those held by the majority of the people and the convention delegates.

Senior Senator

Sen. Smith is the Senior Senator from Maine, having served in the highest legislative body since 1949 and congress since 1940. Significantly, she has more national office experience than any other of the announced or unannounced candidates for the presidential nomination. She has termed herself a political moderate, looking neither to the extremes of the right or left as the future course for this country. This middle of the road stand offers the people a greater opportunity for choice than either of the leading candidates from the extreme ends of the political picture can possibly offer. Mrs. Smith has proven herself to be a diligent, active, and successful campaigner as seen in her surprising show of strength in the Illinois primary several weeks ago.

Surprises?

National Conventions are popular and famous for their surprises, and no individual here is certain of its outcome. One thing is certain, however, that the "Lady from Maine" will be represented here as a strong and able candidate. The Republican dark horse in 1964, therefore, may well prove to be a filly.

Scranton Forces See Draft As Key To Party Unity

By DOUG McDOWELL

The task of trying to assess the chances of Governor William Scranton are rather difficult, to say the least. The Governor says that he does not want the nomination, but that he would accept an honest and sincere draft. The chances of such a draft developing at the present is rather slim.

Governor Scranton has held to his decision only to accept a draft because he feels that the only possible way that the Republicans can move the Democratic administration out of the White House is through a completely unified party effort. He feels that the only way the Republicans can gain this unity is through the draft of a candidate acceptable to all.

For some reason or another, all the other possible candidates are not acceptable to the party as a unit, either due to issues that they are for or against, past records, or personal problems. Many of Scranton's backers feel that he can supply the Republican Party with the unity that they need so badly. He is an intelligent, attractive candidate. His record as the Governor of Pennsylvania has been almost beyond reproach. His family heritage is rooted deep in Republican Party loyalty.

He has attacked no candidate to date, nor has he been directly attacked by any other candidate. His record is spotless, unblemished.

Drafted Twice

For these reasons, I myself, as well as many other Republican leaders, feel that Governor Scranton would, and possibly will be, the best candidate that the GOP could put up in 1964. A few other facts will speak well for the Governor. He has twice before been drafted by the Republican Party—once to run for Congress in his home district, and once to run for the Governorship of Pennsylvania. Both times he was running against heavy odds, for the Republican Party started at a great disadvantage vote-wise. Both times he realized that the only chance the Party had was to unify and support one candidate, and both times he was the man.

After being drafted, he did the rest. Scranton is a politician's politician. He is smart, shrewd, and his sense of timing is amazing. The latter is probably his biggest asset. He wins elections on the campaign trail, and although not many people are familiar with him, Scranton would make himself known to the whole population of the U.S. in a

Popular Support In Primaries Is Lodge Asset

By WALT BENNETT

In considering the candidacy of Henry Cabot Lodge for the Republican nomination for President of the United States, there are several things to bear in mind. First, Mr. Lodge has proven his popularity time after time in various primaries without stating himself that he is an official candidate for the nomination. In the primaries in which he has participated it has been on a write-in basis and he has still managed to receive a most impressive showing. The foremost example of this is of course his impressive victory in New Hampshire over other officially declared candidates.

A second thing to consider in Mr. Lodge's candidacy is the fact that he has become a strong contender for the nomination without an elaborate organization working for him. This is adequate indication that Mr. Lodge has the support of the people themselves since the people have largely taken the initiative in his behalf. Mr. Lodge's support was not created by an organization working on his behalf but comes from a strong and widely spread popularity among the voters themselves, the people.

A third factor in Mr. Lodge's behalf is that a good deal of his popularity comes from parts of the country which are quite a distance from his native New England. He is not a sectional candidate. This will undoubtedly be evidenced by his almost certain victory in the coming Oregon primary where Mr. Lodge will again be a write-in candidate. In recent polls Mr. Lodge has also shown strength in the Mid-West and South, areas which until recently had been considered almost solidly for Senator Goldwater. Mr. Lodge made a quite significant showing in the primary in Mr. Scranton's home state, Pennsylvania. Recent polls have also indicated generally that Mr. Lodge is being considered more and more seriously by a rapidly increasing number of people. His popularity as a candidate has certainly increased more than any other candidate while, indeed, the popularity of some of them has markedly declined.

It is for these reasons as well as Mr. Lodge's outstanding record of service to his country that he must be considered as a strong and likely candidate for the Republican nomination for President of the United States. I urge you to weigh these matters carefully and to support the best man, Henry Cabot Lodge, for the Republican nomination.

Stickmen to Face Toughest Yet; Jayvees Outclassed by Virginia

By BRUCE GARRETT

The best W&L lacrosse team in many a year faces a little bit better team tomorrow.

Washington College of Maryland is, according to W&L defense coach Dana Swan, "head and shoulders the best team we will have played to date, including Williams." Game time is 3:15 on Wilson Field.

The Marylanders, who defeated W&L last year 10-3, bring a 6-2 record into tomorrow's game. Their only losses to date have been to Navy, 13-4, and to Johns Hopkins, 16-6. They have defeated UNC, 17-5, New Hampshire, 22-4, Loyola, 15-2, Hofstra, 8-6 (in the mud), Towson, 26-2, and Swarthmore, 15-4.

Last year Washington College was ranked No. 13 in the country. W&L was No. 38. Both teams have improved their ratings this year.

Washington's Fusting may be just about the best attack man in the country. He can, and does, play behind the goal, on the creases, and in the midfield.

Their midfielders, Dick, Rudolph, and Weiss, who scored four goals against W&L last year, are a solid corps; and the Marylanders are three deep at all positions.

The Washington defense is strong and quick, and composed of good stickhandlers. All the defenses can go either right or left with the sick. Goalie Johnson can be either fair or great depending on the occasion. Against Navy he made 27 saves.

This will be Washington and Lee's first actual meeting with a fellow member of the Southern (Strobahr) Division, although North Carolina and Duke are affiliated. Towson and Loyola, whom we have yet to play, are the other members of the league.

Virginia, 8-1

The University of Virginia's freshmen lacrosse team proved to be quite a bit too much for the W&L freshmen yesterday. The final score in the game played here was 8-1 with the Generals on the short end. It is the second setback for the W&L freshmen in three starts.

The game was close for a quarter. The score at the end of the first period was 1-1, but the Cavaliers broke it wide open in the second quarter with four goals.

The game's leading scorer was Billy Harrison of Virginia. He had three goals. Cavalier goalie Stu Orrick was also outstanding and was credited with sixteen saves.

Fred Skinner got the only W&L goal. Generals goalie Skip Brooks made ten saves.

Two Games Rained Out

Baseball games scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, against Randolph-Macon and Richmond Professional Institute, were both rained out this week.

It was the second time the baseball team's game with RPI has been rained out.

With a 1-6 record, the Generals meet Old Dominion here tomorrow at 3:15 p.m. Their last regular season game is Wednesday, also at home, against Lynchburg.

Tomorrow the W&L lacrosse team meets Washington College of Maryland. Game Time—3:15 on Wilson Field.

INTRAMURAL WEEK

As the result of softball action through Wednesday of this week, two playoff positions have apparently been decided, while the races in the other two leagues are still up for grabs. All but certain of playoff spots are Delt (4-0) and ZBT (3-0). Engaged in a three-way battle for one other playoff spot are SPE (3-1), Beta (2-1), and Phi Gam (2-1). Fighting for the last position are PiKA (3-0) and DU (2-0).

By virtue of two big victories in the last week, the Deltas took their league's title. First they whipped Sigma Chi, 9-4, and then they defeated Lambda Chi, 5-0 behind the shutout pitching of Fred Schaeffer.

ZBT virtually clinched their league's championship last week when they claimed a forfeit victory over KA.

The complete mixup which resulted in a three-way battle for third place in the third league came about when it was discovered that SPE used an ineligible player in their victory over Phi Gam. As a result, the game was awarded to Phi Gam on a forfeit. This left three teams with a chance for first place... SPE, Phi Gam, and Beta, who gained a chance for the top spot with their 9-7 victory over Phi Delt. The championship will be settled when SPE meets the winner of yesterday's Phi Gam-Beta contest. SPE, who earlier in the week downed Phi Delt, 21-2, rates as the probable favorite.

The mess in the four league developed when PIKA won two straight in the last week to keep a perfect record while DU didn't play. They first downed Pi Phi, 6-5, and then they beat SAE by a forfeit. DU was rained out in their only game this week, against SAE. The league's championship will probably be decided when DU and PiKA meet in their already once postponed game.

The week's only other games saw Sigma Chi pick up its second win of the season, by forfeit, over Phi Psi, and SAE take a forfeit victory (Continued on page 4)

G-W Outclasses Tennis Team

The varsity tennis team met defeat, 7-2, at the hands of the Southern Conference Champion, George Washington, on Tuesday. Jim Mell was the only victor for the Generals in singles play, and he won in a close hard fought three-set match. Mell was also instrumental in gaining the other win for W&L as he and Forrest Dickinson combined to win at number three doubles.

Jim DeYoung and Forrest Dickinson had very close matches in a losing effort. DeYoung lost 6-2, 8-6, to Harvey Harrison, last year's Southern Conference singles champion, and Dickinson carried his opponent to 14-12 in the second set before losing.

The Varsity played the University of Virginia yesterday at Charlottesville to close out their regular season before the Conference tournament next week. W&L carried a 10-3 record into the match.

Next week, at the CAC tournament in Danville, Ky., W&L's chief rival will be Washington.

Golfers Idle Until CAC

It was an idle week for the golf team.

After finishing third in the State Intercollegiate Meet at Hot Springs, the General linksters had only to prepare for next weekend's College Athletic Conference tournament.

Last year the golfers took second in the tournament. This year they should win.

W&L Takes Dual Meet

The Washington and Lee track team ran, swam and wallowed its way to dual meet victories over Elon (108-37) and High Point (99½-45½) in a triangular meet Tuesday.

The meet, scored as two dual team's game with RPI has been for the season to 6-1. The triangular score was W&L 100½, High Point 53, and Elon 26½.

In spite of rather unfavorable conditions—the track was three inches under water in places—the Generals won 11 of the 17 events en route to their largest point total of the season. Several Generals ran "unofficially" and would have added to the total had they been official.

With the dual meet season completed, the trackmen have only the state meet at Charlottesville and the College Athletic Conference meet in Danville, Ky., remaining on the schedule.

Double winners for the victors were Mike Goode who took the high hurdles in 17.3, and the lows in 27.8, Robin Kell who won the high jump at 5' 6" and the broad jump at 21' ¾", and Chris Kell who won the 100 in 10.7, and the 220 in 23.3.

Other individual winners for the Generals were Gay Gasque in the shot, 45' 8½"; Johnny Graham in the pole vault, 11' 6"; Scott Kennedy in the javelin, 159' 4"; and Rick Hartgrove in the triple jump, 40' 5". The 440 relay team was also victorious in the time of 46.2.

Forty-seven men, a full varsity and freshman team, will make the trip to Charlottesville tomorrow for the state meet. Coach Norm Lord has high hopes of improving last year's fourth place finish.

CAMPUS ELECTIONS are a little bit like a sporting event, and maybe should be reported that way.

Maybe you could call it "The Year Lamar Lost the Pennant," or write of Yankee fans watching the game on television while Mets fans went out to Shea to cheer.

SPRING SPORTS are rapidly moving toward a climax, and it looks like its going to be a good spring. We spoke a bit harshly of winter sports here, but have naught but praise for the spring athletes.

Next week we'll carry a special preview of Danville and the CAC tournament, and the week after a special page devoted to the intramural year.

—Unangst

IN THIS TIME of fading traditions, we notice one more which seems destined to oblivion.

You see it on the windows of cars many times a day—three little animals grouped in a festive mood. They're known as "Minks," a nickname given to W&L students.

Century-old records referring to us as "Minks" have been uncovered, but no one is really sure where this distinctive title originated.

One theory—after the notorious "rat" of VMI became established as the "most dispicable form of life known to man," it logically followed that those on the adjoining campus (Continued on page 4)

Assessment Of Scranton Given

very short period of time. He is a hard worker, and his past record proves this.

Honest Assessment

As for an honest assessment of the W&L Mock Convention, I am not sure of his chances. I have polled every state chairman, and it appears to be a battle between Nixon and Scranton on the later (fourth, fifth, sixth) ballots. I would have to give Nixon a slight edge. I am confident, however, that he will make a good showing at the National convention in July. Scranton movements are springing up all over the country, and his backers expect to send this drive into a high gear in the next few weeks.

They are honestly working for a draft now, and as has happened twice before, I would not be the least bit surprised if they do get the draft for him. The convention's biggest disadvantage at this point is that of being held at a date before the Scranton forces start to really move. Of course the later date of the California primary could also be a crucial factor.

In summary, I feel that Scranton's chances at W&L are not quite as good as I would like them to be. I feel that he is a serious candidate, and people should treat him as such. I think also by July that the draft will develop, and that William Scranton will be running against Johnson for the Presidency.

Nixon's Nomination Considered Likely

and lost ground in the December and April polls.

It is two full months until the convention in San Francisco and any thing can happen, but considering how things sound now it seems to be a contest between Goldwater and Nixon and if Goldwater doesn't win early, it looks like Nixon is to run against Johnson next fall.

IFC Nominations

Candidates for the offices of the IFC submitted letters to the nominating committee, stating their qualifications, purposes and goals. They were interviewed in person by the judicial board after which it selected the candidate it feels is best for the position.

The week after the presentation of the tentative slate to the floor of the IFC, nominations from the floor may be presented, after which the elections are held. This election is to take place this coming Wednesday, May 6.

gebra and geometry problems. This failure made her doubt her own abilities and life in general.

In analyzing the dream part by part, Dr. Baumann discovered that the patient was an introvert since her dream took place in her apartment. An introvert was most at home with herself, he explained.

When she walked over the moaning body under the floor, she had to leave the room because of her fear. Dr. Bauman stated that the probing dog represents the curiosity of the patient since a person feels an instinctive identification to a dog.

In solving the problem Dr. Baumann stated that the patient resisted the mathematical idea that "a" equals "b." She believed that "a" could only equal "a" since "b" was not the same as "a." She tried to force herself to understand these identities that she did not understand, and in the process she began to doubt herself and life in general. When the patient was told the reason for her bad dream, she felt much relieved.

California Politicians Pick Rocky In Primary feller and against the strongly conservative Goldwater.

Finally, the Mock Convention officials point out that Goldwater's plan to stay out of California during the campaign, will prevent his stopping these trends toward Rockefeller. If Goldwater does come to California, Rockefeller will try to tie the conservatives to his extremist supporters in the state.

The Mock Convention's prediction that Rockefeller will stop Goldwater in California is not the first limb on which the Washington and Lee students have dared to perch. But they have been right eight out of twelve times in picking the eventual nominee for the party out of power. The convention has been correct the last three times in a row.

should have a title in keeping with the same animal family but a bit more elite.

To prove themselves above the lowly title of "rats," the W&L students took the name of "Minks" in the belief that the mink is the aristocratic blue-blood of the rodent family.

However, some VMI people came up with another theory several years ago. They claimed the mink is a slippery, scheming creature which, apparently harmless by day, stealthily stalks its prey by night, at least during midnight maneuvers on VMI dance weekends.

Hence, they felt the title appropriately bestowed on those nasty men who constantly "cherchez les femmes."

Rockefeller For President?

For Nixon, his only hope is a compromise. This could be fatal to the party. He has lost his support even in his home state. He would never get the support of the industrial states which are necessary for anyone to win.

Sen. Goldwater, like Rockefeller has been in from the beginning. He has a fantastically faithful following in some states. Quality is all very fine, but again realistically it's the quantity that counts in the end.

Rockefeller has this quantity. Just looking at his campaigns one can see the support that he has been getting. Granted this has not all been there from the beginning, but it's the end that counts. Rockefeller, by convention time, will have the support that will enable him to get the nomination. For as the weeks go by the people see that here is a man capable in all respects of beating Johnson and leading this country as they would like to be led.
