

Shakeup Planned In Measure Passed By I-F Council

Resolution Provides for Election Of Members by Fraternities, Fines For Failure to Attend Meetings

Plans for the reorganization of the Interfraternity council were effected last night when a resolution calling for the election next week by the University's 18 fraternities of regular delegates and alternates and for compulsory attendance at regular weekly council meetings was passed. The shakeup in the council's organization was proposed by Henry Roediger, PIKA representative, who introduced the resolution to bring an end to lax attendance and the failure to hold regular meetings. Another resolution, calling for the immediate election of council members by fraternities, was also passed, and it was decided to hold a special meeting of newly-elected representatives Thursday night in the Student Union building. The first of the regular weekly meetings will be held next Tuesday night.

Roediger's resolution, as amended and passed by the council, contained four clauses designed "to strengthen the organization structurally in order that it may be able to perform its duties more efficiently."

The first part of the resolution called for the election by each fraternity, by a majority vote, of one of its members to represent the chapter at council meetings. The election of alternate members was also provided for. These elections, starting next spring, will be held during the first week of May, and newly-named members will be sworn in by the president of the council on the second Tuesday in May. A plan employed by the University executive committee whereby new members sit in on several meetings of their predecessors in order to familiarize themselves with the organization's procedure will be carried out by the Interfraternity council.

The second part of the resolution called for the holding of regular council meetings every Tuesday evening.

A fine of $3.00 for the absence of a member or alternate from a council meeting was provided for in the third section of the resolution. The council will determine the acceptability of excuses.

The final provision requires that the secretary-treasurer of the council shall notify every member of meetings at least six hours in advance of the session.

Baseball Managers

All candidates for football manager are requested to report at the gymnasium Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Manager Jim Price announced today.

Freshman equipment will be given out Friday between two and five in the gymnasium.

Scholarship Up; 64 Make Honor Roll

156 Students On Dean's List

An increase in the number of Honor Roll and Dean's List men and a decrease in the number of students deprived of voluntary class cuts were recorded today with the release by Registrar Earl S. Mattingly of scholarship statistics for the recently-ended semester.

Sixty-four students, 20 of them freshmen, were included on the first semester Honor Roll. Sixty-three made the required 90 average last February. On the current list are 10 who made all A grades, a decrease of almost 50 percent in comparison with last February's total of 19. Only one of the ten is a member of the freshman class.

The first semester Dean's List carries the names of 156 students, an increase of 17 over last year. The list includes all men above the freshman class who made an average of 85 or more, with no grade below C, and all freshmen with an average of 90 or above.

Two hundred and ninety-eight students were included on the list of those deprived of the week of cuts. The list issued last February contained 299 names.

Sugrue, Woodward, Esten Cooke Star In Troubadour Offering

Starring in this afternoon's presentation of "Clochette" over radio station WDBJ were Troubadours Francis Sugrue, Ernest Woodward II, and Miss Esten Cooke.

The program was another in the series of "Tales from Maupassant," and was the tenth to be presented by the Troubadours. The story concerned the adventures of a young professor who fell in love with a girl that worked in the boys' school where he taught.

Each week the Troubadours broadcast a dramatic program from WDBJ on Tuesday at four in the afternoon.

Band to Swing Out Tonight For W&L-Spider Clash

The University band will play tonight at the basketball game with the University of Richmond at 7:45. It was announced at the first practice of the semester last night at the Troubadour theatre. After playing at the basketball game here with the University of Maryland last Thursday night, the band made plans to go to Lynchburg for the University of Virginia game Saturday night, but these plans were abandoned when it was found that another band had already been scheduled to play for the game.

Lothery Stresses Rays In Talk to Photographers

Professor Thomas E. Lothery, Jr., stressed the importance of ultra-violet, infra-red, and X-rays in photography in a lecture to the Camera club at a meeting last Friday night.

Other uses of photography as explained by Mr. Lothery were its use commercially to show up defects in steel and other metals, and to bring out handwriting that has been eradicated on old manuscripts.

Fraternities to Get Second Crack At Intramural Basketball Points As Board Approves All-Star Game

FOREST FLETCHER, CHAIRMAN OF THE INTRAMURAL BOARD—Announced yesterday the group's approval of the All-Star Intramural basketball game, as suggested by the Interfraternity council last Friday night.

Interfraternity Council Resolution

It is resolved by the Interfraternity council of Washington and Lee university that to strengthen this organization structurally in order that it may be able to perform its duties more efficiently, the following will become active rules governing this body from this date forward:

- (a) Each fraternity shall, by a majority vote, elect one of its members to represent it in the Interfraternity council; and, at this time, they shall elect an alternate. These elections shall take place the first week of May. On the second Tuesday of May the new members shall be sworn in by the president.
- (b) The officers of the council shall be elected at the first meeting in May.
2. Meetings of the Interfraternity council will be held every Tuesday night in the Student Union.
3. Each fraternity must be represented at all meetings by its accredited representative or alternate. Failure to do so will necessitate a fixed fine of three dollars. The council shall determine the acceptability of excuses.
4. Notice of all regular meetings shall be given by the Secretary-Treasurer of the Interfraternity council to every member at least six hours before the meeting.

In the Spring a Young Man's Fancy Turns to Valentine's Day; Why? What Else Is There to Do?

There are a few days in the year that have an especial significance. There are Christmas, Thanksgiving, and April Fool's day. In addition to all these, there is Valentine's Day.

And tomorrow, gentlemen, is Valentine's Day. The question is, what are we going to do about it? The time has passed when we can just ignore it. In all the stores are artfully displayed candy boxes in the shape of hearts, tastily priced at from twenty-five cents to five dollars. The cheaper grades have almonds and candy sticks, the more expensive have almonds and candy sticks coated with chocolate.

Also, the telegraph company says that for twenty-five cents we can send an already prepared message expressing tender sentiments, or for thirty-five cents can compose your own (if you're not afraid to put it in writing).

And so, boys, there are several possibilities that come to us as we ruminate. In the first place, you can wait until several days have passed and then write your girl and say you were sorry but the time just slipped up on you. You can send her some flowers if your board bill is already taken care of, saying roses are red, etcetera. If absolutely imperative you can send her a telegram containing what Mr. Western Union considers a very touching thought. Or go ahead, sucker, and send her a box of candy. She and that boy friend that didn't go away from home can probably have a good time eating it.

For us, we have it all fixed up.

After all, it is leap year, isn't it? Let them send us candy and flowers. We took them to Fancy Dress, didn't we? We write them every month faithfully, don't we? So there.

Who is this Valentine guy anyway, to come butting in on our affairs? Don't we have enough trouble keeping girls without more technical restrictions?

Betas to Hear National President at Banquet

Clarence L. Newton, national president of Beta Theta Pi, will be a guest at the local chapter's initiation ceremonies Thursday afternoon, and will be the principal speaker at a fraternity banquet at the Robert E. Lee hotel Thursday night.

Mr. Newton is on his way to a district convention at Davidson college in North Carolina, and will be accompanied there by several members of the W&L chapter.

Tucker's Tax Address

A discussion on exemption from income taxes for public employees, written by Dr. Robert H. Tucker as the presidential address for presentation to the Southern Economic association, is featured in January's issue of the Southern Economic Journal.

The article, entitled "Some Aspects of Intergovernmental Tax Exemption," deals with a subject which, Dr. Tucker pointed out, has been under congressional consideration for 20 years.

I-F Council to Sponsor Game Of 'Blue Comets', 'Generals'; Offers Medals to All-Stars

Fraternities will get another crack at gaining ten points in intramural basketball and individual stars will garner points toward the individual cup, besides having a chance to win an Interfraternity council medal in an all-star intramural basketball game approved yesterday by the intramural board and to be sponsored by the Interfraternity council. The all-star game will be played as soon as the final consolation games are concluded.

Forest Fletcher, chairman of the Intramural board, stated that the board unanimously backed the suggestion of the Interfraternity council to hold an intramural all-star basketball game because of the fact that the caliber of the basketball teams this year has been far above the average, and the Interfraternity council believes that such a game will tend to encourage spirit among the fraternities.

"Briefly," Fletcher stated, "the university will be divided into two squads, say the 'Blue Comets' and the 'Generals,' and they will play one game, supported by fraternities who will enter men to represent their own fraternity."

The following are the details as set down by the board:

1. Each fraternity will elect one man to represent it in the all-star game. This will make up a squad of 18 fraternity men and one man elected from the non-fraternity group.
2. The 19 men will be separated into two squads of nine and ten, respectively. The squads will then elect a captain from their number to manage the team and captain the squad.
3. Each fraternity will support its own man, thereby dividing the fraternities and the non-fraternity union into two groups of nine and ten, respectively. For the squad that wins the game, each fraternity supporting that squad will be awarded ten intramural points.

4. Each individual player selected to play in the all-star game will be awarded points toward the individual intramural cup. The exact number of points are yet to be determined by the board.

5. Elections to the all-star game may be held any time up to the conclusion of the consolation round and the names of the elected players will be handed to Coach Fletcher.

6. The Interfraternity council will award medals to the five outstanding players of the all-star game.

Herb Garges, president of the Interfraternity council, presented the suggestion of an all-star game to the Intramural board, stating that the council considered this plan to be a valuable addition to the intramural program and if successful, could be extended to intramural football and basketball.

Coach Fletcher, Cy Twombly, Charlie Curl, Lou Plummer, and Syd Lewis were the members of the board who unanimously approved the idea. Members of the board said that they considered such an all-star game a fitting climax to the intramural seasons of football, basketball, and baseball.

Griffith Heads Conference To Discuss Youth Problems

Matthews Griffith was elected regional vice-chairman of the Shenandoah valley area by over 200 people who attended the second conference of the Youth of Virginia which convened in Richmond, from February 9 to February 11. The conference was called in an endeavor to discuss the problems that face the Virginia youth today, as well as their possible solutions.

Griffith asserted that the purpose of the conference in its entirety was three-fold, "to be a forum where every young Virginian may discuss his needs and work toward their attainment, to be the medium of co-ordinating the efforts of all the youth organizations in the state to make a better Virginia, and to be a link with other southern organizations to restore the south to its proper place in the nation."

Griffith, who is a member of the state executive committee of the Virginia Youth conference, participated in the round table discussion group on "Citizenship," of which as a member of the Findings committee, he had been elected secretary. The group was headed by Professor George W. Spicer, of the University of Virginia.

Griffith stated that "the Virginia Youth conference is sponsored by no other organization, and is entirely non-partisan, its prime effort being in the direction of the discussion of Virginia's problems."

As regional vice-chairman, Griffith will endeavor to promote interest in the Youth conference in the various colleges and youth organizations in the Shenandoah area.

Delegations attending the conference from nearby schools included those from Virginia Military Institute, the University of Virginia, Randolph-Macon Woman's college, and Mary Baldwin, as well as representatives from various youth groups, including labor organizations, the YMCA, the YWCA, and the Business and Professional Women's association.

Other round table discussion groups included those on education, public health, youth in rural areas, youth and the church, and the youth in industry.

Findings of these groups were reported at the night session and included recommendations for increased National Youth administration activity in the state, extension of vocational training and strict enforcements of health laws in industry.

The reports carried protests against the proposed tax against co-operatives, and advocated that Virginia ratify the federal child labor amendment.

Greetings were received from Governor James H. Price and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, both being unable to attend the conference in person.

Christian Council to Meet Friday to Fill Vacancies

A meeting of the Christian council for the purpose of filling two vacancies on its executive committee, originally scheduled for last week, will be held Friday night at 7:30 in the Student Union. President Bill Read announced today.

A social hour, at which time refreshments will be served, will follow the meeting, Read said.

The council will send a deputation team to Virginia Polytechnic institute at Blacksburg Wednesday night, according to Dan Lewis, chairman of the council's committee on deputations. Dr. J. J. Murray, pastor of the Lexington Presbyterian church, will be the principal speaker. Others on the program will be Harry Philpott, Whitt Schultz, and Bill Read.

Council Will Check Fly-by-Night Vendors

At the Interfraternity meeting last Friday, a resolution was passed stating that all salesmen on the Washington and Lee campus would be required to have vendor's permits. These permits will be issued by the Interfraternity council at the request of the salesmen. The charge will be five dollars per semester, effective immediately.

Herb Garges, president of the Interfraternity council, asked for the support of all fraternities to uphold this new rule regarding all types of salesmen that visit the Washington and Lee campus. "The purpose of the Interfraternity council's resolution," he stated, "is to protect the students from 'fly-by-night' salesmen and to prevent the privilege of selling to legitimate salesmen."

The Interfraternity council also stressed the fact that all fraternities are requested to cooperate with the council in enforcing the permits. A representative from each house should question the salesmen in order to find out whether the proper permit has been obtained.

Garges said that the new permits followed the policy of several other large universities who seek to protect their students from unreliable salesmen. "The plan was introduced to protect the students," Garges declared, "and the council asks the cooperation of the individual students in carrying out their part of the permit requirement."

Permits and information on the new resolution may be obtained from Herb Garges at the Phi Delta house, or Jim Price at the Phi Kappa Sigma house. All previous permits are cancelled by this new rule and no salesman will be allowed to sell anywhere on the campus without the proper card issued by the Interfraternity council and countersigned by President Garges.

At the same meeting, the Interfraternity council introduced a resolution that provided for a shakeup in its organization. The new council will be formed immediately and plans were underway to provide it with more power.

The council voted to award five medals to the outstanding men who will participate in the intramural all-star basketball game that will be sponsored by the Interfraternity council.

HELL WEEK—NOW ONLY MILDLY PURGATORIAL

With most other college papers coming out strongly on one tack or the other in regard to Hell Week (notice this issue's Forum) the spotlight is turned again on the fraternity system.

Few publications will stand up for the old blood-and-thunder style of initiation. Most of the papers from schools where that vestige of the barbarian days of education still hangs on will deplore it.

Those few who half-heartedly endorse it will give as a reason the theory that it builds up fraternity loyalty as no other custom can.

This idea is probably true. Why it is, no one has yet successfully explained. It is perhaps one of the mysteries of human nature that college men will feel closer ties of friendship with acquaintances who have pounded their posterior to a pulp.

At Washington and Lee the initiation procedure has been modified to a satisfactory compromise. Enough brutality has survived, more prevalent in some houses than in others, to satiate the more belligerent sophomores and the few seniors who still maintain a Joe college philosophy of scholasticism.

But here, as in most progressive colleges, the unclever and stupid slugging process has been gradually modified in favor of ingenious, little tasks, acutely embarrassing to the pledges whose mental torture is of much more entertainment value to the upperclassmen than any drubbing would be.

It is fairly safe to predict that whatever holdovers remain from the earlier forms of physical punishment will within the next decade gradually vanish as the more serious and intelligent student replaces the rah-rah boy.

For the present, goats will continue to endure stinging tails, and fraternities, which are fundamentally useful, will linger in the unpleasant national spotlight that is turned upon them about this time every year.

WHY SPRING FEVER SHOULD ALWAYS PRECEDE SPRING

Now that we can leave our overcoats off during a few afternoon hours, now that Spring dances are next on the list, now that the pressure of exams is over and spring football is in the offing, now that the political early birds are chattering, the chaps who are perennially exhausted have already begun to fall back on their most legitimate alibi—spring fever.

That mornings, for the moment, are a few degrees less penetrating, that darkness is a quarter of an hour nearer supertime, that snow is temporarily passe, can have nothing physiological to do with our accumulating inertia.

Spring fever is largely a mental state—and one we recommend cultivating.

After all, if you can fool yourself into blaming your laziness on the weather and the sluggishness of your blood stream this early in the year, it is obvious that you will have a proportionately longer period of rationalized restfulness.

And that—with professors, coaches, politicians, and other anti-social individuals continually goading you into expending more and more effort—is a necessary defense against the inevitable nastiness of things collegiate and scholastic. So, in the words of the Spanish proletariat, lean back and enjoy it.

IMPROVEMENTS— HITHER AND YON

A housemother this issue writes a letter to the editor backing up our plea for lights in front of the Memorial gateway.

Several students approve of the plan to light up Old George—improving the appearance of the illuminated colonnade.

Fraternities cooperate in a petition that the eyesores in the neighborhood of the Phi Delt, Sigma Nu, and PiKA houses be demolished.

The ancient campaign for a lavatory in the library revives. "Rebuild the dorms," request the freshmen.

Powers-that-be, consider these matters called to your attention.

SMOKE GETS IN YOUR EYES

Some weeks ago Coach Cunningham, now famed for his Blue Comet basketball team, made the simple request that no one smoke in the gym during the course of a game.

Let's do our part in granting him and the Comets a small favor. It's easy: No Smoking.

THE FORUM

False Pictures

Recently there has been a deluge of sensational articles and pictures that are supposed to be typical of the college fraternity life. These by no means give the true picture of life in our Greek letter fraternities and some action should be taken to stop this flood of harmful publicity. This is one of the big problems facing our fraternities today.

Much harm is done through the exploited incidents of "Hell Week" and false impressions of our dances and social affairs. This gives false ideas of fraternity life to the public and is one of the chief sources of parental objection that offers an obstacle to the pledging of men by the chapters.

For those who read these articles and see these films it creates the impression that our Greek letter organizations are places where morality is at an extremely low level and the boys and girls care little or nothing about morals and studies . . . and the majority of them attend college merely to raise hell.

These impressions are entirely without foundation and people will, in most instances, find the fraternity houses more orderly and better conducted than many college dormitories. And as far as scholastic standing goes, the fraternity men as a whole surpass the non-fraternity men, according to a survey made in our colleges and universities.

This is one of the real values of the fraternity to the educational institution; it furnishes a well-ordered and cooperative group which can be made responsive to any influence brought to bear on its members, a factor missing in the relations that deal with unorganized groups.

The purpose of our college Greek letter fraternities is to inculcate mutual friendship among the members and to advance the well-being of the educational institution in which it is situated . . . along with the betterment of its social life.

As a general rule, the fraternity men are of good families and are by no means the least intellectual group on the campus. They have their social events, it is true, but they are usually well conducted. Of course, there are exceptions to every rule, but we have not as yet encountered it here.

Should the general public care to spend the time and effort to investigate the situation it will find a well-ordered group of men organized to advance the interests of the group as a whole and not a crowd of vulgar roughnecks whose sole interest is to lead a rah, rah life and to make college a perpetual hell-week.—Wake Forest Old Gold and Black.

CAMPUS COMMENT . . .

By DICK SOUTHWORTH

Shades of Fancy Dress . . .

February is well upon us and the campus is settling down for the long wait until Spring vacation. Which may in fact be a very good thing. The mortality rate as a result of the antics of some of our better known luminaries is appalling. Hollins has discovered that VPI may have something on the ball after all; Sweet Briar continues as a haven for the wayward Wahoo; Mary Baldwin is catering to the boys from Charlottesville; only Randolph-Macon remains a safe sanctuary for the journeying General. It's a trifle disillusioning to several of our local Lochinvars to discover that it was really Fancy Dress which infatuated her and not their sparkling wit. Wonder what Casey Lewis, Ruke Shumate, and Dick Parsons have to say about it all?

Williamson Again . . .

Mr. Williamson of a certain Richmond paper is back with us. Once again the victim of his diabolic wit is our own Washington and Lee. It is unfortunate that we are unable to impress Mr. Williamson with our athletic prowess, such as it may be, but perhaps the reason for our failure to impress lies in his inability to impress 'us. An accurate account of a sports event is a tribute to any sports writer, and we are convinced, after his glowing story concerning the Virginia game in last Sunday's paper, of Mr. Williamson's ability . . . to write obituaries.

Pome of the Week . . .

Breathes there a man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
'T'hell with studies,
I'm going to bed!"

Ramlings . . .

Taylor has a new VMI story he will tell if properly urged. . . . Bob Cockrell was sighted off the port bow after the Virginia game offering to scuttle himself in true Navy style. . . . Spring must be on the way. The Ground-hawg team from the Law School, composed of Murray Smith, John Alexander, Bill Bauers, and Al Brombacher, emerged yesterday and sunned themselves for a full hour. . . . Thigpen cuts a very attractive valentine. Ask any of the young maidens who surprised him in the process down in Hollins reception hall last week-end. . . . Dickinson has only three more week-ends to go before he will have dated the entire student body at Hollins. . . . Friedberg peeled for action after the Virginia game but the Wahoo Aggies' example and rate our professors? It might work out some interesting angles. . . . Ex-student body prexy Beale was sighted cavorting at Macon's dance. . . . The SPEs have tossed in the sponge. We're sorry to see them leave. . . . Wish that magician was still around to help explain grades to the family. . . . What ever happened to the new dormitory and auditorium we've heard so much about? . . . Pinck gets our vote as the most mistreated man of the year. . . .

In case there are any students wondering who was the author of the letter from Lexington, Va., read by Deems Taylor on the New York Philharmonic program Sunday, it was Hans Schmitt, the German refugee student at Washington and Lee.

In the letter Schmitt expressed the idea that the best music in Europe is not written during times of peace and of no governments' unrest. He explained that he wasn't trying to justify the present forms of government of some of the European countries because he was an exile from one of them himself, but he believed that the greatest music written by the masters was written during a period when there was governments' unrest and people were not satisfied with their government.

The Swing . . .

The Oklahoma A. and M. grapplers who had such a field day with VMI the other night are well acquainted with Washington and Lee. Surprising as it may sound, it is not the reputation of our own wrestling team that furnished their interest. We were curious as to the real reason and asked one of the members of the team. In his Oklahoma drawl, he frankly told us. The Washington and Lee Swing, goth he, is the favorite jitterbug number on the middle west campuses and has many more requests than do the more popular variety of Dixielanders.

Socialism . . .

Richmond debutantes continue to cause havoc on the campus. A Juliette Loving club is in the process of being formed with a charter membership of four. The fortunate combine includes Dan Lewis, Bob Dementi, Neal Meyers, and Dick Houska, and the sole function of the club is to decide who sees her when. It's a practical example of the cooperative system. Dementi, not content with this, is competing also for the attentions of a lovely Richmond model, Mary McFadden by name, with Hal Smith. Dementi won the decision for VMI dances and an approaching houseparty but Smith beat Dementi to the distant Spring dance set. Wonder which one will win out for Opening dances next year?

Do You Remember? . . .

Well, those of us in school two years ago undoubtedly do remember Averill DeLoache of Phi Delt fame and as to how he was unfortunate enough to have an accident coming back to Lexington from Lynchburg. Reliable sources say that "De" has successfully overcome his injury to his spinal column.

Intramural basketball certainly furnished plenty of excitement last night in the semi-final round. Both games went into overtime. Overheard after the second game was Referee Jack Dangler complaining because he had a lot of work to do. Also overheard was Dangler's remark to a Pi Phi after the second game to the effect that, "I thought the freshman basketball team complained about the officiating enough, but you guys have even got them beat."

PERSONAL OPINIONS

Take Bridge— A Four-sided Game

I have always believed objectivity to be dangerous. Show me a happy man, and I'll show you a man who is positive that the world is exactly as he thinks it is. Take bridge.

Bridge is a game, which, to enjoy most, should be played by four people. They sit opposite each other at a four-sided table, one person to each side. Of course, it is not necessary that the table have four sides. What I mean is, that only four sides of a table should be used. The table itself might have eleven sides.

That is beside the point. If there is no predetermined grouping, partners are chosen by cutting cards. The couple cutting the two highest cards play together. It naturally follows, then, that the two who cut the two lowest cards also play together.

Of Course, We Must First Distribute Cards

A deck, containing 52 cards, is used. These cards are distributed by a person known, only temporarily, of course, as the dealer, one at a time, to the four players. The first card is given to the player on his left, the second to the player across the table, the third to the opponent on his right, and the fourth to himself.

After the cards have been distributed in this manner, they are collected once more, four at a time, the collector of each "trick," as the groups of four are called, being determined by arbitrary values on the faces of the cards. These arbitrary values are expressed by the use of four different forms, two distinct colors, and little numbers printed in the corners of some of the cards.

When the cards have been collected again in this manner, they are handed to the person to the left of the original dealer, who repeats the process just described, in every detail.

A score is kept, based upon a correlation between the aforementioned arbitrary values of the cards, the number of "tricks" taken, and the terms of a prior fictitious contract made by one of the players. The winning team is thereby determined.

The Dummy Is a Most Interesting Personage

During the playing of each hand, one person is idle, as a result of his, or his partner's, industrious bidding. During this period, "Dummy," as he is paronomastically called, may fiddle with the radio, fix high-balls, whip up an omelette, play the piano (quietly), hum softly to himself, go out and look at the thermometer, or just sit in a stupor until the hand is finished.

Which brings us to the matter of systems.

In every card game, there is an element of chance that various devotees attempt to overcome. This is accomplished in bridge by the use of a device known as a system. There is the Culbertson system—designed by a man named Culbertson, the Lenz system, designed by a man named Lenz, the Blackwood system, designed by a man named Blackwood, and many others, named after many men. It has been observed that there are very few systems named after buildings or rivers. Some of the more ardent initiates design systems, which will fit into the big systems and operate as a part of them. These systems have completely eliminated the element of chance from bridge. It is, I believe, the only field in the world in which this has been done.

Bridge has been regarded by several important psychologists as a substitute for sex. That fact alone has had bridge outlawed in Germany, Italy, and Russia, where substitutes, ersatz, as it were, are encouraged in every other field. It is debatable, however, as to whether or not bridge will, in this country, ever completely replace sex.

The most that can be said, is that it is well on the way to so doing.

PREVIEWS AND REVIEWS

By AL FLEISHMAN

"The Rat and Brat" has yet a day to go. . . . It's not very interesting. . . . Ask the man who is one. . . . Wayne Morris is still the same old Billy Randolph and as usual gets all his pals in one mess after another. . . . "Commencement," the brat which is the most interesting thing in the picture besides Jane Wyman, has grown about a year or so, manages to swallow a phoney diamond ring and get the whole shebang in trouble. . . . Eddie Albert is the best there is when it comes to the comedy role. . . . Phoebe on the remainder of the cast and the movie. . . . We didn't like it and hope you didn't either.

Incidentally the Lyric has a picture Wednesday worthy of notice. . . . It's Jean Hershold in "Meet Doctor Christian." . . . It's a fair story of a little country town doctor, his trials and tribulations, and a couple of romances (of lesser members of the worthy community). . . . Dorothy Lovett, Hershold's nurse in the picture, is much nicer than the rest of the picture.

"The Great Victor Herbert" happens by the State on Thursday and Friday. . . . Walter Connolly is swell in the title role, while Mary Martin, "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" and Oomph Girl of 1940, plays the leading feminine characterization. . . . Alan Jones (one singer who can act) is cast as John Ramsey, musical star of the day. . . . The whole story is based on the love of Ramsey and Louise Hall. . . . Louise (Mary "Belongs to Daddy") does a bit of singing too and begins to eclipse the popularity of her lover and finally husband. . . . Meanwhile a daughter is born to the Ramseys, and Louise lets Ramsey continue his career by retiring from the stage. . . . Then he scrams to Switzerland and John starts to drop toward the depths of everything. . . . His wife and daughter finally come back and push him back up to the peak, from which he drops once more. . . . Louise then goes back to the stage, and her husband takes a job with a troupe heading for Australia. . . . Unable to appear on opening night, Louise is replaced by her 14-year-old daughter who sings for the climax. . . . And—hubby comes back and all is well.

Musically, the show is tops. . . . And with Mary Martin, it has plenty to offer. . . . Another none-too-uninteresting attraction, is Judith Barrett as Marie Clark—yeow. . . . Walter Connolly is far the best thing in the picture, we think. . . . He fits in beautifully here and does a wonderful job of acting and mugging. . . . Little Susanna Foster, who plays the 14-year-old daughter, has an amazing voice—with her looks she needs something. . . . We'll ignore Allan Jones—even if he's better than most of these singing hams. . . . Since our last glimpse of Nelson Eddy we've been a bit afraid to go to a show with music attached. . . . Still, we think it'll be good—and watch Miss Martin.

We almost forgot the Lyric—"Bachelor Mother" with Ginger Rogers and David Niven is coming back on Thursday. . . . It is really a swell show. . . . Of course, it has been here once—but if you missed it then, you might as well go now. . . . Miss Rogers is still as nice as anything in Hollywood. . . . But we'll stop there.

Generals Collide With UR Tonight

Blue Bid for Va. * Scrapping Comets Freeze Out Crown Hangs On Outcome Touted Wahoos by 33-30 Count

Surging forward on the crest of a six-game winning streak, Washington and Lee's Blue Comets will attempt to make it seven in a row tonight when they collide with the University of Richmond courtmen in Doremus gym. The tip-off is slated for 7:45.

The Generals have two more tough conference tilts scheduled for this week. Thursday night William and Mary's courtmen, recent conquerors of Virginia's passers, will invade Doremus gym for a Southern conference fray. Saturday will find the Generals traveling to Durham where they will meet the high-flying Duke team. The Blue Devils are currently leading the circuit with a record of 10 victories and one defeat.

Undeclared in state competition, the Generals can clinch the state title with triumphs over Richmond and William and Mary. Richmond was undefeated in the Old Dominion until VMI tripped them last night, 28-26. But the Spiders are still pushing Washington and Lee rather closely, and by winning tonight, they can move into a tie for first place.

Judging from Washington and Lee's and Richmond's game with Maryland, the Big Blue passes should enter tonight's game as favorites. The Spiders lost to Maryland by a 34-19 count, while Washington and Lee crushed the Terps on two occasions, by 44-25 and 39-19 scores.

Mermen Face VPI, Carolina In Next Meets

By AL DARBY

Beaten by William and Mary in their last start, Washington and Lee's swimmers will open a busy week's activity tomorrow night when they travel to Blacksburg for a duel meet with VPI. Coach Cy Twombly's mermen will hit the road again later in the week for an engagement with North Carolina at Chapel Hill on Saturday.

VPI, at whose expense the Generals will try to notch their second win of the season tomorrow night, dropped a 39-36 decision to Duke last Friday. The Techmen copped five first places to the Blue Devils' four, but fell behind in seconds and thirds. Leader of the Gobblers is Jim Hammack, who won both the 220- and 440-yard events and shared a leg on the victorious 400-yard relay team against Duke.

Victory in the final event—the 440-yard relay—gave William and Mary's forces their triumph over the Generals in last Saturday's meet at Williamsburg. Twombly's outfit was trailing by four points as the last event came up, but could have copped the meet with a victory in the finale. The Indian quartet, however, finished in front and gave the hosts a 43-32 triumph.

The summaries:
300-yard medley relay—Won by William and Mary (T. Brennan, Almond, J. Brennan). Time: 3:27.4.
220-yard free style—Won by Schultz, W&L; second, Purtil.

FOLLOWING THE BIG BLUE

With BAYARD BERGHAUS

Washington and Lee's basketball team topped the high-riding Wahoos on Saturday night. The players of both teams know it. The spectators of the affair know it. And now even those who couldn't get to the game know it, for they got an inkling of the event in Sunday's Times Dispatch which has since been confirmed by substantiated rumors and word-of-mouth from eye-witnesses.

Yes, it's true—the Times Dispatch's article actually admitted that we'd won the ball game. At first we thought the write-up was an infirmity bulletin, but upon closer inspection we realized the joyful truth.

It's a pity that Bill Harman was absent from the proceedings by illness. He's truly a first-rate basketball player, and his presence in the fray would doubtless have been a great comfort to his teammates, so woefully handicapped without him. However, we dare say that it wouldn't have been too difficult to find plenty of willing money in Lexington against Virginia, Harman, and all.

Turning toward tonight's game in the gym with Richmond, we see the Blue Comets faced with very interesting possibilities. A victory would give us:

1. Revenge for a 0-6 loss to the Spiders in football last fall.
2. Undisputed possession of first place in the State.
3. Undisputed possession of second place in the Southern conference.

Viewing it in its entirety, it's a mighty rough week that's coming up as far as the Comets are concerned. After the Richmond game there is William and Mary, which is assuming the giant-killer role, and current Basketball Team No. 1, Duke. This latter game seems to shape up as a sort of crisis for W&L cage fortunes; it should at least, to all appearances, be our sternest test of the season, and a ball game well worth making the trip to Durham to see.

Coach Archie Mathis' wrestlers are hot after the Southern conference crown which they tied VMI for last winter. Next on their program is North Carolina. It's reported that Johnnie Sasser, the Tarheel heavy, has been benched for the season with a broken ankle—tough luck, John; cheer up, Schellenberg.

Blue Matmen Pin Apprentice In Fourth Straight Triumph

The high-flying General grapplers made it four in a row last Friday night by downing the Apprentice school of Newport News 24-10 in a match contested at Doremus gym.

The team's chances were severely handicapped at the outset of the match with the loss of Harold Reed in the 121-pound class. Reed's successor, John Morgan, upset the dope, however, by pinning Urrutis of Apprentice in six minutes and five seconds to win his initial varsity encounter. Morgan wrestled on the freshman team last year and was a decided underdog due to his inexperience, but proved himself a capable performer by virtue of his victory for the Big Blue.

The roughest and most exciting match of the evening saw Bob Schellenberg succumb to Cendemen of Apprentice after seven minutes and 26 seconds of brawling. Schellenberg weighed in at 181 pounds, while Cendemen tipped the scales at 240 pounds. Schellenberg almost pulled a repetition of his victory against the Richmond YMCA by dumping his mammoth opponent in the opening minutes of the match and almost pinning him. After a terrific backdrop which found Schellenberg on the receiving end. Cendemen pinned the Big Blue grappler with sheer weight and strength.

The match was high-lighted by the initial victory as a General wrestler of Jimmy Hammett in the 128-pound class. Hammett won a decision over his Shipbuilder opponent, Ray Emory, in an overtime match. The contest was very close and both men were exhausted at the finish.

Hudson Nets 43 Points to Top Record As Brigs Drop Weird Tilt to Massanutten

MMA Takes Wild Fray by 75-74 Score

In one of the wildest games in the history of Old Dominion basketball, Washington and Lee's freshman basketeers were nosed out 75-74 by the Massanutten Military academy five in Woodstock last night. The Brigadiers' Jeff Hudson established a new Washington and Lee scoring record when he tossed in 21 field goals and one foul shot for the tremendous total of 43 points.

With neither team displaying the slightest semblance of a defense, the participants fired in points with the rapidity of machine gun fire. During the first half the lead changed hands 15 times, with the score being tied at the end of the period 37-37.

The second half was just as free-scoring. In the last 30 seconds of play the advantage changed possession three times. With a half minute left in the game, the Cadets were leading 73-72. Signaigo was fouled and missed the attempted shot, but Hudson followed up and tossed in a basket to put the Brigadiers out in front. Massanutten took the ball

Little Blue Cagers Stop Wahoos, 58-46

Washington and Lee freshmen made it Lexington night in the Lynchburg city armory by dropping in baskets from right and left for a 58-46 win over the University yearlings in a prelude to the varsity clash Saturday night.

Jeff Hudson, ace forward, led the evening's scoring by sinking 24 points from every angle on the court. Dick Wiltshire of Virginia followed Hudson closely with 20 points piled up during the game, and W&L's Leo Signaigo also put on a brilliant bit of shooting to amass 16 points for his night's work.

out of bounds and started down the floor. Simon received the ball at mid-court an took a desperate shot at the basket which went through as the whistle sounded ending the game.

KA, Pi Phi Crash Thru In Overtimes To Reach Cage Finals

Pi Phi Noses Out Lambda Chi, 27-25

The fighting Pi Phis entered the final round of the intramural tournament by scoring twice in the overtime period to nose out a strong Lambda Chi quintet by a score of 27-25 in the second half of last night's basketball double-header. The victors displayed a fighting spirit and fine passing qualities that should make them an even match against Kappa Alpha when the two squads battle for the championship.

The Pi Phis set a blistering pace during the first quarter to run up a lead of 8-4. However, they soon tired and the Lambda Chis were only one point behind at the half, trailing 11-10. Gregerson, who led the victors with eight points, was slightly injured during the second quarter.

Smither playing with a high temperature started the second half for the Lambda Chis and ran up a total of eight points to tie for the scoring honors of the game and send his team out in front 19-15 at the end of the period. Skillman, standing in center of the court, scored the longest basket of the game during the third quarter.

The Pi Phis came from behind in the last quarter to tie up the score at 23-23 and force the game into an overtime period, which saw them score quickly only to have Lambda Chi tie the count a second later, but the Pi Phis scored again to win out 27-25.

The leading scorers of the game were Gregerson of Pi Phi and Smither of Lambda Chi with 8 points, Steele of Lambda Chi with seven, and Hanasik of Pi Phi and Fiero of Lambda Chi with six.

KAs Edge Betas In 19-18 Thriller

The KAs forged into the finals of the intramural basketball tournament by downing Beta Theta Pi, 19-18, in an overtime game last night. Peck Robertson's foul shot in the first minute of the overtime period gave the KAs their margin of victory.

Both teams played fast ball, and the game was even throughout. The score was knotted at 11-all at half time. As the second half got under way, Wing, Boyd, and Woods dropped goals to give the Betas a lead that they did not relinquish until the final four minutes of play. The KAs pulled even with baskets by Robertson, Powers, and Gwyn. With thirty seconds' time remaining, the KAs had a chance to forge ahead, as Fisher attempted a foul throw, but the ball rimmed out and the game ended with the teams in a deadlock at 18-all.

Robertson was fouled during the first minute of the overtime period, and he tossed the all-important shot that proved to be the margin of victory for the KAs.

The KA quintet was composed of Robertson, Powers, Hutcheson, Gwyn, and Fisher, with Alverson as the lone substitute. Farrar, Boyd, Shannon, Wing, and Woods showed up well for the Betas.

Bill Gwyn finished third in the high jump. Charley Curl was fourth in the 70-yard dash and second in a heat in the 440. Cliff Muller gained a fourth in the half mile and Charley Gilbert was fourth in the pole vault.

Washington and Lee's relay team finished second to Navy in one heat in that event.

Georgetown university of Washington won the collegiate title in the Baltimore track meet.

Frank Fuller of the University of Virginia provided a highlight to the track program when he negotiated the 70-yard hurdles in the fast time of 8.5 seconds, tying the accepted world's record. Fuller made his record run in a heat, finishing second in the finals.

Betas Reach Semi-Finals In Ping-Pong; Whip ZBTs

Beta Theta Pi's ping-pong team advanced to the semi-final round of the tournament when it won a smashing 5-0 victory over Zeta Beta Tau's paddlers last Thursday, February 8. The Betas completely outclassed their opponents and led by their powerful Barrie-Lee-Wing trio, swept to an easy win.

Boyd and Lambert, in the No. 4 and No. 5 slots, took the last two matches for the defending champs to make the whitewash complete.

PEPs Drop DUs from I-M Ping-Pong with 4-1 Win

The PEP line-up, which included Middelburg, Dick Pinck, and Goldstein, had little trouble with the DU's and had its only setback when Delta Upsilon's Ray Smalley took the last game from Bob Junger.

Grapplers Win Fourth in Row

Tom Fuller made it four straight for the year by pinning Jesse of Apprentice in five minutes and 25 seconds in the 136-pound class. Fuller pinned his man with a bar arm.

After punishing his man for nine minutes, George McInerney finally won a decision over Smith of Apprentice in the 145-pound division. McInerney seemed to lack his usual grueling stamina, and persisted in clamping figure four holds on his Apprentice victim.

The 155-pound class found Charlie Lanier losing a heart-breaker to Morgan of Apprentice on a fall in four minutes and 52 seconds. Lanier almost had his man pinned until he rolled himself into a half nelson and body press and dropped his first varsity match of the season.

Barney Farrier was outstanding for the Big Blue at the 165-pound weight division. Farrier displayed a masterful exhibition of tricky holds on Bob Nublie, his Apprentice opponent, and finally pinned him after two minutes and 27 seconds of wrestling with a reverse figure four.

Captain Henry Braun topped the evening off by winning over Lane of Apprentice on a decision in the 175-pound division; Braun dominated the entire match with his superior wrestling skill and was never headed in his quest for victory.

This Saturday the Big Blue grappling squad will entrain to Chapel Hill, where they will meet the powerful North Carolina "grunt and groan artists."

ANN MILLER, star of stage and screen, now appearing in George White's Scandals, is definitely the outstanding dance discovery of our time... and a discovery more and more smokers are making everyday is that CHESTERFIELDS are COOLER, BETTER-TASTING and DEFINITELY Milder.

Chesterfields are Definitely Milder
AND BETTER-TASTING

You'll always find these two qualities at their best, plus a far cooler smoke, in Chesterfield's Right Combination of the world's best cigarette tobaccos.

Make your next pack Chesterfield and see for yourself why one smoker tells another They Satisfy. You can't buy a better cigarette.
