April Politics Slate Shows New Names

Overton, Kenna, Merrill, Walker Appear in Race As Possible Candidates

Several new names have appeared on the campus political slate during the past two days, decreasing the possibility of several of the officers going unopposed in the April 10 election and adding to the high interest already being displayed in the presidential race between John Goode and Syd Lewis.

Possible opponents for Felix Smart for the office of vice-president are Al Overton, Phi Psi intermediate law student, and Lee Kenna, Sigma Chi intermediate lawyer. It is considered improbable that both will run against Smart because of the uncertainty which always surrounds a three-cornered race.

Another newcomer in the current politicking is Ken Merrill, Phi Gam junior, who will probably announce for either Finals or Fancy Dress within a few days. Best bet in this instance is Finals, since no one has come out for that office yet, while Bev Fitzpatrick is already in the race for Fancy Dress.

Jim Walker, Sigma Chi junior, may also be a candidate for one of the two senior executive committee posts, which will be filled on April 27 in the class elections. Already in this race are Jug Nelson, Zip Wheeler and, possibly, Earl Alverson.

With the exception of Larry Galloway no other students have thrown their hat in the ring for the Student Body secretaryship, but it is expected that this will be a contested office before the April 8 convention rolls around.

Representatives to the convention, which is for the purpose of cutting the field in each race down to two candidates, will be chosen during the next week on the basis of one representative for each 7 members of a fraternity and for each 7 non-fraternity students. In cases where fraternity membership is not evenly divisible by seven, representatives will be elected on the basis of the closest multiple of seven.

No posters and other trimmings of the spring campaign, interrupted this year by the brief Easter vacation, have yet appeared on the campus, and it is thought that the contests for all offices will see most of the action during the last week before elections.

20 Phi Beta Kappa Initiates Hear Gaines, Shepperson

Twenty men were initiated into Phi Beta Kappa in ceremonies held Wednesday evening at the Student Union.

Dr. Archibald Shepperson, W&L alumnus and now Professor of English at the University of Virginia and editor of the Quarterly Review, presented the initiation address on the human values in life.

President Gaines gave a brief address stressing that the world of 1967 would be what the Phi Beta Kappas of 1942 make it.

Intra-squad Football Tilt To Be Played Tomorrow

Culminating five weeks of spring football practice will be an intra-squad regulation game beginning at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

The admission price will be 15 cents.

Tomorrow's game between the White team, captained by Bill Gray, and the Blue team will demonstrate the changes in style that have been made by Coaches Smith, Lewis, and Hennemier.

Glee Club to Hold Concert with Hollins

Members of the W&L Glee Club will conduct a joint concert with the Hollins Glee Club at Hollins Saturday, April 11, Dr. J. G. Varner, glee club director, announced today.

The following selections will be sung by the W&L club at the concert: "Lo! A Song of Cherubim," Bortniansky; "Bless the Lord O My Soul," Ippolitoff-Ivanoff; "Welsh Chorale" arranged by Reese; "Deep River," arranged by Burleigh; "Summer Evening," a Finish folk song arranged by Deems Taylor; "Loch Lomond," a Scotch folk song, and "The Night Is Young," a Fred Waring arrangement.

Browder to Lead Forum

The Lee Dinner Forum will hold its semi-monthly meeting at the Robert E. Lee Hotel Sunday evening at 6:30, Bob Campbell, president, announced today. Walt Browder will lead a discussion on "Education, Old and New Style." No faculty guest has yet been named.

266 Complete Requirements Of Physical Fitness Program

With 266 out of 298 upperclassmen passing the University physical fitness tests, Cy Twombly and Arch Mathis of the Physical Education department today sent notices to 21 juniors, seniors and law students who did not take the exams to appear Monday at 5 p.m. for a "last chance" or to be automatically placed in the class which starts Tuesday at 4:30 p.m.

Classes will be held on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays for the 32 upperclassmen who failed the tests and for those who don't take it Monday.

Any student desiring to qualify for the maximum requirements, which will be announced next week may do so, Mathis and Twombly said. The classes will begin at 4:30 and last for a minimum of one hour. Twenty-six students were certified by the University physician to be physically disable and were excused from the examinations.

Graham Leads Chinning

At the same time Mathis and Twombly announced the three high scorers for each test. Sammy Graham, whose 113 total score was first among the upperclassmen, led in the chinning test with 35. Tom Fuller, whose 107 was second in the total scores, did 28 chins, while Tom Sweeney did 22.

In the 440 yard run, track captain Bud Yeomans led with a time of 55.5 sec. Bob Cavanna was second with a 57-sec. time, while

Southern Collegian To Feature Stories, Poetry And Cartoons

To be composed chiefly of short stories, poetry and cartoons by two W&L artists, the spring issue of the Southern Collegian, campus literary magazine, will probably be circulated just before or immediately after the Easter Holiday. Editor Tom Fuller announced this afternoon.

Featuring a tri-colored front cover, the magazine will contain short stories by staff members Ray McGill, Walt Browder, freshman Jack Gonzalez and Woody Barrett, a special contributor.

George Harrison and Johnny Preston have drawn a series of cartoons for this quarter's Collegian, Preston having returned to W&L from the air corps. Among the numerous drawings will be a full-page sketch by Bob Boatwright, Fuller said.

While the Collegian usually appears during each of the four W&L dance sets, the Spring number will be circulated earlier this year because only five weeks separate the Spring and Finals dance sets, he added.

Gourdon Named Head Of Phi Delta Phi Group

Paul Gourdon, PIKA law student from Floral Park, N. Y., was named president of the W&L chapter of Phi Delta Phi, national honorary legal fraternity, at a business session held in the Law School Wednesday afternoon.

He succeeds senior lawyer Harry Mason. Other officers selected Wednesday are Charles Wilson, secretary; Robert Vaughn, clerk and Paul Baker, historian.

Offense Bazaar Plans For April 11 Program Endorsed by Leaders

Two Bands Included in Entertainment Featuring Floor Show, Exhibits, Dancing

Final plans for the participation of W&L students in the April 11 Offense Bazaar, to be held in Doremus Gymnasium, were outlined to twenty-four fraternity presidents and student leaders by Mrs. F. P. Gaines, chairman of the event, Mrs. Cy Young and Mrs. Frank Gilliam at a dinner meeting last night.

The affair, which is being sponsored to raise funds for a Lexington workroom and headquarters for all war work carried on by local citizens, will feature the music of the W&L Southern Collegians and the VMI Commanders at the evening dance and show, a pet show, a flower show, an evening floor show, and many booths for fortune telling, bingo and various exhibits.

Professor Fletcher J. Barnes has agreed to act as master of ceremonies for the event, and the excellent participation of local and county citizens, VMI officers and cadets and the W&L student body and administration insures the success of the undertaking according to Mrs. Gaines.

Admission to the afternoon session from 3 to 6 o'clock has been set at 25 cents a person. Aside from admission, there will be no charge for dancing at this time. The music will be supplied by a "juke box," for the orchestras have been reserved for the night hours only. All of the booths will be open during the afternoon, and it is expected that the pet and flower shows will attract large crowds from the town and county.

The night show will run from 8 until 12 o'clock and will be highlighted by an imported floor show from Southern Seminary and Danville. Admission will be 35 cents a person or if three couples wish to reserve a table on the floor, the charge will be $5.00 for the evening or a cost of only a few cents a person more than admission. These reservations can be made with either Mrs. Gaines or Mrs. Lewis Tyree.

The dance floor will be roped off in the gymnasium and dances will cost a dime apiece. However, Mrs. Gaines said that each dance would probably consist of several numbers by the two orchestras, and since the affair is not primarily for dancing, the cost of this item would not run high. It is contemplated that the dances will be program dances.

Mrs. Dillon of Eagle Rock, widely known fortune teller, and Mrs. Daura of Rockbridge Baths, also considered an expert, will be available for conferences. Reservations should be made soon with Mrs. G. A. Derbyshire of Lexington.

None of the booths will have a charge of over a dime and many of them will charge only five cents. Various free exhibits are also being arranged by the committee in charge.

"The entire cost of the event to a student with a date should not run over the amount charged for the average informal dance," Mrs. Gaines pointed out, and it is hoped that many of the students will take advantage of the opportunity to have dates over from the girls' schools."

"VMI cadets and their dates who will be in town for their regular dance on Friday night are planning to come in large numbers, and I am sure that Washington and Lee will be well represented since we are playing hosts to the entire county on this occasion," she added.

Fraternity presidents at the meeting are now canvassing their houses to encourage interest in the affair and to determine how many students are planning to attend with dates.

All band uniforms and caps are to be turned in to John Kammerer at the Troub Theatre Wednesday evening between 7:30 and 9:30.

Page, Quisenberry Vie Johns Hopkins In Debate on Labor

Upholding the negative, Phil Page and James Quisenberry, representing W&L, last night met Johns Hopkins in the Literary Society room of the Student Union in a non-decision debate. The W&L debaters argued against federal supervision of labor unions on the grounds that regulation is not necessary at the present time.

This was the third home debate of the year for W&L, having previously faced Washington and Jefferson and North Carolina.

Tuesday, W&L's debaters leave on their annual trip to northern colleges, although the tour has been considerably cut this year. Ken Clendaniels, Jim Harmon and Walt Van Gelder will compose the teams during these debates.

Tuesday night, the touring debaters are scheduled to meet the University of Maryland for a debate on the Anglo-American union as put forth in Streit's "Union Now." Wednesday afternoon they will participate in a radio debate on the same question with another Maryland team.

Wednesday night a panel discussion on the war-time 3-year schedule for colleges is planned with George Washington University.

Two other debates are also scheduled for next week, the first with Davidson College, whose team will come to the campus Tuesday for a debate on the labor question. Wednesday, a team will be sent to Lynchburg to debate Randolph - Macon on the Labor question.

Charley Lanier was third with a time of 57.6 sec.

Graham, wrestling co-captain, also led in the body levers, doing 100. Kramer Thomas did 70 for the second high amount, while Doug House and Sweeney both did 67 for third high.

Carroll Herron led in the bar vault, crossing the rod at 74 inches. Bill Webster, John Hackney, Bob Hobson and Bruce Barnard all vaulted six feet.

In the broad jump, Bill Parker led with a 117 inch jump, while Stanley Sater, whose 95 total was third, jumped 110 inches. Yeomans, Hank Woods and Evans Jasper all jumped 109 inches for third high.

Fuller Does 60 Pushups

Fuller led in the total pushups, doing 60, while C. W. Barritt was second with 50. Sater did 46 for third high.

The first three positions remained the same as in preliminary reports, as Graham, Fuller and Sater led the list of those passing. Jasper and Sweeney were tied for fourth with 93 each. Lyn Murdock was sixth with a 91 total score, 50 being required for passing.

Webster scored seventh high with a 90 total, while House and Hobson were tied for eighth with totals of 87. Cavanna, Charles Robinson and Thomas tied for tenth in the totals with scores of 86 each.

W&L's Sixth Column

President Roosevelt has referred to the spreading of rumors and the twisting of facts relating to the nation's war effort as "Sixth Column" activity and has warned the American people that such activity, much of which is undertaken unwittingly, can make the enemy's path an easier one.

Just as the American people must be careful about the circulation of untruths and the distortion of facts connected with war activity, so should members of the Washington and Lee community be careful about making statements concerning the state of affairs at the University. The circulation of unfounded rumors or the exaggeration of facts could do much toward making things undeservedly difficult for a school in a period during which all institutions of a similar nature will have burdens aplenty to bear.

President Gaines last night told of a recent conversation with a Lexingtonian.

"Tell me," said the townsman, "just how many boys have left Washington and Lee since the start of the war?"

Dr. Gaines answered the question. Approximately 110 boys have left; fifty of them would have departed in any normal year because of academic shortcomings or other reasons, according to past figures, which means that approximately 60 have withdrawn because of the war.

"I'm glad to hear that," said the Lexingtonian. "I had heard that you had lost three or four hundred boys, and that more were leaving every day."

Here was a case of exaggeration. The person from whom the townsman got his information—or misinformation—probably had no connection with the University, but it is not hard to conceive of a student's making such an exaggeration for emphasis' sake or merely for the sake of making good conversation.

And how could such an exaggeration hurt Washington and Lee? The Lexingtonian might have repeated the tale of "three or four hundred" withdrawals to a business acquaintance in Roanoke, who in turn might repeat it to his wife, and, first thing you know, the father of a prospective student in Hushpuckena, Mississippi, hears that Washington and Lee is about to close down for a lack of students.

Or a boy whose chemistry professor has left and whose roommate's accounting professor has gone wonders what he can tell his folks in his Sunday letter, and makes mention of the "fact" that "only a few old faculty members will be left by the end of the year."

It doesn't take a lot of imagination to picture the damage which the spreading of such tales could do to the University.

Be careful in your "cocktail party" conversation. And if you bump into somebody who questions the value of an education such as Washington and Lee has to offer during a time of war, tell him of the amazing number of recent graduates and current students who have received or are headed for commissions in various branches of the service.

The University has determined to do everything it can for its students during the critical years. We, in return, can do something to help make the University's war-time path an easier one.

Gum the Works Dept.: There were dances at VMI last weekend. With this out of his den at the Phi Psi house came smooth boy Don Casto, king of the late-daters, accompanied by his pal Ted Donnan, to see with what luck they could ply their trade that night.

Casto, the brains of the outfit, had late-dated a girl from every college except Fairfax Hall. So he hied himself out to Lee Avenue along with Donnan and lurked in the shrubs until all the Keydets had departed from the house where the girls were.

At his smoothest, Casto proceeded to get Donnan a date with the pretty young Fairfax chaperone, got himself a date with a cute thing called Jackie and, in company with another who shall go unmentioned here, set out to the Phi Psi house.

Here he ran into his beloved brothers, led by Eddie Marx. Tommy Dodd and a seedy looking outsider identified as Shabby Davidson. They all wanted dates, and not wishing to share his, Casto called up the boarding house and got all the rest of the Fairfax girls to come out to Phi Psi.

"Ah," he thought, "this will enliven the party."

But the catch came when the girls arrived, for the chaperone, who by this time thought Donnan was a bum, didn't like so many girls there. After all she had a job. So she calls the whole deal off, all the girls go home, Davidson went to El Patio, Donnan went to bed and smooth boy Casto went out for another late date.

More about last Saturday Night: Yes, last Saturday night was Lexington at its best. Johnny Ginestra, convinced that Margie was home in bed, went over to George's, returned to Lexington at midnight to find Margie with a Cadet in the Southern.

Charles Boyer gets an "Appointment for Love" tomorrow at the State from Margaret Sullivan. Remembering Boyer in "Hold Back the Dawn," that should be some appointment.

Margaret Sullivan is a fem-factor who doesn't have time for the handsome hero, but we imagine that they will find time. This is an especially good attraction for our Saturday spree so feel that you'll be seeing a good show, not going just for the hellofit.

At the Lyric Monday is the show you've been waiting for. Yes, the darling of the obscene screen, little Jane Withers—or should we say big girl now—is going to picture an agricultural movement that turned into the 4-H Club.

"Son of Fury" blows into the State from Monday til Wednesday, trailing Tryone Power and Gene Tierney. The southsea island has now beckoned these two stars, who go through a few reels wearing sarongs and shorts. Although this type of story is well worn, it always proves entertaining—this one for several reasons, namely: Gene Tierney and Gene Tierney.

THIS WEEK Another Year...

From the files of the Ring-tum Phi for March 23, 1934:

Present Boston Red Sox pitcher, Emerson Dickman was being featured as a "very promising hurler." A freshman at the time, Dickman had turned down an offer from the New York Yankees to play professional ball for their Binghamton club, whereupon the Yanks offered to pay his way through Columbia University if he would agree to play for them upon graduation. Wishing to attend a smaller school, Dickman had decided upon W&L.

On the previous afternoon, Dickman and the freshman squad had blanked the varsity eleven, 1-0. Captain Dick, nevertheless, was pleased with the showing of the varsity, commenting that "it was still too early in the season to focus their batting eyes on a ball thrown as fast as Dickman's."

To add a complete major-league atmosphere to the frosh win, Russ Peters, present utility outfielder with the Cleveland Indians, scored the only run for the yearlings on a passed ball after he had sent a booming triple beyond the outfielders' reaches.

Gridders' Intra-Squad Game Scheduled for Tomorrow

Whites, Blues to Clash In Regular Tilt at 2:30

An intra-squad game with regular officials and conducted under regular game conditions between the Blues and the Whites will conclude the five-week Spring football practice tomorrow afternoon. The game will start at 2:30.

Teaming with Captain Bill Gray on the White team will be five 1941 lettermen and an equal number of last year's freshman. At center for the White outfit will be Dyke Norman, a freshman. The guards will be Gray and Roy Fabian, a junior. Frank DiLoreto and Bill Furman will hold down the White tackle posts, while Jim Daves, a letterman, and freshman Pinky Norman are expected to play at the ends. The backfield posts will be filled by Paul Cavaliere, a sophomore, and three freshmen—Jack Tucek, Sam DiBlasi and Harry Harner.

Head Coach Riley Smith was undecided about the Blue backfield this morning as several of the possible Blue backs have been on the ailing list. Their backfield will be selected from among lettermen Ted Ciesla, Frank Socha and Harry Baugher; freshmen Dick Working, Ben Kaplan and Ray Prater; and last year's squadman Ed Marx.

Up front the Blue team will have Jim Wheeler and Jack Roehl, both lettermen, at ends; John Rulevich, a letterman, and Lud Michaux holding down the tackle assignments; Bev Fitzpatrick, another monogram winner, and Bill Otter, will get the guard duties; and Ned Lawrence is expected to start at center.

Others among the 30-man squad will be used as substitutes. Lillard Ailor, who was selected on the third team All-State last Fall, will be out of the game tomorrow of an eye cold.

Admission price for tomorrow's game will be 15 cents.

Backfield Men Praised As Spring Season Ends

Showing "the best football to date," according to Coach Riley Smith, the W&L grid squad held a two hour scrimmage Wednesday afternoon, as the squad's spring practice drew rapidly to a close.

Culminating their several weeks' effort, the varsity will be divided into two teams Saturday afternoon, and a regulation game will be played. Jerry Holstein, Howard Dobbins and Dan Justice will officiate.

Several backfield men received praise from Smith because of their work in the scrimmage. Frank Socha, recovering from a knee injury, and Dave Russell were the veterans mentioned by the head coach, along with Freshmen Harry Harner and Sam DiBlasi.

End Jack Roehl stood out among the linesmen. The converted back is rapidly acclimating himself to his new surroundings, Smith said, and is making that position one of the strongest on the team.

Assistant Mentor Art Lewis remarked that the entire forward wall blocked and tackled better than at any time previously. It was impossible however, to name any guard, tackle, or center who turned in a superior performance, he added.

Sigma Chis Loom as Favorites In Intramural Mat Tournament

The Sigma Chis came up with a rush last night in the quarter final round of the intramural wrestling tournament to establish themselves as favorites to cop the crown won last year by the Deltas.

Although tied with the Deltas in the matter of points, each having 33, the Sigma Chis are given the edge in the race in view of the fact that they have six men left in the battling while the Deltas have only four.

Looming close behind the leaders are the Phi Psi matmen with a total of 27 points and four men left.

Every quarter-final round match was fought last night except those in the 155-pound class. Tonight the semi-final bouts will be concluded in all but the 155-pound class, while the finals will be held in all classes on Tuesday night after the 155 pounders fight off their semi-final matches Monday night.

Diamond Candidates Show Improvement in Practices

With the arrival of good weather, the varsity baseball candidates have been showing great improvement during this past week, according to Cy Young, acting coach during the illness of Cap'n Dick Cmth. "All of the boys are working hard," Coach Young said, "and practice games have brought out some real playing."

The infield is slightly weak because three regulars will not report until after Spring football drills. These are Teddy Ciesla, third base, Harry Baugher, shortstop, and Jim Wheeler, catcher.

Coach Young said that Captain Pres Brown is showing up good on the mound, and Ev Schneider and Bud Cook are also making a strong bid for a hurler's position. Carl Johnson has been doing some outstanding hitting in practice games, and Coach Young predicted that he will lead the hitting this season as well as play a good game in the outfield.

It is expected that Cap'n Dick Smith will take over the team on Monday and begin hard drills in preparation for games with UVa., April 9, and Maryland, April 11, both on Wilson Field.

Frosh to Practice Monday

Cap'n Dick Smith announced today that freshman baseball will start Monday and asked that all interested report for practice at 2:30 Monday afternoon.

Intramural Net Tourney Moves into Fourth Round As 30 Results Are Listed

Lacrossemen to Meet Baltimore AC April 6

In preparation for their first game with the Baltimore AC, a week from Monday, the lacrosse team has been holding daily workouts to improve defense work and smooth out the offense.

These daily scrimmages have been marked by the continued improvement of Frank Markoe, along with Wally Dutton and Charlie Stieff, Co-Captain LaMotte said today. Offensive play has been stressed this week and the work of Jim O'Conner on attack has been outstanding.

The only home encounter this season will be with the University of Virginia on Wilson Field.

Various Objections Voiced To Student-Waiter Plan

Various objections have been raised in response to a letter printed in last week's Ring-tum Phi dealing with the possible partial paying of fraternity students' college expenses by serving as house waiters, Bill Martin, author of the letter, stated today.

Martin doubted whether the idea could be adopted until one house had tried the plan for a period of time.

Catalogues to Be Issued Monday from Registrar

First copies of the Washington and Lee catalogue were ready for distribution today, Dean Frank J. Gilliam, catalogue editor, announced yesterday. Copies will be available for the student body and general distribution at the registrar's office Monday.

Since the current catalogue went to press before definite plans had been made concerning the summer session, the volume will embrace only data pertaining to the winter sessions of 1942-43. A supplementary bulletin, which will cover the scope of the summer sessions will be issued at the registrar's office early next week.

- Here's what this would buy for defense in one year:
