V-1 Service Outlined As W&L Adopts Plan To Speed Training

In cooperation with the Navy's giant V-1 plan to obtain 80,000 college freshmen and sophomores for service as aviation cadets, ensigns and apprentice seamen, the University administration announced today the institution of a special voluntary program approved by the U. S. Bureau of Navigation for men enlisted in the new naval reserve group. The W&L program has been placed under the direction of Prof. R. W. Royston.

In announcing this move, Mr. Royston this morning released preliminary details of both the nation-wide V-1 plan and of the special program adopted for this campus. He will attend a meeting of other college representatives of the V-1 organization at an early date to secure complete information.

Sponsored by the United States Navy, Class V-1 calls for the enlistment of approximately 80,000 college freshmen and sophomores between the ages of 17 and 19, who upon the completion of about one and one-half years of college

Plans Indicate Offense Bazaar To Be Gala Party

Stating that "it is the patriotic duty of everyone to attend tomorrow night's Offense Bazaar, the first huge charity affair in Rockbridge County since the war began," Mrs. F. P. Gaines, chairman of the event, today revealed some further attractions for the bazaar.

In a patriotic motif, the bazaar will open at 3 tomorrow afternoon, with hundreds of red, white, and blue banners and streamers decorating all booths and exhibits, as well as other parts of Doremus Gymnasium.

In addition to the two fortune tellers, for whom reservations are still being taken by Mrs. G. A. Derbyshire, Lexington 235, further mysticism will be provided by a well-known local magician, Mrs. Gaines said.

Along the refreshment line, punch and bottled drinks will be served together with "midnight snacks" and sandwiches which can be made from whole turkeys and hams that have been ordered for the occasion. Many homemade pies and cakes have also work, will undergo an examination to determine into what branch of naval service they will then be placed.

Of the 80,000, about 15,000 will be transferred to Class V-5, another 20,000 will be placed in Class V-7, and the remainder are slated for apprentice seamen's roles, he said.

This selection will be made on the basis of a competitive "objective type" examination, with the highest ranking students being shifted to V-5 and V-7. The remaining nine-sixteenths will be permitted to complete two calendar years at the college they are attending, after which they will be called to active duty as apprentice seamen in the Navy.

Since emphasis is laid upon physical science and mathematics in the comprehensive examination, the first year course at W&L was altered to fit the needs of these men, Mr. Royston stated.

The suggested course outlined today shows that V-1 men among next year's freshmen should take English 1-2, a language, Chemistry 1-2, Hygiene, Drawing 1, and Mathematics 5, 6, and 12. Students will substitute one semester of Drawing and one semester of Math 12—Spherical Trig—for Modern Civ.

During their first summer V-1 men will take Physics 151-2 and one course in the subject in which they are majoring, under the new program, he said.

The curriculum beyond their first summer session will conform to the present A.B. curriculum for a major in any subject, Mr. Royston pointed out.

Realizing that students already in their freshman and sophomore years may not have taken the necessary math and physical science, directors of Class V-1 have recommended that students

Spring Dance IOU's Due Before April 17, EC Rules

All I. O. U's for Spring Dance set tickets must be paid before the tickets are issued, it was decided by the Executive Committee in their meeting Wednesday night, Howard Dobbins, president, announced today.

Due to the shift in the date of the set, Dobbins said, the payment of the I. O. U's must be made before April 17 in spite of the face date.

W&L-VMI relations were again discussed at the meeting, Dobbins said, but definite plans for the handling of problems arising between the two schools have not yet been worked out.

The Executive Committee also decided at the meeting that the campus tax will not be extended or renewed during the summer session, Dobbins announced.

Knox Congratulates W&L On New V-1 Training Plan

President Gaines received the following telegram this morning from Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, in regards to W&L's acceptance of the new V-1 program:

"The Navy is proud that your college has undertaken our V-1 plan for training freshmen and sophomores as officer material. Please tell your young men who apply for enlistment and training under this plan that they will be serving the nation if they continue their college courses no less than those of your alumni who are already in active service. The Navy knows your institution and your V-1 students will do their part."

Daves Gets 6 Vote Majority As Fitzpatrick, Galloway And Smart Are Unopposed

LEE KENNA

Lee Kenna, Sigma Chi intermediate lawyer, today was elected president of the W&L Student Body over John Goode, SAE junior, by a vote of 436 to 308 in one of the hottest and most eagerly fought campaigns for any office in the past several years, while in the only other contested race—

Sudden Changes Feature Inactive Political Session

Featuring the last minute candidacies of Lee Kenna, Sigma Chi intermediate lawyer, for student body president, and Don Richardson, Delta Upsilon commerce junior, for president of finals, the annual student body political convention took place yesterday afternoon with contests in only two offices, those of the last minute candidates.

John Walter Stowers, Phi Delt, nominated Goode, while "Soupy" Campbell, KA, seconded the nomination. Charles L. Hobson, Lambda Chi, nominated Kenna with Henry Roediger, PiKA, seconding.

Felix Smart, Phi Delt freshman lawyer, was nominated unopposed for vice-president by Bob Gage, Phi Kap, while Paul Baker, Beta, second the nomination. Smart had previously been spoken of for president, but he dropped from this post early in the campaign.

Larry Galloway, non-fraternity commerce junior, was nominated unopposed for secretary of the student body. Hobson made the nomination, and Cliff Hood, SAE, made the second. Bev Fitzpatrick, Kappa Sigma, was nominated for fancy dress president by Joe Ellis, SAE, while Leo Signaigo, PiKA made the second.

Jim Daves, Sigma Nu, and Richardson were the only nominees for president of finals. Daves entered the race officially Wednesday morning, and he was nominated by Charles Didier, Phi Delt, while Bobby Vaughn, Non-fraternity, second the nomination. Tyke Bryan, PiKA, nominated Richardson, while Bill Armstrong, Non-fraternity, made the second.

president of Finals for 1943—Jim Daves, Sigma Nu junior, nosed out Don Richardson, DU junior, by a margin of only six votes.

Felix Smart, Larry Galloway and Bev Fitzpatrick met no opposition in their races for vice-president, secretary and Fancy Dress president.

Kenna entered the race only last Tuesday when Syd Lewis, PEP law student withdrew after enrolling in the defense industry training course at Harvard, which he will enter this June. Staging an impressive campaign built around the slogan, "Six Years of Experience," Kenna apparently had little difficulty in overcoming the early advantage built up by Goode's ten day campaign. In the early returns he took a small lead which gained steadily throughout the counting of the ballots.

Richardson, also a Wednesday night latecomer to the spring ticket, was unsuccessful in his attempt to win the Finals presidency from Daves. It was nip and tuck all the way as the vote results came in, and Executive Committee members counted the ballots four times before announcing Daves the winner by a vote of 373 to 367.

Daves is a varsity football player and president of his fraternity as well as being a member of Pi Alpha Nu and Sigma.

Smart, Phi Delt freshman lawyer, is a law school dean's list man, a member of Phi Delta Phi and present Senior Executive Committeeman. He received 630 votes.

Polling the largest number of the 744 votes cast for any single candidate Galloway, Non-fraternity junior, swept into the Student Body secretaryship.

In the third race without opposition—that for the presidency of Fancy Dress—Bev Fitzpatrick tallied 661 votes. A Kappa Sigma junior, he has played two years of varsity football and is serving as president of his fraternity. He is a member of Sigma, White Friars and the 13 Club.

Stop Passing the Buck

Members of the Interfraternity Council have decided to carry back to their houses for further discussion the reorganization plan which last week received the approval of 15 of the Council's 18 member houses

Calling for a wartime strengthening of the Council through reorganization, the plan, submitted by a special ODK committee after a study of the problems which will confront Washington and Lee's fraternities during the war, must not receive the treatment which Interfraternity Councils have found it so convenient to deal out to proposed measures during the past few years. It must not be passed back and forth until it is forgotten, nor can it be picked apart until the original proposal is no longer recognizable.

No one can close his eyes to the obstacles which the war will place in the fraternity road during the next few years. Some of those obstacles will be so great that individual chapters will need assistance if they are to stay on the road. And this is no time for a "survival of the fittest" attitude.

The Interfraternity Council could be a powerful piece of machinery for use in ironing out many of the rough spots which lie ahead. But it cannot be counted upon for effective aid until its reorganization is undertaken.

Some argue that a doubling of the size of the Council by admitting both chapter presidents and house managers would result in an unwieldy organization. The ODK plan provides a safeguard against that difficulty by providing for detailed committee work.

Some are wary of the clause which states that members of the Council "shall have the power to speak authoritatively for their respective houses." Such provision must be made if the reorganization is to prove effective. Councils of the past few years have been notoriously slow in acting upon measures because the representatives insisted upon taking every question back to their houses for discussion and a vote. Someone has said that last year's Council was able to pass upon only one measure at the same meeting at which that measure was proposed—the purchase of gold keys for the Council's members. Careful consideration of questions is to be desired, but a line must be drawn lest the answer come too late.

The Council would be given the power to vote upon measures without taking them back to the fraternities for discussion and chapter votes, but a house could always fall back on the clause which gives it the right "to repudiate the action of its president and house manager and to require them to call for a re-vote on any measure."

Some are opposed to the proposal that a faculty member be named to serve as an adviser to the Council. The term "faculty adviser" rubs some students the wrong way whenever it is brought up. But students who have served on the Dance Board or the Publications Board think of the faculty members who sit with those organizations not as advisers, but rather as valued fellow-members who can be counted upon for genuine help.

Forest Supervisor Explains Fire Call

April 9, 1942

Dr. Francis P. Gaines, President Washington and Lee University Lexington, Virginia

Dear Dr. Gaines:

I take this opportunity to express to you the heartfelt gratitude of the Jefferson National Forest for the manner in which your men responded in the great fire emergency of April 6 and 7. It was splendid.

These men were held in reserve. At the time I am sure they gained the impression that their services were not being used to the best advantage, because here they were standing by and the fire burning uncontrolled. The strategy of fire control is not apparent, nor is it possible to explain it in the time of the emergency. I can say only that we had early formulated plans for the control of this fire and that the stand-by was a necessary and considered part of the strategy employed. Had we lost the control lines established on the south side of the Blue Ridge, then the Washington and Lee reserves would have been called from stand-by to active duty. I am glad that we were able to keep their status as stand-by reserves. I should be deeply appreciative to you if this point of view could be explained to these men. We should like for you to know that you have done a valuable service in saving further widespread destruction of the timber resources in this area, and we should like to be able to feel free to call upon you again if this should become necessary. By the way, stout shoes and tough pants are a rather essential part of the fire fighter's personal equipment.

The fire left a desert place of some ten thousand acres of land. Much wildlife and timber sufficient to run a pulp mill a year were destroyed. This is a disgraceful thing to happen to our good land. We are fighting in foreign lands to save this country and here we let large areas burn right up to our back yard because fools let fires loose in critical weather.

Very sincerely yours,
A. R. Cochran
Forest Supervisor

Perpetual Smoothie Department: Shabby Davidson went home to Washington last weekend. It was nice and warm in the District so good old Shabby dusted off his green gabardine suit, performed the rare feat of shaving, and then decided he wanted a date.

Now Shabby has a little book with countless names and addresses of Washington girls in it, and so at 6 p.m. he started calling them up. At 10 p.m. his friend (his only one), Ty Tyson, showed up, and Shabby had just called up the last name on the list and received the usual "No." So what does Shabby do, when Ty, who had never been in D. C. shows up?

"Hey, Ty, listen, pal, I'm up a tree. Do you think you can get me a date, pal?"

"Tyson's reply was something along the line of 'Criseake!' but we can't print it. And so the boys spent the night in Louie's Potomac River Inn, and had a good time until 1:46, the time when their good times always break up, because Shabby always gets thrown out of taverns at 1:46.

Why we can't say, but just try spending a nite in a tavern with Shabby. At 1:46 you'll get bounced—right behind Shabby. It was nothing new for Ty though; he's been with the Shab before; he even brought some sliding pads along to Washington. Yeah, Shabby and Ty really had fun.

Lexington During Vacation: During the lengthy vacation so kindly doled out by the administration, Lexington was pleasant. There was no one much to be annoyed by, and the taverns were peaceful and quiet...Bernie Levin and his PEP pals bought a gross of hot dogs and a pack of cards and spent the time in a combine blackjack game and weenie roast.

The sparks of Phi Psi's freshman class — Bob Watkins and Marvin Ayres—proceeded to ruin themselves physically, spiritually and mentally throughout the entire weekend by alternating between running around the track and then going over to George's.

Preston (Rastus) Brown sat quietly at the Phi Kap lodge and stuffed himself with hominy grits and cornpone. Yassuh, Mistuh Brown. Anyway, Lexington was damn nice last weekend, and the general sentiments of those who remained were well-voiced by someone on Tuesday morning—"Jeez, it's sure hell to see the boys back isn't it?"

W&L Nine Ties Virginia; Maryland Game Cancelled

Rained out after five and a half scoreless innings in their season-opener with Virginia yesterday afternoon, Cap'n Dick Smith's W&L baseball team tangles with Maryland on the Wilson Field diamond tomorrow afternoon at 3:30, in their first Southern Conference test.

The baseball game between W&L and Maryland, scheduled to be played here tomorrow afternoon, has been postponed, it was announced today. Another date for the game has not been set as yet.

In holding Virginia's highly-regarded club to four hits in his six inning stretch, Bud Cook, the General's sophomore pitcher, made a rather auspicious debut against varsity competition. Virginia had defeated Bridgewater and Maryland in earlier games.

After setting the Wahoos down in order in the first inning, Cook allowed a single hit in the second inning when Farquhar got on base when he hit one through the pitcher's box. In the fourth round, Virginia got its second safe blow when third baseman Patton hit a double into centerfield with two Wahoo mates already out.

With two men out in the fifth inning also, Virginia again threatened when both Christian and Cacafuro singled, and Fechter loaded the bases when he was safe on a fielder's choice. However, with the bases filled, Cook worked his way out by forcing Dick Wiltshire to fly to Harry Baugher at shortstop.

In the final half-inning, Virginia threatened without getting a single safe blow. Gillette walked, moved over to second on a sacrifice, Farquhar walked, and then Merritt ended the rally by hitting into a double play, Ted Ciesla to Bob Cavanna, third to first, as the rain began to fall.

Although the Generals got only one hit off Sacfuro, they managed to have men on bases in four of the five innings they batted. Ciesla, the lead off man, started the ball rolling by walking in the first inning. However, the Generals' third baseman got no farther than second base.

In their second trip to the plate, the Blue nine got Paul Cavaliere, one of the five sophomores on the W&L nine, to first base on an error after one man was out, but Cook forced him, and Ev Schneider went down, pitcher to first.

Things were cloudy for the Wahoos again in the third stanza when Harry Baugher beat the Virginia third baseman's throw to first for W&L's only hit, and then stole second as catcher Gillette threw wild. Carl Johnson ended the offensive by striking out.

In their final turn at the plate, the Blue got Ev Schneider on first via a walk with one man out, but George Eshelman hit into a double play.

Coach Smith was apparently satisfied with the showing of his inexperienced Generals and predicted that they will show more offensive punch as the season progresses.

Brig Nine Wins Initial Encounter

The freshman baseball team won their opening game of the season last Tuesday on Wilson Field by beating Clifton Forge 10 to 9.

After the visitors scored three runs in the third inning on a long hit to right field, Sam DiBlasi opened the scoring for the Brigadiers in the fourth by smashing a home run into the jumping pits in left field. Another run was added in the same inning when Jack Coulter's hit scored Stan Carmichael.

The freshmen tallied one run in the fifth on DiBlasi's second hit, and in the sixth, ten men went to bat as the Brigs scored five runs on two hits, three errors and three walks.

Going into the ninth inning, Clifton Forge overcame a nine to five deficit to score four runs and tie up the ball game.

In the last of the ninth, W&L tallied the winning run when Jack Kibler drew a walk with the bases filled and one out.

Blue Linksmen Meet Georgetown On Local Course This Afternoon

Washington and Lee's 1942 edition of the varsity golf team met its first test this afternoon when Coach Cy Twombly's quartet of divoteers matched strokes with a touted Georgetown squad on the local links.

This afternoon's match culminated over a month's steady practice for the General linksmen, with the four-man team being made up of two juniors, a senior and a sophomore after Coach Twombly had considered scores turned in by every candidate on all recent practice rounds.

Captain Bill Noonan and S. L. Kopald, both junior lettermen from last year's squad, are counted on to lead the Blue stokers this season. Felix Smart, law student, and Soph Gordon Sibley have shown up strongly in winning the other two places to give Twombly a well-rounded aggregation.

Noonan has just recently recovered from an appendectomy of four weeks ago, but he has already turned in several good rounds this past week and Twombly expected to play him in the No. 1 position this afternoon against Georgetown. Kopald was slated to take over the third spot in the second foursome, while Sibley played No. 2 in the first foursome with Noonan, and Smart teamed with Kopald in the fourth position.

This engagement was the first of nine scheduled dual matches for the Blue linksters this season. They play host to Citadel's golfers next Wednesday afternoon and meet seven other teams before the all-important Southern Conference tournament, May 9.

I-M Baseball Begins Monday; Field Events, Golf Run Week Later

The spring intramural schedule will get under way Monday when the Delts open the baseball season against the Pi Phis and the DUs play the Sigma Chis, according to Cy Twombly, intramural director. There will be two games each day at two o'clock, weather permitting. If bad weather occurs, the entire schedule will be moved back.

On Tuesday the SAEs will meet the Phi Gams and the KAs will tangle with the Phi Psis. The PEP-PiKA match and the Phi Kap-Phi Delt tussle are slated for Wednesday. The Betas and Sigma Nus clash on Thursday along with the ZBTs and ATOs.

All intramural track events are scheduled to be run off on Wednesday, April 22 at 3:45. The field events are scheduled for the following afternoon at the same time.

The qualifying round for intramural golf has been carded for April 27. To each of the sixteen individuals who qualify will go two points with three points more for each match won thereafter.

Delts Lead I-M Tennis

The Delts are ahead as the I-M tennis tournament this week enters its last stages, having ten men still in the contest. Betas, Phi Psis, and Lambda Chis have three players remaining as the quarter-finals are being played off.

Sixty U.Va. Men Open 'Preinduction' Corps Work

Approximately 60 University of Virginia students last week began a program of training in a "pre-induction corps" in preparation for service in the various armed forces of the country.

A majority of the members of the corps have either had some form of military training or are candidates for commissions in the Navy V-5 or V-7 classes and will form the nucleus of the group. A voluntary affair, the corps began training Thursday morning at 7:00.

V-1 Plans

who enlist in the new program be given the opportunity to take physics and math, especially trigonometry, before they are called to armed service.

While the mass examination will contain many questions of a general nature, the chief part of it will be composed of questions and problems to test boys in math and physics.

Details of physical requirements and of the when, where and how of enlistment will be released next week, Mr. Royston added.

Eligibility requirements released today are:

(1) Be unmarried male citizens not less than 17 and under 20 years of age at date of enlistment, except that applicants may be enlisted who have reached their twentieth birthday not more than sixty days prior to completion of their sophomore year. Juniors and seniors are not eligible.

(2) Meet physical requirements for enlistment in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

(3) Be enrolled in an accredited university or college, pursuing a course leading to a baccalaureate degree.

(4) To be eligible for enlistment, applicant must furnish certificate from the Registrar stating that applicant is a duly registered student in good standing or has been accepted for admission thereto.

(5) Applicants who expect to transfer to V-7 must have taken a course in Trigonometry and must have completed at least one year of math.

Bazaar

been made by local women, and will be sold at the bazaar.

Only three or four tables were still left at the time of this writing, and Mrs. Gaines requested any party desiring one to get in touch with her immediately. As was announced, reservations for tables, which will accommodate a group of six, are being sold for $6, only a few cents more than the regular admission price.

An added feature of the afternoon bazaar is to be an animal side-show in the basement featuring one of Mike's trained bears and possibly a monkey. Prizes are being offered to Lexington children bringing the best pets for the pet show, details of which have already been announced.

Mrs. Gaines made a last-minute urge to all W&L students to get dates for the bazaar, although stags will be welcome and will find many girls from neighboring schools. Along this line, Mrs. Gaines said that "the roof is the introduction." Starting at 8, the Collegians and VMI Commanders will alternate for the dance until the "imported" floor shows from Southern Sem and Danville, the latter featuring a drum number, at approximately 10 o'clock. Dancing will continue until 12 after the floor show with the two orchestras again alternating.

A novelty attraction will find Ewing Studio taking pictures of students and their dates behind a sailor boy and a mermaid combination which has been drawn by a Lexington artist, according to Mrs. Gaines.

Three hundred salt cellars with an appropriate W&L design have been donated to the bazaar by a W&L alumnus. They will sell at 15 cents each.

Publications Board to Meet

The Publications Board will hold a meeting Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Student Union, at which time a date will be set for the annual elections for editors and business managers for the three student publications, Bud Levy, president, announced today.

Business Managers to Meet

Business managers of all campus tax organizations will meet with the finance committee Monday night at 7:30 in the Student Union building, Howard Dobbins, president of the student body announced today.

Literary Societies to Hold Joint Smoker on Monday

The Washington and the Gramham-Lee Literary societies will hold a joint smoker in the Student Union after the Forensic Union meeting Monday at 7:30 for any new students who are interested in joining either of the groups, it was announced today.
