Students Contribute $657 In First Day of Chest Drive

Charity Campaign Begins; Leaders to Hope to Reach Goal by Friday Evening

Early reports seemed to indicate this afternoon that the first 5-day W&L Charity Chest drive, which got underway over the entire campus last night would reach its $2,000 goal before the solicitation ends Friday.

With seven fraternities and four NFU representatives yet to report, Treasurer Bill Noonan's first release on the progress of the drive, complete through Tuesday morning, showed that $657.35 has already been paid or promised in the form of checks, cash and IOUs.

In expressing satisfaction at the first day successes, General Chairman Neal Myers said today that he hoped the remaining four days would show that students see the benefits that they and the six or more charities receiving the proceeds may derive from such a venture.

Delta Tau Delta leads all other groups at this early stage with a $110 contribution. The Sigma Nus, with a $94 donation so far, are second. The first day's total is the equivalent of each of the 657 students in school contributing $1, but there are still many groups unreported.

The drive's general committee set the goal at $2,000 and expects each student to contribute from $3.50 to $5 in order to reach that figure.

The 26 members of the solicitation committee under Jay Silverstein, who also expressed his satisfaction at the first report, will continue their visits until every individual in the student body has been contacted.

The drive was officially launched yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the Student Union when Prof. J. H. (Hig) Williams addressed the solicitation group.

Daily reports on the progress of the drive, the first time a project of this nature has ever been conducted at W&L, will be made each evening. The final totals will be released next Tuesday.

The Charity Chest, borrowed from similar plans now in operation at many large eastern universities, is a consolidation of all former charity drives on the campus and will be the lone solicitation of the year here.

Those groups which will benefit include the USO, the Red Cross, the Children's Clinic, the Tuberculosis Fund, the World's Student Service Fund and any other special war-born charities, which will receive funds from the special War Chest reserve fund. Percentage allocations have been made to each group.

The ultimate success of this year's drive will determine whether this self-supporting Chest will be continued as an annual plan for the duration of the war.

Officials Proclaim Blackout Successful

At 10:15 last night Washington and Lee underwent a complete blackout in cooperation with the Virginia state civilian defense authorities, who ordered the statewide test.

Blackout officials in Lexington said that the University obeyed the regulations perfectly and was darkened in less than a minute after the signal was sounded. Every light on the campus was turned out and all the fraternity houses were darkened at the same time.

Mr. Lloyd Bowling, sector warden, reported that "the cooperative spirit between the wardens and University students could not have been better in any sense."

The dark period lasted for about an hour, and air raid wardens patrolled the streets to make sure that the regulations were being adhered to. Wardens said this morning that they were not sure whether there will be another practice alert during the practice period, but they said it would be "just as well to be ready for a repeat performance."

Alverson Hopes For Name Band

Earl Alverson, president of 1942 Openings, returned yesterday from a weekend business jaunt to New York, still with hopes of obtaining a "name band" for at least one night of the first dance set, which is scheduled for November 20-21.

Faced with a $1300 reduction in the budget for the dance set because of the war, Alverson said yesterday that it is possible that some "small name band" playing in this area at the time can be procured for one night. He added that the Southern Collegians, under Leader Joe Zamoiski, will probably be engaged for the other evening.

The set president is still trying to contact Fred Lynch, Philadelphia decorator, in regard to decorations, but so far has not been able to locate him.

Reiterating his promise to the student body to "do everything in his power to obtain a good band," Alverson said his New York trip showed that the chances were still high.

Scrap Campaign Nets 20,730-pound Total During First 7 Days

The W&L student body and faculty responded "readily" to the plea for scrap metal by giving 20,730 pounds, a considerable amount more than was expected, according to a report by T. E. Lothery, Watt Smith and Jerry Shamhart, the three chairmen of the drive, after one week of collections. Another drive for the towns people will be started October 8.

The collection was begun last Monday by Watt Smith, campus foreman, who reported that there is approximately another ton still to be picked up. These figures refer to metal picked up on the campus and in the buildings and not to fraternity houses and faculty members' homes, they said.

All fraternities have cooperated splendidly, according to Mr. Lothery and Shamhart. Every fraternity gave some scrap. The amount taken from the fraternity houses and professors' homes however, is not known because they were included in the town drive.

Joint Reserve Board Assembly To Be Held Tomorrow in Chapel

The compulsory University assembly for all students who have not enlisted in some branch of the armed forces will be held at 2:45 tomorrow afternoon instead of the hour previously announced, Dr. A. W. Moger, head of the army reserve programs, announced today.

Because of a last-minute revision in the travel schedule of the Army-Navy-Marine recruiting board which will visit here at this time, Dr. Moger added the assembly had to be advanced in order to give the group enough time to finish a program scheduled at VMI earlier in the afternoon.

The meeting on this campus to be conducted by members of the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps, Army Air Force Enlisted Reserve, Naval Air Corps Enlisted Reserve, Naval Reserve and Marine Reserve, will feature general discussions by the leaders on various aspects of the reserve programs and will serve to give the students an over-all view of the entire reserve setup here at W&L.

After the 2:45 assembly, the floor will be thrown open for student questions and discussions on the programs, according to plans announced recently.

The students will then split up according to branches of their interest and attend separate meetings to be held jointly for W&L and VMI students. In these small

Shoemaker Announces New Reserve Book Plan

A new plan whereby students may sign in advance for books on reserve has been established in the McCormick library, according to Richard H. Shoemaker, University librarian.

The idea was originated to assure students an opportunity to obtain research books which are scarce or in great demand. The slips for the advance reserve are available at the main desk during the day. The books may be taken out from 9 to 10 p.m. and must be returned by 8:30 the following morning.

25 Freshmen Attend Mary Baldwin Dance; Other Trips Cancelled

All plans for future social activities to be sponsored by the Christian council have been canceled after the transportation problem which arose Saturday morning before the annual deputation to Mary Baldwin, Director Seymour Smith announced today.

Although three county busses had been chartered by the Council to afford transportation to the Staunton dance, a state ruling that no county transportation facilities may be used for anything but official purposes forced those freshmen who intended to travel by bus to go by taxi or in cars of upperclassmen.

Twenty-five freshmen did get to Mary Baldwin Saturday night, where they were guests of the college at the annual Founder's Day dance. Held in the new gymnasium opened for the first time Saturday, the dance featured the music of Staunton's Johnny Rich and his orchestra.

Twenty members of the Christian council and Freshman council boards attended a retreat Sunday evening for six hours to discuss plans for vespers and Christian council programs during the year. The meeting was held at the Christian council cabin in Goshen Pass.

Following a steak supper prepared by Al Sharitz, chief cook and chairman of the retreat committee, Bill Noonan, president of the Council, presided over the business meeting.

All students, freshmen as well as upperclassmen, who are interested in forming a W&L Camer club and who have some knowledge of photography, are asked to leave their names with R. M. Hodges of the Journalism department in his office, Washington hall 1.

Bryan Receives Vice-Presidency As George Morris Is Named Frosh Executive Committeeman

Campus Political Leaders

Winners in yesterday's and last night's election include Bates Bryan, who received the vice-presidency of the student body; Pete Day, named president of the senior academic class; and Dick Butler, elected head of the senior commerce class.

Editors, Managers Slash Salaries, Approve Alterations in Budgets

Editors and business managers of the three campus publications voted themselves a 25 per cent reduction in salaries for the year and slight cuts were effected in the budgets of all publications at a two-hour session of the Publications Board yesterday afternoon.

Because the school's enrollment dropped off by nearly 33 per cent this year, the Board, in view of the decreased funds received from the Campus Tax allotment, decided to slash expenditures at every possible point, including the salary reduction.

The group, faced with a publications puzzle involving the departure of men and the lessening of staffs in addition to the shortage of money, approved budgets for the Southern Collegian, Ring-tum Phi and Calyx with only minor alterations.

After reaching a decision that the present costs of picture cuts charged by the Journalism Laboratory Press was correct, the Board placed a stamp of approval on the Southern Collegian's plan to publish two 28-page issues and two 24-page editions. This will be slightly smaller than last year, however.

The Ring-tum Phi will operate this year under a cost accounting system—a pay-as-it-goes setup—and the present four-page, six-column edition will be continued unless advertising falls off to such an extent that it will be financially impossible to do so. In this case, the size employed during the last semester of last year, a four-page, five column tabloid will be revived, the publications group decided.

No decision was reached pertaining to the 1943 Calyx, whose picture drive got underway yesterday morning. Calyx plans are still in the blueprint stage at this time.

His study of expenditures during the past six years now complete, Prof. Lewis B. Adams, one of two faculty representatives on the 10-man group, will submit his report to the Board later in the year. Prof. J. H. (Hig) Williams has assumed his duties as the other faculty representative for

Fraternities Are Asked To Return Alumni Lists

Alumni Secretary Cy Young asked today that all fraternity presidents return immediately a list of fraternity men now in the service. Partial lists were mailed out several weeks ago with the request that the fraternities add to the list other members who are in the armed forces.

Lists must be turned in to Young before October 15, deadline of the first issue of the Alumni Magazine, in which they are to be published.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ollinger Crenshaw announce the birth of a son, Albert Buford, in the Stonewall Jackson Memorial hospital early this week.

Blakely, Butler, Day Win Other Posts; Law Election Tied

Bates Bryan, Phi Delta Theta senior, yesterday was elected to the vice-presidency of the student body in the first of a series of elections which saw a small number of candidates competing, few close contests.

Elected to the Executive committee from the freshman class was George Morris, while Pete Day, Dick Butler and George Blakely were named presidents of the senior academic, commerce and science classes respectively.

Bryan, Chattanooga, Tennessee, academic student, defeated Ken Merrill, Phi Gamma Delta, by a vote of 314 to 217. Bryan is expected to become president of the student body in February upon present head Lee Kenna's graduation.

George Morris, a Sigma Alpha Epsilon freshman, won over Art Morris, PEP, 939 to 71 to become the only officer elected by the freshman class.

Day, a Phi Kappa Sigma, won the presidency of the senior academic class over Ed Zelnicker, ZBT, 34 to 27. John Hackney, Kappa Sigma, defeated Dick Houska, Lambda Chi Alpha, for the vice-president position, 35 to 25, while John Kammerer, NFU, was unopposed for the post of secretary. Calhoun Bond, Delta Tau Delta, defeated Mal Deans for historian, 47 to 10.

Dick Butler, Pi Kappa Phi commerce student, defeated Bill Noonan, SAE, 17-14 to become president of the senior commerce class. Bud Bell, Phi Psi, won over Jim Daves, Sigma Nu, for the vice-presidency, while Ralph Taggart Beta, was unopposed for secretary.

Three students were present to vote for the senior science class officers, Blakely, NFU, winning the presidency 2-1 over John McGehee, Beta Theta Pi. Dick Norden, PEP, and Jim, Parsons, NFU, were unopposed for vice-president and historian, respectively.

In the freshman law class elections, the voting for the president resulted in a 4-4 tie after the first, second and third ballots between T. C. Bowen, NFU, and Jesse Benton, DU. The result was turned over to the Executive committee for a decision. Tom Wilson, Beta, was the sole candidate for vice-president of the group. Receiving the post of secretary, was Ben Blagg, Kappa Alpha, who was unopposed. Roger Campbell, Phi Gamma Delta, received the office of historian without opposition.

Moger Seeks Service Data

The following instructions regarding the AERC have been received from Professor A. W. Moger:

All students—freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors—who wish to be considered for enlistment in the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps should go to the office of Allen W. Moger, Washington hall 36, and leave their full name, college class, age, and draft status.

This should be done as soon as possible and not later than Saturday, October 10. After these names have been considered by the local University committee, recommendations will be forwarded to the Headquarters of the Third Service Command for approval. Those applications approved will then be ordered for enlistment.

It will be possible to enlist in the AERC later on, but no assurance can be given that later applicants can be included in Washington and Lee's quota.

The information requested must be supplied whether or no an applicant has previously asked to be included in Washington and Lee's quota. (SERVICE DATA, Page 4) the group after a one year leave of absence during which Dean Frank J. Gilliam filled the vacancy.

While members of the Board admitted that the problem of filling posts on publications would continue to be a major problem throughout the war, the Board decided to cross each such hurdle as it appears.

Several of these positions will probably be filled in January, at which time several members of the Board are slated to graduate. No definite policy was adopted.

Jackson Leaves Forensic Union Adviser Post

Professor George S. Jackson, Forensic Union adviser, submitted his resignation at the Union's organization meeting yesterday in the Student Union.

Speaker Earl Vickers received the resignation saying that he hoped Jackson's discharge from the Navy would be as honorable as the one from the Union. Vickers told the 48 students present, that he was very sorry to see Jackson go.

Jackson submitted his resignation after delivering a speech recounting the history of the Union, the Graham-Lee Literary society, and the Washington Literary society. The talk was in the form of an answer to a letter from H. T. Vanderbilt, a Phi Beta Kappa official.

A brief history of the organizations was given along with a statement of their importance on the campus.

Students must start now to plan for the post-war world, for they must face its problems soon, Jackson said. It was revealed that finding truth through argument is also very important. In closing Professor Jackson informed his audience: "Now more than ever, the practice of democratic principles is of the greatest importance."

Seymour Smith, director of religious activities, was introduced to the assembled members as the new adviser. Smith gave a short speech discussing the reasons for joining the Union.

Short talks were also given by Jerry Shamhart, secretary, and Henry Young, treasurer, concerning phases of the Forensic Union. The relationship of the University with the Union was also explained.

Each freshman and sophomore who in the opinion of the adviser, takes an active part in the activities of the group will receive one quantity credit.

At the close of the meeting, the members decided to debate: should 18 and 19 year old youths be drafted? Before adjournment, Vickers told the organization that he would post the names of those students who will comprise the two groups in the Union, the Whigs and the Tories.

Dig Deep

The first Washington and Lee Charity Chest drive was launched on the campus yesterday, and the early reports of the solicitors indicate that a large number of students have already made substantial contributions to this worthy and commendable effort.

The first day of the drive netted approximately one-fifth of the total goal of two thousand dollars. In order to reach this goal, which is not large considering the average allowance of W&L students, it is going to be necessary for every student in school to make some contribution.

The average contribution sought from each student is only $3.50. Some, of course, will not be able to give this much. They are asked only to give what they can afford. However, several students who could easily give ten times this amount have been heard to make derogatory and jesting remarks about the drive, and it seems necessary to point out to these and others like them the salient features of this plan and the immense benefits which are derived from it by the charities and by the students.

The support which is given the drive will be of prime significance to all who are interested in its success, for it is the first opportunity that W&L students have had this year to show their willingness to make a small personal sacrifice as a contribution to the security and health of some of the more unfortunate individuals in this community and in this nation. If the drive should fail, it would only be another indication that we as students are too blind, smug and selfish to realize that we have a definite part to play as civilians in American national life.

The value of the charities included in the drive cannot be questioned. The largest share goes to the Red Cross, an organization which today must assume the serious and heavy responsibilities of supplying nurses and medical aid to many of the fighting men of the United Nations, of feeding and clothing the victims of any national disasters, of handling all communication between prisoners of war and their families and friends, of supplying enough food to save the small starving races of the entire earth from extinction and of taking care of the sick and needy wherever they may be.

The next largest share will go to the USO, whose merits all of us appreciate. The percentage of your contribution which goes to this organization will provide recreation and comfort to our fighting men during their short periods of leave. Whether they are in San Francisco, Australia or Ireland it will afford them a place to buy a pack of smokes, take a hot shower or read a magazine.

Those funds which go to the World Student Service Fund will help toward the education of refugee students from all the war-torn countries of the world and will buy books and pay fees for the students of China, as well as others like them, who have carried their universities back into the remote mountains of Mongolia in order to keep the lamps of learning aflame during the resurgence of barbarianism.

Some Lexington child will be restored to health by your contribution to the Children's Clinic, and some American will be given a new lease on life by your aid to the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Fund.

And what is the cost of all this to you? Only $3.50. One Saturday night date at Sweet Briar, ten picture shows, one weekend party or a pair of wool socks. No one can seriously compare the relative merits of the two investments. By supporting the Charity Chest you will be an instrument for the accomplishment of immeasurable good. By doing otherwise with your money, you will merely waste it by satisfying some personal vanity.

The plan was designed primarily to insure a certain contribution to select charities and also to benefit the students here by abolishing the many small and bothersome drives of past years. The total cost to the individual student will actually be less than it was under the old system of fraternity assessments and individual solicitations.

There are many ways to cooperate. You can make your donation in cash or by check or IOU. Or if this month's budget cannot stand the whole amount, you can make a pledge to pay one dollar a month for the next three or four months. One fraternity has given a blanket check and will get the money back by adding one dollar a month to each student's house bill.

The drive should succeed, but if it fails, it will be a condemnation of the W&L student body which will be difficult to explain.

Campus Comment

By Mal Deans

THE SEM TEAM: The boys went over to Southern Sem last Saturday nite per usual, and this time took a new recruit with them.

It was Bob Watkins, sophomore sensation of the Phi Psi house. Bob is a not very tall, nice-looking sort of a fellow and he thought he'd like the same kind of a date.

Time after time he sent his brother's dates upstairs trying to get someone suitable for him, and each time it was the same story—a big horse came down. Finally they brought the whole girl stag line around and gave Watkins his pick. But still it was no soap.

So finally Bob gave up in disgust and hitch-hiked back to Lexington to spend the rest of the evening in McCrum's drinking cherry phosphates and winking at sweater girl Joanne. Poor old Dusty Millar didn't know Bob had left and sat around half the night waiting for him, thinking Watkins was just going through a prolonged farewell. Finally Millar gave up and went down to George's to wait for Watkins. Neither ran into the other until the next morning. There's no ending to this story because nothing happened. They both had hangovers, that's all.

ABOARD THE SEAHOUND: When Russ Neilson's mail arrived at the Sigma Nu House the other day all the boys were just about knocked out. Neilson's mail consisted of one big envelope with the following as return address: "From Captain Silver, Aboard the Seahound, Blue Network, Radio City, N. Y." When opened, the parcel turned out to be a very vividly colored map with the caption, "Captain Silver's Sea Chart."

Neilson explained the situation by saying he merely wanted a nice map for his room, and that he knew it was just for "juvenile kids" (??) but anyhow it was pretty and he liked it. Very logical that explanation, but it also seems pretty logical that Russ was listening to a program for "juvenile kids" pretty closely or he wouldn't have been able to get the thing.

All Russ needs now is a Tom Mix code book so he can send Captain Silver secret messages to the Seahound (Captain Silver's sloop), and a Lone Ranger good luck ring. Russ says he doesn't have quite enough box tops yet.

FROM THE GRAPEVINE: Freddie Fisher, ex-student and Phi Kap, must have really gotten around this summer. Ken Merrill ran into him at a tourist camp in central Pennsylvania in mid-summer and Chuck Sardeson met him somewhere in Delaware later on. Fisher always was elusive. . . Erwin Latimer must have got that hat to replace the thing Lou Shroyer used to wear.

They're calling Grey Flowers "Stardust" now. We think too much of Grey to tell just why. . . Joe Zamoiski is working on those cheerleaders now. We might damwell have a pep rally within a few weeks. . . Tom Dodd has as guilty a conscience as anyone we've ever seen. All you have to do is ask him if he enjoyed himself over the weekend and his face assumes that guilty grin and blush, along with a few "Okay." Poor old Tommy. The fallen man. . . Scoop Jackson, the Ring-tum Phi's ace reporter, says he's in love with some little thing down in Mt. Airy (N.C.). Scoop's home town is Mt. Airy. When in high school he was the bigwig, the editor-in-chief of the Mt. Airy High-Spots.

Helen Anderson is our idea of a very lovely young lady. In absolute agreement with this viewpoint is Professor Dan Wells (psychology department). Nuff said. . .

THAT'S LIFE: Dave Clark and others took an awful picking in the series. How the Yanks ever collapsed like that is beyond comprehension. They certainly looked like deadly mortal cinches before the games began. . . As we write this Al Cahn is perched across the room writing his obituary column, "Films," which appears elsewhere on this page. On Cahn's face there is an odd look of combined glee and malevolence. Apparently he has just taken a dig at someone. Al gets more kick out of that column than anyone else. . . Not so long until the first big weekend of the year. These Interfraternity dances are usually a damsite better than the big ones, so buy a ticket and try it. Only a buck if you get them early. . . Clancy Johnson's Beta pin has come back from Spartansburg (S. C.) where he found Miss Anne Murrah was wearing his along with several others. In full regalia she had a marked resemblance to MacArthur. At least her chest did. Again with certain modifications. . . This Rollins team will be a tough nut for Jerry's Generals to crack. They're a rough bunch and no mistake. . . The Yanks might have won if they'd thrown Lefty Gomez in there once. . . This column will have to terminate now. The defeat of the mighty Yanks has taken away all desire to continue.

FILMS . . .

We're all for those pictures that seem to just skim by the Hays office as "Sweater Girl" apparently did. To our bewilderment and a m a z e m e n t it turned up into a pretty fair show. Yes, pretty fair. On to the movies of the week tho.

Monty Wooley in the "Pied Piper" has his first benevolent role in which he snatches five refugee children from the Nazi terror and motherly escorts them to England—after, of course, the brushes with the Gestapo and other narrow escapes.

Roddy McDowall, the child star of "How Green Was My Valley," is responsible for most of the comedy—such that there is—;frankly we don't think this one will be too much of a charge.

Thursday through Saturday at the State we go "Across the Pacific" with the Maltese Falcon cast of Humphrey Bogart, Mary Astor (still a revelation to us) and the fat man, Sidney Greenstreet. The Panama Canal is the objective of the spies in this exceedingly clever show. Remember that the Maltese Falcon was the little show with the big trail of excitement. Well, "Across the Pacific" is this time the big show with no less amount of suspense and adventure.

On the same bill is "The World at War," the official motion picture of the United States government, recording the decade of events preceding Pearl Harbor. This, too, is an excellent short that is so timely that it almost shows history in the making. Don't miss this Thursday-Saturday bang-up double feature. Most of the sequences are seized Axis propaganda films that have been edited and compiled by our government.

"Atlantic Convoy" at the Lyric Wednesday is a miserable attempt to equal its rival at the State. An injection of meteorology is given to this sinking story but, uh huh, too late, get the mop. If it wasn't for the story and actors this might—there's still doubt—be worth the struggle.

Bad news comes all at once: at any rate that's what it seems like when you learn that "Blondie for Victory" follows close on the heels of the torpedoed "Convoy"—which really doesn't need a torpedo to sink it. Now for Blondie, who as the model American, gets herself enrolled in defense courses. The exciting story winds around Blondie trying out her first-aid on the dog and Dagwood. Frankly, we can hardly wait!

Mal Deans, wrong as usual, just lost his pants on the series. We guess he gets his dope the same way he gets his Comment—what comment? Do you mean "The Life and Loves of Three Students?"

NOTES: Basin Street Chamber Music Society, tomorrow night's regular jam session, will feature Kay Lorraine in the show at 9 over the Blue. . . WSLS, Roanoke, has become an affiliate of the Blue and you can find it around 1500 on the dial. . . Spotlight Bands bring Sammy Kaye and orchestra at 9:30, Blue Network.

Washington and Lee is full of traditions, in fact, you might say that the University is based upon tradition. At first these traditions may seem absurd and inconvenient, but as the days go by, you, too will learn to love and respect our traditions and see that they are observed.

A prerequisite for entrance here is the status of a gentleman. You will be considered as such and will be treated accordingly. All we ask in return is that you be a gentleman and conduct yourself as a gentleman should.

The Freshman Assimilation committee is a group of students appointed by the president of the student body. The committee's job is to see that freshmen do conduct themselves as gentlemen and punish those who do not. Restrictions on freshmen are few and simple. They are:

1. Must wear freshman cap.
2. Must speak to all students, professors and visitors.
3. Must dress conventionally.
4. Must conduct themselves as gentlemen at all times.
5. Must keep off grass on campus.

These rules are simple enough for a grade school student to understand, and contrary to popular opinion that upperclassmen consider freshmen the dumbest, most useless things on earth, we of Washington and Lee do not.

Rule 1. Must wear freshman cap. This is simple enough in itself, but seems to be too deep for some. It does mean that freshmen have to wear a cap although it doesn't specify how. It does not mean that caps should be worn backwards or with the brim turned up. Washington and Lee does not encourage shins. A cap with the brim turned is also contrary to Rule 3 (must dress conventionally at all times). This is an institution of higher learning and not a school for jockeys.

Rule 2. Must speak to all students, professors and visitors. The rule plainly states that speaking is required, a grunt or a casual nod of the head is not enough. Visitory include VMI cadets who are crossing the campus. VMI upperclassmen may neglect to speak, but that is no excuse for Washington and Lee men to forget.

Rule 3. Must dress conventionally. This means that a coat and tie must be worn at all times except when engaged in athletics. A quick trip to the P.O. or the Corner Store in a T-shirt is taboo.

Rule 4. Must conduct themselves as gentlemen at all times. A man who is intelligent enough to be a college freshman is considered intelligent enough to know what the inherent characteristics of a gentleman include.

Rule 5. Must keep off grass at all times. It means keep off the grass and should need no further explanation.

These are the freshmen rules and if they are observed life here will be most enjoyable. If there is an infraction of the rules, life may become less agreeable.

LAUNDRY?—YES!
—But Laundry Problems? NO!

Even a Freshman soon learns how to handle Laundry Problems—just send your laundry home by RAILWAY EXPRESS—and have it returned to you the same way. You'll find it's really no problem at all.

Low rates include pick-up and delivery at no extra charge, within our regular vehicle limits, in all cities and principal towns. Your laundry can be sent prepaid or collect, as you choose. Psst! Send and receive baggage, gifts, etc. the same convenient way.

Generally Speaking . . .

By Clancy Johnson

Generally Speaking we owe something of an apology to Lin Holton. Several issues ago we made a crack about Holton stating that the Cards would take the series in five games. Well, ole Lin turned out to be a real prophet and we take our hat off to him, also to "Shoeless" Pete Day, who back in August stated that the Cards would be champs this year. "Shoeless" must be an awful happy man over all the little "collections" that he has made as a result of the outcome, and we know that Hoot Gligson is a very unhappy boy for the same reason. We still can't understand why the Cards started Mort Cooper in that game Sunday, though.

While we're taking a beating, it is in place to say that it would be a 'til hard to pan the great Bill Dudley after the swell showing he made for the Pittsburgh Steelers on Sunday.

If there ever was a time for the student body at W&L to show the football team that they are behind them it is now. It hurts a lot to lose a game like we did Saturday, but if we show that game squad that we are still pulling for them, they can go out and win that game with the Rollins college Tars and all the other games to follow, including our Homecoming game with the Wahos.

In that game Saturday, it seems that a big six-foot-four end for the Wildcats missed a pass out in little Teddy Ciesla's territory.

"Tough luck, ole boy," Teddy commented.

"Oh yeah, you better watch it or I'll run all over you on the next play," came the Wildcat's reply.

"Just watch me the next time I get the ball," was the mighty mite's comeback, "and I'll run right UNDER you!"

What a headache Chauncey Durden must have had Saturday when he saw the game results start coming in shooting all his predictions to hell. How he ever saw fit to pick Richmond over George Washington is beyond me. Which reminds us, the experts say Virginia will take VMI.

Take that Georgia Tech-Notre Dame upset. If you followed that game closely you noticed that one of the main reasons for Tech's victory was a little freshman named Clint Castleberry, who I still contend is the hottest thing in the SEC this season.

Noticed that the schedule of the Virginia 150-pound football squad, coached by Butch Slaughter, includes two games with W&L's non-existent squad on the 16th of October and on the 13th of November. Guess they'll claim the games by forfeit.

Four of the Yankee's are sharing in their seventh cut of series money. Bill Dickey, Frank Corsetti, Charlie Ruffing, and Lefty Gomez are the lucky guys who have found a "get rich quick" method.

The Middies really walloped the stuffings out of the Wahos, but we'd say things would have been a lot different if Flash Bryant hadn't been hurt on the first play of the game.

Jack Tucek got his first crack at a Wahoo varsity in that game Saturday when he played a great game for the Navy.

Rumor hath it that there will be a big pep rally the night before the Hampden-Sydney game to start off a great weekend. This is the time and place to show our spirit and to spark the Generals to a smashing victory over the H-S Tigers. Incidentally, the Tigers have only four lettermen on this year's squad, which also includes nine first year men.

If the name Al Peacock means anything to you, you will know that the Rollins football team isn't the social club that the college is.

It looks like the I-M football setup this year has its advantages. Now just because a team loses its first round match, is no reason that the team can't win the championship. Look what the Cards did.

An while on the story of intramurals, it's about time that someone began swinging the praises of (JOHNSON, Page 4)

Golfers Noonan, Bowie in Play-off

The 1940 champion and the 1942 winner will clash for the 1942 crown Thursday afternoon when Bud Bowie faces Bill Noonan in an 18-hole play-off for the annual fall intramural golf tournament title.

Noonan and Bowie, both former W&L links captains and winners of the meet, carded par 72s, and the winner in Thursday's medal play round will receive the victory prize—$1 worth of war stamps. The loser receives 75c worth.

Only eleven men participated in Coach Cy Twombly's annual affair Sunday morning, but six of the eleven won war stamp prizes. Other winners included Luke Smith, who fired a 74 for the second straight year. With a one handicap which he drew blindly, placing him closest to par 72, he won $1 worth and the blind bogey title.

Guy Yaste and Freshman Howard Wilkins were knotted for second with 70s while Jack Harper, former Hill school links captain, placed third with a net 69. Yaste and Harper fired gross 80s; Wilkins, an 85.

Although he was 13 strokes better than Phi Delt Erwin Lattimer's 107 of last fall, Al Sharitz walked off with the booby prize Sunday after racking up a 94. Five of the eleven players fired rounds in the nineties.

Here are the scores in the 18-hole school golf meet Sunday, with gross score, handicaps and net score listed in that order:

Bill Noonan, 72, 12, 60; Bud Bowie, 72, 9, 63; Luke Smith, 74, 1, 73; Guy Yaste, 80, 10, 70; Jack Harper, 80, 11, 69; Howard Wilkins, 85, 15, 70; Short, 90, 14, 76; Bill Crittenden, 91, 7, 84; Richardson, 91, 13, 78; Jug Lanier, 93, 3, 89; and Al Sharitz, 94, 12, 76.

Blue Out for First Victory In Rollins Clash Saturday

Striving to join the victory parade after two false starts, Washington and Lee's Generals will engage the Rollins College Tars in an after-dark contest at Winter Park, Fla., Saturday.

The Tars have not been scored upon this year. After stopping Presbyterian, 21-0, in the season's opener, they made it two in a row last Saturday, downing Davidson, 14-0.

The Big Blue will be forced to make its third successive road-trip. This, coupled with the heavy physical beating they absorbed in the Kentucky game, will put the Generals at a distinct disadvantage in their coming battle.

Featuring Quentin Bittle and Sam Pugh in the wingback spots, the Tars' backfield is primed for offensive power. Paul Meredith, veteran senior, calls the signals and does the blocking chores from his quarterback post. Gladly Ray, plunging back, who scored five touchdowns against Mercer last year, completes the Rollins secondary.

Bittle, a triple-threat, handles the punting, running and passing chores for the Florida outfit. Pugh came out of Lake Wales High School, and received the Orlando Sentinel's award for the best backfield performance in the scholastic conference.

Rollins' line average 185 pounds, 18 pounds lighter per man than the General forward wall. Ralph Chisholm, left end, is the best pass-snatcher on the squad. "Red" Harris, who handles the other end position, was a reserve last season, but made the jump to the first squad this fall.

Floyd Jaggers and Gus Koulouris hold down the two tackle slots. Jaggers is termed by the Rollins coaching staff as the "most improved" man on the squad, and Koulouris is a defensive standout.

Ed Friedson and Pershing Scott are the first team guards. Friedson transferred from Stetson two years ago when that school gave (ROLLINS, Page 4)

Freshmen Lose 46-0 to Staunton

The freshman football team, still smarting from the crushing 46-0 defeat it suffered at the hands of a powerful SMA eleven Saturday, began preparations yesterday for its second encounter of the season against the Richmond yearling squad at Richmond Friday.

Commenting upon Saturday's game and the chances for victory in the coming tussle, Coach Perry Simmons said, "We were simply too inexperienced and didn't have enough reserves. Staunton has the best prep school team I've ever seen, and after a few of our boys were hurt early in the game we didn't have much chance."

"I want to forget about last Saturday and concentrate now on the Richmond game," Simmons continued. "It's hard to say what our chances are, because we don't know much about the Little Spiders and also we don't know who will be in shape to play Friday."

Simmons singled out Lou Hahn, acting captain, for his outstanding game. Campbell Gibson and Art Morris, guards, and Hedley Clark and Tom Chisari, backs, were also praised.

Chisari was removed from the game with a brain concussion.

Gym Open Daily, Except Sunday, from Dawn Till 6 For Student, Faculty Use

Doremus gymnasium is now open for use by students and faculty members every day except Sunday from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Cy Twombly, head of the physical education department, pointed out today.

Twombly asked that all students — especially freshmen — become acquainted with the gym and its use as often as possible in view of the critical times.

He warned, however, that shoes with rubber soles must be worn at all times on the basketball floor, the indoor track and the handball courts. All violators of this ruling will be fined, he added.

Students playing handball must furnish their own equipment, but basketballs and other athletic equipment are always available at the office of the athletic director. The pool may be used during any of the gym hours.

Future Foes in Action

Rollins and Maryland were the only future opponents of the Generals to come out victorious over the weekend. Navy trounced Virginia 35-0 with two former W&L gridmen, Jack Tucek and Marshall Steves, in the lineup. Maryland's T-formation clicked again as it downed Lakehurst Naval Station, 14-0. Powerful William and Mary beat a good VPI team, 21-7. A hot passing attack featured Rollins' 14-0 victory over Davidson, while George Washington was taking the measure of lowly Richmond, 27-0.

Game Generals Defeated 53-0 By Overpowering Wildcat Squad As Injuries Hamper Big Blue

Only Serious W&L Threat Comes in First Quarter When Harner, Working Flash; Daves is Game Captain

Washington and Lee's Generals were defeated by the University of Kentucky Wildcats 53-0 Saturday night before a crowd of 5,000 people in Stoll Field at Lexington, Ky.

Eleven minutes after the opening kick-off, Charley Kuhn, husky Wildcat half-back, scooted around W&L's right end, scoring for Kentucky from the W&L 16. The kick for the extra point went wide, making the score 6-0 in Kentucky's favor.

Jerry Holstein, W&L coach, promised a new set of plays designed to spring half-backs Harry Harner and Dick Working loose. On the first play after Kentucky kicked-off, Holstein's promise came true. Harner made a beautiful slash over Frank DiLoreto's right tackle slot for a net gain of 34 yards as the first quarter ended.

On the first play of the second quarter, Working tossed a floating pass to end Ray Norman who made a 31 yard gain. It looked as if the Generals were finally clicking. Harner smashed off tackle again gaining three yards, and putting the ball on the Wildcat five yard line. The Generals had driven 68 yards in three plays, but they were halted on the five by the stalwart boys from the Blue Grass.

Kentucky, after an exchange of punts, drove to the Generals' three yard line but were halted by the Washington and Lee forward wall. Bill Babcock, W&L back, punted out to the 33 where Kuhn caught the ball and returned it to the 25.

Kentucky pushed the Generals back until a pass from Phi Cutchin, Wildcat half-back, to Back Gene Meeks accounted for the second Kentucky tally. The try for the extra point failed, making the score 12-0 in Kentucky's favor. Both teams sea-sawed up and down the field for the few minutes left in the first half.

The Generals received several injuries in the first half that held down their driving power for the rest of the game. Kentucky took advantage of this let-up by the Generals and ran over for the Wildcats' third six-pointer in the first minutes of play. Kuhn scored from the one-yard line and also ran over for the extra point, making the score 19-0.

Kentucky got possession of the pigskin again later in the quarter on the W&L 40-yard line. On a series of line plays, the Wildcats scored with Meeks going off tackle from the two-yard line. A pass to Meeks accounted for another Wildcat score, with Kuhn kicking the extra point, making the score 33-0.

Still suffering from numerous injuries, three broken noses in the line being the most felt, the Washington and Lee Generals could not stem the tide of Coach Ab Kirwin's Wildcats. They drove over on power plays for another touchdown, with Kuhn converting early in the fourth quarter, raising their large lead to 40-0.

Paul Walker tossed the ball to Eric Hoyer, who ran over from the W&L ten, and Kuhn converted again, adding seven points to Kentucky's lead. With only a few minutes left in the game, Kentucky scored again on end run, but Kuhn failed to convert. The game ended before either team got within scoring distance of the other's goal, and with Kentucky on top of a 53-0 score.

The starting line-up for Washington and Lee was: Wheeler, LE; Rulevich, LT; Otter, LG; D. Norman, C; Fitzpatrick, RG; DiLoreto, RT; Daves, RE and field captain; Ciesla, QB, Harner, LH; Working, RH; and Cavaliere, FB.

Harriers Answer Morrissey's Call

With the second call of Coach Pete Morrissey for cross country candidates, nearly 60 runners have responded and are taking daily workouts in preparation for the first appearance of the squad in competition, October 17.

The response was by far the best to be witnessed here, and, according to reports, probably the best in the entire history of the state. Led by Captain Sammy Graham and several other veterans, the squad will begin regular workouts next week.

As yet the official schedule has not been released, but the athletic department is contacting other schools in this locality for meets. The already full weekend of October 17 has been selected for the first appearance of the team when they will hold an intra-squad meet between the halves of the W&L-Hampden-Sydney football game.

Coach Morrissey plans to enter teams in the Big Six and Southern conference meets this fall and is (CROSS COUNTRY, Page 4)

Dinner Forum Discusses Abolition of Fraternities; Names Holton Secretary

Discussion of whether or not the nation's universities should abolish fraternities featured the first meeting of the Lee Dinner Forum, bi-weekly discussion group, in the Robert E. Lee hotel Sunday night. Holly Smith read the first paper.

In a business session following the discussion Lin Holton was elected secretary-treasurer of the Forum and Bob Irons, KA sophomore, was admitted as a new member.

Dr. Fitzgerald Flournoy of the school's English department was faculty guest at this initial meeting, which saw seven of the ten returning men present. Members of the forum include President Walt Browder, Holton, Smith, Irons, Charlie Rowe, Ed Jackson, Bob Moore, Dick Watson, Bill Armstrong, Ed Zelnicker and Bill Noonan.

Community Work Group Sponsors Local Projects

Twenty members of the Community Work committee, under the leadership of Bobby Seal, met at the Student Union this afternoon to discuss plans for the future work of the organization.

It is planned to have a member of the committee at the East Lexington Boys club, under the sponsorship of this group, every afternoon and night, and also to have members who are particularly skilled in handicraft and hobbies instruct the members of the club.

Plans are underway to organize a West Lexington Boys club similar to the one in East Lexington. This committee also fosters the negro Hi-Y club and the negro Boy Scout troop.

A large number of freshmen turned out for today's meeting. Ben Huntley is in charge of the freshman group.

There will be an open meeting of the Christian council Friday night in the Student Union at 7:30 p.m.

L. B. Cox Gives Library Collection of 76 Volumes, Swelling Donations to 126

McCormick library received a collection of 70 books last week from Lewis B. Cox, '14, Richard H. Shoemaker, head librarian, announced today. Other recent contributions have totaled nearly 50 volumes, with 20 being added by Delta Upsilon fraternity.

The gift from Mr. Cox consisted of several valuable additions, Mr. Shoemaker said. One of these is the eight volume "Report of the U. S. Congress Joint Committee on the Conduct of the War," these books constitute an official summary of the Civil War and should prove extremely helpful in history research, he added.

Mr. Cox received both his B.A. and LL.B. degrees at W&L. At the present time he is a lawyer in Hartford, Conn.

Kammerer Issues Request For More Band Members

Urging every man who can play an instrument, whether freshman or upperclassman, to try out for the band, John Kammerer, business manager of the newly reorganized band, promised that anyone who has a reasonable amount of knowledge of his instrument would be given a position. He added that experience is not absolutely necessary.

Two organization meetings of the band have already been held and the first rehearsal is scheduled for this Thursday afternoon at 4:30 on the stage of the Troubadour Theatre. Kammerer said that the initial freshman turnout was slightly disappointing, but that more first year men are expected. The following freshmen have already reported for rehearsal: George Petty, Roland Cote, Hugh Flanigan, John Kelly, and Barton Quaintance.

There is a shortage this year of clarinets and all base clef instruments. Men who can play these instruments are asked to come out even if they have no instruments of their own as some may be secured for them.

Calyx Picture Drive Progresses Rapidly

Calyx Editor Al Darby said today that the drive for individual pictures for the yearbook was progressing successfully and added that no house reporting so far has less than 81 per cent of its members signed up, with several houses supporting the drive 100 per cent.

Darby also reminded students that each house has been assigned one day to have their pictures taken at the Andre studios and that non-fraternity men should have theirs taken at any time within the next two weeks. The price for individual pictures remain the same as last year—$2.75.

The schedule arranged with Andre's for the rest of this week is as follows:
Wednesday—Kappa Alpha.
Thursday—Alpha Tau Omega.
Friday—Sigma Chi.

the new I-M field that makes the I-M program much more efficient. Right now I would like to extend my thanks and those of all of the fraternities to Cy Young, who worked hard to make the field a possibility, and to all of the alumni who made the field a reality.

We were surprised to learn that last Thursday 36 men reported for crosscountry, but to learn that approximately 60 men are now out, floors me. When Pete Morrissey takes the time to workout personally with 60 men, it is high time for the students to give recognition to Morrissey and his squad, which is probably the largest in the state.
