

Generals Romp Over Blue Hens By 32-0 Count To Take Series

Bocetti, Holt Pace Offensive

Gil Bocetti ran and faked Delaware's Blue Hens almost crazy as he led the Generals to a decisive 32-0 win at Wilmington. The emphasis was on the ground attack, with the Generals rolling up 454 yards. W. and L. scored 28 first downs to Delaware's four.

The Blue Hens, however, made it a ball game in the first quarter as they repeatedly held the Generals from scoring. Randy Broyles started the game rolling early in the second quarter when he swept around left end on a Bocetti handout and drove seven yards for the first score. Walt Michaels missed the conversion.

Charlie Holt provided the most spectacular run for the Generals in the first half when he sliced off tackle on a crossback and chugged 46 yards for W. and L.'s second touchdown. Michaels again missed the extra point try, and the half-time score was 12-0.

Five minutes after the second half began, the Blue had another touchdown via the ground game. Charlie Holt, Ray Leister and Wes Abrams all combined their talents in a series of 13 plays for the marker. However, it was Jim Stark who finally carried the pigskin over, and Michaels' conversion was good.

Defensively, the Generals played one of their best games of the season and Delaware did not penetrate beyond the W. and L. 37-yard line all afternoon. W. and L. drove 54 yards in ten plays for their fourth score, with Stark again scoring from nine yards out.

In the fourth period, Delaware punted to Dave Waters at mid-field and Waters brought the ball back to the Blue Hen 33. Broyles finally scored from the two, and Michaels again converted.

Bill Butler's 12-yard dash in the fourth quarter was Delaware's major offensive threat, but the play was called back and Delaware penalized. Coach George Barclay again commended Chuck Smith for his fine defensive playing. Smith also played a bang-up game against V. P. I. here. The victory marked the Generals' sixth win against two losses, and from last week's scores, both Louisville and Richmond played fine games.

Louisville Looked Good

Louisville showed both offensive and defensive power in their Friday night tie with unbeaten Miami (Fla.). As a matter of fact, Louisville made their second extra-point try, but it was called back because of a penalty. The Cardinals have one of the finest passers the Generals will see although he is not extremely accurate. And their line is probably the heaviest we will face all year.

Notice

An error of omission appeared in last Friday's edition of The Ring-tum Phi, and we are hereby apologizing.

It seems that the W. and L. soccer team edged the University of North Carolina on Smith Field, and the resulting story as carried by this paper failed to give the score.

Final score: W. and L. 3, N. C. 2.

W & L Officials Say Nothing on Bowl Prospects

University officials and members of the Athletic Department have refused to comment on the announcement by 'Gator Bowl' officials that W. and L. is being considered for the 1951 edition of the bowl, to be held at Jacksonville, Florida, on New Year's Day.

The announcement was made in a letter received by the University Publicity Office last week which requested information about the team's records and outstanding players. The letter stated that other teams being considered for bowl bids are Clemson, Fordham, Kentucky, Miami, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Southern Methodist, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and Wyoming. According to the Associated Press, many of these teams are in the running for some of the more important bowls and are probably not considering the 'Gator Bowl.

As the Generals have never been invited to a bowl, there is no definite University policy on the subject. There is, however, no Southern Conference rule which prohibits member teams from participation in bowls.

An Associated Press article which appeared in the Richmond Times-Dispatch yesterday rated W. and L. a "fair bet" to get a bowl bid. Other teams listed were California, a "virtual cinch"; Kentucky, Wisconsin, Texas, "strong bets"; Illinois, Tennessee, Clemson and Miami, "good bets"; Southern Methodist, Wyoming, Loyola and Nebraska, "fair bets."

Another article, which appeared last week in a Richmond paper, mentioned the possibility of a New Year's Day game between W. and L. and Virginia. Thus far, the University has received no official information on the subject. Ac-

Swimmers Prepare for Season Opener with First Practice Sessions

The swimming team, under the direction of Cy Twombly, began its practice this week. Among the returning lettermen of last year are Bill Mills, breaststroke; Jim Gallivan and Tom Gardner, divers; Chuck McCain, dashes; Bill Hall, backstroke; and Larry Gabelli, who was a 440 man last year, but who will probably be diving this year; George Arata, who swims the 100, 220 and 440; and Don Steenburg, who swims the 220 and 440, but who will not be available until the second semester. The loss of Mick McDonald, who was last year's star, will be greatly felt by the Generals; therefore, Cy is banking very heavily on last year's freshmen. Parker Smith, who does a little of everything, and Bob Goodman, who is a dash man, are the two best prospects. Seth Thayer, Bill Reid and Henry Williamson are other promising sophomores.

Alec Devoipi, who was the 100-yard freestyle intramural champ last year, and Tom Perkins and Bob Stickel, who were also outstanding in intramurals, will be a big assistance to the team.

First Meet Dec. 16

The first meet of the year is December 16 with George Washington at the Doremus Gymnasium. After that the Generals meet Georgetown, Catholic University, V. P. I., William and Mary, and Clemson.

GENERALIZING

By TED LONERGAN No Train to Richmond And Here Are Reasons

A few weeks ago we mentioned in this column that the Student War Memorial Scholarship Fund had planned to hire a train to take students to Richmond for the traditional game with the Wahoos. Plans were started for the trip by the editor of the Ring-tum Phi last Spring, and continued for the first two weeks of the Fall semester. After these first two weeks, it was decided that the plan could not be put into effect in time for the Virginia game, and thus the idea was put off until some future date.

Frazier Reams, head of the SWMSF Committee, then planned to have the trip made for the Turkey Day game with Richmond. This loomed as the logical time for the game, since it proved to be the game that will decide whether the Generals carry the Southern Conference bunting this season.

However, since that announcement in this column there has been nothing said, and nothing done, at least as far as the students are concerned.

That is not the case. The committee worked out plans for the student body to make the trip, and those plans were presented to railroad officials for confirmation. The final decision has been that there will be no train to Richmond on Thanksgiving Day, and here is why.

There are many students who own cars, and who would take their cars instead of the train. Many students will take advantage of the one day of no classes to go home, and will not be in Lexington to take the train. With this depletion in prospective riders, the price per rider would have come close to ten dollars. It is very doubtful whether any students would take advantage of the transportation at these rates.

Again, the train would take seven hours to make the trip, and that would have it leaving here at close to 6:30 a. m. Again, the question—How many students would get out of the sack at that time of the morning? Answer—not many.

In general, there was too much and not enough, each in its own place. Therefore, the conclusion is that there will be no train to Richmond on Thanksgiving Day.

In closing, we must say that, through these plans, such as the hired train and the Corn Bowl game in December, the SWMF Committee is showing the originality that will make the drive toward $10,000 a success.

We congratulate the SWMF.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 6...THE TURTLE

"I should never have stuck my neck out!"

They had our slow-moving brother moving at too fast a pace with those quick-trick cigarette tests! A fast puff... a swift sniff... a quick inhale... a rapid exhale. Terrapin's head was spinning—didn't know if he was coming or going! But he slowed down to his own speed—decided there was no need to rush. After all, he figured, how could anyone possibly prove cigarette mildness so fast? And he was right, too! That's why we suggest: The sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a pack after pack, day after day basis. No snap judgments needed. After you've enjoyed Camels—and only Camels—for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste) we believe you'll know why...

More People Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

Earl N. Levitt

Gentlemen's Outfitter and Custom Tailor

"Best Dressed Men — See Earl N." As Familiar As E Pluribus Unum

By FRED HARMON

"The best dressed men... see Earl N." Only a complete stranger to the metropolis of Lexington would dare to venture, "Earl who?" Almost everyone has come into contact at one time or another with jovial Earl Nicholl Levitt who runs the men's clothing shop at 123 W. Nelson Street.

Earl was born on the day that "the war to end all wars" was terminated, November 11, 1918. In 1940 he was graduated from the University of Wisconsin where he was a member of Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity. Earl received his B. A. degree in Economics, but he informed us that he "wasn't even close to Phi Beta Kappa." While at Wisconsin he worked in the college clothing store and it was here that he became interested in his chosen career.

The President sent his greetings to Mr. Levitt in March of 1941 and he entered O. C. S. After this training Earl received a commission as lieutenant in the tank destroyers. A medical discharge in 1943 left him free to return to his wife, Maxine, whom he had married in November of 1942. The Levitts now have one son, Bruce, who is almost a year old.

Earl spent the following years as a buyer for Bloomingdale's Department Store in New York. It was not until October of 1947 that he bought his present location from John Norman of Roanoke.

Earl, who caters almost exclusively to student trade, believes that college boys are the most difficult of all customers due to their differing tastes and the speed with which they develop a fad. Earl usually spends about 12 to 14 hours a day on store business, and is noted as a skillful buyer who is hard to please. Bob Mish, Earl's right-hand man, confided that the boss is never on time for anything and that, in spite of his prestige in the town, he is still a rah-rah college boy at heart. An avid tennis enthusiast, Earl also spends his spare time as an amateur photographer.

The activities of W. and L. and V. M. I. have no more ardent supporter than Earl, who is a firm believer in all forms of advertising. He originated the idea of using students as models in his ads, which has proven most effective in his business.

In the true W. and L. tradition, Earl tries to make all of his transactions a personal arrangement and he endeavors to have at least a speaking acquaintance with all of his customers. About the future there are no immediate plans, but in time perhaps Lexington will not be the only college town where the name of Earl N. Levitt is synonymous with current style.

Boy's Club

The Boy's Club Group of the Christian Council has begun another year's work with the youths of Lexington.

Under the direction of Ben Martin, the boys who have expressed their willingness to help out in the Boy's Club program are working earnestly in the endeavor to keep the Lexington boys out of trouble.

Each Washington and Lee boy who attends the recreation periods acts as an adviser; his knowledge of competitive games is imparted to the youngsters. Meetings are held twice a week, on Wednesday and Friday, and the games usually last from 3 to 5:30.

All Quiet on the Bowl

(Continued from page three) According to the story, the game was to be sponsored by a prominent businessman and played in Roanoke.

As the final choice of the bowl committee will not be made until the end of the season, the results of the next few games will be the deciding factor in determining the two teams that will play.

Cross Burned on Campus At University of Texas; Paper Attacks KKK Action

Students at the University of Texas had a lot to talk about last week when a cross was burned in front of the Texas law building and "KKK's" painted around the walls.

People were quick to connect this incident with the admission of Herman Sweat and other Negro students into the University law school. The Daily Texan's strong editorial criticism of the incident resulted in a letter to the editor threatening another cross burning—this time in front of the journalism building.

In commenting on the incident, the Campus Chat, school newspaper at North Texas State College, said, "Austin is supposed to be one of the state's liberal centers. And the University is allegedly a great force in the progressive movement. If this is an example of a more liberal community's reaction to the breaking down of segregation, it is not difficult to calculate what would happen in smaller colleges."

Group Plans Party

Alpha Kappa Psi, honorary commerce fraternity, met Friday to make plans for another cocktail party this weekend. Routine business was also discussed, and "long-range plans not yet ready for release" were made, according to Bill Kyle, president.

The cocktail party, restricted to Alpha Kappa Psi members, will be held Friday, November 17, at Mike's, from 5 to 6 p. m.

'Who's Who'

Mike Radulovic is the vice-president of the student body and won his third football letter this year. He was Executive Committeeman from the junior class and served on the Assimilation Committee. Dave Ryer is president of the senior class and of the Graham-Lee Literary Society. He edits The Southern Collegian, and is co-captain of the lacrosse team.

Sol Wachtler received the IFC awards for the outstanding freshman and sophomore. In 1949 he received the Washington leadership award. He has been president of the Forensic Union, the Washington Literary Society, and Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity. A member of ODK, he has also served on the Assimilation Committee. Rush Webb is head dormitory counselor and was president of the Graham-Lee Literary Society in 1947. He has served on the Executive Committee.

Pete White, a Southern Conference track man, is president of the Spiked Shoe Society. Bill White is president of the Washington Literary Society, and is the Executive Committee member from the Publications Board. He was editor of the 1949 Calyx.

Rehearsals Begin for Opera

To complete the six-person cast, Bill Gladstone, W. and L. junior, will appear as the mute Toby in Menotti's work, while Benno Forman, also a student, will sing the baritone role as Mr. Gobineau.

Members of the Guild emphasized that the number of tickets sold beginning next week will determine whether the opera will be successful financially. Admission is $1.50 per person.
