

Will Lead Cotillion Club Figure with Dance Set President Jackson

President's Party Today Opens Weekend; All-Star Game Sat.

The President's party with Johnny Guarneri and his quintet on the lawn of the Sigma Nu house this afternoon officially inaugurated the Spring Dance weekend. Guarneri and his orchestra, with their emphasis on jazz and piano stylings, played from 4 until 6 p.m. for a large crowd of students and their dates.

With the theme "Old South Ball," the Spring Dance program for this year is a full one. Tonight Sy Oliver and his orchestra will play for the initial dance. The dance will begin at 10:00 p.m. and continue until 2:00 a.m. It is formal.

Sy Oliver has created a rhythmic tempo which only his orchestra can effectively present. Oliver and his "two beat" style combine to make his musical aggregation one of the nation's outstanding bands.

THE THEME of this dance set will be the old plantation period. The Gym will be decorated with scenes which were common to the old plantations, with the orchestra playing from the terrace of an ante-bellum home.

The Cotillion Club figure will begin at 11 p.m. tonight. Miss Helen Hatch of Montgomery, Ala., and Mary Baldwin College will be escorted by Dance Set President Jay Jackson. They will be followed by vice presidents and their dates. Miss Catherine Dempsey, of Hollins College, will be escorted by Vice President Bill Bailey; Miss Ann Trotter of Mount Vernon College will be escorted by Vice President Carl Swanson; Miss Nancy Ades of Ohio State University will be escorted by Vice President John Isaacs; and Miss Deborah Westcott of Hollins College will be escorted by Vice President John Bowman.

The much anticipated Varsity-Alumni football game will be played Saturday afternoon, with the opening kickoff at 2 p.m. The highly touted All-Star backfield will include All-Southerners Gil Bocetti, Walt Michaels, Randy Broyles, and Wes Abrams. Admission prices for the game are $1.50 per couple or $1.00 for a single ticket.

The Washington and Lee lacrosse team will be host to the University of Baltimore here Saturday afternoon. This game will begin at 3:30 p.m. on the Intramural field.

BLUE BARRON will present his "Music of Yesterday and Today" in the final dance of this set on Saturday evening from 9 until 12. Barron's distinctive styling will be augmented by vocalist Jo Ann Miller, a curvaceous young Tri Delt from the University of Texas.

President Jay Jackson has announced that dress for the Saturday evening dance will be conventional.

Physical Exams Begin This Week for Sophs For Advanced ROTC

Second-year ROTC students will know very soon if they will not be accepted into third-year Advanced ROTC. Lt. Col. Richard W. Jones, PMS&T, stated yesterday. He said that physical examinations are now in progress and that students who do not pass the physical will be notified at once.

Final selection of students who pass the physical, according to Col. Jones, will depend on final grades. For acceptance into the third course, Col. Jones stated, a student will have to have at least a "C" average. This includes military as well as other academic courses.

Students will not officially know if they have been accepted until June, he said.

Dr. F. A. Fedderman, who will make the physical examinations, said yesterday that MS II students would be called individually to the doctor's office this week to arrange appointments for the examination and to fill out the medical information form. He added that he plans to examine students in small groups. He hopes to complete examinations of MS II students this spring.

STUDENTS WHO FAIL the physical but continue in MS II this year will be deferred until June, Col. Jones stated.

Final selection, he added, will depend on the physical examinations and the endorsement of the student by both the Department of Military Science and Tactics and the University administration.

Publication Board Considers Plan To Split Paper into Two Editions

A proposal which would separate the two editions of The Ring-tum Phi for editorial purposes into two newspapers, each headed by a separate editor who would sit on the Publication Board, is being considered by the Publication Board for next year, according to Hunter Lane, president of the group.

Suggested by Jim Foltz, Publication Board EC representative, at the monthly meeting of the Board on Wednesday, the split was mentioned as a possible alternative to a plan which Editor Marvin Anderson made at the same meeting. Anderson's plan called for a Board of Editors to administer the editorial affairs of the paper.

The two plans were brought forth after discussion and study by the Board, members of a committee which had earlier been appointed to examine Ring-tum Phi affairs, and the Executive Committee in response to pleas by Anderson and former editor Leo Barington that the present system of organization and selection of top personnel was destroying the competition and desire to work which the system was designed to create among staff workers.

Under the dual-editorship proposal, which the Publication Board decided to accept tentatively, the Tuesday and Friday editions of the paper would be unified for purposes of business administration only; but beyond that, the editor of each issue would be given a free hand to publish his edition under the general supervision of the Publication Board.

FOLTZ DESCRIBED the proposal as one which would "naturally lead to competition and rivalry between the two editions" and which, in his opinion, would work to produce a better Ring-tum Phi for the University.

Under this plan there would be a complete division of the editorial staffs, each editor having the power to name his own staff. The Publication Board would select the two editors each year as it now selects the one editor for both editions.

Lane stated that the only big question which such a proposal presented was just how many votes would the editorial staff of the paper receive with two editors sitting on the Board.

J. Lindsay Almond and F. P. Miller Speak in Lee Chapel Next Week

By MARVIN H. ANDERSON, Editor

Col. Francis Pickens Miller, a former candidate for Democratic nomination as U. S. Senator from Virginia and for Governor in opposition to the Byrd organization, will speak here next week on "Christianity, Democracy and Capitalism."

Although most widely known as a Virginia politician, Miller is accomplished in the theological, military and governmental fields. He has also been an educator, editor, and author, and is a Washington and Lee graduate.

The speech, sponsored by the Christian Council and open to the public, will be at 8 p.m. Friday, April 24. In it, Miller will define the three terms of the title and show their relationships. He will follow his talk with a public coffee hour and discussion group in the Student Union and will attend the Council's annual spring retreat at Goshen the next day.

Dr. Arnold Nash, speaker at last month's Religious Conference, has said, "If I wanted students to understand the relationship between political life and religion, I would choose of all men in this country Col. Francis Pickens Miller to speak to them, for he is a brilliant theologian in his own right."

A theological discussion group, including the most famous names in the field of religion today, recently elected Miller to its ranks. He was also named to an advisory group for the 1954 World Council of Churches.

AMONG HIS WORKS for the federal government, he was one of the three men who negotiated

A man who was very frequently mentioned as a possible candidate for Governor of Virginia in the Democratic primary this summer until he withdrew his name from speculation a month ago will speak in Lee Chapel next Tuesday, Apr. 21, on "The Proposed Bricker Amendment."

J. Lindsay Almond, Attorney-General of Virginia, who was linked with former Cong. Thomas B. Stanley and State Sen. Charles Fenwick (D-Arlington) as possibly interested in the gubernatorial race this summer, will speak in a noon-day assembly sponsored by Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity. His topic will include a discussion of the proposed constitutional amendment which, if passed, would curtail the President's power to make executive agreements without Congressional approval as well as give to the House of Representatives the power to pass on treaties, a power now limited to the Senate alone.

In announcing Almond's visit to Washington and Lee campus, Phi Alpha Delta President Jim Ruseick stated that Almond's speech will be open to the public, and he extended an invitation to the Washington and Lee community to attend the assembly. After the talk, Phi Alpha Delta will sponsor a luncheon for the Attorney-General and PAD members.

The topic of Almond's speech has aroused a storm of controversy since Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio), in the closing days of the 82nd Congress, introduced in the Senate his proposed amendment to the Constitution. When the 83rd Congress convened in January, Sen. Bricker re-introduced the proposed amendment as

Troubs Announce Plans For 'Merry Wives' in May

The cast of the Troubadours' next production to be given May 4 through 9, "The Merry Wives of Windsor," was announced Wednesday by John Shaw, student assistant to the play's director, Carlson Thomas.

The play's major character, Sir John Falstaff, will be played by Dave Collins, who, Shaw said, "is excellent and looks the part." Collins played Falstaff two years ago in the Troubs' "Henry V" and was recently seen in the "The Tempest" at Mary Baldwin and as the president in "The Mad Woman of Chailott" here.

Another major comic role, that of the jealous Mr. Ford, will be acted by Beverly Stephenson, who was the Prospector in the recent "Mad Woman."

Bob Stichel, who worked in "Three Men on a Horse," will be seen as Mr. Page, husband to one of the Merry Wives.

THE TWO Merry Wives, Mistresses Page and Ford, will be played by Helen Chiles, a teacher from Natural Bridge, and Rita Conyne, wife of a VMI faculty member and Audrey in "Three Men on a Horse." Mistress Quickley will be played by Doris Poland, also a teacher at Natural Bridge.

Others in the comedy include Nick Hollis as Nym and four freshmen, Dale Cornelius, Ray Stultz, Don McArthur, and Bob Stroud. The last two, Bob Stroud and Don McArthur, will also be in charge of lighting and stage managing.

Shaw commented favorably on the abilities of the cast and called the play "a fast-moving Shakespearean comedy. It ought to be fun. Dave Collins should be terrific."

The plot concerns Falstaff's troubles when he interprets Mistresses Page and Ford's glances as flirting. Thinking to get at their husbands' money, he pens love letters to them and visits them in their homes. When a jealous husband or two arrive on the scene, Falstaff finds his hands full for a while, but everything turns out happily in the end.

Band and Glee Club Recordings Go on Sale at Spring Concert

A limited number—500—of the Band-Glee Club recordings of four traditional Washington and Lee melodies will be put on sale for the first time May 12 at the Band's Spring Concert.

The recordings have received only favorable comment from the few persons who have heard them. Cy Young, Washington and Lee Alumni Secretary, who helped make the recording possible by securing a loan from the Alumni Association for that purpose, said he thought the disks were "very good."

Col. John G. Bows, ROTC director of the Band, and David Comegys, student director, both said they were impressed by the quality of the recordings.

Alumni Secretary Young said he hoped the album would popularize tunes other than the "Swing" enough to use them at various occasions, too.

Price of the record is $1.80. A card board jacket which makes the plastic disk suitable for mailing costs another 15 cents.

Paxton, South, Smith And Fellows Loom as Big Clique Nominees

With the date for the Student Body Nominating Convention fast approaching, the University Party is completing its slate for campus-wide officers. In addition to Gil Bocetti, who is rumored the Big Clique nominee for Student President, reliable sources indicate that the rest of the ticket will be made up of Bob Paxton, for vice president; Jerry South, for secretary; and Charlie Smith and George Fellows, for president of Fancy Dress and Finals dance sets, respectively.

Most sources right now expect that University party nominees will receive little if any opposition from the defunct Independent party. Phi Gam President Wiley Wright, speaking for the Independents, said Wednesday night, "We haven't made any definite decisions, and there has been no meeting as yet."

But one Independent did say that if his group does fail to present a slate when the Nominating Convention convenes on Tuesday, a member of a Little Clique fraternity plans to run for an office.

WHEN LOOKING at the Alumni line-up, his statement appears quite correct. Among those who will take to Wilson field tomorrow will be Walt Michaels, praised by the Cleveland Plain Dealer last season as one of the best line backers ever to play for the professional Cleveland Browns, Don Ferguson, W&L line coach, will take up his old tackle position for the Alumni.

Another former Washington and Lee great who has turned to coaching will also be in the line-up. He is Jim Carpenter, now assistant football mentor at Parry McCluer High School in Buena Vista.

These Alumni will be joined by several seniors, Wes Abrams, an all-Southern Conference half-back last season who has recently signed a contract with the Philadelphia Eagles, will be at the left half-back position. In the game with him will be such standouts from last season as Jack Delahunty, Bill Trollinger, Bill Rawlings, and Dan Popovitch.

Even though this will probably be one of the toughest squads the varsity will face this year Coach Wise stated, "I think it will be a good game—one that everyone will enjoy." He also predicted an unusually large crowd if the weather is good. Wise called the event "W&L's biggest spring sports attraction."

Hoping to place the varsity on an even footing with the Alumni are such familiar names as Joe Lindsey at quarterback, Carl Bolt, and Ed Landis at halfback, and Dewey Oxnor or Cy Barcellona at fullback.

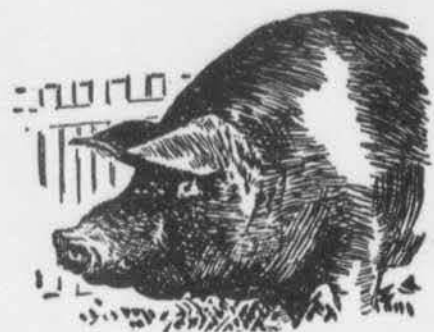

ON THE LINE will be captain Bill McHenry at center, Fieldson and Kibler at guards, Lafferty and Brooks at tackles, and Dunker and Pratt at ends.

The Hammer and Spade:

'She's a Real Queen,' So My Buddy Said

By Edmonds and Hoogenboom

"She's a real queen," he told me. "She's from my home town."
"Quoth the raven, 'nevermore'."

IT ALL STARTED as a perfectly innocent affair. I needed a date, and being full of self-respect, I felt that my date had to be a girl. This automatically ruled out Southern Sem. At this point, I turned to my friend, Samuel P. Dildo, a Randolph-Macon advocate.

"Dildo," I said, "get me a date. One with two legs and two, you know what I mean."
He didn't know what I meant.

I stood at McCrum's bus stop, leaning against a post with a cigarette in my mouth. Man, was I sexy! And then it hit me. The bus. She crawled from the baggage rack of the bus—the girl of my beano dreams; death warmed over; a hangover with a smile I remembered fondly SIPA. My friend, don't ever knock SIPA.

"My name is Ann Klowski," she burped. "But, my friends call me Klowski. It's a family nickname."

"I'll call you Kloe." I was being exceptionally suave.

She liked it. She kissed me. And for a moment I thought the bus had hit me again. "We'll have fun this weekend," I contended.

She opened her purse and pulled out her collapsible hockey stick. "Will we ever," she replied.

WHEN WE ARRIVED at the house I sneaked up the back stairs and through a closet. There, I discovered two fraternity brothers missing since Rush Week. "You guys missed a great Christmas party," I teased.

"We don't give a damn," they answered. "You should have come to our peachy keen Homecomings party."

"Cuthbert, Cuthbert!" yelled Kloe, who was following me. "I've worked up a great hockey game over at the Sigma Nu cocktail party."

"Come in and rest, dear," I pleaded.

She rolled across the room to the couch. "Where's my Southern Collegian?" she asked. "Always before when I come to a dance I get a Southern Collegian. I want my Southern Collegian."

I told her the story and handed her the note I had received earlier. She read:

Sticks and stones
May break my bones,
But words
Can never hurt me.
—Signed, Glenn Scott

Saturday afternoon we went to the Old Book Sale, where I picked up a dreamy number entitled: Come Again, by N. Brown.

Then to the Student War Memorial football game. Kloe remembered most of the team from her days as tailback. "Did you know," she whispered, Jerry Murphy once autographed my hockey puck?"

A celebrity, I thought. And so to Douthat. She recognized the boatman. "Father," she called, "would you take care of my collapsible hockey stick while we go for a boat ride?"

He gave her a paternal pat on her bald pate with the flat end of an oar. She then sweetly slung me across her shoulder, carried me to the boat, and threw me in.

After rowing across the lake five times she was tired, and we left for Doremus Gym where we danced to the strains of Blue Barron and his music of yesterday and the day before yesterday.

Intermission is always the highlight of any dance. (This is not intended to cast any shadows on Blue Barron or his music of yesterday and the day before yesterday.)

"Take me for a walk across the longest concrete expansion footbridge in the world," she begged. In the middle of the bridge it happened. She dropped her hockey stick.

"My hockey stick! My hockey stick," she cried, leaning over the side.

I gave her one quick shove and ran toward the fraternity house hoping to find Dildo, my friend of yesterday and the day before yesterday.

EDITORIALS:

For Once We Have Space for Editorials

It's nice, for a change, to have enough room in The Ring-tum Phi to justify an editorial column. This could be The Ring-tum Phi. Not, perhaps, six pages, at least not every issue, but the Student Newspaper, if there was enough demand for it, could next year very well be a seven-column publication.

Once upon a time the newspaper was a seven-column paper, and the ads in it only came knee-high to a toadstool. Then, after the war, the volume of work in the Journalism Laboratory Press combined with higher prices to force a reduction to six columns. That was about 1947.

The rest is recent history. Increased prices forced more advertising, so much so that even in the six-column paper one couldn't see the mistakes in the type for the ads. Less news, less interest, less work, less Ring-tum Phi.

Don't you think it's about time the vicious cycle was snapped and that Washington and Lee receive a newspaper which it could claim stood with the best? But, as a matter of fact, not once in recent years has The Ring-tum Phi received an award for excellence when it competed with other college newspapers in the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association. This—in a school with a reputation for building journalists.

For several weeks a committee of students and faculty members who were chosen because The Ring-tum Phi believed their interest in the Student Newspaper could contribute to its improvement studied the problems of the publication. We feel that this committee, composed of Roger W. Dudley, chairman, Dr. Allan E. Ragan, Charles O. Voigt, Jr., Robert E. Glenn, and Raymond D. Smith, Jr., has performed an excellent job.

The course which they have laid out is unmistakably clear. It calls for an end to the cycle of cut and cut.

The recommendation which they submitted to the Executive Committee of the Student Body and to the Publication Board is, in a few words, that the size of the Ring-tum Phi should be increased to seven columns per issue, with a two-page insert, as this issue contains, at various occasions throughout the year. They further believed that the paper should remain a semi-weekly newspaper.

The Ring-tum Phi this year supports their recommendation in the belief that a seven-column paper is justified since it will allow the editorial staff the space to tell the story of Washington and Lee University that it had several years ago with a six-column paper before advertising increased so very much.

Because income from the compulsory Student Activity Fee is locked for the next year, finances for such a larger Ring-tum Phi shall have to come from increased advertising. But there is evidence, derived chiefly from the experience which the entire staff has received from publishing this issue, that the increased advertising necessary to support a seven-column newspaper might be obtained next year.

In many respects the decision as to what type of Student Newspaper Washington and Lee will have rests squarely where it should—on the students themselves, because the publication will reflect their demands and wishes if the student opinion can be mobilized.

Bricker Plan Needs Study

In bringing to Washington and Lee campus next Tuesday night the Attorney-General of Virginia, Mr. J. Lindsay Almond, to speak on the proposed Bricker amendment to the Constitution, Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity has performed a distinct service, since his talk should not only be generally informative but also perhaps be indicative of the feelings of the Byrd organization toward Senator Bricker's proposal.

In addition, Mr. Almond's talk will perhaps show a lawyer's interpretation of the Ohio senator's proposal, which reads, in part:

"No treaty or Executive agreement shall alter or abridge the laws of the United States or the Constitution or laws of the several States, unless, and then only to the extent that, Congress shall so provide by act or joint resolution."

Insofar as treaties are concerned the Amendment provides that in place of Senate ratification of treaties both houses of Congress would have to approve, by majority vote in each house, all proposed treaties in order that they should be ratified.

Perhaps Mr. Lindsay can shed some light on the meaning of Mr. Bricker's proposal when he uses the word "Constitution" in that part of the proposed amendment quoted above. Does "Constitution" refer to that of the United States or to "the Constitution or laws of the several States"? Already Congress can legislate against and nullify undesired effects of a treaty which it disapproves.

'Producers Would Roar if I Made a Movie'

By Joe Scher

"If I were a Movie-Maker"

There are lots of jobs to do,
But I am no earth-shaker.
As easy as a cow does moo,
I could be a movie-maker.

I've been around for quite a spell
And many shows I've seen.
How to make a hit I'll tell,
And try to keep it clean.

First you take a handsome star,
A lad who cannot act.
You'll find him in the nearest bar,
Having a free-lunch snack.

All actors drink, or so I'm told
It's in their contract signed,
That when they play a pirate hold,
They're stoned out of their mind.

My picture would be novel,
The star sober as a monk.
In every theatre or hotel,
My audience would be drunk.

Next, to find a leading dame
A tall, blond, buxom gal.
If she can't act it's no shame,
To me she's still a pal.

Now we have our two young stars
A good story would be swell,
About a fateful trip to Mars
Or a weekend jaunt to Hell.

We need a story of love
Exciting, touching, and real,

Something from heaven above—
A story with sex appeal.

From an old Joe Miller gag
To stories dirty and clean,
Vogue, Colliers, and Life magazine,
We'd search every novel and rag.

A wonderful plot at last
About a man, a girl, and a boy.
We'll get an expensive cast—
Dale Evans, Trigger, and Roy.

We'll dress it up in color
Have snappy lines and clothes,
Westerns were never duller,
We'll call it "Thar He Goes."

A World Premiere is a must
With anxious crowds hysteric,
Won't Hollywood watch our dust
When we open first at the Lyric.

"It's wonderful" moans Luella,
Variety says "Socko Pix Click,"
That Roy's a helleva fellow,
But Dale Evans makes me sick.

They give out Academy Awards
To movies both dramatic and funny
Mine wouldn't get a reward
But at least it would make lots of money.

I'd do all these things and more,
If I needed a star I'd take her.
The other producers would roar,
If I were a movie-maker.

Publication Board to Interview Candidates

Editors and business managers of the Calyx and the Southern Collegian and the business manager of The Ring-tum Phi will be selected for 1953-1954 beginning Tuesday evening, Apr. 28, according to Hunter Lane, president of the Publication Board.

Selection of an editor of The Ring-tum Phi for the school year 1953-1954 has been delayed by the group, Lane stated, pending action by the Board on an amendment to its constitution and by-laws which, if adopted, would create two editorships for the student newspaper.

Interviewing of prospective candidates for top positions in student publications other than the editorship of The Ring-tum Phi will begin in the Student Union at 7:15 p.m. on Apr. 28, and Lane advised all students who desire to appear before the Board to arrive promptly. He said no other application was necessary beyond the candidate's appearance before the Board.

According to a schedule which was adopted by the Publication Board at its monthly meeting Wednesday, candidates for editor and business manager of the Southern Collegian will be interviewed first, followed by the candidates for the business manager of The Ring-tum Phi. Interviews for those applying for editor and business manager of the Calyx, the yearbook, will complete the program.

HOWEVER, LANE advised prospective candidates that the actual work of interviewing may not be completed on Apr. 28 and stated that possibly several evenings or afternoons beyond that time may be necessary to finish the interviews for the three publications.

Theoretically, according to the constitution and by-laws of the Publication Board, any student in good standing with an average of not less than "C" is eligible to apply for any of the positions.

Girls, Girls, Disturb Campus Once Again

For the second weekend in a row the less-awkward of the sexes are disturbing the life of this normally all-masculine community by their appearance. No sooner had their junior counterparts departed last weekend, a little wiser, perhaps, concerning the ways of college men, than their elder, wiser, and drat it, more experienced sisters began arriving from colleges all over the country for the Spring Dance Set.

Listed below are just a few of them.

UNIVERSITY CLEANERS

ARE YOU TOUGH ENOUGH FOR THIS JOB?

If you can make the grade, the U. S. Air Force will award you a commission, your wings and pay you over $5,000 a year!

CAN YOU "take it" 6 days a week? For 52 weeks? Can you meet the high standards required to be an Aviation Cadet? If you can—then here's a man-size opportunity! An opportunity to serve your country and build a personal career that will fit you for responsible positions both in military and commercial aviation.

It won't be easy! Training discipline for Aviation Cadets is rigid. You'll work hard, study hard, play hard—especially for the first few weeks. But when it's over, you'll be a pro—with a career ahead of you that will take you as far as you want to go. You graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year. And this is only the beginning—your opportunities for advancement are unlimited.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE?

To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

YOU CAN CHOOSE BETWEEN PILOT OR AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

If you choose to be an Aircraft Observer, your training will be in Navigation, Bombardment, Radar Operation or Aircraft Performance Engineering.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will arrange for you to take a physical examination.
3. Next, you will be given a written and manual aptitude test.
4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet Training Class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

Where to get more details: Visit your nearest Air Force Base or Air Force Recruiting Officer. OR WRITE TO: AVIATION CADET HEADQUARTERS, U. S. AIR FORCE, WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

Where the W&L Crowd Meets

Generals Looking for Victories Over W. Va. in Doubleheader

By BOB CULLERS

The Generals will be trying for their second and third victories tomorrow when they travel to Morgantown to meet the mountaineers of West Virginia University in a doubleheader.

Coach Bill McCann said that Steve Schlossman and Glen Gamble will probably toe the mound for the "Big Blue."

Tuesday the Generals return home to meet the University of Maryland Terrapins at 3:15 on Smith Field. Either Buddy Dey or Ed Nulton will probably draw the starting assignment.

With eight games completed out of a 21-game schedule, the Generals are sporting a won one and lost seven record. But Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point each had an abundance of class-A professional ball players on their teams, while Wake Forest is annually the terror of the Southern Conference. The worst part of the schedule is behind now, and the Generals should have a much better time from here on in, McCann indicated.

FRESHMAN SOUTHPAW Ed Nulton, fresh from his 6-5 win over the University of Delaware, is the only General pitcher able to sport a victory. Outfielder Randy Broyles is leading the team at the plate with a .333 batting average, and he also has the most hits, eight. Third sacker Lowell Hamric is the only other player batting over the three hundred mark, with an even .300 average.

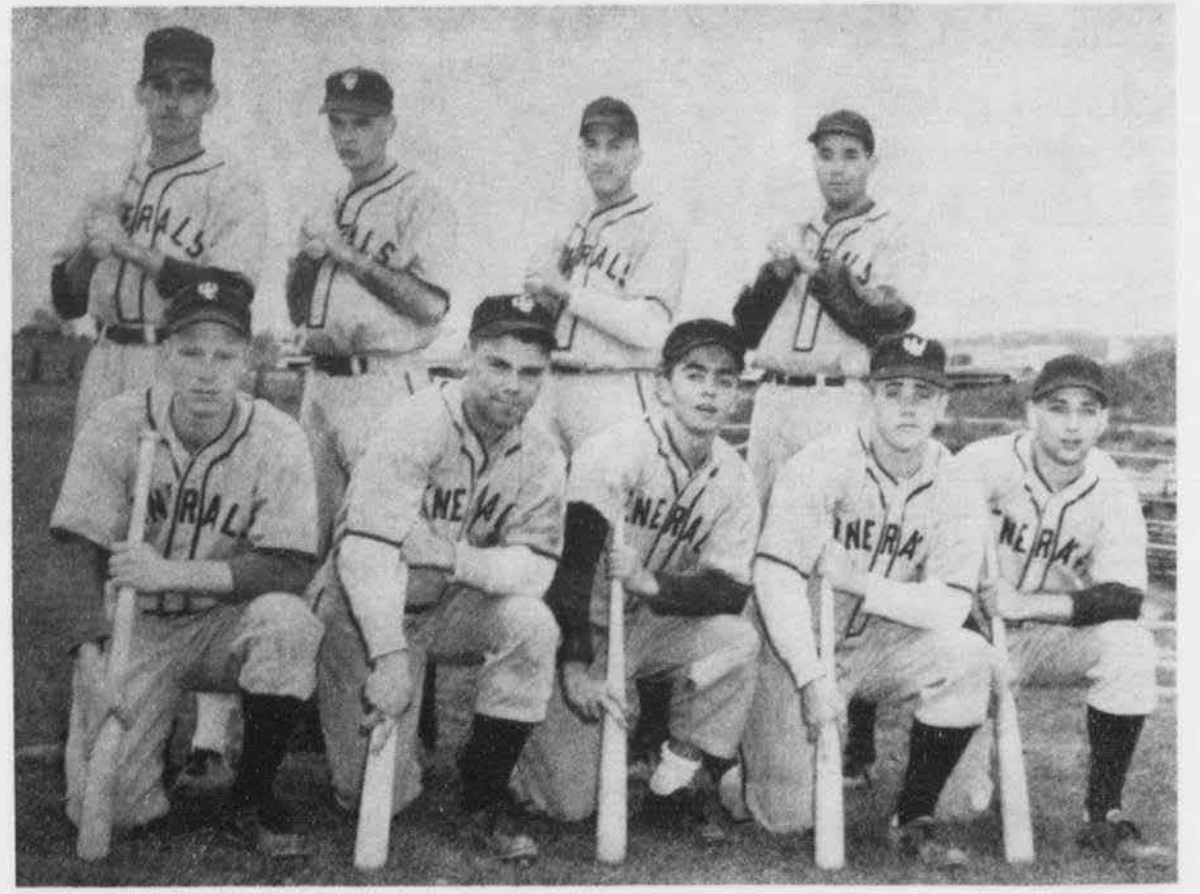

"Skip" Freeman is leading his team in runs scored with eight, and Warren Moody has knocked in five runs. Rival pitchers have walked Joe Lindsey 10 times. Freeman has pounded out three doubles, Lindsey has contributed a triple, and Haver, Kops, and Broyles have all added doubles.

In the only Conference game of the season so far, W&L was defeated by George Washington last Friday. Errors hurt as three of the nine runs were unearned.

Buddy Dey and Steve Schlossman combined to pitch creditable ball, with Dey taking the loss. Dey gave up six hits in four innings, four earned runs, walked one, and struck out five. Schlossman pitched five innings, giving up two hits, two earned runs, striking out seven, and walking no one. Hamric was the big gun with the stick, getting two hits for three trips to the plate and driving in two runs. Captain Jack Haver contributed a double to the attack, while Broyles and Moody each hit safeties.

Here are the individual records for the eight games played so far:

	ab	r	h	bi	bb	avg
Broyles	24	1	8	2	8	.333	Schlossman	4 0
Hamric	20	1	6	2	4	.300	Weinstein	4 0
Lindsey	21	2	5	1	10	.238	Gamble	2 0
Haver	18	3	4	0	5	.222	Drew	2 0
Moody	28	3	6	5	1	.214	Shanley	2 0
Dey	5	1	1	1	1	.214
Freeman	27	8	5	4	8	.185	Pitcher's Won and Lost Record
Janney	19	4	3	2	3	.167
Kops	31	5	4	4	4	.161	Nulton	W L
Williams	26	2	2	1	2	.077	Janney	0 1
							Gamble	0 2
Nulton	9	0	0	0	0		Dey	0 2

W&L Lacrosse Team to Take on Baltimore University Tomorrow

By BILL HILL

Washington and Lee's lacrosse team will be trying for its first victory of the season Saturday when it takes on a well-balanced Baltimore University squad at 3:30 on the Intramural field.

Although Baltimore sports an impressive won-lost record, the Generals are rated an even chance to win. They turned in their best performance of the season last Saturday in losing 10 to 6 to the tough Richmond Lacrosse Club.

Biggest obstacle blocking a Blue and White win will be Baltimore attackman Charley Beazley, who has furnished B. U.'s hardest scoring punch this season. On the defensive end, Dave Palmer, team captain of the visitors, is reported to be Baltimore's best gun in stopping opposing drives to the goal.

Statistically, Baltimore will go into Saturday's game far ahead of W&L. The Marylanders' record includes a 17-0 win over Western Maryland, the Generals' opponents next Saturday. Baltimore has also beaten Cornell and Lehigh, while taking their only loss at the hands of Loyola of Baltimore, 8 to 4.

IN THREE GAMES, the Blue and White has yet to win. They dropped games to Maryland and Swarthmore by lopsided scores, before turning in the inspiring performance that nearly upset the Richmond Lacrosse Club last Saturday.

In that Richmond game, the Generals fast-breaking attack left the surprised visitors trailing, 4 to 3, at the half. Washington and Lee held its own until the last two and one-half minutes of the game. At that point, Richmond pulled ahead, 7 to 6.

While their all-American defenseman spearheaded a rear guard that held the Generals at bay, Richmond put in three quick goals to wrap up the game.

The Blue and White was so impressive in losing that the star and captain of the Richmond club, Ray Finn, commented, "The team this year has more fight than any other Washington and Lee team I have ever seen."

W&L To Send All-Star Softball Team to State Tourney in Richmond

The second annual Virginia Intercollegiate Softball Tournament, open to any college, university, fraternity, company, or class team, will be held in Richmond May 1-2.

Washington and Lee has one team already entered, but more are urged to enter. The team now planning to play will be composed of the fraternity and NFU all-star team selected after the intramural softball tournament has been completed.

Trophies for the first three teams will be presented by the Virginia Softball Commissioner, and any trophy won by W&L's all-star team will go to the Intramural dept.

Union Theological Seminary of Richmond won the 1952 title, outclassing contenders from Virginia, Richmond, VPI, W&M, Lynchburg, Hampden-Sydney, and Randolph-Macon.

Cindermen Face Roanoke Today; Defeat G. W.

By CHRIS COLLINS

Great things are expected of the W&L track team this season now that the cindermen have a victory behind them.

The Generals came through Tuesday to win their first track meet in four long years. The Minks were host to George Washington and Lynchburg College in that glorious affair.

Roanoke College sends a track delegation to Lexington today, and W&L should be up for the meet. Two meets in the last week and hard work by the tracksters may extend the winning "streak" to two.

W&L was still smarting from a shellacking at the hands of VPI Saturday when they took a cold and windy field Tuesday. But when the dust had cleared, the Blue had 67½ points and the track meet.

Specific Suggestions for Shower

By Doc Elliott

"I didn't believe it until I saw it. The slime is an inch thick!" Reminds me of a prison. It's just a little dirty room with only 14 showers for about 40 guys."

And what do these comments pertain to? That's right, you guessed it. The Shower room in Doremus Gym. Remember the picture printed on this page about a month ago? A picture which showed the condition of our showers and a picture of which none of us could be proud. There is no cut this time, but the results of a poll of approximately 200 members of the Student Body.

About 50 persons in each class were asked this question: "What do you think of the condition of the shower room in the Gym?" a few didn't care, but the great majority, 98 per cent, answered in the negative. The remarks made were none too complimentary, and for a good reason.

As we stated last time there is no excuse for the shower facilities in the Gym. However, it seems that our suggestions of cleaning up the condition were unheeded. Perhaps with the voice of some 200 students, action will be taken at last.

The freshman and sophomores are the ones who use the showers the most, due to Gym classes. Of the 50 freshmen asked the above question, 49 answered in a negative vein. "It's the poorest and most unsanitary shower room I've ever seen. The University should be ashamed of allowing such a thing

Coming Events

April 21 will mark the Generals next home baseball game with Maryland. After today the Cindermen's next foe will be West Virginia on the 25th, away. The lacrosse team meets Western Maryland there on the 25th. The Golf team engages VPI here on the 22nd.

Miller To Talk Here Friday

the "destroyer-for-bases" deal with England in 1940. In Virginia, he has been a member of the House of Delegates and the Advisory Legislative Council. In 1937, the Richmond Times-Dispatch put him on its Honor Roll for "conspicuous service to Virginia."

In 1949 he was an unsuccessful candidate for governor—with the slogan "Harry Byrd has sold us down the Ohio River" and that the Senator had allied with Taft Republicans to the detriment of Virginia Democrats. He failed to beat Byrd for the Senate nomination in 1952.

Miller served in uniform in both World Wars—an enlisted man in the AEP from 1917 to 1919, and an officer with SHEAF'S G-2 staff from 1943 to 1946. From 1945 to 1946 he was with the Berlin occupation government and upon discharge was decorated with the U. S. Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Order of British Empire, the French Legion of Honor and Croix de Guerre, and two Belgian honors.

Miller was graduated from W&L in 1914 with an A.B. degree. He attended Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar, receiving a B.A. in 1921 and an M.A. in 1923. From 1927 to 1928 he studied in Geneva.

At W&L he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa, and the Calyx said his "specialties are scholarships, YMCA work and Boat Crews."

Although not a member of W&L's Board of Trustees along with his political rival, he has served on the boards of West Point, St. John's, William and Mary, and Mary Baldwin. He is also a visiting lecturer in political science at several colleges.

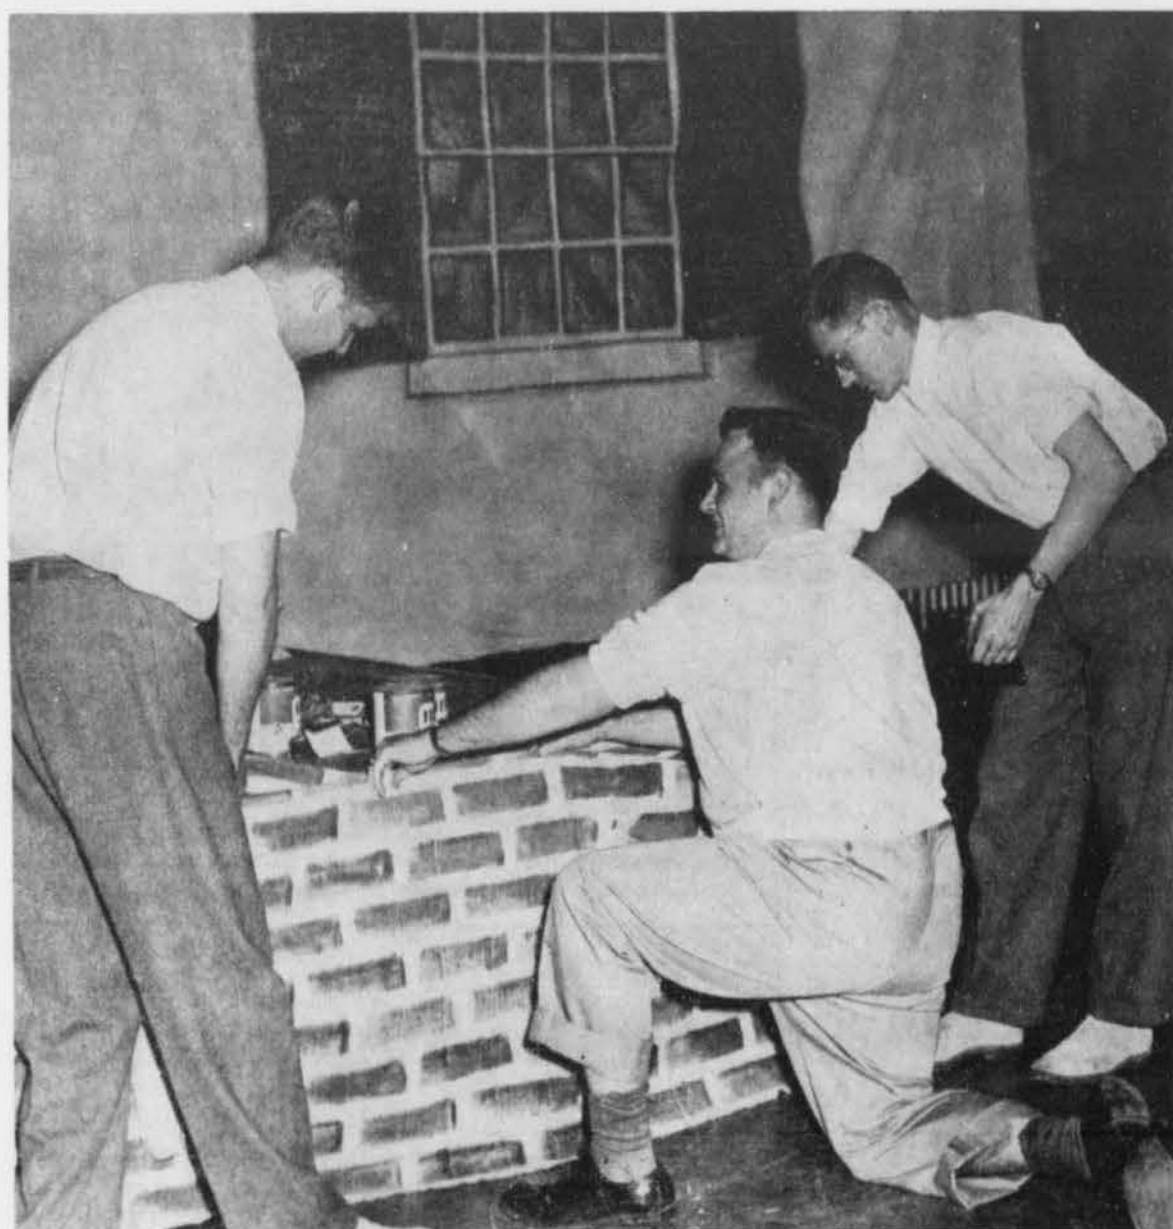

SOME OF THE other diverse positions he has held have been with the Foreign Policy Association, World Student Christian Federation, Young Men's Christian Association, Society of the Cincinnati, Sons of the American Revolution, and American Legion. He was president of the Virginia Music Festival in 1950 and chairman of the Fight for Freedom Committee in 1941.

He has edited three magazines and written three books, one of them with theologian H. R. Niebuhr.

Col. Miller's speech is the second in the Council's new plan for bringing to W&L men of broad backgrounds with keen interest not only in religion but in other things such as current problems, according to Director of Religious Activities John Maguire.

"The Saturday afternoon retreat will be a serious study for anyone interested," Maguire said. The group will leave the Student Union at 2 p.m. that day for Goshen Pass and will have supper.

S. J. Res. 1. Originally, some 56 senators have been described as backing the proposal, but some of these were defeated in the November election.

BRIEFLY, the first section of the Bricker proposal would purport to forbid the making of any treaty or Executive agreement "respecting the rights of citizens protected by this Constitution." Another section of the proposed amendment provides that "no treaty or Executive agreement shall alter or abridge the laws of the United States or the Constitution or laws of the several States unless, and then only to the extent that, Congress shall so provide by act or joint resolution."

Still a third section is intended to nullify whatever effect which any treaty or Executive agreement would have in vesting in "any international organization or in any foreign power any of the powers vested by this Constitution in the Congress, the President, and in the courts of the United States, respectively."

Other sections would seriously curtail the President's power to make Executive agreements with

Since the time Bricker introduced his proposal has stirred debate and controversy throughout the country. In general, the Bricker amendment has received considerable support from the more conservative elements throughout the country, while it has been severely criticized by those with a more international outlook. The Eisenhower administration has gone on record in opposition to the amendment.

kohl, a junior from Roanoke, Va., has been elected to succeed Ben Martin as the group's head.

The retreat next Saturday will be the occasion also for a study sessions with Col. Francis Pickens Miller (whose public speech here the Council is sponsoring), for an outline of future plans by Herrenkohl, and for a year's summary by Martin.

Along with the new president, the other officers-elect will take over their new duties. Bob Paxton, Lexington, Va., junior has been chosen vice-president; Monte Pearce, Chevy Chase, Md., sophomore, secretary; and Bob Whitaker, Tampa, Fla., sophomore, treasurer.

Specific Suggestions for Shower Improvement to exist as long as it has. A majority of high school shower rooms are better than ours," said one freshman. Another's comment was, "As much as Washington and Lee is praised as an outstanding school of the South, the shower room which is seen by visiting teams is the most flagrant disgrace of a fine institution."

Everyone seems to know what's wrong with the shower facilities, but the question remains what can be done about improving them. Here are some concrete examples, taken from the many constructive criticisms for improvements, that are needed.

1. Clean the floor. Numerous comments were made by those polled as to vast quantity of slime which is found on the floor it has become extremely slippery—dangerously slippery.

2. Remove the toilet facilities from the room. Most agreed this is extremely unsanitary.
3. Lighting. More and better lighting. It's nice to be able to see what you are doing.
4. Provide for towel racks. There seems to be two alternatives. When benches are present in the room, place your towel there. When there are no benches, the floor will have to suffice.
5. Proper ventilation. It must be admitted that the odor in the room is as one person put it, "The odor is rather interesting in a repulsive sort of way."
6. Addition of soap.

This is what can be done. The question is how long will it take? We hope that improvement will be made in the near future, in the very near future.

Varsity-Alumni Tilt Tomorrow

An added feature of the game will be the presentation of awards to the outstanding back, the outstanding lineman, and the most improved player.

Funds received from the contest will be split up. The Athletic Association will use the first $200 taken in to finance a banquet to be held for the team at Natural Bridge. Over $200, 60 per cent of the gate will go to the Student War Memorial Scholarship Fund Committee and 40 per cent to the Athletic Association.

Aside from the number of Conference football stars present, eight Southern Conference referees will call the game. They will alternate quarters, with each set working every other quarter.

Also, to the questions of platoons, the Alumni will be allowed to go with the two-platoon system, while the Wiseman will work with one. In addition, the Alumni may alternate with either a five or six-man line, while the varsity will be confined to the use of a six-man forward wall.

The Alumni squad has been practicing for the last seven days, but some of the team members will not arrive until Saturday

Lynchburg was second with 47, and George Washington tallied 42½. Harry Kennedy paced the Minks with victories in both hurdle events. He won the 120 highs in 15.5 and then took the 220 low in 25.6.

WALT DIGGS, who's been winning pole vaults for W&L for three years, sailed 11 feet 6 inches to cop the event easily.

Freshman Walt Henes showed nice running form in breezing through a victory in the mile.

Ed Stewart, leaping the broad jump, and Harry Shendow, heaving the discus, rounded out the team's first place winners.
