Jones Reassures Third Year ROTC Students

Lt. Colonel Richard W. Jones, PMS&T, had words of reassurance today for third-year ROTC students worried about the recent Army announcement that only a very limited number of 1955 graduates would receive commissions, and that the remainder would be drafted.

Col. Jones pointed out that the "limiting" process had already started with the lower quotas given ROTC units throughout the nation this fall. He said that as a result of these lower quotas the number of officer candidates has been cut considerably.

While the low quotas are expected to better commission chances for students still in ROTC, Col. Jones said that the final decision will depend on the excellence of the student's individual record.

W&L, like other schools, received its ROTC quota this fall following the Army announcement calling for a slow up in the ROTC program. Budget limitations, large enrollments, and the dwindling need for officers were given as reasons for the curtailment. Hardest hit by the restrictions were Transportation Corps, Military Police, and Quartermaster Corps branches of the ROTC.

However, despite the fact that a quota has been imposed on the number of Washington and Lee students enrolled in the third-year program the W&L Cadet Corps now holds the same strength it had on opening day of last year's school session.

The biggest reduction in enrollments came in the second year military courses. Against last year's enrollment of 219, only 160 students are now enrolled in the second year course.

In the third-year group, where the quota was imposed the full quota of 80 was enrolled as compared to 17 last September. Enrollment in the fourth year is twenty-two, compared to twenty last year.

The 80 third-year men represent 40 percent of the closing enrollment in June's second year class. This is the second largest Transportation quota granted for a college in the Second Army area, with John Carroll University of Cleveland being the only other unit to exceed Washington and Lee in strength. The basic ROTC course at John Carroll is compulsory for all students, while Military Science courses at W&L are electives.

Council Plans First Retreat

The Christian Council's annual freshman retreat will be held at Goshen Pass on Oct. 1. Council president Roy Herrenkohl said today. Any interested freshman may attend.

Purpose of the retreat is to acquaint all freshmen interested in Christian work with the program of the Council, its officers, the faculty committee on religious work and the Director of Religious Work, David W. Sprunt.

Schedule for the retreat calls for departures from the Student Union at 4 and 5 p.m., athletics until dark and then a steak dinner. After the dinner the freshmen will meet with the officers of the Council, the faculty members and Sprunt to discuss the program for Christian Council work this year. Return will be at 10 p.m. All arrangements for transportation and for the dinner are being made by the Council.

All freshmen interested in attending the retreat can make arrangements by talking to their dormitory counselors in dormitory section meetings tonight. All those planning to attend are advised to wear old clothes and bring a jacket or sweater.

New faculty members talk with Deans Gilliam and Leyburn. Left to right they are: Dr. John Wise, associate professor of chemistry; Dr. David Sprunt, director of religious work; Jay D. Cook, assistant professor of accounting; Dr. Troy Laswell, assistant professor of geology; Donald E. Smith, director of university development; Paxton Davis, assistant professor of journalism; Dr. James K. Shillington, assistant professor of chemistry; and Captain James C. Purks, of the ROTC staff. Not present when the picture was taken were James Stewart, assistant professor of law, Wilfred J. Ritz, associate professor of law.—Lynchburg News

Eight Faculty Changes; ROTC Staff Adds Two

Another year begins at Washington and Lee with several additions and changes in the faculty. Along with eight new faculty members, two new officers have been assigned to the ROTC staff.

In the Department of Chemistry the new men are Dr. John H. Wise, associate professor of chemistry, and Dr. James K. Shillington, assistant professor of chemistry. Wise graduated from Haverford College, did graduate work at Brown University, and comes here from Stanford University. Shillington graduated from Iowa State College, did his graduate work at Cornell, and comes to W&L from Amherst College.

New faces in Tucker Hall are Wilfred J. Ritz, associate professor of law, and James W. H. Stewart, assistant professor of law. Ritz graduated from Washington and Lee in 1938, received his LL.M. from Harvard, and comes here from Wake Forest College. Stewart is a Washington and Lee Law School graduate, taking his undergraduate work at the University of Alabama. He received his LL.M. from Harvard in 1953. Dr. H. Milton Colvin who resigned from Washington and Lee University as a full time professor of law last June, has accepted an appointment as part time professor of International Law.

Religious Work Head

Director of religious work and associate professor of religion for the coming year will be Dr. David Worth Sprunt. Dr. Sprunt graduated from Davidson College and did graduate work at Princeton, Zurich, Edinburg, Vienna and Union Theological Seminary. He was formerly assistant professor and chaplain, then assistant to the president of Southwestern-at-Memphis.

From Denison University comes Jay D. Cook, who will be assistant professor of accounting. Cook is a 1943 graduate of Washington and Lee and did his graduate work at Pennsylvania and Ohio State.

A former staff member of the Winston-Salem Twin City Sentinel and the Richmond Times-Dispatch, Paxton Davis, has been appointed assistant professor of journalism. Davis, a graduate of Johns Hopkins University, replaces C. O. Voigt, Jr., who resigned last month to enter the newspaper publishing field in Orange, Calif.

Appointed to the Geology Department as assistant professor is Dr. Troy J. Laswell, who comes from the University of Missouri. Laswell graduated from Berea College and did graduate study at

Openings President Names Veeps; Morrow Band To Play

Openings Dances of '53 will feature "The Big Beat of Buddy Morrow, his trombone and his orchestra," according to Set President George Fellows.

Vice presidents for the Oct. 30-31 weekend have been announced and are as follows: Guy D. Drake a Beta from Palm Beach, Fla.; Eugene Earnhardt, Kappa Alpha of Thomasville, N. C.; Harry Ford a Phi Delt of Baltimore, Md.; Opie Pollard, Phi Kap from Ashland; and Chuck Rauh a ZBT from Shaker Heights, Ohio. Their respective duties are to be announced later.

Buddy Morrow

Buddy Morrow and his Orchestra have played at numerous colleges during the past year including VMI, William and Mary, Vanderbilt, Michigan State, Michigan, Ohio State and many others. He has appeared on radio shows and starred in top night clubs the country over.

the University of Heidelberg, Oberlin and Missouri.

The two new officers assigned to the University's ROTC staff are Capt. Thomas D. Dinsmore and Capt. James C. Purks.

Returning to the campus after leaves of absence are Dr. L. L. Barrett, Dr. George H. Foster and R. W. Royston. Dr. Barrett served for two years as Cultural Affairs Officer in the Department of State Foreign Service Reserve in Quito, Ecuador. Dr. Foster worked as a writer with the Walt Disney Studios in Hollywood. Royston spent two years of graduate research at the University of Michigan.

Taking over new positions on the University staff are John I. Carper as Director of Publicity and Edwin H. Howard as Registrar.

Morrow's RCA recording of "Rose, Rose I Love You," for months a best seller, immediately put his organization into the position of one of the nation's top bands. Since that time he has had four straight recordings top the 100,000 mark.

Both nights of Openings Dances are covered by the Dance Plan.

Notices

All freshmen interested in working on the business or editorial staffs of either edition of the Ring-tum Phi are asked to meet in the Student Union at 5 p.m. tomorrow. Experience is desired but not required.

All persons interested in working on the Southern Collegian should report to the Student Union tomorrow between 2 and 6 p.m. or between 8 and 10 p.m.

Persons interested in work on Home Edition staff are invited to attend an organizational meeting in the journalism library at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Humor Planned In 'Collegian'

This year's Southern Collegian will stress humor rather than "collegiate intellectualism" according to a statement by editor Frank Giddon today.

Giddon made his remarks about the humor magazine as he called for both freshmen and upperclassmen with literary talent to apply for positions as writers for the Collegian. Interviews will be held in the Student Union between 2 and 6 p.m. and between 8 and 10 p.m. tomorrow.

Basic policy to be followed by issues of the Southern Collegian this year will be to "point up the humorous side of Washington and Lee's campus activity, using (judiciously) as its guide student demands and student tastes, through the use of satire, subtle innuendo, caricature, and other forms of high humor."

Editors of the Collegian, however, will be on their guard against the sort of thing that caused the magazine to be suspended two years ago.

"Let it be understood now," Giddon emphasized, "that we shall not print anything which we consider written to appeal to the few who find pornography and/or obscenity the only adequate means of promoting laughter."

New Foreign Students Claim US Beer 'Weak'

By BILL GRIGG

After visiting campus fraternities during Rush Week, Hank Frijling and Heinz Ortner, exchange students from Holland and Austria, respectively, agree on one major item: U. S. beer just "isn't strong enough."

Heinz had his first taste of U. S. alcoholic restrictions when he ordered beer in a New York restaurant and was served root beer. An Austrian restaurateur would not be caught dead without beer on tap, Heinz claims. "Even the children drink beer."

Of all New York tourist attractions, Heinz enjoyed Coney Island most of all. "We have amusement parks in Austria," he said, "but nothing on as big a scale."

After a two day's tour of New York, Heinz left for Lexington, arriving in time for Rush Week. Heinz found that "people here are very informal. In Europe it is hard to find many persons who will get so friendly in an hour or so. . . I felt lonesome here at first but Rush Week made me feel at home," he said.

Fraternities at W&L are different from the Austrian variety Heinz reported. "Fraternities in Austria are connected with the various political parties," he explained.

One stumbling block Heinz discovered was the southern drawl. "My teacher told me Americans speak English," he recalls, "but in Virginia, I don't know."

On Saturday Heinz saw his first football game, and found the rules easy to pick up. Skiing is Heinz' favorite sport.

Like Heinz, Hank Frijling, the Dutch exchange student, spent two days sight-seeing in New York, where he saw Cinerama and made "A Visit To Saturn," via the Heiden Planetarium show which "was done in the American fashion—with much hullabaloo."

While in New York Hank had dinner with an Austrian girl who amazed him by preparing the

Delts Lead, But Face Alleged Rush Violation

Two hundred thirty-one freshmen and one sophomore pledged fraternities during Rush Week this year. Percentage-wise, 81 percent of the freshman class accepted pledge pins Saturday. This was slightly below the percentage of freshmen pledging in previous years.

Largest class on the campus was pledged by Delta Tau Delta with 22 men. Phi Delta Theta placed second numerically with 19 and Delta Upsilon was third with 18.

Charges of violation of the Interfraternity Council's rush rules were brought against Delta Tau Delta at a meeting of the IFC's judicial committee last night. Members of several fraternities charged that a Delt member was seen entering the dorm at a time when fraternity men were supposed to be outside of the quadrangle.

Action on the charge was postponed to a later meeting. If found guilty the Delt could be fined a minimum of $50 or have a maximum fine of $100 and/or loss of all rushing privileges until one week after the end of Rush Week next year.

Lists of all men pledging fraternities during Rush Week follows:

Delta Tau Delta—22

George Morrison Allen Jr., Richard Henry Berry, William Alexander Graham Boyle, Lenox Brown Buchanan Jr., Walter Calkins Cremin Jr., Stephen Mayer Ehudin, John Joseph Fox Jr., Donald William Harper, William Lee Kauffman, Theodore Morris Kerr.

Phi Delta Theta—19

PEPs Buy New House in Town

Newest fraternity house on the campus is the Phi Epsilon Pi house at Jordan Street and Jackson Avenue behind the Mayflower Hotel. The PEP's new residence, was purchased during the summer by a group representing the chapter's corporation of alumni and students.

The house, standing on a corner plot at 502 Jackson Avenue, previously was a private residence and has room for 20 men. The three story white frame structure has a completely finished third floor to be used jointly as a chapter and study room. The cellar is not yet finished, but plans are being studied to begin redecoration next summer.

The first floor of the new house is equipped with kitchen facilities connecting directly to the dining room. The living room and hall have been repainted green along with a small room set aside for television.

All sleeping quarters are located on the second floor. Four bedrooms provide space for 11 men with more room available when needed. The second floor bathroom has recently been thoroughly modernized and enlarged.

While not completely furnished yet, the PEP's hope to have their house ready for Homecomings.

Policy - Tuesday Edition Style

Today's edition of The Ring-tum Phi marks the beginning of a new era in the paper's history. For the first time, the editorial staffs of the Tuesday and Friday editions are entirely separate. There is no one editor-in-chief to correlate the policies of the two editions. In everything but name the two editions are separate and independent newspapers.

This new situation will naturally have an effect on the news and editorial policies of both editions. We would like to take this opportunity to explain what the general policies of the Tuesday Edition will be.

The Ring-tum Phi is more than just another campus organization. It is a newspaper. As such, it has a sacred obligation to perform. This includes: (1) uncovering facts, (2) checking facts to make sure they are correct, (3) examining all facts, and (4) printing facts in an objective, unbiased form.

In performing this obligation the Tuesday Edition will constantly be on guard against the most insidious form of censorship of the press—censorship of news at the source. We will fight with every means at our disposal the withholding of legitimate news by either student or faculty groups. Our objective will be to print all news of interest to W&L students which is not either libelous or obscene.

We will endeavor to keep errors in the Tuesday Edition to a minimum. Occasionally incorrect facts, and frequently incorrect spellings and typographical errors will slip through into print. Working against a deadline and with a part time and somewhat inexperienced staff we know of no way to eliminate such mistakes. Our prayer is that our boners will be small ones!

We will try to talk to persons on both sides of any controversial issue before printing a story about it. We promise that we will make a sincere effort to get all the facts about every story we print and that we will never knowingly withhold pertinent information.

We know that before the year is over the Tuesday Edition will be accused of bias in the presentation of news. Perhaps no news or headline writer can be entirely free from unconscious bias. We will, however, keep a constant vigil against slanted news and will strive for complete objectivity in all news stories.

The new two-edition system should give our editorial writers a freer hand than in past years. When one editor controlled the one medium of mass information on the campus he hesitated before pursuing a controversial editorial policy. Realizing that there is usually good on both sides of any question he often felt it would be presumptuous to favor one side of an issue knowing that advocates of the opposing side had no effective means of answering his arguments.

With two papers on the campus, we feel that we can in clear conscience take sides on any issue and then wait for the Friday Edition to disagree with us if they wish. We will no longer be playing the part of the gods on Olympus handing down the undisputable truth to mortals.

No attempt will be made to make columns and letters-to-the-editor conform to the Tuesday Edition's editorial policy. We will welcome difference of opinion within, as well as outside of, the pages of the edition.

It is of course impossible to outline an editorial policy for the year in the first issue. We will say, however, that we believe in Washington and Lee. We realize that W&L is not perfect and we will criticize its faults from time to time. However, we believe that for everything wrong with W&L there are 100 things in its favor. In our opinion many of the criticisms thrown at the "W&L System" last year in the editorial columns of The Ring-tum Phi as well as by certain columnists were unjustified exaggerations. The basic objectives of editorial policy in the Tuesday Edition will be to build up Washington and Lee... not to tear it down.

Fear has been expressed that the two editions will drift apart until each becomes the mouthpiece of one of the two political organizations on campus. The Tuesday Edition does not purpose to affiliate now, or later, with either the University or the Independent Party. We believe that history clearly shows the evils of a purely partisan press.

Our goal for the year is to give students all the news, without favoritism or bias, in the news columns, and an honest viewpoint in the editorial columns. It will not be an easy goal to reach. We sincerely pledge to do our best... we can't do any more.

At a Loss

Helpful Hints For Harried Freshmen

By TOM KENNY

This column started out to be a satire on the gullibility and general naivety of the youngest members of this family of students. However, it has been felt that this subject is getting to be too much of an annual recurrence, and so it will be left to an unhappy demise. It is felt, however, that the start of the new term would be an appropriate time to offer some "sage" upperclassish, off the shoulder, keen advice to the inhabitants of the Freshman Dorm (excluding the "sage" upperclassish counselors.)

Don't buy any "Shenandoah Apple Candy." An apple is a tasty, healthful fruit, yet this apple product takes great exception to the rule. The archives of Lee Chapel prove conclusively that apple candy came into being during the famed Jackson Valley campaign. The hardy home folks started a resistance movement against the Danyankee, remembering Napoleon's maxims on an army traveling on its stomach, the loyal Valley folk concocted this product to halt the further travel of the Yankee Army.

DON'T BUY EVERYTHING sold in the Freshman Dorm. The chief appeal of most of these articles lies in the fact that, 1—It's collegiate, 2—It has the school seal on it, 3—It has a fraternal crest on it, 4—It has a seal and a crest on it. It has been noticed from past experience that toothpicks work just as well without the school seal on them.

Don't bother looking for "Town Girls." This is a sore subject and best be avoided—there ain't none. Don't Bother!

Don't send home any Shenandoah Apple Candy, remember where your checks come from.

Don't miss the old classics which are trotted across the screen of the Lyric Theater (point in favor—"My Little Chikadee"). Don't expect to see the equal of your first "show team" at W&L. Every college has them but none have the appeal of your own school—it's sort of like cheering at a football game—it's only for one team.

DON'T FORGET TO keep in touch with some of your hometown flames. It should be remembered that Christmas vacation could be dull if you burned all your bridges behind you.

Don't think you'll soon forget everything you've been told in Lee Chapel. Everybody remembers the part about George Washington paying part of your tuition.

Do take an interest and pride in your new school. You are going to be our newest representatives in your home town. Know what's going on, be proud of it, and be a part of it.

DO TAKE PART in any activity that you are interested in. Both you and the school will benefit. There is room for a new man on every team, in every club, in every activity, and on every publication. (This column can be replaced!)

In accordance with a promise made at the end of last year, "At a Loss" will receive some much needed help from the addition of a collaborator. "At a Loss" is proud to announce commencing next week Carl David Swanson (formerly a "complete loss") will be associated with this enterprise. "Non In Cactus Futuri."

State To Show First 3-D Oct. 13

October 16 is the day set for 3-D to hit the State.

First three dimensional film will be The Moonlighter, a western starring Fred MacMurray, Barbara Stanwick, and Ward Bond. The Moonlighter will run in Lexington for two days.

Equipment, including new projectors, new magazines, and a new screen were installed at the State Wednesday. Daves said that regular admission will be charged but glasses will be extra. Keep your glasses and save the expense of new ones each time.

Next 3-D picture to appear after The Moonlighter will be The Stranger Wore a Gun, starring Claire Trevor and Randolph Scott.

Some of the "flats" coming to the State in the next few months will be Roman Holiday, The Moon is Blue, and From Here to Eternity.

Marilyn Monroe and Jane Russell, co-stars in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," opening at the State Theatre next week.

ROTC Marching Band Enrolls Approximately 70

The ROTC Band, will boast 60 to 70 members in the marching band, and 20 twenty more in the concert band. The Band lost only five players due to graduation and non-returning members; but to fill these places are 30 freshmen candidates and Brian Shanley. At present, the only needed additions are piccolo and flute players.

Plans for this fall include two trips, playing at all home games, a big show at Homecoming, the annual Christmas show, several television shows over WSL-TV in Roanoke, and tentative plans to participate in several parades.

Calyx Plans Group Fraternity Pictures

Fraternity section editors of the 1953-54 Calyx, Dick Rosenberg and Dick Hornaday, along with editor-in-chief Dick Busen have announced that this year a new system of fraternity pictures will be used. Instead of the usual composite style pictures, a group picture will be taken. The section editors said in a statement today, "It is an innovation from the old composite style, but we hope that this new fresh approach will add much to the '54 yearbook."

A complete schedule has been worked out utilizing the lunch hour in which to take the pictures and the editors ask that on the days that the pictures have been scheduled for, all members of the house be present for lunch and be ready to have their pictures taken.

The schedule is as follows: Wednesday, Sept. 23, Beta and Phi Delt; Thursday, Sept. 24, PIKA and Sigma Nu; Friday, Sept. 25 Phi Kap and KA; Monday, Sept. 28, SAE and Phi Psi; Tuesday, Sept. 29, ZBT and Lambda Chi; Wednesday, Sept. 30, Pi Kap and Sigma Chi; Thursday, Oct. 1, Phi Gam and Delt; Friday, October 2, DU and Kappa Sigma; Monday, Oct. 5, PEP.

Exchange Students Agree 'American Beer Too Weak'

After visiting campus fraternities and eating meals from cans. He also found U. S. meals rich and full of peaches and cheese salad. But unlike most Europeans, Hank liked that Americanization, the chilled drink.

Hank found Rush Week to be "very interesting, but I don't think it's a very fair way to have people decide on a fraternity. At each house you get smokes, cokes, and beer. How do you decide?"

The 17 campus Hell Week committees should hear Hank's description of the two weeks of torment the Holland Pledges enjoy. "The 'greeny's' head is shaved bald and he has to walk with a lighted candle stuck on his head." Another prank Hank recalls is the tossing of lighted fire-crackers under a table where 20 or more pledges have been forced to crouch.

Hank likes the gayness of the U. S. homes he has visited. "The interiors look like in House and Garden. We Dutch use wallpaper more, and color less."

The conventional dress is no problem to Hank, who has always worn such clothing to school. Only in the summer do the Dutch dress "in what is called American fashion—with shirt tails out."

W&L Opens 1953 Season By Downing Shepherd 47-0

By NELSON HARPER
The change in football rules seemed to have no effect whatever on the Generals as they opened their 1953 campaign with a crushing 47-0 victory over Shepherd College of West Virginia on Wilson Field Saturday. The landslide win proved only that the pint-sized Rams didn't belong on the same field with the Generals. W&L's veteran line averaged 212 pounds and opened gaping holes for the fleet backs to scamper through, leaving Shepherd's defensive backs most of the afternoon the only obstacles against long touchdown runs on every play from scrimmage. At any rate, the contest may have given the Generals some added confidence, which is something among other things they will need when they invade College Park next weekend to tackle the Terrapins of mighty Maryland.

W&L scored the first four times it got its hands on the ball and after only seven minutes had elapsed they were pouring substitutes onto the field.

Landis Scores
The Generals won the toss and received. With Warren Moody and Ciro Barcelona ripping through the Shepherd line, W&L made a first down on the Ram 38. Moody then took a pitchout from Joe Lindsey and skirted right end to the 3. Eddie Landis turned left end for the score. Harold Brooks' kick was wide and with only two minutes gone it was 6-0.

The next touchdown came even more suddenly. Shepherd was forced to punt after the next kick-off and in turn the Generals' offense stalled. Lindsey kicked to the Ram 2-yard line where Jack Alger, after a crushing tackle by Brooks and Harold Sturgill, fumbled into the end zone. Alert end Ken Buchanan smothered the pigskin for the tally. This time Brooks split the uprights and it was 13-0. The next time the Rams got the ball they fumbled it and W&L took over on the visitor's 35. Landis covered 22 of these yards and on the following play Moody tallied from the 13. Brooks again converted to make it 20-0.

Subs Take Over
The subs then began to pour into the game and sophomore Tom Shively engineered the next payoff drive. Connie Flanders covered 50 of the yards on a basketball-toss pitchout from Shively and Carl Bolt crashed over from the 5. Bob Lafferty's kick was no good.

There was no scoring for either side in the second period, though the longest run of the day, a 68-yard dash by Walt Degree of the Generals, was called back on a penalty. The subs seemed to be unable to move the ball consistently, although they were able to completely bottle up Shepherd's weak offense.

In the third stanza Lindsey hit end Jack Hare with a 35-yard toss and then the agile quarterback himself scored on a keep play from 13 yards out. Bolt paced a

Frosh Football Practice Opens; 5 Games Planned

Freshman football practice opened last week, with practices being held every afternoon at 3:30 under the direction of Coach Billy McCann.

Under the new Southern Conference ruling, freshman are not permitted to play varsity ball. Coach McCann stated he would welcome any new freshman who would come out for the team.

Athletic director Capt. Dick Smith recently released the five game freshman schedule:

- Oct. 2—Univ. of Richmond—
- Richmond
- Oct. 10—Hargrave Military Academy—here
- Oct. 23—University of Virginia Freshman—Charlottesville
- Oct. 31—Emory and Henry Junior Varsity—Radford
- Nov. 6—University of Richmond—here.

53-yard drive later in the same period by breaking through the middle for 41 yards. Shively sneaked over from the one, and with Brooks' fourth conversion of the afternoon the score read 40-0.

Scores His First
The fourth period produced only one counter as Don Weaver scored the first touchdown of his collegiate career on a 12-yard sprint. Lafferty made the final point of the afternoon. In the same quarter two field goal attempts were made and Brooks' 35-yard try missed by only inches as it hit the upright.

Harriers Look Ahead To Winning Season Under Miller's Coaching

Washington and Lee's cross country hopefuls started practice Wednesday under the tutelage of coach Dick Miller, with their eyes trained on bettering last year's record of three wins against two losses.

Bolstering the squad are six returning lettermen headed by Captain Walt Diggs. Other returning monogram winners are Jim Harvell, Tom Callahan, Keith Belch, Walt Henes, and Tom Wood. Other aspirants to the team include Hamblen, Williams, Bowes, Atkinson, Gwinn, Perriman, and Wade. Coach Miller said that he expects that the team would be much improved this season.

Candidates for the Freshman team also have begun working out this week. Eleven freshmen have reported for practice. They include Duffy, Conger, Palmer, Curtis, Crutchfield, Tatman, Easley, Susskind, Whiteford, Kellogg, and Hill. The frosh schedule includes three dual meets, one with William &

Mary, the others with Virginia and Roanoke. The schedule also contains one triangular meet between VMI and Davidson.

- The varsity schedule:
- Oct. 10—Hampden Sidney
 - Oct. 17—Bridgewater and W&M
 - Oct. 24—Lynchburg
 - Oct. 31—Davidson and VMI
 - Nov. 2—Big Six
 - Nov. 7—Roanoke
 - Nov. 14—Virginia
 - Nov. 16—Southern Conference

Showers Given By Grad Ready For Use This Month

New shower rooms are being installed in the basement of the gym, and should be ready for use in about a month.

The old shower room had been called a weak spot in the W&L athletic system, and the new shower room should be a vast improvement. The new room will have fans to take care of the steam, and a new steel door will lead direct to the swimming pool from the showers.

Until the showers are completed, students will use the old showers opposite the new shower room. The funds for constructing the new shower room were donated by a Washington and Lee Alumnus.

Notices

Coach Billy McCann announced that Varsity basketball practice will start Nov. 2. Freshman practice will start Nov. 9.

Intramural Director Norm Lord has announced that intramural football and tennis competition will begin Oct. 1.

Anyone desiring to referee intramural sports should get in touch with IM Director Norm Lord. Under the new system referees will receive $2 a game.

When you smoke Chesterfield it's so satisfying to know that you are getting the one cigarette that's low in nicotine, highest in quality.

A fact proved by chemical analyses of the country's six leading cigarette brands.

And it's so satisfying to know that a doctor reports no adverse effects to the nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield.

The doctor's report is part of a program supervised by a responsible independent research laboratory and is based on thorough bi-monthly examinations of a group of Chesterfield smokers over a period of a year and a half.

Chesterfield is best for me—my steady smoke for 7 years.
