

Talent Show Tryouts Set This Week

SWMSFC To Select On Thursday, Friday

Tryouts for the annual Student War Memorial Scholarship Fund Talent Show will be Thursday and Friday, April 15 and 16 at 3 p.m. in the Student Union building, said Dave McCain, chairman of the scholarship fund committee.

Half the 17 W&L fraternities will be judged Thursday and half Friday afternoon. SWMSFC Committee members will serve as judges in the preliminary judging.

Eight houses, selected in the preliminaries, will participate in the Finals Tuesday, April 20 at 7:15 p.m. in Doremus gymnasium. Faculty members and their wives will judge the Finals show. McCain said the judges would base their selections on each fraternity's "Talent, ability, and planning of show material."

Circulating Trophy

A trophy circulated among the yearly winners of the talent show, is now held by Sigma Nu, last year's show winners. Second place in the '53 talent show went to Phi Epsilon Pi. The trophy will be given to the winner for one year or until another house wins first place.

The raffle drive, another annual event of the War Memorial committee, will continue till the night of the Final talent show. Drawings for the dozens of prizes offered in this year's contest will be sometime during the show.

Admission to the Talent Show on April 20 is 35 cents.

The SWMSFC grossed $153 on the Faculty-Student Quiz Bowl, last Wednesday night in Doremus gymnasium. The show, something new for the committee, was modeled after the Quiz Bowl of the Air program. Memorial Chairman McCain said the program was well-attended with both teams putting on an excellent performance for the benefit of SWMSFC.

"I think everyone should enjoy the program, the first of this type planned at W&L," said Phil Kocen, chairman of Graham-Lee.

The society has scheduled a dual piano and art program by Dr. and Mrs. Marion Junkin at their home Wednesday evening, April 21.

Anyone interested in attending the Junkin program is advised to contact Kocen at the PEP house or B. S. Stephenson, in order to make necessary arrangements.

Rehearsals Start for Troubs' 'Ten Indians'; Play Set May 4-7

The cast for Agatha Christie's "Ten Little Indians" has begun rehearsals for their Spring presentation, May 4, 5, 6, 7.

The show selected by the Troubadours, will be the final production of the theater group this season.

Rud Abbott, who heads the male cast, will take the part of Philip Lombard, the romantic hero, playing opposite him is Mrs. LaMar Bishop, as Vera Vlaythorne.

Abbott was seen recently as "Doc" in "Mr. Roberts" while Mrs. Bishop appeared as the nurse lieutenant in that show.

Included in the cast of eight men and three women are: George Smith, playing Rogers; Mrs. Thomas V. Barrett, Mrs. Rogers; Bob Tolle, Narracott; Howard Gellis, Antony Marston; Mike Clark, William Blore; Norman Dobyns, General MacKenzie; Jeanne Tracy, Emily Brent; Dave Collins, Sir Lawrence Wargrave; and Jan Drabek, as Doctor Armstrong.

Smith, Tolle, Clark, Gellis, and Drabek, are newcomers to the W&L stage.

"Good Choice" "Ten Little Indians," a mystery-comedy, was termed a "good choice" by Carlson Thomas, director of the Troubadours.

The cast of eleven includes the ten Indians and Narracott, the boatman. The ten are the invited guests of a mysterious host, who falls to appear at his own party.

While the guests are speculating on the events, a voice sounds, accusing each one of them a murderer. The voice says these murders are not punishable in a court of justice, but the murders will meet the justice on the island.

One by one the guests die. As each one meets his doom, one of the wooden Indians on the mantle disappears or falls to the floor. The suspense of the play is carried to the very end, with the uncovering of the unknown killer.

The sets for the production, showing a house on Indian Island off the Devon Coast, are being designed and constructed by Phil Morgan and Russ Gardner.

Glee Club Plans 2,200 Mile Tour Of Deep South

To Appear in Memphis, Shreveport, Birmingham

A week from tomorrow, the 40-man Washington and Lee Glee Club will leave for its 2,000 mile spring tour through the South. Concerts will be made in three principal southern cities, Memphis, Shreveport and Birmingham. The trip will include television and radio appearances, concerts at high schools, colleges, and alumni banquets.

Entire plans for the trip have been carried out by the members of the Glee Club, who have made the necessary arrangements in their home towns. The first stop will be Memphis, on Thursday, April 22, where two concerts will be given, one to the entire student body of Central High School, and the other to the large alumni association at a banquet that night.

Television Program

Friday, the group will sing in Shreveport, presenting a 30-minute telecast over KSLA-TV and a concert at the auditorium of Centenary College, the oldest college west of the Mississippi River. The Glee Club will be entertained at an informal banquet following the evening concert. Plans for the Shreveport appearance are being conducted by the city's active alumni association.

Saturday night, a concert will be presented in Birmingham at the Birmingham Southern College auditorium. Publicity in Birmingham includes a television program, as well as several radio shows. Once again, the plans are being managed by the alumni chapter in that city.

Varied Program

The program of songs from which the group may pick is varied. It includes several sacred works, Adoramus Te, Emittee Spirituum Tuum, and Ave Maris Stella, in addition to the Brahms' Alto Rhapsody, which will be sung by a member of the Mary Baldwin Glee Club who will make the trip also. From Broadway, the group will sing Keep It Gay and No Other Love from Me and Juliet, and You'll Never Walk Alone, in addition to the ever-popular Summertime from Porgy and Bess by George Gershwin.

The four Washington and Lee school songs will be featured also. The entire Randall Thompson Testament of Freedom, which has been presented through this part of the country by the Glee Club in past years with great success, will be offered on its program. The work is the setting to music of four inspiring narrations of Thomas Jefferson.

The trip, which will be made by chartered bus, will cover over 2,000 miles and will include seven states.

Executive Committee To Publish Student Government Handbook

The Executive Committee's new "Handbook of Student Government" will be distributed tomorrow.

The announcement was made by Bill Bailey, Student Body president, at last week's meeting of the EC.

In other matters on its agenda last week, the Executive Committee:

- 1) extended formal recognition as a student body organization to the Student Bar Association of the Law School.
- 2) Gave the Interfraternity Council authority to handle any violations of IFC rules regarding fraternity parties committed by non-fraternity men.

Inequitable, Inconsistent, Unfair

The Town of Lexington's proposed auto tax is inequitable, inconsistent and unfair. By requiring non-resident students to pay the town's automobile tax, the town hopes to add a few dollars to its treasury.

All cars which have local licenses from other towns and cities would be exempt from the $5 tax.

Under this strange plan, an out-of-town student who brought his car from home and retained his own town auto tags would be exempt from the tax. His fraternity brother, who bought a car from a Lexington dealer, however, would be forced to pay tribute to the town of Lexington. A more glaring inconsistency in policy can scarcely be imagined.

Town officials cite the student's use of Lexington streets as justification for the tax. Other Virginia communities, however, base auto fees on residence, not on street use. A person who works in Richmond or Roanoke but lives outside of the city limits, is not required to buy auto tags from those cities. Like students, this county-dweller may use the city streets as much as a city resident.

The overwhelming majority of Washington and Lee students are not eligible to vote in Lexington elections. Perhaps the town fathers think that students are therefore powerless to fight this taxation without representation.

They seem to have forgotten the power of the student dollar. Unjust tax schemes similar to this in Lexington and other college towns have been rapidly defeated by student boycotts of local merchants. If Lexington officials persist in this grasping plan, W&L students would be wise to initiate a mass boycott of Lexington merchants until the policy was changed.

Buena Vista—"the city with no parking meters"—is only six miles away.

'A Delightful Place To Visit'

The other day an article praising Washington and Lee's tradition of friendliness to campus visitors came to our attention. With the spring tourist season now in full swing, this is a particularly appropriate time to reprint it.

The article, written by Dr. M. E. Sadler, president of Texas Christian University, shows the tremendous impression that the "speaking tradition" has on visitors.

Dr. Sadler's article is reprinted from The Skiff, student newspaper at TCU:

Offers Challenge to Students

Some years ago, the Southern University Conference met in Lexington, Va. By the close of the first day, the most consistent topic of informal conversation among the delegates was the amazing courtesy, friendliness and thoughtfulness of the Washington and Lee University students. Those who had lived and worked in that part of the country were not surprised at the reaction of these delegates to the Washington and Lee situation.

Many years ago, the students of this University through their important organizations and channels of communication, started the development of some great objectives and ideals for themselves. Each succeeding generation of students has majored in these same objectives.

The consistent and intelligent effort on the part of the student leaders has resulted in some established behavior patterns which are most noticeable and attractive to any persons visiting that campus.

For example, any visitor who walks across that campus receives a most friendly greeting from any and all students who may pass him on the walk or in the halls. We were told that this same practice is followed by the students when they meet each other or when they meet their faculty members.

If a visitor inquires concerning some particular building or object on the campus, any student goes considerably out of his way to provide the advice and guidance requested.

When considered alone, each of these items in their behavior patterns might seem to be rather small and insignificant. But when combined, they make the campus of Washington and Lee University one of the most delightful places any person could visit.

Parties, Kisses, Tans, Bonfires Make for a Real Gone Weekend

By Busch and Comegys

The cocktail party was fabulous—cocktail party, you know that's an ashtray with music—it started a little early, but some people skipped their 12:05's and made it there before it closed. Several dates got there before it was over. I heard one guy ask his blind date if she'd ever been kissed. "No," she echoed, "only by a 3-D movie."

Harry McCoy drove out soon, roughing it, seems somebody had disconnected his power steering. Seriously, the whole thing was great, but then, that was only the beginning of the "sunny, warm, week-end" which promised to show off those Florida and sun-lamp tans.

REALIZING it might be a cold week-end, some fraternities decided to really set things on fire. Red hot piano was the Phi Kap specialty. Students and dates stood round the fire warming marshmallows, chairs, doors, the usual things. There were some disagreements elsewhere.

One student walked up to his professor and told him someone said they looked alike. "Where is he?" asked the professor? "I killed him," answered the student. (Of course this one is old, and not very funny.)

Dr. Fishwick's regionalism class was overflowing Saturday, with dates, of course, they all sat on the back row, and listened attentively to a description of the West by Marshall (Where Men are Men and women are ?) Fishwick.

The football game Saturday filled the afternoon, followed by the lacrosse game. That night Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz fans, and a few people under 60 went to see the "Long Long Trailer." It really was right good, and is certainly a plug for Mercurys. And speaking of the movies, Father Daves says Hollywood, in response to criticism of 3-D movies, is putting out another kind, 4-D, that's 3-D with a story.

Never thought we'd hear the day tomato juice breakfast would be served in math class. Gawd!

DOTS FOR A WHILE... all fraternities have the same standard party week-end menus... people who just bought Bermuda shorts, wore them anyway... have you been to Earl N. Leggett's for your khakis?... Mrs. Faulkner has proven herself to be "the hostess with the mostess on the ball"... looks like everybody's gona end up with at least one quiz this week... it seems that students are more interested in the score at the Masters than the score in Indochina!?!...

Everybody pretended to forget about short classes Monday... Mid-week Doc's teams are still growing... (must be that 5-cent coffee)... no one can dance or sing like Ike Smith... Is it true Lolly danced to the Phi Gam Pot and Pan Mombo?... Schloss, our own Mel Allen was great at the game...

THE WAY she prescribes them Nurse Allen must own stock in Anacin... it's been rumored that Bobster Bender only wants one thing on his tombstone, G-O-N-E.

This Week's Reform: Subways Proposed To Speed Local Transit

By Kenny and Swanson

(Reform For This Week).

As a direct result of the glaring lack of public transportation brought out over Spring Dances, the Town Council of Lexington has formed a company to plan the incorporation of a subway system in town.

It was pointed out at this meeting the fact that the fire department would have had a terrible time getting to the Phi Kap backyard had they been needed due to the numerous student cars on the street.

THE TOWN COUNCIL is working in conjunction with the student body, as the new "Lexington Transit Company" will be financed by city license tags sold to students, and fines from students.

The city manager said today that the formation of the Lexington Transit Co. was now just a matter of ironing out details, and expressed the opinion that this company would replace the P.M.S.&T. Line in the near future.

It has been proposed that the main station be located under the Robert E. Lee Hotel. Students will only agree to this if a shuttle is added to Stevesville on Saturday nights and a special tunnel connecting Goshen with town, so that the Collegians will have no trouble getting their piano out there in the future.

ANOTHER suggestion put before the group was that from the terminal under the Robert E. Lee, extensions should run to Luray Caverns, Endless Caverns, and the Geology Cave. Secondary terminals about town should include the Lyric, Wilson Field, the Lambda Chi house and other suburban points.

Until the Rural Electrification Commission permits sufficient power to modernize the lines, the coaches will be powered by two mules, Arf, and Charlie.

Anyone wishing connections with Southern Sem may start digging their own.

Mr. Pete Doyle will definitely take a stand on this issue as soon as he learns the attitude of the faculty.

AED Leaves Tomorrow To Tour Washington

Ralph S. Park, president of Alpha Epsilon Delta, national pre-medical honor society, announced today that plans are under way for the group's annual trip to Washington. The members of the society will leave tomorrow to see points of medical interest.

Thursday the group will visit the naval hospital in the naval medical center, the newly completed National Institute of Health and the Institute of Mental Health.

Friday the members of AED will visit the Bureau of Standards and the St. Elizabeth Mental Hospital. Saturday the group will go to the District of Columbia General Hospital, studying the clinic and charity aspects of the hospital.

Dr. Dill Speaks in Chapel On European History

Marshall Dill Jr., associate professor of European History at the University of Pennsylvania, will speak at 8 tonight in Lee Chapel. The lecture, "From Richard Wagner to Adolph Hitler," is co-sponsored by the History and German departments.

Dr. Dill is a native of San Francisco and graduated from Stanford. He received his doctor's degree from Harvard.

During the war he served in the navy in Washington and London.

Princeton Tells Why Tigers Lost

The Princeton Alumni Weekly, On the Campus, included a short notice about its own Quiz Bowl efforts. The story, as it appeared, is printed below.

You may remember that two weeks ago in this column there appeared a preliminary notice about Princeton's participation in a radio show called "Campus Quiz Bowl." If we had any sense, we'd have kept quiet about it. The Tiger quartet (made up of Louis R. Rukeyser, Thomas S. Godolphin, Brice M. Claggett, all '54, and Joseph Hochtsein, '55) got roundly trounced, 180-140, by a knowledgeable aggregation from Washington and Lee.

In our defense it ought to be pointed out that Washington and Lee, which has now won three weeks in a row, cheats like crazy: its team contains four Phi Betes, one of whom is a Rhodes Scholar, while Princeton limited itself to the gentlemanly total of one Phi Bete, the other three being good fellows. We bet Washington and Lee can't drink beer worth a damn.

General Nine Upsets GW Behind Weinstein's Hurling

Gives Up Eight Hits, Fans 10; Hamric Hits 2 Doubles, Single

Snapping out of the baseball doldrums after seven straight shellackings, a determined Washington and Lee nine scored a 7-5 victory over a highly-regarded George Washington nine yesterday on Smith Field behind the eight hit pitching of Paul Weinstein.

Weinstein struck out 10 and was virtually untouchable after the fifth inning. In the final four frames he allowed only one hit, a single by catcher Steve Korcheck, and no runs. Three of the runs scored off the converted outfielder were unearned. There were 17 walks in the contest, 7 of them off Weinstein.

Hamric Has 3 Hits

The Generals backed up Weinstein's neat pitching job with their heaviest batting assault of the season, as they scored single runs in the seventh and eighth to wrap up the verdict. Lowell Hamric produced two doubles and a single to lead the 11-hit attack. Joe Lindsey, Pod Baker and John Freeman each chipped in with two apiece.

Korcheck had two triples and a single for GW.

Poor fielding and Weinstein's own wildness were costly as GW built up a 3-0 lead, scoring single runs in each of the first three innings. W&L came back with a run in the bottom of the third as Dave Wouters was hit by GW's starting pitcher Jerry Marvell with the bases loaded.

The Blue and White tied things up in the fourth on back to back doubles by Baker and Hamric and Lindsey's single.

Five-foot-six Shortstop Jerry Paparella, son of American League Umpire Joe Paparella, singled in Jim Hill and Stan Walawac to put GW two runs ahead of the home forces in the top of the fifth.

The Generals scored the tying runs in the fifth without benefit of a hit. Warren Moody and Dick Kops drew walks off the losing pitcher "Roscoe" Sweeney and Wouters was hit by a pitched ball for the second time to fill the bases. Second baseman Skinny Staffer made a costly bobble on an easy ground ball to bring in one run, and Weinstein chased home another with a long fly to center. W&L's winning run was some-

Strong Alumni Gridders Edge Varsity, 19-14 Jay Heckmann Blocks Bolt's Kick Near Goal

A strong alumni team packed with stars of former years had to come from behind with two fourth quarter touchdowns to edge the varsity 19-14 in Saturday's Alumni-Varsity grid battle.

The winning score came late in the last period when Jay Heckmann broke through to block Carl Bolt's attempted punt and give the alumni possession of the ball on the varsity 12. After Bocetti failed to gain from the 12, he gave the ball to Randy Broyles who fumbled it to the three where Bill McHenry recovered. Bocetti then bucked it over on a quarterback sneak for the deciding touchdown.

The alumni were the first to score when they capitalized on a fumble to grab a 6-0 lead early in the first quarter. Dean McKnight jumped on a stray lateral on the varsity seven and after Broyles moved it to the four in two tries Bocetti rammed it over. Broyles missed the conversion.

Bolt Runs 62 Yards

The varsity came back early in the next period to capture a 7-6 lead. After moving the ball into varsity territory Joe Lindsey threw a pass which Carl Bolt intercepted on his 23 and ran back to the 38. On the next play Tom Shively handed off to Bolt who streaked through tackle for a 62-yard touchdown scoring jaunt. Vince Moore booted the extra point to put the varsity ahead.

The present Generals took advantage of another intercepted pass in the second quarter to score their second and last touchdown.

what of a gift. With two out in the seventh, Hamric blasted a long fly to the bank in left center. Bobby Reid and Walawac let it drop between them for a double. Lindsey promptly punched a single through the box to bring in Hamric. The Generals produced an insurance run in the eighth when Weinstein's perfect squeeze bunt brought in Kops from third.

Freeman Stops Threat

GW's only threat in the final four innings came in the eighth. Shortstop Freeman speared a sizzling liner and threw to first to double up Steve Korcheck to squelch the minor uprising.

Richmond Club Tops W&L in Lacrosse, 8-4

By JERRY SUSSKIND

Washington and Lee stickmen dropped their second game of the year to Richmond Lacrosse Club, 8-4, Saturday on Wilson Field. Buzzy Budnitz, former Johns Hopkins star, led the star-studded Richmond Club, by scoring 5 goals and 2 assists. Budnitz scored in every period as he led his team in their opening game.

The Generals started the game fast, forcing play throughout the entire first period. Although they outshot the smooth Richmond Club, the Blue and White trailed 2-0 at the quarter.

"But--I Thought the War Was Over?"

Sure! The fightin's stopped in Korea...but the war against death is never over! The fighting continues relentlessly in homes and hospitals all over America. And the greatest defense weapon of all is blood. Yes, blood saves lives!

It is needed now by thousands of men, women and children for surgery and medical treatment. It is needed, too, to build a national reserve of blood derivatives as "life insurance" for hundreds of thousands in time of disaster. So...

Give Blood Now!

alumni, scored the first W&L goal on a pass from O'Connell midway in the second period. From that point the General attack was slowed down by the brilliant playing of Budnitz who contributed two more points to the Richmond Club's cause.

The Generals snapped back in the second half as O'Connell and Ducky Drake scored but their effort was not quite enough and at the start of the fourth quarter, the Blue and White still trailed, 6-3.

Mike Ryer scored early in the final period and the Generals seemed to be on the move. However, they failed to hold down the slippery Richmond attack which poured in two more goals.

Defensively the goalies matched saves with 13 each. Both Fletcher

Lowe, W&L's All-American candidate and Jerry Courtney former Johns Hopkins All-American played outstanding ball.

W&L Coach Herbert said his team played their best game of the year but that the Richmond Club's experience was too much for them.

The play of the varsity against the star-studded alumni eleven was very satisfactory according to Coach Carl Wise. He singled out Bolt and Eddie for their running and also had a good word for the line play of Dick Hanke and Jack Hare.

Wes Abrams received the outstanding player award for the alumni while Carl Bolt received the prize for the varsity.

IT'S ALL A MATTER OF TASTE

A man who smokes a Lucky Strike is really on the ball. Is round, so firm, so fully packed - The cigarette for all!

Bob Vickery, Jr.
University of Missouri

When you come right down to it, you smoke for one simple reason... enjoyment. And smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste. Yes, taste is what counts in a cigarette. And Luckies taste better.

Two facts explain why Luckies taste better. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco... light, mild, good-tasting tobacco. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better... always round, firm, fully packed to draw freely and smoke evenly.

So, for the enjoyment you get from better taste, and only from better taste, Be Happy—Go Lucky. Get a pack or a carton of better-tasting Luckies today.

What brand is grand throughout the land - From Maine to old Kentucky - With smoothness, mildness, better taste? Why, yes, you're right, it's Lucky!

Sue Pittman
University of California

I puffed and puffed the whole day through, Just trying every brand, Until I smoked some Lucky Strikes And found they tasted grand!

Joel Allison
Queens College
