

Krout Insists Two Parties Are Essential

Portrait Presented at Phi Beta Kappa Address

Dr. John A. Krout, provost and vice president of Columbia University, delivered the Phi Beta Kappa address in Lee Chapel at noon today.

Preceding the address a representative from the Peninsula Alumni Chapter presented a portrait of William Graham, the first president of what is now W&L. President Francis P. Gaines accepted the gift for the University.

Dr. Allen Moger introduced the speaker who then spoke on "Some Phases of the Problem of Liberty and Authority."

The doctor from Columbia told of a study of knowledge made recently and pointed out that the chief result was the realization that there must be a safeguarding from "tyranny of the majority" and a "dictatorship of the minority."

Maintenance of Liberty

He reviewed the history of the United States touching the high points in the formation of our present-day democracy. He noted how the use of judicial review, the threat of secession and even nullification have been devices to maintain this liberty.

Dr. Krout said that it has been the two-party system of America that has bound together the many types of "economic and sectional activity into one great federal union." He continued to say that we must make the necessary adjustments that will come up to maintain the federal government.

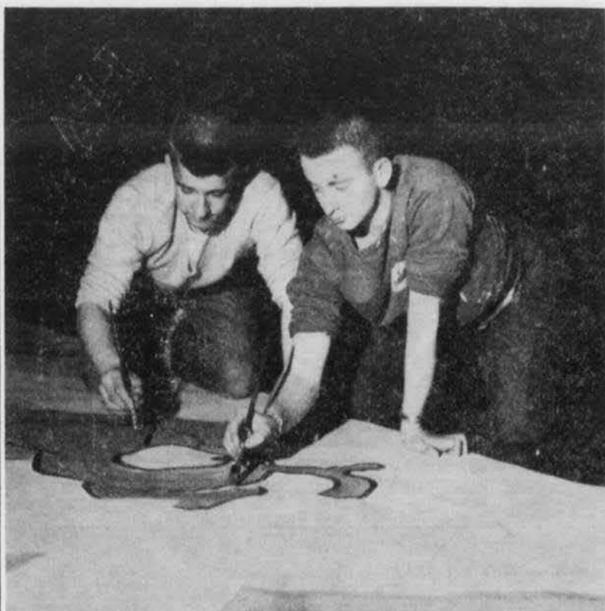

"A plague on politicians." "They stumble into the gutter frequently when not always reaching for the stars." Dr. Krout said, however, that it is the politician who has seen the need of the people and answered this need even though the means may be "devious."

People who have little in common but who will recognize the "banner of the party," provide the necessary unit for resulting liberty.

He said that our best hope is on the horizon but that only under one condition will our hopes be fulfilled. Today there is a sense of defeatism and a "complacent acceptance of the proposition" that the people are little frogs in a big pond. "This is a comfortable feeling," he said, "but it is a greater menace than the hydrogen bomb."

Two Factors

Dr. Krout then presented two conflicting ideas existing today. The Christian and humane faction believes that the individual is sacred. (Continued on page four)

Two W&L Men Given Fulbrights; Four Others Still Tentative

Fulbright scholarships for study abroad next year have been granted to two W&L seniors it was announced today by Dr. Charles Turner, campus Fulbright adviser.

William Douglas Goode, Jr., of Newport News, Va., and Raymond Dupuy Smith of New York City, were the recipients of the grants under the Fulbright Act of Congress.

Goode receiving one of 210 such grants for study in Germany will pursue courses in Physical Chemistry at the Rhenish Frederick University, Bonn, Germany.

Smith will study at the University of Rennes, France. His was one of 247 such grants for France. He will study in the field of Humanities.

All students under the Fulbright Act are selected by the Board of Foreign Scholarships, members of which are appointed by the President. Funds used under the Act are foreign currencies obtained through surplus property sales abroad.

Under executive agreements with foreign governments programs for study are being offered in the following countries: Australia, Austria, Belgium, Burma, Ceylon, Denmark, Egypt, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, India, Italy, Japan, Luxembourg, Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Pakistan, Philippines, Sweden, the Union of South Africa, and the United Kingdom.

Dr. Turner commented that four other students have been tentatively notified of receiving grants. Three are graduate students and one is an undergraduate. Final word on these is expected soon.

Spring Shenandoah Coming Out Soon

The Spring issue of Shenandoah, Washington and Lee's literary review, is scheduled for distribution in two weeks according to editor Ed Hood.

The new issue, the second this year, features essays by William Jay Smith, Hugh Kenner, Noel Stock and Harry C. Morris.

Also included are several reviews. Among the latter is a review by Herbert Marshall McLuhan on Frederick Wertham's "Seduction of the Innocent." This book concerns the recent crime comicbook scare.

Last week the Shenandoah held an organizational meeting drawing up plans for the remainder of the year. At this time it was announced that a Public Relations Manager would be appointed.

Jerry Hopkins, Business Manager, also announced that Milton Evis and Owen Harned have been added to the business staff. Harned is re-

Independents Nominate Ellis Drew for President

Huntley and Syme Nominated For Vice President, Secretary

By TOM AKIN

The Independent party candidates for the three major student body offices were announced today by Hardin Marion, chairman of the party. They are Ellis Drew, candidate for president of the student body; Bob Huntley, vice-president; and Sam Syme, secretary.

Commenting on the candidates, Marion said, "I feel that the Independent party slate is a qualified and extremely capable one. I regret to say, however, that I am afraid that our candidates will be struggling not so much against the candidates of the University party as against the University party desire to reassert its former mastery and control over campus politics and to suppress once more the struggling two-party system.

Young Debaters Complete Season

At the Grand National Debate Tournament held April 6-9, at Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg, Virginia, the Washington and Lee team placed ninth to be listed as one of the nation's Top Ten Debate powers.

Among the contestants entered by the Forensic Union—which is separate from the debate team—only Ruddy Aukshun was successful in getting to the finals.

The winning team for W&L was composed of Brian Saunders, debate team secretary, and Ruddy Aukshun, who replaced Bob Hess. This team debated affirmatively to the question, "Resolved: That the U.S. Should Extend Diplomatic Recognition to the Communist Government of China." Bill Miller, Kappa Sig, and Joe Ripley, Lambda Chi, debated the negative side of the question.

This is the first full debate team that W&L has put in the field for five years. Brian Saunders, the only upperclassman on the team, said that the team has three major goals for next year. One of these is to be Grand National Champions; another is to get T. K. A. membership, the National Debate Society; and the third is to get more boys out for the team.

All boys on the team are trying to get interested members out in order to develop in W&L one of the nation's top debate powers.

Some of the teams that were at the tournament were: Carson-Newman—the National Champions for the first time, Princeton, Pacific University, Kentucky, Penn State, University of Pittsburgh, Duquesne, and the University of Richmond.

Ellis Drew

"If either party scores a duplication of the results of last year's class elections, the two-party system will have been dealt a fatal blow. Let me add that the Independent party does not expect, nor does it seek, to have all its candidates elected."

Ellis Drew, a Kappa Sig from Anderson, S. C., has been Sophomore Executive Committeeman. He is a member of the Christian Council, was co-chairman of the Charity Chest and vice-president of Openings Dances.

Freshman Counsellor

He was a freshman camp counsellor and is now a dormitory counsellor. Other activities include baseball, Forensic Union, and the Cotillion Club. Drew was elected to ODK this year.

Bob Huntley, a Delt, is from Winston-Salem, N. C. He was an undergraduate at W&L from 1947-1950, during which time he participated in varsity crew and the glee club.

He has been associated with The Ring-tum Phi and the Forensic Union. After graduation from W&L he served in the Navy, and is now in the Freshman Law Class. He completed the first semester of this academic year with the equivalent of an A-plus average, the highest in his class.

Sam Syme, a Phi Gam from Chevy Chase, Md., is the editor of the Tuesday Ring-tum Phi. A member of ODK and Sigma Delta Chi, he is a dormitory counsellor and a member of the Literary Seminar. He is on the Students' Advisory Committee to the President, and serves the Cold Check Committee as secretary.

University Slate

Dave Simpson, chairman of the University party, when questioned on his party's slate, stated that it would be announced Friday of this week.

Meanwhile, both parties have planned political rallies for the night of Wednesday, April 20—the night preceding election day. The rally for the Independent party will be held at 8 p.m. on the lawn of the Pi Kappa Phi house. The University party rally will be held in Red Square at 8:30 p.m.

IFC Freshman Award Goes to John Hollister

John Cameron Hollister, Sigma Chi from Charleston, W. Va., was elected to receive the Outstanding Freshman Award at last night's Interfraternity Council Meeting.

Hollister, who was president of his pledge class, was also named outstanding freshman of Sigma Chi. He lettered in wrestling and placed third in All-Time W&L Athletic Physical Fitness Tests.

He also served as treasurer of the Forensic Union and on Home Edition. Hollister earned a 2.3 grade point ratio for the first semester.

It was also announced at the meeting that the Spring blood drive would be held on April 20 and 21 in the Student Union. Although this schedule conflicts with student body elections, it was stated that all election procedure would be restricted to the basement of the building. Mimeographed copies of the amendment regulating IFC attendance were distributed with a final report on expenditures for Rush Week. A $5 fine will be levied on each house not represented at the meetings.

It was announced that the following shall be legal items for expenditures during the official five day Rush Week: soft drinks, beer, cigarettes, hors d'oeuvres and board. Any infraction shall be considered a Rush Week violation.

Second Night of Dance Set To Be Informal

George Milligan, President of Spring Dances, announced today that the second night of Spring Dances will not be formal.

"The first night of the Set will be formal," he said. "On Saturday night, however, men will wear suits (not sport clothes) and their dates will wear cocktail dresses."

Notice

The classes in Reading Speed and Comprehension will resume meetings on Monday, April 11 at the regular times, 12:05 and 3 p.m.

Place of meeting will be room 205, New Classroom Building.

"My Three Angels"—French Comedy Opens Thursday

By JERRY HOPKINS

"My Three Angels," the Troubadour's fourth production of the year, will open this Thursday night at 8:15 p.m.

The play is a rollicking comedy about a trio of convicts in a French penal colony who earn themselves halos to wear with their stripes.

The locale is Cayenne, French Guiana, in 1910. Prisoners of the colony are allowed the freedom of the island and three of them are doing repair work on the community's general store. Here they become vital influences in salvaging the destiny of shopkeeper Ike Smith and his family. His wife is played by Pris Quimby and his daughter by Patsy Nuckols.

Two of the helpful criminals, Jack McQuiggan and Butch Callaway, are gentlemanly murderers, and the leader of the group, Bob Pfaff, is a cheerful embezzler.

On Christmas Eve, the honest merchant is threatened by the arrival of a hard-hearted relative, Mike Masinter, with intentions of swindling; and a money-minded nephew, Phil Morgan, with intentions of jilting the shopkeeper's lovely daughter.

The three convicts then rally with their own ideas of justice.

The set, designed by Director Morgan and the art work, handled by Henry Heyman, is highly realistic. It features many innovations in Troubadour scenery which include a highly elaborate paint scheme by Heymann offsetting the unlimited store of properties.

Morgan stated that the scenery

"will set a new zenith in Troubadour productions easily complimenting the fine acting."

Serving as stage managers are John Smith and Dud Thomas. Thomas also fills the part of the lieutenant in the play.

The assistant director is Walt Cremin and the Property and wardrobe mistress is Margaret Davis. The lighting and sound effects, handled by Bob Stroud, have been improved over past Troubadour productions. Included in the improvements is a sound-effects record from New York. The lighting fixtures are of the Victorian age—kerosene lamps and an elaborate brass chandelier.

Aside from the above, Morgan mentioned several others that have greatly aided in the play preparation. These are Buck Buchanan, Carl Barnes, Noel Spense, Gil Evans, Bob Pfaff and Pete Moses.

Tickets are on sale at all fraternity houses and at Weinberg's Music Store.

"My Three Angels" will be staged on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of this week and next week. All performances are at 8:15 p.m. except April 15 which will begin at 7:45 and April 16, at 7:00 p.m.

Dorm Counselor Posts Available

Dean Frank J. Gilliam, Dean of Students, announced today that applications for appointment as Dormitory Counselors for the next session are now being accepted by the Dean's office. He said that applications should be in the form of a letter to the Dean of Students and must be filed before noon, Wednesday, April 20.

Counselorships are generally not awarded to men who have been in attendance at Washington and Lee for less than two years by the end of the current session. Students whose academic or extra-curricular engagements can be anticipated as taking them out of the dorm with any degree of frequency after 7:30 p.m. should not apply.

The selection of Counselors will be made by a joint administrative-student committee.

Dean Gilliam said that the Committee naturally welcomes applications from as large a group as possible in order to permit the highest basis of selection possible. He added, however, that for the 16 places available, as many as 50 or 60 applications are usually received.

"Such status will obviously make it impossible for a number of relatively satisfactory applicants to be approved," he said. "All students applying should do so with a realization of this situation clearly in mind."

No Copy, No Collegian

Normally the Spring issue of the Southern Collegian is distributed during the Spring Dance weekend. But Editor Mike Clark had to announce today that there will be no such issue—at least not for a while.

He said that editorial difficulties have prevented the scheduled appearance of the Collegian. What are these difficulties? It's the same old story; an extremely small amount of material has been submitted. It is fairly obvious that an increasing smaller number of students have any semblance of interest in the magazine. Under conditions such as these, it is impossible to edit a magazine. There is nothing to edit.

The editor did state that the "regular" contributors have continued to submit material but that there are exceptionally few such "regulars."

Numberless other American colleges and universities have no trouble in publishing a magazine devoted to campus happenings in a humorous vein. The Orange Peel of the University of Florida, The Spectator of U. Va. and the Turn-Out of V. M. I. are three good examples of good magazines. These publications don't appear to suffer from any dearth of material, and from looking at the finished product, it seems that quite a bit of student support is behind each issue.

But probably above all else it seems that the students of Washington and Lee would rather sit back and tear the publications apart for "not being funny" than actually do anything toward supporting the magazine. If this attitude of apathy and disinterest continues, we see no reason for continuing the magazine. It's not the editor's fault, it's yours. A magazine with no support cannot come out. A magazine that does not come out is not a magazine.

The Makings of a Full House

The opening of the sparkling comedy, "My Three Angels" Thursday night will mark the first student produced and directed dramatic undertaking of the year. This show has all the prerequisites for a hit—namely: an excellent cast, an able director-producer, the talents of a gifted artist, an immense and capable production staff, and a top-notch script.

Continuing a precedent set last year, the play will be given Saturday night in conjunction with the dance set which will enable dates to attend the performance.

We have previously commended the quality of the drama being produced on campus. As far as we can see this standard has not dropped noticeably—but the attendance has. We wish to point out that those who are engaged in Troubadour productions must sacrifice a great deal. The time and effort that goes into a play can not be fully appreciated by those who do not participate in the theater.

We admit that these productions sometimes open a bit roughly. With the kinks ironed out, they pick up speed. The reason for this seems often to lie in insufficient rehearsals, which is indeed unfortunate. A more careful allotment of time and planning would alleviate this problem.

Another reason for slacking attendance—may be the price of non-campus tax performances. We believe that a student price of 50c would benefit the theater.

How anyone can quibble with the coming productions, "My Three Angels" and "The Caine Munity Court Martial" is hard to see. They are surely first rank.

Thus we feel that, with sufficient time spent on preparation and considering the quality of the casts, these plays will merit your support. With a re-adjustment of price they should play to full houses.

The Debate Team Comes in 9th

Congratulations are in order for the Washington and Lee Debate Team which took ninth place in a nation-wide tabulation of college and university debaters. The record established by the team is amazing.

Composed completely of freshmen with the exception of one sophomore, the team is the first full debate power W&L has fielded in five years.

The determined members of the team have resolved themselves to make W&L the top debate power in the nation and now that the vital experience has been obtained, the goal does not seem far off.

Quack Quack Comes to a Sudden Halt

By CLIFF SMITH

Its all over and the results have been announced! Bob Bradford's Alarm Clock duck, which awakens half of Lexington every morning over WREL, now has a name. The winners of the name-the-duck contest were announced Saturday morning at 7:45 a.m. on the Alarm Clock Club.

Becky Neofotis, wife of Frank Neofotis who runs Steve's Diner, won first prize for her entry of "Moby Duck." There were two other entries of the same name, one of which was submitted by Dean Bender. However, the earliest entry won the contest.

Awarded second prize was the name "Aquaduck" which was submitted by Jerry Hopkins. Others receiving honorable mention were "Dingus Duck," submitted by Bob Black of VMI, an anonymous entry of "Dixie Duck," and May Robinson of Lexington on "Captain Drake."

All together, there were 1609 entries. Of these, there were 41 suggested names "Bob Duck," 7 entries of "Bradford Duck," 6 entries of "Drofdarb" (Bradford spelled backward) Duck, 28 "Donalds," 25 "Quackies," 13 "Joes," (probably a reference to Joe Knakal, assistant announcer), 28 "Webster Webfoot's," and 24 "Daffies."

Some of the more interesting and pointing names mentioned as entries in the contest were "Richard W. Duck, Jr.," four "Norm Lords," two "Slim Jims," one "Fitz Flournoy," one "Fat Frank," three "Dr. Gaines," and several "Watty Bowes."

Although the contest is now over, the repercussions are still evident. School officials in Lexington are dealing with a problem which might be likened to a piece of chewing gum in a person's hair. At the Lexington High School the principal posted an announcement on the bulletin board "Ducks may be fine for radio programs and alarm clocks, but they are not suited for class. Students are asked not to bring ducks to school." It seems that the teachers at the high school were in near hysteria. The cause: students were answering the class role with a quack from one of their rubber ducks.

A number of VMI boys were reprimanded with an order of confinement to quarters for a small stunt they had been playing. Several of the cadets had been quacking their ducks in harmony each night as taps were played.

Also, the local court yard politicians were jabbering all day Saturday. The contest showed what might be interpreted by the Democrats as a new trend. There were three "Adlais" and only one "Ike." The one Lexington Republican retorted that it merely gave added proof that the people think Stevenson belongs in a category with the ducks.

There were two people who seemed both quite happy that the contest was over and the results the contest brought. Turner's, who sponsors the program, announced that they sold between four and five hundred of the rubber ducks and Bob Bradford, who runs the program, said that he was "...glad that he didn't have to squeeze that counfound little rubber duck anymore." However, his last words were, "I don't know who I'm going to talk to anymore. I'll sure be lonesome. Won't some of you guys please become early birds and tune in?"

Political Science Survey Reported in Newsweek

"The Big Bore"—that was the headline topping an article in last week's Newsweek. The article concerned the recent complaint about the printing style of Congressional reports.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey called the attention of Congress to a survey made by Dr. J. Harvey Wheeler's political science classes. Newsweek's reporter said that the present printing style is extremely hard to read. This parallels the tabulation submitted by the W&L students a few weeks ago.

The article said that Sen. Humphrey "agreed that the expert Government Printing Office printers might borrow a few tricks from the commercial publications whose main job is to attract readers. It might cost the government a little more, but the average citizen would certainly benefit."

The clipping also stated that the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration is now considering this problem.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"The French Line" Labro Stoops to the Wastebasket For His Column this Tuesday

By Philippe Labro

Just think of the consequences, if you don't keep off the green grass:

You will not care too much for a while—let's say two or three years, and suddenly, you will realize that there is no more grass. Everything will be gray, and brown, the colors of the poor ground. The whole campus will get so dry that it will be hard to work during the fall, the summer and spring.

So the number of students will decrease, and very soon there won't be any more school. Lexington will dry up too. Lexingtonians won't be able to live without our financial help so the town will fade away slowly but surely. Consequently the other school close to us will collapse.

NO MORE VMI means no more Southern Seminary. No more Seminary means a complete ending to any kind of education for the families of New York and New Jersey. This means a serious crisis in the mental, moral and intellectual situation of the United States. And this last point means a lot...

Moreover what had been a Gentlemen's College will be transformed into a huge Drive-in. It will be called the Bob Lee Drive-in, just as a reminder of old times. But this is a rather small consolation...

So, please, keep off the grass, won't you?

AFTER THE APRIL FOOL issue was published and sent all around to the houses and after the editors and writers flew away, ashamed of what they had published, I went down to the print shop and looked at the waste basket. It was full of small typewritten paper. I read them. They were the news the editors had not been able to use, or at least, had not dared to use.

Since I have been always very honest with you, my dear readers, I thought it would be a good idea to publish these unpublished stories, which I will put under the title: Out of the Waste Basket.

First I found a news item called: "Here They Are."

"The new Housemothers are here. Since the House-Mother-Reform, every Eating Fraternity on the campus has been obliged to change their housemothers every semester. Washington and Lee's Big Brother made this tragic decision three years ago, because said he, the housemothers could not stand more than three months of hell.

"Among the new housemothers are Mrs. Marilyn Monroe and Miss Mae West.

"Mrs. Monroe, who is 60 years old, will try to enjoy a quiet semester with the Gamma Cool Cats House. She refused to answer to the precise questions of our reporter the Young Gerald Elisha Hop Kins, and restricted her declarations to these words:

"ALL THESE boys fooling around me... It reminds me of my younger days..."

Mae West will be the housemother of the Beta Straw Hat House. She did not want to reveal her real age but commented:

"All these little chickadees fooling around me... It reminds me of the past..."

The second news item was shorter. It was called "Edmonds Makes Millions."

"Cecil Edmonds, an alumnus of the '55 class is making millions on TV. He just signed a 500 Million Dollar contract for his new spectacular named 'I Love Lilly's.'

"His next show will feature a Ballet Dance from the Seminary Follies, a jam session including Father Spence and his Magic, Piano, Brilliant Shanley and his Fabulous Brothers: Dupuis Smith and Red Top Pfoff.

"A special event will close the show Carl Bobo Redmond, champion of the heavyweight category, will fight against his own shadow. It is the only opponent of Bobo's scope that Edmonds, the new Gleason of his generation, could find."

NOW DON'T start sending letters to my editor, and protest about this column. These writings were only found in the wastebasket. I don't know who wrote them and I still don't know why they were not published... But I have saved some more for next week and will use them if I survive Spring Dances, the Lacrosse Game, the Troubadour play, "Battle Cry," and... my date.

Hamric Awarded Economics Grant

Lowell D. Hamric, a senior commerce major, has been awarded a fellowship in economics at the University of Illinois for 1955-56, according to an announcement made by the Graduate College at that university.

Hamric was one of 203 fellowship winners selected from 1,100 applicants on a basis of scholarship, ability and promise. The fellowships pay from $900 to $1,100 for the academic year and exempt the holders from tuition.

An honor student at Washington and Lee, Hamric appears in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, and is a member of the President's Advisory Committee at W&L.

This year he was elected to Omicron Delta Kappa and Phi Beta Kappa.

He was elected to Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary commerce fraternity, and is also a member of Phi Eta Sigma, honorary freshman scholastic society. The Lexington student has played baseball for W&L since his freshman year and is co-captain of the 1955 Generals. He is a member of the W&L rifle team.

Hamric is cadet colonel, battalion commander of the ROTC unit at Washington and Lee this year. He is also a member of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society.

Annual SIPA Meets End of This Month

During the last weekend of April, the 26th Annual Southern Intercollegiate Press Association Convention will see 950 high school journalists pour into Lexington.

The three featured speakers are John Scott, Foreign Correspondent for Time; Milton Caniff, syndicated cartoon creator of "Steve Canyon"; and Lawrence E. Watkin, Hollywood novelist and film writer.

The topic of Scott's talk will be "Talking Turkey." Immediately following his speech Milton Caniff will deliver a speech on "Censorship." Lawrence Watkin, who has written the screenplays for "Treasure Island," "Robin Hood," "The Sword and the Rose," "Rob Roy," and "Beaver Valley," will speak on writing for motion pictures.

Several W&L faculty members are also scheduled in the preliminary program. The professors are Dr. Marshall Fishwick, associate professor of American studies, and Dr. A. Ross Borden, Jr., of the English department. Frank Parsons, director of the W&L News Bureau, will speak on large duplicated newspapers.

Other speakers who appear in W&L journalism classes are William Atkinson, Managing Editor of the Roanoke Times, and William G. Levery, Chief of the Copy Desk on the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Goal in Closing Moments Gives Lacrosse Men Victory

Baltimore U Defeated by 5-4 Margin

Washington and Lee's Lacrosse team captured their first win of the season Saturday on Wilson field as they edged Baltimore 5-4. The contest was very close all the way as neither team could compile more than a two-goal lead during the game. The contest was featured by a fight with both benches participating after someone was hit on the head with a lacrosse stick.

Five men each tallied one goal apiece for the Generals in the see-saw game which wasn't decided until the closing minutes. Ed Pendleton put the Generals ahead 1-0, with a goal early in the first period. However, this goal ended the scoring for the Generals in the first half as Baltimore rallied to take a 3-1 lead.

Generals Rally

Harry Ford and Ducky Drake tallied a goal apiece for the fired-up Generals early in the second half to deadlock the score at three goals apiece. The Bees came back led by Cosgrove's goal to go ahead again 4 to 3 as the final period began.

As time ran out Nave Nichols tossed in a goal to tie it up and Dick Gwathmey followed with another goal, on Joel Bernstein's set-up, to give the stickmen a hard-fought 5-4 victory.

Crocker Stars

Freshman goalie John Croker played a bang-up game, as All-American goalie Fletcher Lowe's successor, making thirty saves. Coach Charlie Herbert said that the team is greatly improved and this win over Baltimore will go a long way in giving them the spark to upset mighty Maryland this Saturday. Maryland has won four in a row this season including wins over Mt. Washington and Princeton.

Ironsides Only Winner As VPI Routs Thinclads

The Blue and White cindermen opened their season Saturday against VPI on the Gobblers track, losing 107-20. The Gobblers captured first place in ten of the eleven events. Paul Ironside, with a 10.4 performance in the 100-yard dash, won the Generals only first place.

Other men who placed for the Generals were Harry Kennedy who took second in both the high and low hurdles, Monty Montgomery a third in these events, Frank Hoss who tied for second in the high jump, Roy Simkins runner up in the javelin, and Alex Platt third place in the shot.

The meet was the first of the year for the rebuilding W&L outfit who had only six returning lettermen. Several men are out for the team for the first time this season, including many freshmen and sophomores, and they should improve with experience.

Tennis Team Looks to Wayne For First Win

Washington and Lee's Tennis team, which lost to Colgate last Friday, seeks to even up its record against Wayne University Wednesday at 3:15 on its home courts.

This past Friday Colgate's Red-Raiders met the General netmen on the Homestead courts. The result was an 8-1 victory for Colgate. While the Blue and White's overall play wasn't too sharp, it must be remembered that this was W&L's first match as opposed to Colgate's fifth.

Generals Improved

The Generals gained a great deal of necessary experience from this match with Colgate and can be expected to play much smoother tennis in their forthcoming matches.

The team which opposed Colgate was made up of Pat Patterson, Art McCain, Dick Cobban, Kim Wood, Dick Butrick, Bill Boyle and John Peale. Art McCain and Dick Butrick teamed up in doubles play to gain W&L's only victory by the scores of 14-16, 6-4, 6-4.

Attempt First Victory

Washington and Lee will attempt to achieve its first victory of the young season against Wayne University of Detroit, Michigan. Little is known about Wayne's team aside from the fact that the college is located in a strong tennis area and should provide competition for the young W&L team.

The Blue and White J.V. squad dropped a close match to Lynchburg College's varsity by a 6-3 score on Saturday. Jim Carter, Art Roeker, and Kay Chandler won their singles matches to account for all of Washington and Lee's points.

Entry Deadline April 28 For Softball Tournament

The fourth annual Virginia softball tournament will be held in Richmond on May 6th and 7th. April 28 is the entry deadline.

Washington and Lee won the tournament in 1954. The tourney is open to representative, fraternity, company, and class teams.

Intramural officials or students interested in the tournament are to write Hank Wolf, Virginia Softball Commissioner, 118 Seneca Road, Richmond 26, for a copy of the rules and entry blank.

Baseball Team Faces Virginia In Big Six Opener Thursday

By DAVE RICE

Washington and Lee's baseball team starts a steady diet of Southern Conference and Big Six action this week after suffering a sixth straight defeat at the hands of Colgate last Friday. The Generals travel to Charlottesville for a Big Six Battle with Virginia on Thursday.

West Virginia will furnish the opposition on Saturday at Morgantown where a double header is on tap.

Colgate unloaded three home runs against Paul Weinstein among their 12 hits to deal Coach Billy McCann's young team their eighth defeat in nine games. W&L opened with a four run spurge in the first inning with the benefit of two squeeze plays, but the home team was effectively throttled thereafter by two Colgate pitchers who sent eight Generals back to the bench on strikes.

Washington and Lee's chances in the three road games this week hinge on the ability of Coach McCann's outfit to break out of a hitting slump that has seen General batters produce a total of ten runs in the last six contests. This is a meager total when one considers that only two Blue moundsmen, Joe Knakal and Joe Amato, have been relatively effective in silencing enemy bats. Sophomore Amato, hit on his pitching arm in a squeeze situation against Massachusetts, is still a big question mark. His injured arm is still badly bruised.

Freshman centerfielder Harry Stecher, the team's leading hitter with a .380 average, may be available for limited action this week. The Wilmington standout sprained his ankle in a freak accident against Davidson and has been out since.

Virginia has won only two of seven games this season, but one of the victories was over a better than average Maryland team. West Virginia is vastly improved over last year's team which edged the Generals in a doubleheader in Lexington. The Mountaineers, a strong favorite for Southern Conference honors, went into yesterday's twin-bill against GW with an unblemished record in four games.

George Washington snapped the Morgantowners' streak at five in the second game of the double-header, 3-1, after West Virginia came up with a ten-run third inning to take the opener, 15-10. W&L hurlers will have to pitch carefully to the Mountaineer centerfielder Jack Rabbits who blasted two home runs in the big inning.

A practice game with the Norfolk extension of William and Mary is scheduled for this afternoon on Smith Field.

Softball and Golf Open Spring I-M Competition

Both softball and golf got under way last week to headline the beginning of spring intramurals. The sports carnival will begin this week with competition in tennis (singles and doubles), and golf.

Results of winter sports carnival are as follows: handball singles—Bill Baggs, handball doubles—Jay Jackson and King Sprott, and badminton singles—Bill Merrick.

Colgate Takes 6-3 Victory Over Golfers at Hot Springs

Colgate University's golf team defeated Washington and Lee by a score of 6-3 Friday at Hot Springs, Va. The visitors won four out of six individual matches and two of three best ball contests. Fred Baer and Don Rosenfeld were the individual winners for W&L, while Rosenfeld and Buck Chapoton won their best ball match.

The Generals lost two extra hole matches which gave Colgate their margin of victory. Baer and Ted Kerr lost their best ball match on the third extra hole, while Buck Chapoton and Gary Kissell went to 19 holes before Kissell won one-up.

Fred Baer won the medalist honors for the match, which was played on the tough and windy Cascades course, with an 82. Coach Cy Twombly said the Generals were playing a little shakily on the difficult Hot Springs course. He added that the team was well balanced and had no weak spots, and should do better in their next match with UVa. on the Lexington course.

Summary

Fred Baer (W&L) defeated Jim Smith (Colgate) 3 to 1.
Jim Davidson (Colgate) defeated

Ted Kerr (W&L) 3 and 2.
Colgate won best ball one-up (21st hole).

Jim Davis (Colgate) defeated Ellis Drew (W&L) 4 and 3.

Don Edward (Colgate) defeated Don Chapoton (W&L) one-up.

Colgate won best ball 4 and 3.

Don Rosenfeld (W&L) defeated Dutch Schernerhorn (Colgate) 3 and 2.

Gary Kissell (Colgate) defeated Buck Compton (W&L) one-up (19th hole).

ROTC Students Deferred

The following is reprinted from April 11 issue of the Roanoke Times:

This year's graduates of the Reserve Officer Training Corps may secure deferment from the draft for two years, the Army announced today.

In the past ROTC graduates could obtain only a year's delay. Under the new ruling 14,000 ROTC students who will graduate this spring may get two years grace in which to get more schooling or establish seniority in vocations.

The ROTC officers will be drafted between July 1, 1955, and June 30, 1956, unless they request more than a year's deferment.

Officers who ask delays until after July 1, 1956, will be given priority in choosing the date they wish to be called between that date and June 30, 1957.

Robert G. Storey To Give Tucker Law Lectures

This Friday and Saturday The Hon. Robert G. Storey will deliver the John Randolph Tucker Lectures for 1955.

Storey is the Dean of the School of Law of Southern Methodist University and past president of the American Bar Association.

The topic for this year's lectures is "Current Peril of the Legal Profession." On Friday at noon he will speak on "The Rule of Law and Present Danger." Following this lecture he will speak on the "Impact of Communism Upon the Legal Profession."

The final lecture will be given on Saturday at noon on the "Mobilization of the Legal Profession in the Age of Peril."

Last year the lectures were delivered by The Hon. Harold R. Medina, Circuit Judge of the U. S. Court of Appeals.

Engineering Department Holds Organizational Meet

An organizational meeting for all engineering students and others interested in engineering will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in Reid Hall. All interested students are asked to meet in the Physics lecture room on the second floor.

The new extracurricular group, organized by the Engineering Department of W&L, is being set up to fill out the regular engineering curriculum and to present the latest development in the field to the students.

The first meeting will be comprised of movies and organizational plans. It is hoped that movies will be obtained from national and area industries for future meetings.

Cold Check Committee Will Meet Tonight

The Cold Check Committee will meet tonight at 8 p.m. in the ODK room of the Student Union. Ray Smith, chairman of the committee said, in making the announcement, that plans for next year will be discussed and it is urgent that all members attend.

Any men unable to attend, however, please contact Sam Syme at 388 R.

Krout's Speech Today

Yet another group believes that the end justifies the means. This means that the individual must be compelled to subordinate himself to the will of the community.

He then asked the audience if they were "going to run from the field to choose another weapon to fight another day."

The Columbia doctor closed by saying that the individual still counts and that we need to be aware of this. "We ought to feel what Stephen Vincent Benet celebrated

Carr Elected President Of Christian Council

Last Friday night Clay Carr was elected president of the Christian Council. Other officers elected at that time were Charlie Drum, vice president; Jim Roane, secretary; and Cliff Smith, treasurer.
