Three Hollins Girls Are Selected For Roles in First Troubad Drama

Hollins College will work with the Troubadours in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" the season's opener. Tryouts held last Friday at Hollins supplied the three females needed to stage "Twelfth Night," Director Lanich said.

Sallie Babb, Anita Barker and Cornelia Fox, now appearing in the Hollins production of Shaw's "Arms and the Man," will play the three roles in "Twelfth Night."

Exchange Talent

The exchange of talent between Washington and Lee and Hollins was agreed to by Dean Goodsell, Hollins dramatic director, and Lanich at a meeting held at Hollins two weeks ago.

An exchange of plays is still being considered, though no final decision has been made, President Mike Norell said.

Washington and Lee tryouts for the opening play were held yesterday and Wednesday, but Lanich has not released the cast yet.

Tentative production has been set for late November or early December, but no definite dates were mentioned.

"Twelfth Night" will be the first play of the Troubadour's three-play season. Lanich said Wilder's "Skin of Our Teeth" presented too many production difficulties to open the season.

Business Manager Blair said that student season tickets would be $1.50 for the three plays, starting with "Twelfth Night."

IFC To Begin Blood Drive November 20

The opening date for the annual blood drive has been set for November 20, chairman Howie Jacobs said today. This year's plan will differ from those of past years in that there will be three separate dates on which blood may be given.

The time schedule for appointments will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Student Union, and all donors are urged to state their time preferences on the back of the information card which they will soon receive.

All students between the ages of 18-21 who wish to donate blood are required to have their parents' permission and are requested to have their authorization on the card.

Appointments

When the cards are filled out completely, they are to be returned to the IFC representatives of the various houses as soon as possible so that appointments can be made and verified.

The house having the largest percentage of donors will be presented a keg of beer.

Jacobs stated that he is looking forward to a record turn out, and sincerely hopes that this blood drive will be a great success. If there are any questions in regard to the project, he may be contacted at the Phi Epsilon Pi house.

Farrar Gives Dates For National Testing Programs

Dates for three national testing programs to be given at Washington and Lee during the two months of November and December were announced yesterday by James Farrar, assistant dean of students.

The first of these tests will be the Law School Admission examinations, to be given Saturday, November 10.

The Selective Service Draft Deferment examination will be given Thursday, November 15. Applications for this exam may be picked up at the local draft board, located on the corner of Main and Washington streets.

The Professional Qualification examination will be held here on Saturday, December 1. This test is used in the selection of candidates for professional position in the government, and is open to the public as well as Washington and Lee students.

Students interested in taking any of these tests are requested to see Mr. Farrar.

Parents' Day Parking Problem Will Be Serious

Parents of 330 students have made reservations to attend the second annual Parents' Day November 3, it was announced today by Mr. Donald Smith, director of the University Development Office.

The office has received approximately 75 reservations during the past week, and the university is expecting over 600 parents and 100 guests for the occasion.

The first Parents' Day, held last year, had a registered attendance of 409 parents.

It was estimated by Mr. Smith that over 1200 parents, guests, faculty, and students will convene for Washington and Lee's second Parents' Day will be held on Saturday, November 3. It will afford parents an opportunity to visit students on the campus, to talk to the professors and advisers, and in general to familiarize themselves with the university.

Long and careful preparations have gone into the planning for Parents' Day. Since approximately 500 visitors are being anticipated, the parking facilities on the campus will be greatly taxed.

In order to provide parking space for these guests, members of the student body, faculty, and staff of Washington and Lee are being asked to cooperate by parking their cars at least a block away from the campus on Saturday, November 3. The principal parking areas will be marked "Parents' Day Parking" in an effort to reserve them for that purpose.

The Parents' Day Committee urgently requests the cooperation of everyone in this regard.

the luncheon in Doremus Gymnasium on Saturday.

Parents' Day was inaugurated last year under the joint sponsorship of the university and the Parents' Advisory Council as a part of Washington and Lee's overall parents' program.

The day-long program provides parents an opportunity to confer privately with their sons' professors and to hear Dr. Francis P. Gaines, university president; Dean Leon F. Sensabaugh; Frank J. Gilliam, dean of students; student body president Robert I. Peebles; and Donald E. Smith, director of university development speak at a general session.

Parents will be guests of the university at a buffet luncheon in Doremus Gymnasium at noon. Also on the program are campus guided tours, a soccer match between Washington and Lee and Davidson College, and a band and glee club concert.

In addition to consultation periods Saturday morning and afternoon, Mr. John E. Larson, chairman of the Parents' Advisory Council, said many professors will be in their offices from 9 to 10:30 a.m. Sunday for appointments with parents.

Hudson Begins Openings Today; Jazz Concert, Dance Tomorrow

By PAUL PLAWIN

Openings—1956—got underway at Washington and Lee this afternoon and today's activities will be highlighted by the appearance of Dean Hudson and his orchestra in Doremus gym at 10 p.m.

The theme of the two-day dance set is "Meet Me in Las Vegas," and elaborate decorations have been set up in the gym to provide the background for the two dances and the concert.

The second night of dancing will feature Skitch Henderson and his orchestra. Henderson's orchestra will also present a jazz concert from 4 to 6 p.m. tomorrow.

The weekend festivities opened with a cocktail party sponsored by the Beta Theta Pi fraternity in honor of Archie Jenkins, president of the Openings Dance Set at 3 p.m. today. The party was held in the Pine Featured was the "Pier Five Jazz Band" from Baltimore. In the band led by Gene Franklin, was the bass man from Eddy Condon's band and one of the original "Tigertown Five" jazzmen from Princeton University on trombone.

Later today at 8 p.m., the W&L Glee Club will present its opening concert. Directed by Mr. Robert Stewart, the Glee Club will offer several selections including "College Friendships," "Adoramus Te," "The Tarantella," and "It's a Grand Night for Singing."

Also appearing in the musical program will be the Glee Club Madrigal Singers, the Glee Club Quartet, and guest soloist, Carolina Waring.

At 10 p.m., Dean Hudson's orchestra will open the formal dance. At 11 p.m., the Cotillion Club figure will be led by the Dance Set officers and their guests. All members of the club are reminded by Archie Jenkins, president of the dance set, to meet downstairs in the gym at 10:45 p.m.

Dates of Officers

Guests of the president and vice-presidents will be Miss Dorothy Goodwin, Jacksonville, Florida, a student at Florida State University, with Archie Jenkins; Miss Betsy Salisbury, Jackson, Mississippi, a student at Sweet Briar College, with Dick Crutchfield; Miss Judy Toronto, Birmingham, Alabama, a student at Mt. Vernon Junior College, with Steve Marks.

Also Miss Barbara Spangler, Charlotte, North Carolina, a student at Hollins College, with Bill Barnett; Miss Sandy Knight, Tampa, Florida, a student at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, with Murray Wadsworth; and Miss Fritchie Crockett, Richmond, a student at Hollins College, with Buddy Mower.

Skitch Henderson will present his jazz concert at Doremus gym from 4 until 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Carolina Waring Sazeracs Open Guest Soloist For New Season Glee Club Concert During Dance

The Washington and Lee Glee Club will present its first concert tonight at 8 in the Troubadour Theater.

The entire Glee Club will present a varied program of music, including two Washington and Lee spirit songs. The Madrigal Singers, a group of ten singers in the Glee Club, will be featured along with the quartet.

Carolina Waring, guest soloist, will give her interpretations of several Spanish and American folk songs, accompanying herself on the guitar.

Admission to the concert will be 75 cents per couple and 50 cents for single admissions. Proceeds from the concert will go towards the Glee Club's tour in the spring.

DANCE PLANS

All students who have not picked up, paid for, or who wish to purchase dance plans, may do so at the door in the Gym tonight.

Vesper Services Planned

There will be interdenominational vesper services every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 6:50 p.m. in R. E. Lee Episcopal Church. The services are sponsored by the Christian Association, and all are welcome.

SKITCH HENDERSON and his orchestra will be featured tomorrow at Openings. BOBBIE COOKE, shown at right, will be the vocalist at tonight's dance.

Sazeracs Open New Season During Dance

The 1956 "Sazeracs," Washington and Lee's informal singing group, will open the 1956-57 season with a performance during the intermission at Saturday night's dance.

A relatively young group, the Sazeracs concluded a very successful past year with the making of a long playing record. The graduation of founder-president James Lewis leaves the group with eleven members.

Four new members this year are Chris Rhelan, Tony Weeks, Jack Lackmann, and Bill Marlin. The old members are Jerry Miller, Ken Sadler, Bob Moeller, Watty Watring, Tom Gowenlock, Tom Branch, and Ralph Baucum.

Jerry Miller, new leader of the group and a junior Phi Psi, announced that invitations for engagements this year include the Hollins' Fall dance set, Randolph Macon Pan-Hellenic weekend, W&L Parents' Day and numerous house parties.

He said that the group is also planning a spring vacation trip to Florida and the recording of a new, improved long-playing record.

Phi Eta Sigma Will Tutor; Elects Convention Delegate

Jerry Hill, a senior Kappa Sig from Naples, Florida, was elected Wednesday by Phi Eta Sigma, national scholastic fraternity, to be Washington and Lee's delegate to the fraternity's national convention at the University of Florida, November 15-17.

Two new members were also tapped for membership in the group. They were Bob Black, sophomore from Parkersburg, West Virginia, and Ed Halsell, sophomore from Fort Worth Texas.

A freshman tutoring program was set up and will be headed by Tom Bradford. The system will be organized with the aid of the freshman dorm counselors. The service will be given free of charge.

Plans for a smoker to be held after the mid-semester reports are issued were also drawn up. Freshmen with a "B" average or higher will be invited.

AD EXECUTIVE TO SPEAK

R. Wallace Ebe, Jr., production manager of a Pittsburg, Pa., advertising agency, will speak to the advertising class tomorrow, Oct. 27.

Soccermen Dominate Play In Win Over Lynchburg

The W&L varsity soccer team gave an impressive exhibition on soggy Smith Field two days ago in trimming Lynchburg College, 3-2. This victory was the Generals' second straight, and their third win of the season.

Washington and Lee displayed a superior brand of soccer in every period but the second. Capitalizing on a strong offense which featured the two General halfbacks occupying a scoring position instead of their customary midfield spots, the home team had innumerable scoring opportunities. Beldon Butterfield, Warren Nuessle, and Rocky Gault kicked in the goals for W&L.

Forcing the hand all the way, the Generals were stationed in opposing territory most of the time, but a number of fast breaks enabled the Hornets to kick the ball over the heads of their determined adversaries and score on two occasions.

Moose Schafer, Beldon Butterfield, Charlie Richardson, and Bill Russell were outstanding among General performers. Tomorrow the team meets Davidson on the Wildcat's home field.

Returning Lettermen Sparkle In Varsity Cage Practice Sessions

Coach Bill McCann's varsity cagers have been setting their sights towards the Generals' inaugural game of the season against the University of Kentucky December 1. Sixteen hustling athletes, including five varsity lettermen, have engaged in the nine practice sessions.

Back from last year's squad are senior co-captains Barry Storick (6-3) and Lee Marshall (6-5), senior Barkley Smith (6-5), and juniors Dom Flora (6-4) and Frank Hoss (6-5). Flora is well-known for his flashy style and high scoring ability. This starting quintet has worked well together in practice and forms a nucleus averaging 6-4 in height.

The losses of Bob McHenry, Dick Skolnik, Milt Winawer, Dave Nichols, and Gene Girard through graduation and studies, will be felt strongly. However two football players, Jack Daughtrey and Tom Moore, should compensate to some degree for the losses when they join the team at the close of the football season.

Also progressing rapidly are Phil Palmer, Gary McPherson, Charley Broll, Malcolm Lassman, and Charlie Drum.

W&L will compete in the Richmond Invitational Tournament December 27-29. Nine home games will feature this year's campaign, William and Mary invading Lexington December 6 in the home opener. Last year the two teams split.

With a 24-game slate, Coach McCann foresees a relatively strong ball club barring injuries, of course. Last year Lee Marshall sprained an ankle against Richmond in the Generals' second game and had to remain on the bench until late in the season. Another tall boy, Dave Nichols, had muscle spasms.

Although I haven't had a chance to see the freshman up 'till now," said McCann, "I will be able to tell about them as we go along." McCann also emphasized the team's hustle and hard practice sessions.

Tennis Finals May See Snow

The University tennis tournament is progressing at a rate which should make a final round match in the snow not an inconceivable probability.

The top eight seeded players have all earned a quarterfinal round bracket with the exception of George Stuart, Ace Hubbard, Charlie Hurt, and Bill Rice. Of this group only Stuart has not been eliminated by an unseeded player. The top seeded contestant must first dispose of junior Steve Berg before he can gain the round of eight. Fifth ranked Hubbard forfeited to Tom Wieting in the third round.

It's Anyone's Tournament

Judging from the caliber of players and the number of upsets this is still anyone's tournament. Stuart and Mauricio Glauser held down the top two berths on the varsity team last spring, and they are still favorites although neither is up to his form of last spring.

W&L fans will remember Stuart's incredible rise from number 26 man on the varsity tennis squad to the number 1 position at the end of the season last spring. Glauser held down the top berth on the team for most of the season, distinguishing himself in the Southern Conference tournament.

COMMENTS ON SPORTS

By KIM WOOD

On October 16 Schoen and Russell made the following comments about head football coach Bill Chipley in their article in Tuesday's Ring-tum Phi: "... it is hard to understand why Washington and Lee would hire an unqualified man to bolster what amounts to its weakest and most widely criticized department. The combination of an inexperienced coach and inexperienced players could not be calculated to improve this weakness. And despite his fine personal record as a player, Chipley is woefully lacking in the actual coaching background necessary in leading a college team."

A number of the players on the football team itself, not to mention University of Virginia line coach Ralph Hendrix, have implied that Chipley deserves far more credit for his coaching abilities than Schoen and Russell have given him.

Hendrix feels the former All-Southern Conference end is one of the finest football coaches he has ever known and a man fully qualified for the duties and responsibilities involved in coaching our varsity team.

Various members of the team have this to say about their head coach: "Chipley is sincere and knows his football. He has given us a lot of plays, and we've been drilled on how to use them. We practice them until they work." "Chipley gave us a brand new offense and defense just designed for Southwestern. It was the players, not the coaches who crumbled." "In his playing days Chipley was a terrific end for W&L; anybody who's played as much as he ought to know something."

The main problem confronting the football team at the present moment is not the need of a new coach, this much is certain. If we criticize the team's present record on the basis of a lack of material, then we must keep in mind three alternatives which are open to W&L football teams in the future: to compete in the present league and do the best they can, to compete on a basis of limited or full athletic scholarships, to drop out of intercollegiate football entirely.

To quit football would be an act of folly when we consider the reputation the varsity team is giving this institution by its conduct and sportsmanship on the athletic field. To bring the question of subsidization to the forefront while the football season is in full swing would be as untimely as discussing the 1960 presidential campaign on election day of 1956.

If there is any logic in the supposition that acceptance (at least until the end of the season) of our present system (of competing with subsidized squads) will embody in each of us a desire to make the system work by giving the team all the support and constructive advice we can, then we have a task to fulfill.

Student support of the team so far has been fine. The question remains how long will the students support a winless ball club. A close observation of the composition of the varsity squad at the present time should serve notice that the future is not as bleak as it seems.

Coach Harrington's records show seven seniors, 11 juniors, 13 sophomores, and 14 freshmen listed on the squad. Of the seniors only six have actually competed in the games, while eight juniors and nine sophomores have seen action. Four freshmen are on Harrington's active list.

Presumably the 11 juniors and 13 sophomores who form the nucleus of the squad will all be back next year, as will the four members of the freshman class who have seen action. The players I have talked to feel that experience will be a vital factor in determining the team's success in the future.

To one of the members of the team can be attributed the statement: "the team this year is far superior to last year. It is mostly a freshman-sophomore team and the experience which the returning lettermen have gained easily compensates for last year's superior personnel. Come senior year and our young players will be good."

The general consensus of player opinion seems to be that the squad has the material, that the players are working together as a team, but that the different units have not been able

Bears Seek Third Straight Win Over W & L Eleven

The W&L Varsity football team collides with West Virginia Tech tomorrow at Montgomery in what could be the hardest hitting game of the year. Tech coach Don Phillips, dissatisfied with his team's ground attack against Newport News last Saturday, has concentrated on running plays this past week.

There is still strong suspicion that the Golden Bears will take to the air. Three of Tech's six touchdowns against Newport News were pass plays with ace quarterback Ken Knapp doing the pitching.

The Bears are looking for their third straight win and hope to humble the Generals before their annual homecoming day crowd. Tech has won five out of six alumni day games and is in top shape for this one.

In the General camp Coach Chipley sent his squad through a week of fundamentals following his statement after the Southwestern contest that "if my team does nothing else Saturday it will block and tackle."

All week long, every afternoon, goaded by the vociferous jibes of the coaching staff, the Generals hit with the shoulder and hung on. Coach Williams shrugged off the rainy weather as the players banged into soggy dummies and slid off, with the remark that "sometimes even Oklahoma has to play in the rain."

Rain Will Help Team

Oklahoma or not, rain could be an asset for W&L tomorrow. A muddy field would force Tech to abandon their passing attack and revert to their weaker running game. In any event, the Generals are ready for anything. Tech has been well scouted and if there are any surprises W&L will be springing them.

According to one squad member "we've got the material—it just needs to bloom." According to another "the material is all there. Sometime it is all going to click at once."

If the student body is to exercise its part of the bargain in upholding the standard of football here at W&L under the present system of competition with subsidized schools, it is to the best interests of the team to avoid negative criticism of the coaching staff and the players.

Such comments as "we feel unable to condone the strategy and methods of the football coach with the record as a guide," or "the team will never win any games under the present system," or "the combination of an inexperienced coach and inexperienced players will not improve Washington and Lee's weakest and

PARENTS' DAY NOTICES

Students whose parents will arrive in Lexington next Friday for the Parents' Day Program are requested to have their parents register in Washington Hall on November 2 from either 2-5 p.m. or 7-9 p.m. In so doing, they will be able to avoid the Saturday morning registration rush, and lessen the amount of work for the Development Office staff on Saturday morning.

Parents are invited to attend classes with students on Parents' Day, Saturday, November 3, Development Director Donald E. Smith announced today.

most highly criticized department" are not constructive criticism, at least while the football season is still in progress.

The effect of such comments can only convince the players that the student body has lost its faith in the ability of the team to make a respectable showing against subsided squads. Once the team gets wind of this pessimism, the players can only believe that the student body is no longer behind them. When this happens we will have failed to give the present system a fair try. Far worse, we shall have failed the varsity football team.
