

IFC Proposes Major Constitutional Revisions

By Steve Berg

The constitutional committee of the Interfraternity Council, under chairman Bob Cairns, proposed six major changes to the council's constitution and by-laws, at this week's meeting.

"This constitution of the IFC is out of date and inadequate for the new powers of the IFC in its effort to serve the fraternities," IFC President Don Luria said today.

The changes effect the election of IFC officers, depledging rules, social regulations, membership to the IFC, and attendance at IFC meetings.

The proposed changes must be voted on for two consecutive IFC meetings, in order for them to become valid, according to an IFC regulations.

It has been proposed by the committee that the president of the IFC will be elected by fraternity members of the entire student body, under the jurisdiction of the Executive Committee. The candidate must be a member of IFC.

Other officers of the IFC will be chosen from members of the council, and will be elected by members of the council only.

This idea was presented to the IFC by last year's Executive Committee, with the purpose of keeping the position of IFC president from being a "political plum," said Luria.

"With a campus election, the political parties will put up the best men, in an effort to gain the most support from the student body, and the most qualified men will be selected," he added.

Social Changes

Among the major changes in the by-laws of the IFC are those relating to social regulations. There will be no limitation to informal houseparties or any social affairs, under the new by-law. The only limitation would effect formal house parties.

The limitations presented will be that there can be no more than five formal house parties on campus on any one weekend, and no more than three formal house parties for each fraternity for the entire year.

A formal house party has been proposed to be defined as "a social affair to which a written invitation has been given."

"All house parties, despite these changes, must be approved by the Social Committee of the IFC," Luria added.

Depledged Students

A second by-law change proposed concerns the amount of time that a student depledged from a fraternity must wait until being rushed again and until accepting a bid from another fraternity.

This change will state that a depledged student must wait two weeks after depledging a fraternity to be rushed again, but he will no longer have to wait two additional weeks to be pledged. Thus, after the first two weeks, he may be pledged at any time.

In regard to this by-law, Luria said, "I hope that fraternities will observe the 'Gentleman's Agreement' which has been in effect for the past several years that no house will urge a boy to depledge another house."

Also included in the changes of the IFC constitution is a proposed redefinition of voting members, which was "noticeably absent in the past constitution," according to Luria.

"Under the old constitution, someone could come to an IFC meeting, not as an official fraternity representative, and vote, possibly not representing his house's opinion."

Under the proposed changes, the voting members will consist of the chosen senior representative only. No one may replace him, unless the senior member is absent and has notified the IFC president prior to the meeting.

In such a case, the junior IFC member of the fraternity will be allowed to assume voting authority.

Absences at Meetings

It is also proposed that senior members be given two legal unexcused absences a semester, in which no reason for absence will be required. The junior representatives will be given four of these unexcused absences.

686 Parents Are Expected For Annual Parents' Day

1956 National Symphony Orchestra Opens Concert Series Next Tuesday

The Rockbridge Concert Theatre Series will present its first event at the VMI gymnasium at 8:15 on Tuesday, November 6.

The National Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Howard Mitchell, will play a program including works by Beethoven, Tchaikovsky, Vaughn Williams, Britten and Copland.

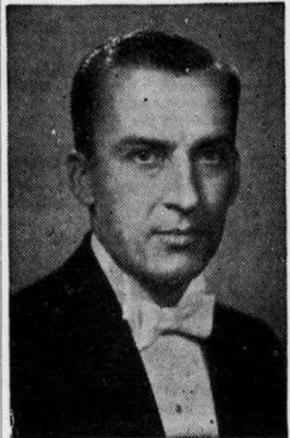

The 96 piece orchestra, which has recently played a concert in Carnegie Hall and won favorable notices from the major newspaper critics, will play a mixture of classical and modern works including Beethoven's "Lenore Overture No. 1," Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 4, Vaughn Williams' "Fantasia on a Theme by Thomas Tallis," and Copland's "Billy the Kid Suite."

This evening concert is open only to those who have purchased season tickets to the Concert Series. An afternoon program will be presented, however, and will be open to the public, particularly students. Tickets to this concert, at $1.00 each, are now available at Weinberg's Music Store.

The student concert, to be held at the VMI Fieldhouse, is scheduled for 1:30 Tuesday. Included in this special program will be Martin Luther's famous hymn, A Mighty Fortress Is Our God, Der Rosenkavalier Waltzes, Richard Strauss; Prelude to Act II of Lohengrin, Wagner; Finale from Caprice Espagnole, Rimsky Korsakoff; Entrance of the Little Fauns, Pierre; and Semper Fidelis.

With the exception of the hymn and the excerpt from Lohengrin, all these have either dance or march rhythms and should appeal to students.

HOWARD MITCHELL will conduct the National Symphony here Tuesday.

Concert Guild Presents Trio

The Nieuw Amsterdam Trio will present a program of chamber music at 8 p.m. Monday in du Pont Auditorium in the second of the W&L Concert Guild's programs this year.

One of the most distinguished chamber ensembles to tour the south this season, the trio is made up of Edith Macsanyi, pianist; Joseph Rabbushka, violinist; and Daniel Vandersall, cellist.

The program for Monday will include Trio Sonata in B Minor by Jean-Baptiste Loeillet, No. 548 in C major by Mozart, and Trio No. 5, opus 70, No. 1 in D major by Beethoven.

The group has been widely praised by critics for recent performances in Boston, San Juan, Puerto Rico, and other American cities. Admission will be $1.00.

PAN MEETS

Two men from each fraternity were nominated to Pi Alpha Nu honorary sophomore society this afternoon. Pledging will begin Monday and will continue through Friday.

Parents' Day Activities

Graham-Lee Will Present Reading by Oscar Wilde

The Graham-Lee Literary Society will present a reading of Oscar Wilde's The Importance of Being Earnest today at 8 p.m. in du Pont Auditorium.

Bill Wilemon, president of the society, said the program was designed to contribute to the activities of Parents' Day. The reading is open to all members of the society, their guests, and any parents who are visiting the campus.

The play will be read in the same style in which Shaw's Don Juan in Hell was read by a famous national touring company. The presentation will include some acting and costuming.

Cast Members

The members of the cast include Mr. and Mrs. James R. D. Moffatt, both veterans of the Troubadours and the cast of The Common Glory at Williamsburg.

Moffatt, a senior law student, and his wife will play the leads in the play. Also in the cast are Mrs. Thomas Barrett; Mrs. Robert Munger; Margie Ritchie, a junior at Sweet Briar majoring in drama; Dr. James Keith Shillington; Dr. Ross Borden; Dr. George Foster; and Mike Norrell, president of the Troubadours.

Governor McKeldin Will Address Republican Rally

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, of Maryland, will address a statewide rally of College Young Republicans here tomorrow evening.

Some 200 representatives of Young Republican clubs are expected to attend the banquet meeting, billed as an "Ike Day" Banquet, at the Mayflower hotel at 6:30 p.m.

The event is scheduled to coincide with Parents' Day activities. Governor McKeldin's son is a sophomore at W&L. He spoke at Washington and Lee last year on Parents' Day weekend in a major speech in Lee Chapel sponsored by Pi Sigma Alpha political science fraternity.

Tickets for the banquet may be secured at the Republican headquarters on West Washington Street.

du Pont Art Exhibit Opens

A new art exhibit has opened in du Pont Hall and will be open for viewing for Parents' Day this weekend.

Sponsored by the art department at W&L, the exhibit is being circulated by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service. It contains original water color plates selected from the book, The Index of American Design.

Hollins' Girl Relates Andrea Doria Sinking

Nancy Coleman, a freshman at Hollins College, from Cedarhurst, L. I., New York, was on the final voyage of the Andrea Doria and like many on board had to leave her father on a sinking ship.

Although the flagship of the Italian line has long since seen her fate, this letter brings to mind some of the experiences that will never be forgotten by the survivors of this catastrophe. Her story of that night follows:

"The last night aboard the Andrea Doria was one I will never forget. It was a night full of fun, changed suddenly to fright, and finally exhausted relief.

"When the shattering crash occurred about 11 p.m., I was talking to some of my friends in the ballroom, my father was upstairs playing bridge, and my mother and little sister were in our cabin—directly across the hall from the demolished cabin.

Passengers Stunned

"At first everyone was frozen, then I rushed out to the promenade deck with my friends to find that the boat had already begun to list.

"We half slid, half walked to the other end of the deck to the main hallway where passengers had started to gather and looked for our respective families. I did not see mine anywhere, so I went down one deck to find a life preserver.

"My father had rushed downstairs to grab the family out of the cabin and they did not even have life preservers. We found a place to sit with other families we knew and waited for instructions. Nothing came over the loudspeaker but Italian which, when translated to us, merely said to "keep calm."

NANCY COLEMAN

"The engines ran for about 45 minutes and the deck stayed fairly well lighted. Then suddenly the engines stopped and nearly all the lights went out.

"It was a strange feeling to be out in the midst of nowhere, wondering when and if another boat would reach us. Nevertheless, the passengers were very calm and there was no widespread panic.

Fog Lifts

"Finally, a horn answered the Andrea Doria and almost simultaneously the fog lifted. When we looked out into the now clear warm night, we could see two brightly lit ships, one of which bore the name Ile de France on the top.

"The men, both crew and passengers formed a line next to the deck windows, holding onto the rail and began to hand the women and children along and help them to the low side of the ship. The list was so terrific, that it was impossible to stand, much less walk. Mother, my sister and I finally reached a lifeboat about 3 a.m. Passengers were climbing down rope ladders, cargo nets, and ropes—anything to get off.

"My Father finally reached the Ile de France safely and the rescue operations stopped close to 6 a.m. "The nightmare was over."

Eight Join SDX Fraternity

Eight journalism majors have been pledged to Sigma Delta Chi national journalism fraternity. The group contains six juniors and two seniors.

The juniors pledged are Howard Packett, Jim Kressler, Bill Miller, Worth Higgins and Barton Carter.

From the senior class Lloyd Dobyns and Jeb Rosebrook have been invited to join the fraternity.

Pledging ceremonies will be held at 8 p.m. Monday, November 5. Initiation will be held next month.

Full Program Is Planned

A total of 686 mothers, fathers, and guardians of 343 Washington and Lee students will begin to register for the second annual Parents' Day program here tonight.

This number represents an increase of 223 over the attendance at the initial Parents' Day last year. Director of University Development Don Smith said today he expects more than 1250 parents, students, guests, and faculty to be served at the buffet luncheon at 1 p.m. tomorrow.

An unexpected large number of parents have requested appointments with members of the faculty for the weekend. Mr. Smith said approximately 250 parents have scheduled such meetings.

Due to this large attendance the Development Office requests that students and faculty refrain from parking on the campus in order to avert any serious parking problems.

Service Society

The Student Service Society will have guides on duty at Washington Hall to assist the parents in meeting appointments or in seeing points of particular interest to them. Members of the Society will also be on duty at the luncheon.

Though the courtesy of the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service, an art exhibit entitled "Americana" will be open to visitors in the art gallery of du Pont Hall. The exhibit consists of 100 original watercolors depicting American folk art.

A new facet of this year's program will be the consultation with the ministers to students in the Student Union. The churches are also planning coffee hours on Saturday morning.

Student Presentations

Several student organizations are planning presentations.

The Graham-Lee Society will present a dramatic reading, The Importance of Being Earnest, by Oscar Wilde, tonight in du Pont Auditorium, and the Sazeracs, informal Washington and Lee singing group, will present several songs at the buffet luncheon.

The Generals will meet Randolph-Macon in cross-country and Davidson in soccer on Wilson Field to provide the afternoon entertainment tomorrow.

Concert

A Glee Club and Band concert will be presented in Doremus Gymnasium tomorrow night.

The Glee Club will sing "Land-sighting, 'sam was a man," "It's a Grand Night for Singing," "Fight Fight, Blue and White," and the "Washington and Lee Swing." The

Parents' Day—1956

Tomorrow Washington and Lee will be host for the second Parents' Day program, and we extend our wholehearted welcome to each and every guest.

This ambitious project was launched last year through the cooperative efforts of the newly-formed Parents' Advisory Council and the hardworking University Development office staff, under the direction of Donald E. Smith.

It is indeed a tribute to both of these groups that the success of this year's Parents' Day is already guaranteed. The record turnout of over 600 parents indicates the great response which this spirited program has developed in such a short space of time.

So to all visiting parents and guests, we say that this is your weekend; take advantage of the opportunities offered.

Openings Dance Set

It was gratifying to see the large turnout of students for the Saturday night dance last weekend at Openings.

The crowds which packed the dance throughout the evening were reminiscent of those at dance sets of several years ago.

Last year's dance sets were marked by a singular lack of enthusiasm, lack of attendance, and lack of originality. We hope, and we know the Dance Board shares our view, that this trend of "back to the dances" started at Openings will continue to grow throughout the remainder of the year and the rest of the dance sets.

Our congratulations for the fine weekend go to the Dance Board, the set officers, those who worked on decorations, and especially all those who attended.

Presidential Contest Becomes More Crucial

Next Tuesday that quadrennial ballyhoo which began early this summer will reach its climatic conclusion. Speaking in rather trite, but true, democratic language, "The people will decide."

However, perhaps it would be wise to pause and reconsider a few elements in this election campaign.

First, although it started out to be a listless campaign, devoid of issues, and involving the same personalities, it has proven to have been one of the most tumultuous campaigns in presidential election history and has seen the development of many significant issues as well as bringing out many new personality traits in the two candidates.

Secondly, while we may condemn him for many of his campaign tactics, equal praise must be given the Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson for bringing out for legitimate public discussion and debate the great issues of our times—the Hydrogen bomb program, the future development and past effectiveness of American foreign policy, and certain domestic issues as the farm situation.

Thirdly, it becomes quite apparent that, while an Eisenhower re-election was an apparent certainty in September, the outcome of the election is as uncertain as it could possibly be at the present time.

Fourthly, the occurrence of the developments of the last few days in Communist Poland and Hungary and the outbreak of the Egyptian-Israeli war and the subsequent Anglo-French intervention may be the issue which will decide this election.

The choice will be either to retain Eisenhower in the midst of the ever-increasing world crisis or to insert new leadership into the White House in the form of Stevenson with the possibility of new ideas and a new direction in foreign policy occurring.

When such things as the future of the Western Alliance and the fate of the United Nations are at stake, the question becomes one of the gravest importance. The choice of the American people lies between two able statesmen, neither one of which is correctly classified as a politician. The person who leads the United States in the next four years may hold the fate of the next twenty years within his grasp.

Student Advisory Council Meeting

The first meeting of the Student Advisory Council last night was one which truly fulfilled the purpose of that body. Meeting with President Gaines and Dean Sensabaugh, this group of campus student leaders aired many problems and grievances which were quite worthy of discussion.

Most of the discussion period was devoted to the pressing issue facing the university concerning expansion of the physical plant and the size of Washington and Lee.

The overwhelming sentiment of the students present was against any enrollment increase at this time. The opinion was rather one of consolidating our gains of recent years, stabilizing and meeting the needs of the university as it now stands, and aiming more and more towards the development of the student of quality and ability.

We are confident that President Gaines and the administration will take all of the opinions expressed under their most serious consideration. The object of the Council was to crystalize student opinion in order to make student views known to the administration in a concrete form. This meeting accomplished this purpose and we hope that the practice will be continued with equal success in the future.

French Film Import 'Rififi' Coming To Lyric; Includes Unusual Sequence of Silent Acting

By John Boone

In the past two years the French film industry has produced two motion pictures that have enjoyed immense success on this extremely critical continent, "Diabolique" and "Rififi."

After extended runs at the better theaters in the country, "Rififi" comes to the Lyric. This import directed by Jules Dassin represents the excellent qualities of film making which Dassin established in "The Naked City." It is the story of a jewel robbery, a simple and common theme: yet it is unique in every respect. The intricate planning and execution of the actual robbery is brilliant; it is also unusual, in that for 35 minutes there is not a word spoken.

The outstanding performances turned in by the jewel thieves and the various and assorted members of the Paris underworld are above reproach. Jean Servais as the brutal ringleader and Mr. Dassin, the safecracker, are particularly noteworthy.

To adequately praise "Rififi" is impossible. It is sufficient to say that Jules Dassin has created a masterpiece of suspense.

"Storm Over the Nile" is a remake of an old English classic that has since found solace and glory with its ancient brothers on television screens throughout the United States. It is the tale of a young British Army Officer who deserts his regiment as it sails for the eternal imperial trouble spot, the land of the Nile.

Now this chap isn't really a coward as his chums seem to think; he naturally has reason for his action that are both noble and virtuous. The story begins as he sets out to prove to his friends and his lady love that in reality he is a fine fellow.

His exploits in the original version made for jolly good cinema. But I say, one can't always trust the newer fellows.

FOREWARNING: Natalie Wood and Kim Novak arrive in Lexington this week under rather tense and dramatic situations. Miss Wood looks the part of a sweet young thing attacked and unwilling in "A Cry in the Night" while Kim struggles through "Pushover" as a gun moll. However, even if these pictures aren't entertaining, they should prove to be very interesting.

Halloween Celebration Promoted By False Face Manufacturers

By Jerry Hopkins

This was written two days ago, October 31st...

The red leaves have fallen and the pumpkins have acquired that seasonal and characteristic amount of frost and it is now the time when America's youngest generation is permitted to stay out an hour or two later to beg goodies from the neighbors.

Hoorah, it is the Eve of Hallowes, or, Halloween.

I think this costumed buffoonery is an abominable practice initiated by the false-face and costume manufacturers which has been developed unmercifully in the hearts of the nation's greedy children.

Others I may blame for this infernal door knocking disturbance are the paper-bag industrialists, the public relations and advertising men behind the apple and ginger-snap businesses, pumpkin farmers and the people who make paper kitty-cat cut-outs.

Some maudlin sentimentalists—little old ladies are the primary offenders—thrive on inviting the parade of clowns, ghosts and miniature pirates into their homes each October 31st. I do not.

I don't think it humorous or in the least bit entertaining to be ripped away from the television thriller or an evening of otherwise enjoyable experience by two or three seven or eight-year old neighborhood kids who insist I "guess who" and then fill up their sack with my choicest kitchen left-overs or, better yet, something I was supposed to have purchased especially for the occasion.

After hemming and hawing for a certain amount of time because I forgot that today was Halloween, I tell the little children that I have nothing to give them. The days are gone when "Trick or Treat" meant turning over some milk bottles or soaping a window or two. Today the little demons (dressed very appropriately, some of them) tear off a length of fence or smash all the windows on the second floor of the house. Or, worse yet, the very young cry a little and make me feel like a terrible tyrant. I don't like to feel like a tyrant.

Therefore I don't like Halloween or anything it stands for.

WEATHER: The farmers will still complain about not having rain in the late spring months... the students will not complain, I am certain... as this is being written (Thursday now) it is warm and sunny... it snowed last Parents' Day.

MISCELLANEOUS: Two or possibly more people out of three in the Hitching Post aren't students... the evening concerts continue and a banjo has been added...

Someone tried to start a student demonstration over the telephone mess but the reason it fell through was this: the student couldn't reach half of the houses by phone for support because of connection difficulties.

COLLEGIAN PREVIEW: "Further Fables of Our Time" and "King Solomon Unwound" by Tom Akin, "Stark Naked" by Rosebrook and Sinwell, two pages of jokes, two pages of "The Best of Haak Heyward" (cartoons of yesteryear) and a three-page beauty section.

Also, limericks (stolen from Oscar Brand and others), "Dr. Fool Answers Your Questions," a full-page comic strip called "Mark Still" and a chart to rate your date.

DISTRIBUTION DATE is still November 10th, Homecomings... (I hope).

Glee Club Presents New Series Of Biweekly Radio Productions

By JIM GREENE

Phi Ep Holds Dedication Program This Weekend

More than 100 parents, alumni and friends will be on hand for the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity homecomings weekend, according to Donald Luria, fraternity president.

The two-day schedule of homecoming activities include a parents' faculty reception at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow, cocktail party at 6 p.m. tomorrow at the Mayflower Hotel for parents and alumni and an awards banquet set for 7:40 p.m. at the Mayflower.

Following the dinner, a closed informal house party will be held at the Phi Epsilon Pi house.

The ceremonies will mark the dedication of their new fraternity house.

Every two weeks station WREL airs the seventy voices that comprise the Washington and Lee Glee Club in a program called the "W&L Glee Club Presents."

The program originates on Wednesday from 8 to 8:30 p.m. and is a half hour of tape-recorded musical selections from previous glee club concerts. The inaugural program for this season was given on October 24, and the next one will be on November 7.

The second edition of the show will include several numbers from the first live concert of the year given during Openings weekend. The featured soloist of that concert, Carolina Waring, will have a prominent part in the recording.

Other features tentatively planned for the future are the music from the play "Bacchus Had a Daughter," and "The Messiah," which will be presented with Sweetbriar College.

The two people directly responsible for "Glee Club Presents" are the student producer Peyton Middleton, and faculty director Robert Stewart.

The program was created last year by William Grigg and was met with favorable response. The main objective of the show as stated by Stewart is to present "music on the campus."

GOP Slogans Create False Impressions

By BILL MILLER

"Peace, Progress, and Prosperity"—a euphemism which might well blow up in the face of the Republican party took on a new meaning this week with the somewhat publicized Suez conflict.

Dulles, who had not been able to release any positive State Department policy on the

MILLER

Polish and Hungarian situation, found himself unable to deal with this problem also.

On Wednesday night, the President did manage to say to the American people that there was a serious problem in the Near East and that the U. S.

would impose economic sanctions on Israel thereby adjudging her to be the aggressor.

As no such sanctions were placed on Great Britain and France, they can still order equipment to be used by Israel.

The "Know Nothing" State Department joined the ranks of the "Do Nothing" isolationist.

Many claim that only Ike can get us out of the war because being a military genius as well as a diplomatic craftsman, he has a deep understanding of war.

May I remind those who claim this, that Lincoln, Wilson, and Truman, none of whom were military geniuses, got us out of some rather serious conflicts.

Prediction

By all that is Holy, Eisenhower should be re-elected president of the United States. The Democrats for all their efforts have not been able to: 1) combat Ike's personality charm; 2) to fight the fact that many times, in general, are good. Voters seldom throw out an administration in good times.

Regardless of this prediction, I feel that Adlai E. Stevenson is perhaps one of the best qualified candidates to ever run for the presidency of the United States.

He ranks close to FDR in ability to inspire confidence from those who hear him. He has fought two of the cleanest, hardest, and most publicized campaigns in the history of our nation.

United Party

Stevenson almost single-handedly united a badly split Democratic Party and gave it confidence. Against a candidate who is considered "unbeatable" by Democrats and Republicans he has waged a courageous battle.

Never on the field of combat has Ike faced as determined opposition. Even if Stevenson loses, the fact that a man of his caliber was in the race is notable. No one will deny that his character and campaign have helped set a new standard in American politics.

Adlai Stevenson truly represents the "New America." For these, his many accomplishments, we may say that America will forever respect and admire this "old fire horse."

NOTICES

All individual proofs for the Calyx must be picked up and returned to Borthwick's Studio by 5 p.m. on Wednesday, November 7. In any case where the pictures have not been picked up and returned, the editorial staff will use its discretion in choosing which poses will appear in the Calyx.

The Christian Association Bible discussion group will meet on Monday, November 5, rather than on Tuesday, because of the National Symphony concert. "Encounter with God" will be the topic at the assemblage in the Student Union Building at 7 p.m. Everyone is invited.

An important meeting of the International Relations Club will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in the Student Union. Elections will be held at this time and dues must be paid.

Students are reminded that they should avoid parking their cars on campus tomorrow due to Parents' Day. Parents are invited to attend classes with students tomorrow morning.

The following schedule of classes will be observed tomorrow: B: 8:25-9:15; D: 9:15-10:05; F: 10:05-10:55; H: 10:55-11:45; and J: 11:45-12:35.

Soccermen Seek Fifth Straight Win Tomorrow

Booters Upset Frostburg, 3-2

Washington and Lee's rapidly improving soccer team increased its winning streak to four games last Wednesday by edging a formidable Frostburg aggregation, 3-2.

Soccer is the only fall sport played at Frostburg, and the State Teacher's College has gained a reputation for the quality of soccer talent it has produced in the past. This year marks the beginning of soccer competition between the Generals and Frostburg.

Frostburg took advantage of W&L's slow start in the opening period to dominate the play and drew the first blood in the game with a successful scoring attempt in the final two minutes of the quarter. Both sides misjudged the ball frequently due to the soggy ground of the field.

Butterfield Scores

Spurred on by Beldon Butterfield's well placed goal in the second period, co-captain Moose Schafer and the two alternate General right fullbacks, Pit Burton and Skip Rohnke, suddenly tightened their defenses with increased effectiveness. Passing accuracy improved, and the Generals were to find themselves in Frostburg territory for most of the remainder of the contest.

Midway in the third period, right inside Warren Nuessle kicked a perfect shot past the Frostburg goalie to push the Generals out in front for the first time. The visitor's Bill Poland then deadlocked the game with an irretrievable penalty shot.

Butterfield broke the ice when his penalty shot landed in the Frostburg goal to give the Generals a 3-2 edge which they never relinquished to the determined representatives of the State Teacher's College. The Blue and White co-captain had previously thrown a scare into his adversaries in the second period with a hard boot which hit the goal post but narrowly averted the goal itself. In the fourth quarter Butterfield almost scored with a severe kick which landed just to the left of the Frostburg goal post.

Parents' Day Crowd

A large Parents' Day turnout is expected here tomorrow for the Generals' contest with Davidson. W&L defeated the Wildcats 2-0 in their first encounter with them last weekend, but Davidson is reported to be gunning for revenge.

The soccer team will close out the season with Duke, N.C. State, Georgetown, and Maryland.

Chipley Praises Gridders' Effort Against West Virginia

Football coach Bill Chiple, encouraged by his team's superlative performance against West Virginia Tech last Saturday, will send the Generals against highly rated Wabash College tomorrow on the "Little Giants'" home field.

Wabash has beaten Albion 26-7, Hope 40-7, Washington 27-7 and the University of the South at Sewanee, 28-6. The "Little Giants" won their fifth victory of the season against Ohio Wesleyan University last week.

A single loss to Heidelberg, 21-20, is the only setback they have received this year.

In 6 foot 178 pound senior Tom Hankinson and 190 pound junior Bill Gabbert, Wabash has a dangerous one-two punch. Before competing against Ohio Wesleyan, Hankinson had registered eight touchdowns during the season, and Gabbert had seven TDs with one conversion point to his credit.

Number one passer for Wabash is Vic Lodovisi. According to figures released from the Wabash news bulletin, Lodovisi had thrown five TD strikes and completed 13 of 28 altogether for 253 yards prior to the Ohio Wesleyan contest.

Chipley had mainly words of praise for the Generals' performance against Tech last weekend. "Our pass defense was our big weakness against Tech," he said, but "in the two years I've been here our boys have never played better than they did against West Virginia Tech." West Virginia Tech picked up 83

Who's Who In W&L Sports

John Arnold—captain of the varsity cross-country team—has worked with the team for four years—had a great deal to do with giving W&L a second place finish in the Southern Conference in 1954—has finished in first 20 in Southern Conference meet twice.

Tom Gowenlock—in semifinals of University tennis tournament and could be the darkhorse in the tournament—number four man for the varsity team last spring—his undefeated singles record during the season (not counting his performance in the Southern Conference tournament) was finally broken at the end by Lou Einwick of Virginia.

Virginia Captures Top Four Places In Cross Country Meet

A well-rounded University of Virginia cross country squad toppled Washington and Lee on a wet and muddy course yesterday, 16-40.

Freshman Bill Loeffler again distinguished himself among General performers as he has so frequently in the past meets this season. The freshman star was top man for his team with a fifth place finish in the meet. Virginia captured all of the top four places.

Sophomore Steve Coates finished second for the Generals behind Loeffler and was seventh in the meet. Following Coates in their respective order for W&L were captain John Arnold, eighth in the meet, Dick Sherrington, ninth, John Pleasant eleventh, freshman Ashby Morton thirteenth, Charlie King fourteenth, and John Wilcox sixteenth.

The cross country squad will run against Randolph-Macon tomorrow at 2:15 before the soccer game with Davidson.

Coach Miller is optimistic about the squad's chances of beating Randolph-Macon tomorrow.

Swimming and Football Highlight Present Intramural Competition

Keen interest in the intramural program is centered at the present moment on the results of the hotly contested swimming and football clashes.

Due to a delay in turning in the pledge cards, swimming has not been completed on schedule. The results thus far have produced a new diving champion, Art Blank of ZBT, who also copped off the 100-yard backstroke honors with a time of 1:07.8.

The new 50-yard free style champion is Skip Rohnke. Rohnke splashed his way to victory in the 100-yard free style as well. Phi Kappa Psi's Tom Broadus took the 220-yard free style in a time of 2:42.6 seconds, while Henry Marks, a KA, captured the 100-yard breast stroke.

Intramural football got under way on October 19 with the defending champions, Phi Psi, edging SAE on first downs, 9-4. Other first round clashes saw the KA's victorious over PiKA, 18-15, Phi Delt on the long end of a 13-0 score against DU, and Delta Tau Delta breaking a 7-7 tie to whip Phi Gam.

The Phi Psi's again looked impressive in thrashing Lambda Chi in a second round engagement. A powerful Law School eleven whipped Phi Gam, 15-6.

IFC Proposes Major Constitutional Changes

 "Except for these unexcused absences, and legally excused absences, both the senior and the junior representative must be present at meetings, for a particular fraternity to be considered present," Luria said.

According to the old constitution, members of the IFC had to be notified of meetings by postal cards in advance of the meetings. Under the proposed change, IFC meetings will be scheduled regularly for each week, and post cards will be sent only if there is a change to the contrary.

Pledge Training

A new article concerning "Pledge Training" is proposed to be added to the present constitution. Under this article, a standing committee in the IFC, to be appointed by the president, will pass upon any problem involving treatment of pledges.

The Pledge Training committee will follow the rules that were set up last year after the M.I.T. incident.

"These laws are less stringent than the M.I.T. rules, and they will be incorporated into the constitution's by-laws," Luria said.

He added, "Even though Hell Week has been discouraged at Washington and Lee, all fraternities who use hazing must comply with these by-laws. Failure to obey the by-laws may result in the complete closing of a fraternity house for a reasonable period."

"While these are only proposed changes, I expect that most of them will be approved with perhaps slight changes," the IFC president concluded.

"The proposals are a means of strengthening the Interfraternity Council as the sole representative of the fraternities to the student government," Luria said.

"I would also like to congratulate Bob Cairns and his committee on the fine job that they have done in preparing these proposed changes," Luria concluded. Cairns, a senior Sigma Nu, was appointed by Luria to head the committee and he is vice-president of the IFC.

yards on passing alone in last Saturday's engagement. Two of Tech's three touchdowns were set up by pass plays, which is an indication that the Generals' pass defense must be improved before they can hope to be a match for the "Little Giants" tomorrow.

Hey, everybody! Here's a new stack of Sticklers!

WHEN SMOKE FOLK get together, the chatter matter is fine tobacco. Naturally, that means Lucky Strike. Luckies' taste is worth talking about because it comes from fine tobacco—light, mild, good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste even better. As for the Stickler, you call the minutes of a smokers' convention a Light-up Write-up. Speaking of light-ups, have you tried a Lucky lately? You'll say it's the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!
