

Freshman night will be celebrated this year without recourse to painting the sidewalks on the campus, the Freshman class decided last night.

Phi Delt And Betas To Play In Frat Finals

Interfraternity Championship To Be Decided In Game Tonight.

SEMI-FINAL GAMES HOTLY CONTESTED

Phi Psi Lose To Phi Deltas, 25 to 23; Betas Win, 22 to 16.

The teams of the Beta Theta Pi and the Phi Delta Theta fraternities will play tonight in the final game of Washington and Lee's annual interfraternity basketball tournament.

The Phi Delta Theta team won their right to the final game by defeating the Phi Kappa Psi in last night's semi-final game in one of the most interesting games of the tournament by the score of 25 to 23. The game was a fast affair with both teams showing streaks of good basketball playing and not being decided until the final whistle. The opening quarter of the game saw the Phi Psi quint get under way in the early stages and take a good lead which they held up into the last quarter. With the third period ending 18 to 9 in favor of the Phi Psi's the winners staged a final quarter rally and aided by the work of McCordell and Clay they overcame the lead and the final whistle saw them leading by a bare two points.

Clay and McCordell led the attack of the Phi Deltas on the offensive as well as being high point men. Annin and Ed. Smith were the big guns for the losers, the former collecting high point honors for his team and Smith being their best on the defense.

Betas Down Pi K. A.'s
The Beta Theta Pi team, defending champions, won their right to the finals by conquering the Pi Kappa Alpha team by the score of 23 to 16. This game was also a fast affair with signs of some basketball talent but the score was not as close as the former contest. The Beta outfit took an early lead and were never headed. Lowden and Fangboner showed good form and led the attack for the winners both offensively and on the defense. Stone and Dormon were the shining lights for the Pi K. A. team.

"Stumpy" Thomason Injured In Bout With Trick Bear

Atlanta, March 26.—The story of what "Stumpy" Thomason did to the Georgia Tech halfback did to the California "Bears," has been told. This concerns what a California bear did to "Stumpy."

The bear in question was given "Stumpy" as a mascot on the Pacific coast and has been an apt pupil in learning tricks.

"Stumpy" and the bear gave a show at the fraternity house this afternoon, and the cub in expansive mood added tricks not on the program, mainly climbed "Stumpy" who broke for the stairs and was tackled in approved football fashion.

"Stumpy" plunged down the stairs, the bear tumbling after. A passing patrolman aided in subduing the boisterous bruin, and a physician took three stitches in "Stumpy's" hand where he was cut in sliding down stairs.

90 COLLEGE MATMEN ENTER TOURNEY FOR NATIONAL HONORS

Columbus, Ohio, March 26.—Ninety college wrestlers from 12 states will gather at Ohio State university Friday to contest for national championships in eight weights.

When the entry list for the second annual national collegiate wrestling tournament closed today, twenty-six colleges and universities had nominated the pick of their mat men. First round eliminations began at 2 p.m. Friday, with session being scheduled for Friday night and continuing all day Saturday.

Last minute entries included Cornell university, Virginia Polytechnic, West Virginia and Marshall college.

Staggering Amounts Spent On Personal Appearance By Washington & Lee Men

One of the ways Lexington people entice away student shekels is in keeping with students well-groomed.

Well-groomed Washington and Lee students are, too. Agents of a men's style organization were struck, recently, with the looks of W. and L. students that they called them the "best dressed college men in the South."

Four barber shops, eight shoe shine places, and five pressing shops keep Washington and Lee students looking that way.

One Every Minute.

Seventy-nine students enter these barber shops during the average day, and leave nearly fifty dollars with the barbers. And then, statistics show that at least one Washington and Lee student is having his shoes shined every minute of daylight.

More statistics, gleaned from local pressing shops, show that an average student has two suits pressed a week. That means about seven hundred and fifty dollars coming out of students' pockets every week for pressing alone.

$500 On Toothpaste.

Also, glistening white teeth do not come free to students. Each one uses an average of one fifty-cent tube of toothpaste a month, which makes a total of five hundred dollars rattling in cash registers of Lexington druggists every school term for student toothpaste alone. This is not to speak of the several hundred dollars invested in tooth brushes.

Shaves, even the home-made kind, cost students seven hundred dollars a term. Figure it out for yourself. The average student uses a forty-cent tube of shaving cream a month. Nine months times forty cents plus 930 students. Then add the cost of the safety razor blades, one a week, at ten cents each, which is more than three hundred dollars.

Staggering Amounts.

Costs to students for suits and haberdashery would mount into staggering figures, could the statistics be gathered.

After shaving lotions, mouth-washes, and talcum powder, total into hundreds of other dollars, leaving student pockets for sacrifice upon the altar of the "Great God Looks."

Are good looks worth all these thousands to Washington and Lee students? Ask the girls at Holme and Sweetbriar.

Eleven Taken As New Men By Fraternity

Ten Students And Doctor Smith Made Members Of Kappa Phi Kappa.

Eleven men, ten students and the president of the University, were initiated Monday into Kappa Phi Kappa, national honorary scholastic education fraternity, by the Washington and Lee chapter. Initiation ceremonies and an annual banquet were held at the Natural Bridge hotel, fourteen miles from here, beginning at 4:30 o'clock.

Gettysburg Man Speaks.
About thirty-four persons attended. Dr. Frank H. Kramer, professor of education at Gettysburg college, Gettysburg, Pa., was the principal speaker at the banquet. Dr. William M. Brown, professor of psychology at Washington and Lee, was the toastmaster.

Short talks were made by Dr. Henry Louis Smith, president of the University; Dr. Walter A. Flick, professor of education; G. Waldo Dunington, graduate instructor in German; Royal B. Embree, Jr.; William M. Hinton, secretary of the Washington and Lee student government association, and Irwin T. Sanders, past president of the local chapter. Two representatives of the Alpha Eta chapter of the fraternity at Ohio State university, Columbus, attended the ceremonies. They were Prof. John H. Herrick, Cleveland, and Virgil H. Hemmelskamp, Columbus.

Address Students.

Doctor Kramer, who is president of the Pennsylvania State Education association, secretary-treasurer of the professional fraternal conference and vice-president of Kappa Phi Kappa, spoke at a volunteer student assembly in the Lee chapel at Washington and Lee at 11:30 o'clock this morning. His subject was "Some Recent Progressive Developments in Education."

Famous Athletes Advise Going To Military Camps

Coaches and Athletic Stars Endorse C. M. T. C. Training.

Not only Coach Alexander of Georgia Tech, Babe Ruth, the king of swat, and Gene Tunney, the world heavyweight champion, but hundreds of other well known athletes, coaches and college athletic directors over the United States advise young men to attend the citizens' military training camps.

Coach Alexander of Georgia Tech, Atlanta, Georgia, had this to say: "I consider these camps one of the very finest things that the government has ever done for the youth of this country. I have had a number of boys report for football practice just after finishing a summer in one of your camps and have noticed that they are always in splendid physical condition. I always urge my players to attend either a C. M. T. C. or one of the R. O. T. C. camps during the summer."

Babe Ruth remarks: "The first essential to success in any activity is good health. The C. M. T. C. with their supervised athletic exercises in the open air are health builders. Besides they teach our young men the fundamentals of real American citizenship and therefore strongly appeal to me."

Gene Tunney says: "The C. M. T. C. inculcably benefits young men mentally, morally and physically. The thirty days in the open relieves the indoor man from his cares and worries of business and keep the athlete on his toes for his future contests."

Similar remarks were made by Wallace Wade, athletic director of the University of Alabama, by Coach Rockne of Notre Dame, by Coach Bierman of the University of Louisiana, by Johnny Weissmuller, the champion sprint swimmer, by Bill Tilden, the world's best on the tennis court, and by many others.

Sigma Delta Chi To Celebrate Founding

In observance of the fraternity's founders' day the Washington and Lee chapter of Sigma Delta Chi will arrange a special program on April 17 which will include a smoker.

Plans for observing the day were discussed Monday at the regular meeting and a motion to initiate three associate members, all prominent newspaper men, was passed.

Freshman Nine To Start Play With Staunton

35 Men Reporting; Infield Is Promising But Pitchers Scarce.

FASTEAST INFIELD IN YEARS PROMISED

Former Prep School Stars To Bolster Up Team On Bases.

With practice sessions daily on the east Lexington island, Coach E. P. Davis is fast rounding his frosh baseball nine into shape for the season's opening game against the Staunton Military phone, through his secretary, T. McCall Frazier.

It follows:

"In view of the fact that my name has from time to time been mentioned as a probable candidate for governor in the coming democratic primary, it seems appropriate that I make a statement as to my decision.

"I am deeply grateful to my many friends in the Ninth district and throughout the state for their generous offers of support.

I thank the newspapers for gracious mention I have received from many of them.

"No true Virginian is unmindful of the great honor which comes to him who may be chosen to serve as governor of the state. We rejoice in the progress the state has made under the administration of the democratic party.

The vital concern of every loyal democrat now is continued supremacy of our party in state affairs to the end that this fine record of progress may continue.

"In the hope of promoting harmony in the party I announce that I do not expect to become a candidate in the approaching primary."

With Senator B. F. Buchanan of Smyth, regarded as definitely out of the race, the field so far in gubernatorial aspirants is confined to Eastern Virginia and there now seems no likelihood that the oft-repeated claim that Eastern Virginia is entitled to the next governor will be disputed so far as opposition in the primary is concerned.

Mattox and Routon have been waging a merry fight for the shortstop berth and both have been playing some real ball.

Mattox has been working the most frequent in practice sessions and should get the call at the shortfield on Monday.

Smith, Burke, and McNeer have been fighting it out for the third base position and all have been seeing some service in the fielding workouts but it looks as though Burke will start.

The outfield problem is one of nearly as much trouble as the mound problem. The material reporting for the outer garden is scarce and quite green. It is doubtful that the coach will find a corps of fly chasers whose work at the bat will be of high order but with more experience as the season progresses it is thought that Stapleton, Cowin, Taylor and others can be developed to strengthen this department.

Along with the infield, the catching material gives much promise. A number of capable receivers are on hand and it is hard now to decide who will start Monday's affair. Wright, Tigner, and Wohlwender along with several others are all receivers of first rank and it will probably be the work of these men at the bat as well as their throwing which will decide who will do the backstop duty.

Gene Tunney says: "The C. M. T. C. inculcably benefits young men mentally, morally and physically. The thirty days in the open relieves the indoor man from his cares and worries of business and keep the athlete on his toes for his future contests."

He has traveled so far 2,700 miles. His stay in Lexington is the longest he has enjoyed and he was anxious to get on his way.

Peery Decides Against Running For Governor

Roanoke, Va., March 26.—Any atmosphere of uncertainty that the attitude of George C. Peery of Tazewell, retiring congressman from the Ninth district, may have created in the somewhat involved gubernatorial primary race in Virginia this year was dissipated yesterday when the Tazewell lawyer, farmer and stock raiser, repeated in effect the famous words of Calvin Coolidge, "I do not choose to run." Mr. Peery's statement was given The Roanoke Times by long distance telephone, through his secretary, T. McCall Frazier.

It follows:

"In view of the fact that my name has from time to time been mentioned as a probable candidate for governor in the coming democratic primary, it seems appropriate that I make a statement as to my decision.

Library Books Not Returned

Situation Unimproved, Although Some Encouragement Is Noted.

None of the books on the list printed last week in the Ring Phi have been returned so far, Miss McCrum said today.

Some encouragement has been given the library force, however, by the return of a French parallel, which has been missing from the shelves for over a year.

The book was returned by a man who said that he had seen it lying around his fraternity house for some months and "thought it might be a good idea to return it to the library."

Miss McCrum thought it was a good idea, too, and said that it would be a better idea if other students would profit by the example set by this one.

He will call on President Hoover in Washington and deliver a message.

The trip is in a way a demonstration of the "Pony Express" of the old Wild West and it is said that Col. Lindbergh will carry him back to New Mexico in an airplane as a climax to his trip.

Mr. Bull is a tall, bronzed cowboy, wearing leather "chaps" and other paraphernalia of the cowboy. He has had actual experience on the plains and has competed with such men as Clay McGonigal in rodeos and Wild West shows.

SPRING BRINGS POLITICS.

No one need refer to the calendar to learn spring is here. One knows it. You cannot tell him otherwise.

With the coming of spring comes the "home stretch" before examinations and Finals in June. And too with spring comes elections—politics—campaigns—spring fever. But elections and politics are vastly most important to many.

Three weeks from tomorrow will be election day for all candidate other than those entered in the athletic council race.

Already friendly approaches are being made, students are speaking more vigorously, but no open announcements are being made. Things are moving on the undercurrent of secrecy, but ten days from now everything will be ablaze with political propaganda. Cigars, cigarettes, picture shows, automobile rides—all will be the style.

Upper classmen have enjoyed past campaigns, or in many cases have lived through the grueling, never-ceasing grind of "Will you vote for me?" But to freshmen, campus politics at Washington and Lee is something new—a novel experience—and one well worth "writing home about." Campaigns will be "hot" and will furnish excitement but be on your guard lest some shrewd politician or "political boss" sweeps you off your feet. Be careful lest he make you commit yourself on something which might prove a great mistake.

We have frequently heard "anything is fair in love and war." Evidently in the past many candidates have thought campus politics was war, for surely no one could have called it love.

Every year there have been rumors of cliques, and there have been some from time to time. We sincerely hope this year our campus will not be afflicted with such a distasteful thing. There is an interfraternity agreement that there shall be no organized swapping of individual votes. Let's hope this rule will be observed.

This may seem a bit early to mention disasters which might occur for some and great triumphs for others if cliques are formed, but it is better, the RING-TUM PHI feels, to call attention to the undesirability of vote swapping before it is begun than to do this after "swaps" are already made.

Let's make politics open! Be on the level! Make a clean breast of everything in your campaign! Let's not resort to the ambush! And may the best man win!

THAT ONE NIGHT.

"Freedom has a thousand charms to show, That slaves, how'er contented, never know."

Friday night will be a night of celebration. It should be a night of celebration and joy for the freshman. It marks the end of freshmen rules, and the V. C., and the freshmen hats. For seven months the class of 1932 has looked forward to this night, and at last it is here.

The freshman rules have not been harsh. The Vigilance Committee has not been unreasonable. There is really no need for an outburst such as will take place. The freshmen will find they are on the same plane after Friday night as they were before.

But as a symbol the outburst will be justified. It perpetuates the appreciation of freedom that our ancestors displayed in 1776 when they cast aside the bonds of British tyranny. As long as this spirit prevails in American youth there should be no fear of our democracy.

As the Freshman Night celebration will be symbolic, it is sensible that it be restrained. Student body officers have warned the class to conduct the celebration in such a way that V. M. I. and the townspeople will not be offended. They also cautioned them against marring University property.

Undoubtedly the class realizes the reasons behind these requests. They have been here long enough to understand our relations with V. M. I. and the town, and they need only look on the granite steps beside the Chapel where a crude "27" stares into visitors' faces to realize the reasonableness of the second request.

The other classes will stand by with confidence Friday night, leaving the freshmen to restrain their joy. It will be the first time the class has had an opportunity to present its claim to membership in the student body. May it come through without a mar.

FOCH AT REST.

Yesterday, thousands, even millions, of heads bent in reverence as the world's greatest military leader was laid to rest alongside the remains of other great French chieftains.

The man who so nobly directed the movements of our allies during the horrible struggle against Germany from 1914 through 1918, the general ranked parallel only with the great Napoleon and Charlemagne of French military history, Field Marshal Foch, generalissimo of the entire Allied armies, was buried among the tears and mourning of thousands of spectators yesterday.

Foch was loved, respected, honored, and cherished by his countrymen and by all who knew him. Even his most violent enemies during time of strike respected and honored him, and during peace loved him.

The tactics and skill of the French chieftain has frequently been compared with the immortal war chieftains: Alexander, Charlemagne, Napoleon, and General Robert E. Lee.

The world has lost a great hero, a great leader, a great gentleman, the world joins France in mourning the loss of such an immortal military genius.

PUBLICITY CONSCIOUS.

Despite all the wonderful social and scientific strides of the past decade students are still skeptical when a reporter asks for information and personal views. The novelty of the "press" will not wear off.

A part of the work of every reporter is to persuade bashful students to express themselves. It is the hardest task one can assign an embryonic journalist. Frequently, it seems, that the personal code of students requires them to hem and haw while being interviewed by a reporter, who desires only to get a creditable story of general interest.

The RING-TUM PHI is printed for the students and University, as well as by the students, and for the paper to be a fair representative of student opinions, student happenings, and student affairs it is essential that the enterprising reporter call on members of the student body from time to time.

Questions frequently arise upon the campus and in faculty meetings which could be easily decided through the voice of students, if they would only express themselves through these columns instead of thrashing the problem out in "bull sessions." The contents of such discussions generally go no further than the human ear can hear, and no good is attained.

The columns of this paper are open to print the "voice of students." In fact, we urge that students having any recommendations for changes about the University do so through our columns instead of in "bull sessions."

A few students occasionally realize that, after all, the story or article is not personal to them at all, but is merely a means of lending aid to the daily chronicle of human events.

THE RING-TUM PHI

CONDITION AND CURE.

(An Editorial).

What can be done to get missing books back into the library? Student sentiment is strong against those who misplaced them, but the stand students as a whole have taken seems to be offset by the attitude of the few who are the culprits. One book has been returned, but on the same day one was returned another was removed. The man who did this is deliberately flaunting the whole school and the men who head the student body. He and his compatriots are harming all fellow students when they blot the school's honor.

Recently, a man brought to the library a book that had been out several years. He had seen it around his house for months, knew it was a library book, and returned it. The book did not happen to be one of those recorded as disappearing in the list of fourteen that Miss McCrum gave the RING-TUM PHI. This student did the right thing, and in his act lies a possible means of recovering others. If a man sees a library book anywhere outside the library, he should turn to the back leaves and see when it was taken out legally. If the date stamped therein is old enough to be overdue, he should take it upon himself to return this book. Of course, there is the possibility that the book had been properly taken out and was still being read in a legal manner, but this possibility is small if the date is over two weeks old.

This plan can result in some of the books being recovered. The head of every fraternity house and every rooming house should have all books in their shelves gone through with the possibility of finding "stray" volumes. Some men who have taken books have probably already left the University and forgetfully left them behind in their rooms. If there is a volume in any student's room stamped by the library, it is his duty to return it forthwith.

One man has suggested that a list of names be compiled of all those who have had library reading assigned in the missing books. He suggested that rooms of these men, all of whom could be considered suspects, be searched, or that the men themselves be brought before the executive committee for quizzing. The first of his alternatives could not be done. It would be contrary to the spirit of Washington and Lee. It smacks more of the methods of a penitentiary, where wardens search for stolen objects among a body of criminals. The far greater part of the names on his proposed list are innocent, but doubtless the malefactors are somewhere on it. He justified his proposed method with the quotation: "Desperate conditions require desperate remedies."

The second of these suggestions, if carried out, would not be effective, in our opinion. A man who will steal will lie to save himself.

There is surely some way to get the stolen books back. Men who have any solution are asked to write it to the RING-TUM PHI that it might be published and discussed, or to communicate with editorial officials of the paper.

Some solutions seem too drastic, but there is more than a grain of truth in the quotation above. The condition is desperate. This can not be overlooked and the sentiment must be directed towards recovery of stolen books and drastic punishment of those who violate the Honor System in this respect.

Return every library book you see that is more than two weeks overdue and find if it was taken out legally. It is the duty of every student to do what he can in removing this "blot on our scutcheon."

FESTIVAL QUEEN

TO RIDE IN STATE

The girl who is to be chosen for the honor of queen of the sixth annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival at Winchester about the first of May will ride in state of a float of white, pink and gold, and will occupy a state-like throne, covered with white and gold velvet and with immense fan-like ostrich plumes hanging gracefully over the back, it was revealed today when a design of the float was displayed.

It will be the most gorgeous "queen's carriage" yet constructed for a blossom festival. The sixty-five or seventy princesses who will be members of her majesty's court will ride in floats of pink and green. Each will seat about twenty-five princesses, and the seats will be arranged on tiers.

Questions frequently arise upon the campus and in faculty meetings which could be easily decided through the voice of students, if they would only express themselves through these columns instead of thrashing the problem out in "bull sessions." The contents of such discussions generally go no further than the human ear can hear, and no good is attained.

Equipment Unexcelled

Over the Coffee Cup

"THE WOMAN PAYS," an old expression, may be literally true some day. Women control 41 per cent of the nation's wealth and are rapidly increasing their importance in financial markets, a financial survey reveals. In the American Telephone and Telegraph company, United States Steel corporation, Pennsylvania railroad, Westinghouse Air Brake company they already outnumber the men share-holders. But they do not control majority of the stock.

FORTY-SIX WOMEN paid taxes on incomes of $1,000,000 or more in 1926, the same set of figures reveal. Only forty-two men paid on incomes of the same division. Not only are women millionaires as plentiful as men, but they are becoming more numerous. Women are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of the $95,000,000 of life insurance policies. To most men these figures are astonishing. Few realize the importance women play in business life.

WOMEN HAVE ALWAYS received large sums after the death of thoughtful husbands. Many times they have never enjoyed the provision's benefits. Land sharks, wild-cat oil salesmen, and other promoters have preyed upon them, but it appears women are either receiving more sound counsel in investments or their business sense has improved. Could a better assortment of investment stock be picked than those mentioned? Such radical issues as Radio, General Motors, Anaconda, and Montgomery Ward are missing, the dividend producing stocks are attracting women.

IS THERE A NEW TAMMANY? This was a big question in the last national campaign. Many were doubtful at the time and shook their heads. The sly old cat was just its disguise, they said. But results of the past week make many a political observer take notice. Since the resignation of Judge Olvany as head of the Wigwam, the Braves have hesitated in selecting his successor. Friday it was planned to slip a district leader into the chair. The attempt failed.

DISTRICT LEADERS had planned to ignore ex-Governor Al Smith and the "Big Four" of Tammany, but they could not select the leader. Smith as the exponent of a "new Tammany" was placed, as the result, in a position where what he says is likely to be the decision. He and Mayor Walker, as two members of the "Big Four" are at odds. Walker, with his eye on the City Hall for another term, favors electing a district leader; Smith favors an outsider, one who will not carry the organization back to its "spoils system." On his side he has the other two members of the dictatorial group, and should, therefore, select a leader symbolic of the new spirit, even if it does split the group and threatens Walker's chance of re-election.

THE PROHIBITION laws which have caused so much internal friction in the United States have again involved the country in international complications. A coast guard patrol boat last week sunk the British schooner L'Malone in the Gulf of Mexico outside of the coastal waters. Several details around which serious trouble may result must be straightened out. The ship was long known as a "rum-runner." If this case is looked upon as the facts present it, it will probably blow over. But if England sees in it an opportunity to release some of its venom for American commercial rivalry, it may be carried still further, and prove embarrassing.

Track Team to Open Season With Maryland on Wilson Field Monday

Fans Remaining Over Easter To See Fast Meet

Visitors And Locals Most Formidable In Some Events.

Washington and Lee track fans who remain in Lexington Easter Monday will see Coach Eppley's Old Liners match strides with the Blue and White in the season's opener. Wilson field will be the second stopping place for the Maryland squad, the Orange and Black making its season debut against V. M. I. this Saturday.

Eppley has about definitely decided upon his entries, and it appears that the visiting team and Captain Backus and his men are formidable in the same events. The "century of the season" is promised when Bob Quinn, Maryland, and Ralph Grant, W. & L., line up for the hundred. Quinn is the strongest threat of the invaders in the shorter runs and has shown that he is to be reckoned in the point scoring. He made a most promising showing last month in the Meadowbrook games against Percy Williams, Olympic champion. Grant has exhibited a clever pair of heels to all sprinters on the indoor tracks this season.

Good Vaulters.

Another close decision is expected in the pole vault. Maryland has three jumpers, Sutter, McDonald, and Aman, who do consistently over eleven feet, while Fletcher is banking hopes on Pomeroy and Maxey. Backus will probably run both the 880 and the mile in an attempt to stop Maryland's star distance runners, Plumley and Remsburg.

Leigh Williams, Sheppard and Dickey are counted upon to show the College Parkers just how the 440 should be run. Kinnaman, Linzey and other members of the 1. of M. mile relay team that trounced the U. of Pennsylvania quartet this winter will again run the quarter.

Hurdlers Scarce.

Timber-topers seem to be scarce on both teams. The visiting mentor has been searching for the past month for a performer who can get over a hurdle without a stepladder, while Fletcher has been drafting into the barrier ranks every runner who looks as if he can step higher than three feet.

As to the field events, a black mystery still remains around the local squad. Sandifer, veteran broad jumper, is still nursing a serious spike wound. The McDonald brothers, Henry and John, both giants of over six feet, appear strongest for Maryland.

V. P. I. WRESTLERS TO COMPETE IN COLLEGE MEET AT OHIO STATE

Blacksburg, Va., March 2.—Milton Andes, 135-pound Virginia Polytechnic Institute wrestler of Martinsville, Va., will represent V. P. I. in the national inter-collegiate wrestling meet at Ohio State University March 29 and 30. Andes has been a star on the V. P. I. mat team for three years, and engaged in his last season of competition for his school this year. He was ranked among the leading scorers of 1927 and 1928 when V. P. I. twice won the Southern championship. He was second ranking wrestler in his weight in the final Olympic tryouts at Grand Rapids last July.

Frosh Trackmen Show Up Well For '29 Season

Fletcher's Yearlings To Run In Four Dual Meets And State Competition.

Encouraged by the pre-season showing of his yearling tracksters, Coach Forest Fletcher has compiled a schedule of four dual meets and one state competition for his runners.

Two of the meets are booked for Wilson field, the Little Generals meeting Jefferson High of Roanoke here April 13, and Richmond here April 20.

Opening their program at Staunton a week from this Saturday, Fletcher expects to have uniform many athletes of tried worth. What promises to be a spirited rivalry for team berths is evidenced in the sprint department. Six athletes of prep school fame have reported for the shorter runs and are staging a merry race for top honors. Leading the van is Finklestein, all-Florida sprint and hurdle champion; Ade and Harris, former Augusta Military academy dependables; Price of Central High, Washington, D. C., and Williams of Montana have shown that they are to be counted in the running. However, Fletcher has no intention of strengthening one event at the expense of another and will experiment with Finklestein specializing in the hurdles and will probably shift Price to the forty-four.

Longer Runs.

Fortified in the longer runs with Broderick, ex-prep school flash from New York, in the 880, and Coll rapidly developing into a threat in the mile, Fletcher has turned his attention to the high and broad jumps where no outstanding candidates have yet reported. Hargrove in the pole vault is expected to hover around eleven feet this spring.

Although the strength of the field department still remains a mystery, as wet weather has not given the athletes a chance to extend themselves, it is known that at least half a dozen weight men are experienced. Stevens, winner of the shot put in the

Princeton And Colgate Teams To Play Opening Games Here

Generals To Engage Tigers On Friday; Maroon Saturday.

Washington and Lee will furnish the opposition this week-end in the opening games of two Northern colleges, Princeton and Colgate, as they begin their annual spring trip Southward. On Friday the Princeton Tiger will invade Lexington, followed on Saturday by the Maroon of Colgate.

Princeton has been working out for the past two weeks, but no definite line-up has been decided upon by the Tiger mentor. The squad has been cut down from sixty candidates to twenty-eight with only twenty-three of these making the trip.

Six hurdlers are included in the squad—three veterans and three sophomores. Palmer, Heydt, and Caleb Layton are the veterans, and Ted Moles, Waddy Ingerson, and Sid Waud comprise the hurdlers who are making the trek Southward for the first time. Of the receivers Evans Hicks has the edge on the other candidates by reason of his two years' varsity experience.

Infield Problem.

The infield presents a problem to the Princeton tutor. At first base he has Jim Emerit, but second is uncertain and it may be necessary to move Bill Swift from third to the keystone sack. Johnny O'Toole at short and Dick Vogt at the "hot corner" complete the inner defense. It may be necessary in an emergency to move Captain Phil Strubing in from the outfield in order to fill the gap at second.

On the outer patrol Trix Bennett, Tiger sophomore halfback of the past season with the educated toe, is expected to add his third monogram of the year by holding down one of the posts. Should Strubing be moved in from the outfield Ed Wittmer and Lat Stewart will probably flank Bennett in the garden. Weatherley Reinmud is in reserve should any one of the regular gardeners fail to function up to expectations.

Colgate comes to Lexington with less preparation than Princeton has had. The athletes from Virginia indoor carnival; Mitchell in the shot put and javelin, and Bailey in the discus are counted upon for creditable performances this season.

Schedule follows:
April 6—S. M. A. (T.)
April 13—Jefferson (H.)
April 20—Richmond (H.)
April 27—V. P. I. (T.)
May 4—Virginia state meet (T.)

New York, March 27.—The Intercollegiate Golf association championship for 1929 will be played at the Hollywood Golf club, Deal, N. J., June 26-29, it was announced today.

Lexington Marked For Airship Pilots

Following the suggestion of Mr. Daniel Guggenheim, backer of Lindbergh, the board of supervisors at a recent meeting authorized Leon Johenning to mark the top of the courthouse so that airplanes could know when they were near Lexington. Mr. Johenning has carried out the order admirably as a visit to the top of the Robert E. Lee hotel will disclose. From that position can be seen the sign "Lexington" painted with aluminum paint in letters nine feet high and extending at least fifty feet across the roof of the courthouse. An arrow points directly north. It is believed the sign can be easily read from an airplane.

RUSHING BY AIRPLANE.
L. N. Hedge, Kansas State student and Eaglerock dealer, used his Eaglerock airplane to good advantage last fall in pledging new members to Sigma Alpha Epsilon during "rush" week.

Each prospective pledge was given a whirl through the clouds. When they descended, dazed and delighted, it was a simple matter for the good brothers to herd them into the fold.

Monogram Men Hold Banquet

Captain To Be Elected At Banquet Given Team Thursday.

The banquet for the 1929 Generals' basketball team will be held Thursday night at the Dutch Inn. The affair will be very informal, and there has been no definite program planned. Only Captain Lowry, Cox, Williams, Hanna, Wood, Groop, and Jacobs, the seven letter men, with Manager Allen Morgan, Manager-elect Bauer, and Coach R. A. Smith will be present.

The captain for the 1930 team will be elected, and monogram certificates will be presented to the seven letter men. Captain

Lowry, stellar forward, "Heinie" Groop, stalwart guard, and Manager Morgan will be given miniature gold basketballs for three years' excellent service on the hardwood for the Blue and White. Short talks will probably be given by each of the departing men, and the new captain-elect.

"Will the gentleman who just coughed, kindly step to the box office . . . for a package of Old Golds?"

"Of course, I have never said just those words from the stage—but in all kindness I have often wanted to offer this friendly help to some poor fellow whose cough was interrupting the show and spoiling the enjoyment of those around him."

"A year or so ago, the makers of OLD GOLD ran some ads on the disturbing effect of coughing in theatres. As an actor, I was grateful for those ads. I am more grateful now that OLD GOLD has invited stage folk to help them bring 'first aid' information to our unhappy friends the 'theatre-coughers.'

"My own advice is that prevention is the best aid. The kind of prevention that smoking OLD GOLD gives. Harsh tobacco irritates the throat, and that causes coughing. Changing to OLD GOLD sooths the throat and removes the cause of the 'cough tickle.'"

Mysteries Of Movietone Are Brought To Lexington

Newsreel Cameramen Film V. M. I. Dress Parade And Explain Process—Visitors Comment On Washington And Lee.

The Virginia Military Institute has broken into the movies. The artillery with their French 75's and the entire corps on dress parade were "shot" by Fox Movietone news reelists here last Monday and Tuesday. Cavalry, infantry, and engineering units were filmed yesterday.

Fox Movietone representatives, Charles S. Peden and John A. Tondra, from the New York office, are recording the activities of the local cadets with both sound and film. When asked about possibilities of Washington and Lee's being filmed, Mr. Peden said: "Aside from football games and events of wide interest the Fox newsreel men have given little time to colleges. Another mock democratic convention would probably bring us down here, but it would take something at least that much national interest."

"The V. M. I. dress parade is one of the finest and smartest in the country, excepting West Point," Mr. Peden says. The parade, with full military band, was taken Monday. Artillerymen fired four rounds from their French 75's the same day, while yesterday the engineering corps blew up a tree as a demonstration of their work, and the cavalry went through their charge and drill.

All Over World.
The entire Movietone equipment for the local "shot" was mounted on a Reo car, one of thirty-eight distributed over the United States. Cars and representatives are also in England, on the Continent, in Africa, and in South America. Mr. Peden and Mr. Tondra were in Brazil last Christmas. They will stop in Roanoke Friday, going from there to Marion, Virginia, for an interview with Sherwood Anderson, the novelist, and then to Winston-Salem, N. C., to film the

Freshman Decide "Paintless" Night For This Friday

The freshman class Tuesday night voted unanimously in favor of a suggestion that the practice of promiscuous painting by members of the class on Freshman night be definitely discontinued.

Movietone Explained.
There is no difference between Movietone and Vitaphone, Mr. Peden said, except in method. The results are the same as far as a theater audience is concerned. In the Vitaphone process the sound is caught in a microphone, is amplified, and recorded on a wax disc by practically the same method as the phonograph companies use. From the disc a phonograph record is made, and played behind the screen, highly amplified, and synchronized with the film. Of course, if the film breaks, there is trouble, Mr. Peden explained.

Praises W. & L.

Mr. Peden is a graduate of Yale, class of 1924, and has since had newspaper and newsreel experience over a large section of the Western hemisphere.

"Washington and Lee is certainly my idea of a Southern university," he commented. "I admire your spirit and traditions. Both I and Mr. Tondra were pleasantly surprised at the way the students spoke to each other—and to us—on the campus and about town."

FINDS POT OF GOLD

Witt Pfarr, who lives ten miles from Waynesboro in the Blue Ridge mountains, has discovered the pot of gold, but he did not follow the rainbow to its end. He was engaged in digging pine stumps at the time. When he drove his pick into the ground under a stump, something broke with a dry rattle. Mr. Pfarr investigated carefully and brought to light an earthenware pot containing gold coins of several denominations, amounting to a total of about $200.

The jar had been buried for a long time, possibly since before the Civil war, since the latest date on any of the coins was 1849. The coins ranged in date from 1795 to 1849.

Dear Sirs:
Perhaps you would like to know just a word or so how I am in partners with Edgeworth in a business way. By profession I am a cartoonist, who you probably know is called upon to create new ideas. While this is ranked as the hardest part of the profession, I have proved it may easily be mastered, if a person will but recline in any easy chair, light a pipe, and live with imaginative persons in the aromatic smoke clouds that will soon fill the room. Edgeworth has given me more ideas than any other brand of tobacco, so I "married" my pipe to it quite a while ago. The result has been wonderful. The more you use Edgeworth, the more you crave it—not as a drug, but as a wholesome pleasure.

Complimenting the standard quality (which means more than the words signify) of Edgeworth, I am a devoted and profound admirer.

Yours very respectfully,
James W. Bright
